FEDERAL REGISTER Published daily, Monday through Friday, (not published on Saturdays, Sundays, or on official holidays), by the Office of the Federal Register, National Archives and Records Administration, Washington, DC 20408, under the Federal Register Act (49 Stat. 500, as amended; 44 U.S.C. Ch. 15) and the regulations of the Administrative Committee of the Federal Register (1 CFR Ch. I). Distribution is made only by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402.

The Federal Register provides a uniform system for making available to the public regulations and legal notices issued by Federal agencies. These include Presidential proclamations and Executive Orders and Federal agency documents having general applicability and legal effect, documents required to be published by act of Congress and other Federal agency documents of public interest. Documents are on file for public inspection in the Office of the Federal Register the day before they are published, unless earlier filing is requested by the issuing agency.

The seal of the National Archives and Records Administration authenticates this issue of the Federal Register as the official serial publication established under the Federal Register Act. 44 U.S.C. 1507 provides that the contents of the Federal Register shall be judicially noticed.

The Federal Register is published in paper, 24x microfiche format and magnetic tape. The annual subscription price for the Federal Register paper edition is $375, or $415 for a combined Federal Register, Federal Register Index and List of CFR Sections Affected (LSA) subscription; the microfiche edition of the Federal Register including the Federal Register Index and LSA is $353; and magnetic tape is $37,500. Six month subscriptions are available for one-half the annual rate. The charge for individual copies in paper form is $4.50 for each issue, or $4.50 for each group of pages as actually bound; or $1.50 for each issue in microfiche form; or $175.00 per magnetic tape. All prices include regular domestic postage and handling. International customers please add 25% for foreign handling. Remit check or money order, made payable to the Superintendent of Documents, or charge to your GPO Deposit Account, VISA or MasterCard. Mail to: New Orders, Superintendent of Documents, P.O. Box 371954, Pittsburgh, PA 15250-7954.

There are no restrictions on the republication of material appearing in the Federal Register.

Federal Register

Tuesday, November 3, 1992

This section of the FEDERAL REGISTER contains regulatory documents having general applicability and legal effect, most of which are keyed to and codified in the Code of Federal Regulations, which is published under 50 titles pursuant to 44 U.S.C. 1510.

The Code of Federal Regulations is sold by the Superintendent of Documents. Prices of new books are listed in the first FEDERAL REGISTER issue of each week.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service

7 CFR Part 729

RIN 0560-AC89

Commodity Credit Corporation

7 CFR Part 1446

Peanuts: Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act Amendments of 1991; Implementation

AGENCY: Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, and Commodity Credit Corporation, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: On June 18, 1992, an interim rule was published in the Federal Register (57 FR 27141), which set forth amendments to the regulations for peanuts with respect to: (1) The definition of "actual undermarketings" of quota peanuts; (2) the method for making required reductions in a farm's poundage quota; (3) the temporary transfer of a farm's poundage quota; (4) the "disaster transfer" of peanuts from an additional loan to a quota loan; (5) the conditions under which loan additional peanuts may be sold under the "immediate buyback" provisions; (6) the requirements for granting an extension of time to a handler to export or crush contract additional peanuts; and (7) the provisions that relate to the handling of appeals and requests for reconsideration. This final rule adopts the interim rule without change, except with respect to the "disaster transfer" of peanuts for pricing purposes from an additional loan pool to a quota loan pool. After consideration of the public comments, it was determined to permit a "disaster transfer" of peanuts from an additional loan to a quota loan under the same conditions that were in effect before the amendment provided by the interim rule; i.e., poundage quota received in a "fall transfer" may be used to effect a "disaster transfer."

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Jack S. Forlines, Deputy Director, Tobacco and Peanuts Division, ASCS, USDA, P.O. box 2415, Washington, DC 20013-2415, telephone 202-720-0156.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This final rule has been reviewed under USDA procedures established in accordance with Executive Order 12291 and has been classified not major because it does not meet any of the three criteria for a major rule identified under the Executive Order. This action will not have an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more, nor will it result in major increases in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State or local government agencies, or geographical regions. Furthermore, it will not have significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The title and number of the Federal assistance program, as found in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance, to which this final rule applies are: Commodity Loans and Purchases—10.051.

This final rule has been reviewed in accordance with Executive Order 12778. The provision of this final rule are not retroactive and preempt State and local laws to the extent such laws are inconsistent with provisions of this final rule. Before any judicial action may be brought regarding the provisions of this final rule, all administrative appeal remedies at 7 CFR part 780 must be exhausted.

It has been determined that the Regulatory Flexibility Act is not applicable to this final rule since the Commodity Credit Corporation and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service are not required by 5 U.S.C. 553 or any other provision of law to publish a notice of proposed rulemaking with respect to the subject matter of this rule.

This program/activity is not subject to the provisions of Executive Order 12372 which requires intergovernmental consultation with State and local officials. See the notice related to 7 CFR part 3015, subpart V, published at 48 FR 29115 (June 24, 1983).

The information collection requirements contained in the regulations of 7 CFR parts 729 and 1446 for the poundage quota program and the price support program were approved by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), as required by 44 U.S.C. chapter 35, and assigned OMB control numbers 0560-0006, 0560-0014, and 0560-0033. This final rule does not change the information requirements previously approved by OMB. Send comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden, to Department of Agriculture, Clearance Officer, OIRM, room 404W, Washington, DC 20250; and to the Office of Management and Budget, Paperwork Reduction Project (OMB #050-0006), Washington, DC 20503.

Background

On June 18, 1992, an interim rule was published in the Federal Register (57 FR 27141) seeking public comments on several issues relating to the peanut poundage quota and price support programs for the 1992 through 1995 crops of peanuts. This final rule implements regulations for each of those issues.

The comments received on the two parts in response to the interim rule are discussed separately as follows:

1. Summary of Comments to Part 729

Twelve respondents commented on the issues relating to part 729 (the poundage quota regulations) that were addressed in the June 18, 1992, interim rule.

Section 729.103—Actual Undermarketings

Four comments were submitted concerning the determination of "actual undermarketings" of quota peanuts for a farm.

One respondent recommended that, in those cases in which the producer is required by a contract for additional peanuts to deliver a specific amount of additional peanuts and to the extent that such amount is produced on the farm, any peanuts delivered under the contract should not be considered as peanuts that "could have been marketed as quota peanuts." This recommendation was not adopted because it would give undue preferential treatment to producers who market additional peanuts under a contract when compared with those producers who market additional peanuts as loan additional peanuts.

One respondent stated that for purposes of determining whether the quota for a farm had been undermarketed, the "total marketings of quota peanuts" from the farm should take into account only the actual marketings of quota peanuts. This recommendation was not adopted because, in a year of short supply, producers could increase their undermarketings by simply marketing peanuts as loan additional peanuts with high pool dividends. This would, at a minimum, adversely affect the producers who marketed all of their eligible peanuts as quota peanuts. It could also affect the marketing of quota peanuts in subsequent years.

One respondent supported the interim rule as published. Another respondent addressed the issue but without clearly making a specific recommendation.

Accordingly, the final rule adopts the provisions of the interim rule, for the 1992 through 1995 crops of peanuts, for defining the "actual undermarketings" of peanuts. This is essentially the same definition that has been in effect for recent years. In a year of short supply when additional peanuts virtually will be as valuable as quota peanuts, this definition will prevent producers from marketing peanuts as additional peanuts rather than as quota peanuts in order to increase the farm's undermarketings.

Section 729.204—Quota Reduction for Nonproduction

Two methods of making quota reductions for nonproduction were described in the interim rule, namely, a "factor method" and a "poundage method". Essentially, the "poundage" method for calculating the quota reduction for nonproduction in 2 of 3 years would make the reduction in an amount equal to the sum of the nonproduction for the 2 years of the 3 when the nonproduction was the least amount of nonproduced pounds. In the "factor" method, the average percentage of nonproduction in the 2 years having the greatest percentage of nonproduction of the 3 years would be used and would be applied against the current quota amount to determine the reduction for nonproduction. There were ten comments received with respect to quota reductions for nonproduction.

Four respondents supported using the "poundage method," as issued in the interim rule, to reduce the farm's quota for nonproduction. One of these respondents stated that if the "factor method" was used, "too much quota" would be lost because of nonproduction.

Five respondents recommended that the "factor method" be used for making quota reductions only for the State of Texas. The Texas producers who support the "factor method" and would benefit from its implementation have indicated that the "special" Texas provisions in the statute were supported with the understanding that the same method of reducing quotas for nonproduction that were in effect for the 1986 through 1990 crops of peanuts would continue for the 1991 through 1995 crops of peanuts. However, changes from the 1985 peanut legislation to the 1990 peanut legislation relaxed the provisions for retaining a farm's peanut quota by: (1) Granting considered produced credit under certain conditions for leased quota; and (2) providing production credit on a farm from which quota is temporarily transferred by the owner or operator if the quota is produced on the receiving farm.

One respondent commented on the interim rule without clearly specifying support for the "poundage method" or the "factor method".

Section 358-1(b)(3) of the 1938 Act provides that:

Insofar as practicable and on such fair and equitable basis as the Secretary may by regulations prescribe, the farm poundage quota established for a farm for any of the 1991 through 1995 marketing years shall be reduced to the extent that the Secretary determines that the farm poundage quota established for the farm for any 2 of the 3 years preceding the marketing year for which the determination is being made was not produced, or considered produced, on the farm.

The "factor method" will result in a reduction in quota that may be substantially greater than the deficiency in production that resulted in the need to reduce the quota and there is no basis in the statute on this issue for prescribing a different result for Texas than for other growing areas. While there may not be a substantial difference in practice from the use of the two methods, in terms of the amount of farm quota available for distribution to other farms, the "poundage method" of quota reduction for nonproduction appears at this time to be more consistent with the policy and provisions of the Act which was amended in 1990 to make it less difficult for farms to retain their poundage quotas.

Accordingly, the final rule adopts, without change, the interim rule which adopted the "poundage method" of quota reductions for the 1992 through 1995 crops of peanuts.

Section 729.212—Transfer of Undermarketings

A technical amendment to section 358b(a) of the 1938 Act enacted in Public Law 102-237 specified that undermarketings of peanut poundage quota could be transferred when poundage quotas are transferred between eligible farms. Section 729.212 of the interim rule implemented that new statutory provision. The amended § 729.212 also included a provision that would prohibit a fall transfer of poundage quota unless it is determined that the producers made a good faith effort to produce a normal crop of peanuts on the farm. Two respondents supported the provisions of the interim rule with respect to transfer of undermarketings. One respondent opposed the transfer of effective undermarketings. Because § 729.212 was amended primarily to implement statutory provisions and the revisions to the regulations appear to be fully consistent with the statutory amendments, the final rule adopts, without change, the provisions for the transfer of quota as provided in the interim rule.

2. Summary of Comments to Part 1446

Ninety-four respondents commented on the issues relating to part 1446 (the price support program) that were addressed in the June 18, 1992, interim rule.

Section 1446.307—Disaster transfer of Segregation 2 or Segregation 3 peanuts from Additional Loan to Quota Loan.

Nintey-two comments were submitted concerning, for peanuts placed for price support loans, the limitation of the amount of peanuts a producer is eligible to transfer from an additional loan pool to a quote loan pool. Under the interim rule, the amount of farm poundage quota eligible for such transfer excludes any amount of quota transferred to the farm through a fall transfer made pursuant to 7 CFR part 729.

Eighty peanut producers requested that this provision not be changed from provisions which applied to the 1991 crop. Also, two Chambers of Commerce, four peanut organizations, and five congressmen, requested that the provision be the same as for the 1991 crop. The comments suggested that it was inappropriate to convert the rule from the 1991-crop provisions because: (1) Such change would unduly restrict producers' marketing options, (2) existing regulations prohibit the transfer of quota pounds subsequent to the date the producer markets lower quality peanuts, (3) under normal conditions, production will not exceed quota levels, (4) such change would impede the ability of peanut farmers to plant optimal amounts of acreage and deprive them of flexibility to exercise the fall transfer option when unexpected conditions arise, and (5) benefits are not likely to approach the problems that will be imposed on producers.

One farm bureau federation requested that the rule be adopted as published.

The comments supporting changing the disaster transfer provision were found to have merit. Accordingly, the disaster transfer provision is revised by this rule to remove the restrictions with respect to peanut poundage quota acquired through a "fall transfer."

Section 1446.309—Immediate Buyback and Sale of Loan Peanuts to the Storing Handler

Four comments were submitted concerning the restrictions on "immediate buyback" sales. The interim rule prohibits the "immediate buyback" purchase for domestic use of additional peanuts from the additional loan pool until all of the producer's contracts for additional peanuts have been satisfied, but allows peanuts of a type different than that contracted to be purchased from additional loan through an "immediate buyback" if the producer of the peanuts authorizes the "immediate buyback."

One peanut grower group and two regional sheller organizations submitted comments supporting the change in the immediate buyback provision which requires that a contract for a particular type of peanut must be satisfied before an "immediate buyback" may be used to purchase additional loan peanuts of the same type for domestic edible use. In addition, these respondents supported allowing eligibility for the buyback to be based upon type of peanut. One respondent supported allowing, with consent of both parties, contracted additional peanuts to be bought back by the producer who is a party to the contract for use as seed on the farm.

A peanut product manufacturers' group recommended the removal of any restrictions on buyback sales. The respondent requested that the buyback restriction be relaxed to allow handlers to purchase additional peanuts under the buyback provision without regard to whether or not the contract for additional peanuts has been completed. The respondent indicated that this would contribute to a smoother operating program and offer more varied marketing options.

After considering the comments, it was determined that a relaxing of the buyback restrictions provided in the interim rule with respect to undelivered contract additional peanuts could result in abuses to the program for contracting additional peanuts for export or crush by shorting contract deliveries in years of short supply. Accordingly, the "immediate buyback" provisions of the interim rule are adopted by this final rule.

Section 1446.410—Extension of Final Disposition Date

Three comments were submitted concerning the changes in the provisions of extension of the final disposition date. The interim rule removed the requirement that, as a condition of approval of an extension, a handler must provide in writing a reason why the original disposition date could not be met.

Two regional sheller groups and a national grower group supported the changes as published in the interim rule. Two peanut organizations requested a clarification with respect to whether the applicable association has discretionary authority in granting a requested extension of time to export contract additional peanuts. Although both organizations support the change, one requested an increased letter of credit when an extension is granted and another objected to association discretion. It was suggested that, in the phrase, "The final disposition date for an individual handler may be extended by the marketing association * * *", the words "may" be changed to read "shall." One respondent expressed preference that the letter of credit for such handler be increased to 140 percent of the quota support rate times the pounds of peanuts, on a farmers stock basis, that the handler wished to extend, in order to protect CCC's financial risk should the peanuts not be exported.

In some cases the existing letter of credit that has been posted by a handler may expire before the date for which a letter of credit must be on file if the disposition date is extended. Therefore, the association must have the discretionary power to deny an extension if the letter of credit is not extended to cover the extension period. In addition, the provisions applicable to the initial letter of credit, and the amount by which the letter of credit may be reduced upon presentation of proof of export, has been determined to be adequate to protect CCC's interests. Accordingly, the suggestions applicable to the extension of the disposition date were not adopted and the provisions of § 1146.410(b) found in the interim rule are adopted by this final rule.

Milk in the New England, Middle Atlantic and Pacific Northwest Marketing Areas; Interim Amendment of Orders

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Interim amendment of rules.

SUMMARY: This action implements, on an interim basis, "modified yield factors" in the Class III-A formulas to price milk used to make nonfat dry milk under the New England, Middle Atlantic and Pacific Northwest milk orders. The adjustable factors, which will automatically reflect changes in market prices for butter and nonfat dry milk, replace the previously adopted fixed yield factors. More than the required number of producers in each of the aforesaid marketing areas have approved the issuance of the interim amendments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 3, 1992.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This administrative action is governed by the provisions of sections 556 and 557 of title 5 of the United States Code and, therefore, is excluded from the requirements of Executive Order 12291.

Interim Amendment of Orders—New England, Middle Atlantic and Pacific Northwest

The Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601-612) requires the Agency to examine the impact of a proposed rule on small entities. Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 605(b), the Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service has certified that this action will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The interim amendments will facilitate the orderly disposition of the reserve milk supplies associated with these three markets.

These amendments have been reviewed under Executive Order 12778, Civil Justice Reform. This action is not intended to have retroactive effect. This action will not preempt any state or local laws, regulations, or policies, unless they present an irreconcilable conflict with this rule.

The Act provides that administrative proceedings must be exhausted before parties may file suit in court. Under section 608c(15)(A) of the Act, any handler subject to an order may file with the Secretary a petition stating that the order, any provision of the order, or any obligation imposed in connection with the order is not in accordance with the law and requesting a modification of an order or to be exempted from the order. A handler is afforded the opportunity for a hearing on the petition. After a hearing the Secretary would rule on the petition. The Act provides that the District Court of the United States in any district in which the handler is an inhabitant, or has its principal place of business, has jurisdiction in equity to review the Secretary's ruling on the petition, provided a bill in equity is filed not later than 20 days after the date of the entry of the ruling.

Findings and Determinations

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth supplement those that were made when the orders were first issued and when they were amended. The previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and confirmed, except where they may conflict with those set forth herein.

(a) Findings on the Basis of the Hearing Record

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreements and to the orders regulating the handling of milk in the respective marketing areas.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said orders as hereby amended on an interim basis, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing areas; and the minimum prices specified in the orders as hereby amended on an interim basis, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said orders as hereby amended on an interim basis, regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and are applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, marketing agreements upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional Findings

It is necessary in the public interest to make these interim amendments to the New England, Middle Atlantic and Pacific Northwest orders effective upon publication of this document in the Federal Register. Any delay beyond that date would tend to disrupt the orderly marketing of milk in the aforesaid marketing areas.

The interim amendments to these orders are known to handlers. The tentative decisions containing the proposed amendments to these orders were issued in December 1991 and October 1992.

The changes effected by these interim amendments will not require extensive preparation or substantial alteration in the method of operation for handlers. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making these order amendments effective upon publication in the Federal Register, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of these amendments for 30 days after their publication in the Federal Register. (Sec. 553(d), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 551-559.)

(c) Determinations

It is hereby determined that: (1) The refusal or failure of handlers (excluding cooperative associations specified in section 8c(9) of the Act) of more than 50 percent of the milk, which is marketed within each of the respective marketing areas, to sign a proposed marketing agreement, tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The issuance of these interim amendments to each of the specified orders is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the Act of advancing the interests of producers as defined in the respective orders; and

(3) The issuance of these interim amendments to each of the specified orders is approved by more than the required number of producers who during the determined representative period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in each of the respective marketing areas.

Order Relative to Handling

It is therefore ordered, That on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the New England, Middle Atlantic, and Pacific Northwest marketing areas shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the orders, as amended, and as hereby amended on an interim basis, as follows:

PART 1004—MILK IN THE MIDDLE ATLANTIC MARKETING AREA

Section 1004.50 is amended by revising paragraph (g) to read as follows:

§ 1004.50 Class and component prices.

(g) Class III-A price. The Class III-A price for the month shall be the average Central States Extra Grade nonfat dry milk price for the month, as reported by the Department, less 12.5 cents, times an amount computed by subtracting from 9 an amount calculated by dividing .4 by such nonfat dry milk price, plus the butterfat differential value per hundredweight of 3.5 percent milk and rounded to the nearest cent, and subject to the adjustments set forth in paragraph (c) of this section for the applicable month.

PART 1124—MILK IN THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST MARKETING AREA

Section 1124.50 is amended by revising paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§ 1124.50 Class prices.

(d) Class III-A price. The Class III-A price for the month shall be the average Grade Western A nonfat dry milk price for the month, as reported by the Department, less 12.5 cents, times an amount computed by subtracting from 9 an amount calculated by dividing .4 by such nonfat dry milk price, plus the butterfat differential times 35 and rounded to the nearest cent.

RIN 0560-AC59

Announcement Times of Upland Cotton and Rice Adjusted World Prices (AWPs); Valuation of Broken Kernel Rice in the AWP Calculation; and Clarification of Upland Cotton AWP Calculations

AGENCY: Commodity Credit Corporation, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This final rule amends the regulations to: (1) Change the announcement time by the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) of the adjusted world price (AWP) for rice from 7 a.m. eastern time to 3 p.m. each Tuesday, (2) provide that CCC will not accept, on the day of the rice AWP announcement, from 2 p.m. eastern time until the price announcement is made, applications for rice loan deficiency payments that specify the payment rate, repayments of rice price-support loans at the world market price unless such repayment price was previously locked-in, and applications for locking-in a rice price-support loan repayment rate, (3) allow the adjusted world market value of broken kernels, as used in the rice world price formula, to more accurately reflect its relationship to the world price of whole kernel rice in world markets. These actions are initiated in accordance with section 101(B)(a)(5)(B) of the Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended, to improve the effectiveness of the rice marketing loan and loan deficiency payment programs and to more accurately describe in the rice world price formula the method used for calculating the broken kernel world price.

This final rule also amends the regulations to: (1) Change the time of announcement by the CCC of the AWP and coarse count adjustment (CCA) for upland cotton from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. eastern time each Thursday and to provide that the AWP and CCA will be effective at the time of announcement, (2) provide that CCC will not accept, beginning at 4 p.m. eastern time each Thursday until the AWP and CCA for the succeeding weekly period have been announced, repayments of cotton price support loans at a rate based on the AWP and applications for loan deficiency payments that specify the payment rate, (3) clarify the procedures with respect to the additional discretionary adjustment to the AWP and the calculation of the payment rates under the upland cotton user marketing certificate program during the period when both current shipment prices and forward shipment prices are available for growths quoted for Middling 1 $\frac{3}{8}$ inch cotton, cost, insurance and freight (C.I.F.) northern Europe. These actions are initiated in accordance with section 103B(a) and (b) of the Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended.

Implementation of the changes made by this final rule will improve the effectiveness of the price support programs for rice and upland cotton.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This rule has been reviewed under USDA procedures established in accordance with Executive Order 12291 and provisions of Departmental Regulation 1512-1 and has been classified as "nonmajor." It has been determined that the provisions of this final rule will not result in (1) an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; (2) a major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, State or local governments or geographical regions; or (3) significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation or the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

It has been determined that the Regulatory Flexibility Act is not applicable to this final rule since the Commodity Credit Corporation is not required by 5 U.S.C. 553 or any other provision of law to publish a notice of proposed rulemaking with respect to the subject matter of these determinations.

It has been determined by Environmental Evaluation that this action will not have a significant impact on the quality of the human environment. Therefore, neither an Environmental Assessment nor an Environmental Impact Statement is needed.

The titles and numbers of the Federal Assistance Programs, as found in the catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance, to which this rule applies are: Commodity Loans and Purchases—10.051 and Cotton Production Stabilization—10.052.

This final rule has been reviewed in accordance with Executive Order 12778. The provisions of the final rule do not preempt State laws, are not retroactive, and do not involve administrative appeals.

This program/activity is not subject to the provisions of Executive Order 12372, which requires intergovernmental consultation with State and local officials. See notice related to 7 CFR part 3015, subpart V, published at 48 FR 29115 (June 24, 1983).

The amendments to 7 CFR parts 1421 and 1427 set forth in this final rule will not result in any change in the public reporting burden. Therefore, the information collection requirements of the Paperwork Reduction Act are not applicable to this amendment.

A proposed rule was published in the Federal Register on July 22, 1992 (57 FR 32454). Each issue and the public comments received are discussed below.

Rice Adjusted World Price

Section 101B(a)(5)(B) of the Agricultural Act of 1949 provides that the Secretary of Agriculture shall prescribe by regulation a formula to define the prevailing world market price for rice and a mechanism by which the Secretary shall announce periodically the prevailing world market price for rice.

Under the present rule, the adjusted world price for rice shall be announced, to the extent practicable, on or after 7 a.m. eastern time each Tuesday. The announced price is effective at 12:00:01 a.m. of the announcement day. Based on rice-industry requests, CCC proposed to change this announcement time to on or after 3 p.m. eastern time each Tuesday. The world price announced at the proposed time, for the purpose of repaying price support loans or calculating loan deficiency payment rates, would be effective upon announcement.

Under the proposed announcement time, CCC would not accept on the day of the AWP announcement rice loan repayments or accept applications for loan deficiency payments or lock-ins of rates beginning at 2 p.m. eastern time until the announcement of the AWP for the succeeding weekly period has been made. This one-hour period would provide producers and ASCS staff a time interval between potentially different AWP levels for the purpose of reducing confusion over which AWP level applies to any individual loan repayment or loan deficiency payment calculation.

Twenty-four comments were received regarding the announcement time of the AWP of rice. Four comments favoring changing the announcement time to 3 p.m. were received from two national producer organizations, one national milling organization, and one individual business. The 3 p.m. time is favored since businesses had previously organized their activities around it and because all U.S. businesses are open at such time. Twenty comments were received from 7 State or local organizations, 5 individuals, and 8 businesses favoring the 7 a.m. announcement time for the reason that the proposed afternoon time disrupts purchasing or loan repayment activities on the announcement day. The current morning announcement time does not interrupt the conduct of business.

After considering the comments received, CCC has determined that the announcement time shall be established at 3 p.m. each Tuesday. The comments received indicate that producers and agribusinesses generally view the 3 p.m. time as more favorable to the conduct of their business operations. To minimize confusion as to which AWP level applies to any individual loan repayment or loan deficiency payment calculation, CCC will not accept, on the day of the rice AWP announcement from 2 p.m. eastern time until the time of the AWP announcement, rice price-support loan repayments based on the AWP unless such repayment rate was previously locked-in, applications for loan deficiency payments that specify the payment rate, or applications for locking-in a rice price-support loan repayment rate.

Valuation of Broken Kernel Rice in the World Rice Price Calculation

CCC proposed to amend current regulations to establish the AWP for broken kernel rice based on the relationship of whole and broken kernel world prices as determined by world price observations. The proposal was made because the present rule is inconsistent in expressing how the market value of broken kernel rice is to be determined. Various sections of the world price formula provide that the market value of broken kernels shall be based upon the estimated domestic market values of all sizes of broken kernels. However, since the inception of the rice marketing loan program, the AWP for broken kernel rice used under these sections has been one-half the whole kernel AWP since this value relationship has been consistent with the relative values of whole and broken kernels under the CCC price support program, domestic and export market values, and the provisions at § 1421.25(a)(5)(ii). Such broken kernel value, however, has been inconsistent with actual domestic-market prices of broken kernel rice.

Five comments were received regarding the proposed valuation of broken kernels in the rice world-price formula. All five comments favored implementing the proposed language to value broken kernels based on their price relationship to whole kernels as determined from world market price observations. The comments were received from three national organizations, one State-level producer organization, and one business.

After considering the comments received, CCC has determined that the proposed changes to § 1421.25 shall be made to provide that the AWP for broken rice shall be established based on its relationship to the AWP for whole kernel rice in world markets.

Upland Cotton Adjusted World Price

CCC proposed to change the announcement time of the AWP and CCA to 5 p.m. eastern time each Thursday and make the AWP and CCA effective upon announcement. The proposal further stipulated that, if the AWP for the current week is less than the current crop-year loan level for the base quality of upland cotton plus estimated carrying charges, then (1) loan repayments at a rate based on the AWP would not be accepted beginning at 4 p.m. eastern time each Thursday until an announcement of the AWP and CCA for the succeeding weekly period was made, and (2) applications for loan deficiency payments would not be accepted during the same period.

This option was one of four outlined in the proposed rule and was intended to correct a situation whereby the industry knows the AWP for the subsequent week while the current week's AWP is still in effect.

Nine comments were received regarding the proposed rule. Respondents included three national organizations, one State organization, 4 producer co-operatives and one cotton merchant. One respondent opposed all changes. Four respondents opposed any change from the current procedure, indicating, however, that the proposed option would be the least burdensome, the only option they could live with, the least problematic and the least disruptive of the options presented. Two respondents supported this option. Another respondent supported changing the AWP and CCA announcement and effectiveness times but took no position regarding suspension of loan and loan deficiency payment transactions during the hour preceding the announcement. Another respondent supported the option conditional upon CCC making administrative changes to ensure that producers with Form A and Form G loans are treated equally.

After considering the comments received and in accordance with the provisions of the 1949 Act, CCC has determined that (1) the announcement time of the AWP and CCA for upland cotton shall be established at 5 p.m. eastern time each Thursday and that the AWP and CCA will be effective at the time of the announcement, (2) CCC will not accept, beginning at 4 p.m. eastern time each Thursday until the AWP and CCA for the succeeding weekly period have been announced, repayments of cotton price support loans at a rate based on the AWP and applications for loan deficiency payments that specify the payment rate. Section 1427.25(e) will be amended to change the time of announcement of the AWP and CCA to 5 p.m. eastern time each Thursday and to provide that the AWP and CCA will be effective upon announcement. Section 1427.19 will be amended to provide that CCC will not accept repayment of price-support loans at a rate based on the AWP from 4 p.m. eastern time each Thursday until the AWP and CCA for the succeeding weekly period have been announced. Section 1427.23 will be amended to provide that CCC will not accept applications for loan deficiency payments from 4 p.m. eastern time each Thursday until the AWP and CCA for the succeeding weekly period have been announced.

Upland Cotton Technical Changes

CCC proposed to clarify the determination of the additional discretionary AWP adjustment under § 1427.25(c)(4) because the final rule published in the Federal Register on August 23, 1991, (56 FR 41749) did not specify how the U.S. Northern Europe price would be determined during the period when both current shipment prices and forward shipment prices are available. CCC also proposed to clarify how the payment rates under the upland cotton user marketing certificate program would be determined during the period when both current shipment prices and forward shipment prices are available because the final rule published in the Federal Register on April 20, 1992, (57 FR 14326) was not specific about this issue.

Two comments were received with respect to these issues. Both respondents supported the proposed regulatory amendments. After considering the comments received, the proposed changes to §§ 1427.25(c) and 1427.107 will be implemented. However, with regard to § 1427.107, CCC discovered after publication of the proposed rule on July 22, 1992, that the proposed language was inaccurate. Therefore, although the final language amending § 1427.107 differs from that which appeared in the proposal, the intent and effect have not changed.

PART 1421—GRAINS AND SIMILARLY HANDLED COMMODITIES

1. The authority citation for 7 CFR part 1421 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 7 U.S.C. 1421, 1423, 1425, 1441z, 1444f-1, 1445b-3a, 1445c-3, 1445e, and 1446f; 15 U.S.C. 714b and 714c.

2. In § 1421.25, paragraphs (a)(5)(ii), (a)(5)(v)(A)(2), (a)(5)(vi), (a)(6), and (a)(7) are revised to read as follows:

§ 1421.25 Market price repayments.

(5) * * *

(ii) The price determined in accordance with paragraph (a)(5)(i) of this section shall be adjusted to reflect the market value of the total quantity of whole kernels contained in such milled rice by deducting the world value of broken kernels contained therein, with such value of the broken kernels to be determined by multiplying the quantity of such broken kernels (4% per hundredweight) by the world market value of such broken kernels. The world market value of broken kernels shall be based upon the relationship of whole and broken kernel world prices as estimated from observations of prices at which rice is being sold in world markets.

* * * * *

(v) * * *

(A) * * *

(2) The market value of broken kernels contained in the rough rice, computed by multiplying the estimated world market value of broken kernels by the estimated national average quantity of broken kernels produced in milling 100 pounds of rice;

* * * * *

(vi) The price determined in accordance with paragraph (a)(5)(v) of this section may be adjusted to a whole kernel loan rate basis by deducting the estimated world market value of the total quantity of broken kernels contained in such rice and dividing the resulting value by the estimated national average quantity of milled whole kernels produced in milling 100 pounds of rice.

(6) The adjusted world price for each class for rice, loan rate basis, shall be determined by CCC and shall be announced, to the extent practicable, on or after 3 p.m. eastern time each Tuesday continuing through the last Tuesday of July 1996, but may be announced more frequently, as determined by CCC. In the event that Tuesday is a nonworkday, the determination will be made on the next workday, on or after 3 p.m. eastern time. The announced prices will be effective upon announcement and will remain in effect for a period as announced by CCC.

(7) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, on the day of the announcement of the adjusted world price, between 2 p.m. eastern time and the time of the world price announcement, CCC will not accept repayments of rice price-support loans at a world market price level not previously locked-in, and applications for lock-in of a rice price-support loan repayment rate.

* * * * *

3. In § 1421.29, paragraph (c) is revised and paragraph (g) is added to read as follows:

§ 1421.29 Loan deficiency payments.

* * * * *

(c) The loan deficiency payment rate for a crop shall be the amount by which the price support loan level for the crop exceeds the level at which CCC has announced that producers may repay their price support loans in accordance with § 1421.25. Such rate shall be the amount determined on the day the producer provides a complete request for a loan deficiency payment to the county office. When such request provides that the loan deficiency payment rate shall be based on the date of delivery, and the documentation of delivery indicates the rice was delivered after 3 p.m. eastern time, the loan deficiency payment rate in effect after 3 p.m. eastern time of the delivery date shall be used. In all other cases where the loan deficiency payment rate is based on the delivery date, the payment rate in effect at 12:00:01 a.m. eastern time of the delivery date shall be used.

* * * * *

(g) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, on the day of the announcement of the adjusted world price, applications for loan deficiency payments that specify the payment rate will not be accepted between 2 p.m. eastern time and the time of the world price announcement.

PART 1427—COTTON

4. The authority citation for 7 CFR part 1427 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 7 U.S.C. 1421, 1423, 1425, 1444, and 1444-2; 15 U.S.C. 714b and 714c.

5. Section 1427.19 is amended by adding a new paragraph (h) to read as follows:

§ 1427.19 Repayment of price support loans.

(h) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, CCC will not accept repayment of upland cotton price-support loans at a rate based on the adjusted world price beginning at 4 p.m. eastern time each Thursday until an announcement of the adjusted world price for the succeeding weekly period has been made in accordance with § 1427.25(e). In the event that Thursday is a nonworkday, such loan repayments will not be accepted beginning at 7 a.m. eastern time the next workday until an announcement of the adjusted world price for the succeeding weekly period has been made in accordance with § 1427.25(e).

6. Section 1427.23 is amended by adding a new paragraph (h) to read as follows:

* * * * *

(h) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, CCC will not accept applications for loan deficiency payments that specify the payment rate beginning at 4 p.m. eastern time each Thursday until an announcement of the adjusted world price for the succeeding weekly period has been made in accordance with § 1427.25(e). In the event that Thursday is a nonworkday, such applications for loan deficiency payments will not be accepted beginning at 7 a.m. eastern time the next workday until an announcement of the adjusted world price for the succeeding weekly period has been made in accordance with § 1427.25(e).

7. Section 1427.25 is amended by revising paragraphs (c)(4) and (e) to read as follows:

§ 1427.25 Determination of the prevailing world market price and the adjusted world price for upland cotton.

* * * * *

(4)(i) The prevailing world market price, as adjusted in accordance with paragraphs (c)(1) through (c)(3) of this section may be further adjusted if it is determined that:

(A) Such price is less than 115 percent of the current crop-year loan level for U.S. base quality cotton, and

(B) The Friday through Thursday average price quotation for the lowest-priced United States growth as quoted for M 1 $\frac{3}{32}$ inch cotton C.I.F. northern Europe (U.S. Northern Europe price) is greater than the average of the quotations for the preceding Friday through Thursday for the five lowest-priced growths of the growths quoted for M 1 $\frac{3}{32}$ inch cotton C.I.F. northern Europe.

(ii) During the period when both current shipment prices and forward shipment prices are available for growths quoted for M 1 $\frac{3}{32}$ inch cotton C.I.F. northern Europe, the U.S. Northern Europe price provided in paragraph (c)(4)(i)(B) of this section shall be determined as follows: Beginning with the week covering the period Friday through Thursday which includes April 15 or, if both the average of the current shipment prices for the preceding Friday through Thursday of the lowest-priced United States growth as quoted for M 1 $\frac{3}{32}$ inch cotton C.I.F. northern Europe (U.S. Northern Europe current price) and the average of the forward shipment prices for the preceding Friday through Thursday of the lowest-priced United States growth quoted for M 1 $\frac{3}{32}$ inch cotton C.I.F. northern Europe (U.S. Northern Europe forward price) are not available during that period, beginning with the first week covering the period Friday through Thursday after the week which includes April 15 in which both the average of the U.S. Northern Europe current price and the average of the U.S. Northern Europe forward price are available, the result calculated by the following procedure:

(A) Weeks 1 and 2: (2×U.S. Northern Europe current price)+(U.S. Northern Europe forward price)/3.

(B) Weeks 3 and 4: (U.S. Northern Europe current price)+(U.S. Northern Europe forward price)/2.

(C) Weeks 5 and 6: (U.S. Northern Europe current price)+(2×U.S. Northern Europe forward price)/3.

(D) Week 7 through July 31: U.S. Northern Europe forward price.

(iii) In determining the U.S. Northern Europe price as provided in paragraphs (c)(4)(i)(B) and (c)(4)(ii) of this section:

(A) If quotes for either the U.S. Memphis territory or the California/Arizona territory are not available for any week, the available quotations will be used.

(B) If quotes are not available for one or more days in the 5-day period, the available quotes during the period will be used.

(C) If no quotes are available for either the U.S. Memphis territory or the California/Arizona territory during the Friday through Thursday period, no adjustment will be made.

(iv)(A) The adjustment shall be based on some or all of the following data, as available:

- (1) The U.S. share of world exports;
- (2) The current level of cotton export sales and shipments; and
- (3) Other data determined by CCC to be relevant in establishing an accurate prevailing world market price, adjusted to United States quality and location.

(B) The adjustment may not exceed the difference between the U.S. Northern Europe price, as determined in paragraphs (c)(4)(i) through (c)(4)(iii) of this section, and the Northern Europe price, as determined in paragraph (a) of this section.

(e) The adjusted world price for upland cotton as determined in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section, and the amount of the additional adjustment as determined in accordance with paragraph (f) of this section, shall be announced, to the extent practicable, at 5 p.m., eastern time each Thursday continuing through the last Thursday of July 1996. In the event that Thursday is a nonworkday, the determination will be announced, to the extent practicable, at 8 a.m., eastern time the next workday. The adjusted world price and the amount of the additional adjustment will be effective upon announcement and will remain in effect for a period as announced by CCC.

8. Section 1427.107 is amended by revising paragraphs (a) and (b) to read as follows:

§ 1427.107 Payment rate.

(a) The payment rate for the purposes of calculating payments made available in accordance with this subpart shall be determined by CCC as follows:

(1) For domestic users—

(i) For bales opened between August 1 of the calendar year and the week prior to the week in which the Northern Europe current price and the Northern Europe forward price first become available, the payment rate shall be the difference between the U.S. Northern Europe price minus 1.25 cents per pound, and the Northern Europe price in the fourth week of a consecutive 4-week period in which the U.S. Northern Europe price exceeded the Northern Europe price each week by more than 1.25 cents per pound, and the adjusted world price, determined in accordance with § 1427.25 (hereinafter referred to as the "AWP"), did not exceed the current crop-year loan level for the base quality of upland cotton by more than 130 percent in any week of the 4-week period.

(ii) For bales opened between the week the Northern Europe current price and the Northern Europe forward price first become available and July 31, the payment rate shall be the difference between the U.S. Northern Europe current price minus 1.25 cents per pound, and the Northern Europe current price in the fourth week of a consecutive 4-week period in which the U.S. Northern Europe current price exceeded the Northern Europe current price each week by more than 1.25 cents per pound, and the AWP did not exceed the current crop-year loan level for the base quality of upland cotton by more than 130 percent in any week of the 4-week period.

(iii) For bales opened before August 30, 1991, the payment rate shall be zero.

(2) For exporters—

(i) For contracts entered into during the period between August 1 and the week before the week in which the Northern Europe current price and the Northern Europe forward price first become available which specify shipment of the cotton by not later than September 30 following such contract period, the payment rate shall be the difference between the U.S. Northern Europe price minus 1.25 cents per pound, and the Northern Europe price in the fourth week of a consecutive 4-week period in which the U.S. Northern Europe price exceeded the Northern Europe price each week by more than 1.25 cents per pound, and the AWP did not exceed the current crop-year loan level for the base quality of upland cotton by more than 130 percent in any week of the 4-week period.

(ii) For contracts entered into during the period between August 1 and the week in which the Northern Europe current price and the Northern Europe forward price have been available for 4 weeks which specify shipment of the cotton after September 30 following such contract period, the payment rate shall be zero.

(iii) For contracts entered into during the period between the week the Northern Europe current price and the Northern Europe forward price first become available and July 31 which specify shipment of the cotton by not later than September 30 of such year, the payment rate shall be the difference between the U.S. Northern Europe current price minus 1.25 cents per pound and the Northern Europe current price in the fourth week of a consecutive 4-week period in which the U.S. Northern Europe current price exceeded the Northern Europe current price each week by more than 1.25 cents per pound, and the AWP did not exceed the current crop-year loan level for the base quality of upland cotton by more than 130 percent in any week of the 4-week period.

(iv) For contracts entered into during the period between the week after both the Northern Europe current price and the Northern Europe forward price have been available for four weeks and July 31 which specify shipment of the cotton after September 30 of such year, the payment rate shall be the difference between the U.S. Northern Europe forward price minus 1.25 cents per pound, and the Northern Europe forward price in the fourth week of a consecutive 4-week period in which the U.S. Northern Europe forward price exceeded the Northern Europe forward price each week by more than 1.25 cents per pound, and the AWP did not exceed the forward crop-year loan level for the base quality of upland cotton by more than 130 percent in any week of the 4-week period.

(v) For contracts entered into before August 30, 1991, the payment rate shall be zero.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, no payment rate shall be established in a week following a consecutive 10-week period in which the U.S. Northern Europe price, adjusted for the value of any certificate or cash payment issued in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section, exceeds the Northern Europe price by more than 1.25 cents per pound.

Signed at Washington, DC, on October 28, 1992.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Office of the Comptroller of the Currency

12 CFR Part 5

[Docket No. 92-23]

Rules, Policies and Procedures for Corporate Activities: Merger, Consolidation, Purchase and Assumption

AGENCY: Comptroller of the Currency, Treasury.

ACTION: Interim rule with request for comment.

SUMMARY: This action establishes procedures for national banks to follow in undertaking mergers or consolidations with Federal savings associations. This action is necessitated by the adoption of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Improvement Act of 1991 (FDICIA) which authorized such transactions but did not establish procedures. The procedures adopted, to the extent possible, apply to such transactions the statutory procedures governing mergers and consolidations between national banks and state chartered financial institutions.

DATES: This interim rule is effective November 3, 1992. Comments must be submitted on or before January 4, 1993.

ADDRESSES: Comments should be directed to: Communications Division, 9th Floor, 250 E St. SW., Washington, DC 20219. Attention: Docket no. 92-23. Comments will be available for photocopying and public inspection at the same location.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

As amended by sections 501(a) and 502(b) of title V of the FDICIA, the National Bank Act, at 12 U.S.C. 215c, and the Federal Deposit Insurance Act (FDI Act), at 12 U.S.C. 1815(d)(3), authorize national banks, subject to certain limitations, to acquire or be acquired by savings associations. Acquisitions, within the meaning of title V, include mergers and consolidations in addition to purchase and assumption transactions. Consequently, national banks for the first time clearly are authorized to merge or consolidate with Federal savings associations if the transaction meets the requirements set forth in title V. The resulting institution may be either the national bank or the Federal savings association.

This authority to merge or consolidate with a Federal savings association supplements the long-established authority of national banks to engage in purchase and assumption transactions with Federal and state-chartered depository institutions, including savings associations, and to merge or consolidate with other national banks and with state-chartered banking institutions, including savings associations engaged in the business of receiving deposits, as defined in 12 U.S.C. 215b(1). See 12 U.S.C. 214(a), 214a, 215, and 215a.¹

While those statutes, in the context of consolidations and mergers, provide specific procedures, addressing such things as shareholder approval and dissenters' rights, for national banks to follow in engaging in such transactions, the FDICIA did not address such matters.

Thus, significant uncertainty exists with regard to the appropriate approach that national banks seeking to engage in mergers or consolidations with Federal savings associations should follow. Consequently, the Office is amending 12 CFR 5.33, governing merger, consolidation and purchase and assumption transactions by national banks, to include, to the extent appropriate, the procedures set forth by statute with respect to mergers and consolidations between national banks and with state-chartered banking institutions to mergers and consolidations between national banks and Federal savings associations as authorized by the FDICIA.

In adopting this regulation, the Office has used the statutory language of section 214a, 215 and 215a to the extent possible in order to assure maximum uniformity between the procedures required by the statutes and this regulation. As a result, the OCC intends to interpret the language of this regulation consistent with interpretations that it has applied with respect to the statutory language from which it is derived.²

In addition, the regulation also clarifies the authority of national banks to retain nonconforming assets following such a transaction but only for purposes of prompt divestiture. For purposes of clarity, the regulation also includes cross-references to sections 214a, 215 and 215a with respect to the application of the procedures set forth therein to mergers and consolidations between national banks and state-chartered entities.

The following discusses the specific regulatory provisions temporarily adopted by the OCC.

Discussion

Paragraph (a) of § 5.33, which sets forth the authority pursuant to which national banks may engage in various forms of combinations, is revised to include 12 U.S.C. 215c and 1815(d)(3), as adopted in the FDICIA, which provide additional bases of authority for national banks to engage in merger, consolidation and purchase and assumption transactions with other types of depository institutions. In addition, 12 U.S.C. 24(7th) is specifically included in the authority citation because it also may provide the basis for authority for national banks to engage in purchase and assumption transactions with other insured depository institutions.

Paragraph (b)(1) of § 5.33 is revised to clarify that the procedures and policies set forth in the section are applicable to all forms of combinations between national banks and other depository institutions, including banks and savings associations, unless the language of the section provides otherwise. In this regard, where appropriate, the OCC is replacing the word "bank" or "banks" in § 5.33 with the term "depository institution" or "depository institutions."

Paragraph (b)(6)(ii) of § 5.33 is revised to provide that all depository institutions proposing to be involved in a transaction covered by this section are required to file with the OCC proxy material or information statements in conformance with subpart E of 12 CFR part 11. This provision, as currently codified, only applies to banks involved in such transactions.

Paragraph (b)(7), pertaining to the title of the national bank that will survive or be created as a result of the combination, is amended to clarify that the policy for title changes as set forth in 12 CFR 5.42 is applicable where the title of such bank is not the same as any of the national banks involved in the transaction.

A new paragraph (b)(8) is added to clarify the OCC's existing practice of permitting a national bank that results from a merger, consolidation or purchase and assumption transaction to retain any nonconforming assets that it acquired in the transaction but only for purposes of prompt divestiture and subject to any conditions imposed by the OCC and subject to the determination by the OCC of the value of the asset. This provision is similar to a provision in 12 U.S.C. 35 governing retention of assets by national banks created through the conversion of another type of institution.

Paragraph (c) applies, as appropriate, the requirements set forth in 12 U.S.C. 215 and 215a (which govern, respectively, consolidations and mergers by national banks with other national banks and state-chartered entities resulting in an institution with a national bank charter) to consolidations and mergers between national banks and Federal savings associations under the charter of a national bank.

Differences between procedures set forth in the regulation herein adopted and the procedures set forth in sections 215 and 215a are:

- The proportion of shareholders of a Federal savings association needed to approve a merger or consolidation between the Federal savings association and a national bank is to be determined by Federal law governing Federal savings associations rather than state law or the requirements of this regulation. See 12 CFR 552.13.
- Notice to shareholders of the Federal savings association involved in a merger or consolidation with a national bank is to be determined by Federal law governing Federal savings associations rather than by state law or the requirements of this regulation. See 12 CFR 552.13 and 563.22.
- The appraisal of dissenters' shares in a Federal savings association will be determined in the manner prescribed by Federal law governing Federal savings associations rather than pursuant to state law or the method set forth in the regulation. See 12 CFR 552.14.
- The Office will undertake an appraisal or reappraisal of the value of shares of dissenting shareholders of a national bank involved in a consolidation³ with a Federal savings association only if all parties agree that such appraisal or reappraisal will be final and binding. 12 U.S.C. 215, governing consolidations between national banks and state-chartered depository institutions, provides that the OCC's appraisals are final and binding. Because it is questionable whether the Office could impose this result through a regulation, it is appropriate to require the parties to agree that such appraisal will be final and binding as a prerequisite for an appraisal to be undertaken by the Office. Of course, if the parties decline to enter into such an agreement, they could attempt to resolve any dispute about the valuation of the shares through other means.

- The regulation provides that a Federal savings association that is being acquired by a national bank must relinquish its charter in accordance with the requirements of the Office of Thrift Supervision.
- The term "receiving association" is used to refer to the surviving national bank in the event of a merger between a national bank and a Federal savings association; the term "resulting association" is used to refer to the entity which is created as a result of a consolidation between a national bank and a Federal savings association.

In addition, certain changes have been made in the language of sections 215 and 215a, in incorporating those provisions into the regulation, to clarify, in accordance with OCC interpretations, ambiguities in the statutory language. In this regard:

- Language in section 215(a) and 215(a)(2) is ambiguous with respect to whether publication of notice of shareholders meetings to vote on mergers or consolidations may be waived by the OCC in the event of an emergency only where there is unanimous approval of the waiver by the shareholders. This language is clarified in the regulation, in accordance with OCC interpretations, to permit a waiver either upon unanimous action of the shareholders or upon a determination by the OCC of an emergency.
- Language in sections 215(b) and 215a(b) creates ambiguity as to whether the shareholder vote to approve a merger or consolidation must precede approval by the OCC. OCC interpretations have taken the position that the shareholder vote need not precede OCC approval. Consequently, the regulatory language alters the statutory language to more clearly reflect the OCC interpretation.

Paragraph (f) is revised to clarify that that cost of examinations of any Federal savings association, as well as any state-chartered depository institution, which is proposing to engage in a merger transaction with a national bank shall be charged to the applicants in addition to the filing fees established pursuant to § 5.5.

Paragraph (h) sets forth procedures governing mergers and consolidations involving national banks where the resulting entity will not be a national bank. It encompasses situations where the resulting entity will be a Federal savings association and, for purposes of clarity and consistency, situations where the resulting entity will be state-chartered.

Paragraph (h)(1) provides that the Office has no approval authority over such transactions and that termination of the national bank charter is automatic following compliance with statutory and regulatory requirements and consummation of the transaction. The paragraph applies to all permissible mergers and consolidations of a national bank into an entity operating under a different type of charter such as a state bank or savings association charter or a Federal savings association charter.

Paragraph (h)(2) provides only that a national bank seeking to engage in a transaction described in subparagraph (1) shall so notify the appropriate OCC district office at the time that the application to merge or consolidate is filed, as appropriate, with the Federal Reserve Board, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or the Office of Thrift Supervision.

Paragraph (h)(3) provides procedures applicable to mergers and consolidations between national banks and Federal savings associations under the charter of the Federal savings association. These procedures parallel, to the extent appropriate, the procedures set forth in 12 U.S.C. 214a governing mergers and consolidations between national banks and state chartered entities under a state charter. Differences in procedures between this subparagraph (3) and section 214a are:

- For the reasons set forth above, the Office will undertake an appraisal or reappraisal of the value of shares of dissenting stockholders of the national bank only if all parties agree that such determination will be final and binding.
- Because it may be questionable whether the Office has the authority to impose on the resulting Federal savings association the obligation to pay for the cost of any appraisal or reappraisal of the value of dissenters' shares, the provision requires the parties to reach their own agreement with respect to full payment of the costs of the Office in undertaking the appraisal or reappraisal. Absent such an agreement, the Office will decline to undertake the appraisal or reappraisal.
- The regulation provides that the disposition of the shares of the resulting Federal savings association not taken by the dissenting shareholders must be undertaken in accordance with the requirements of the Office of Thrift Supervision.

³ It should be noted that the provisions of section 215a, governing dissenters' rights in the context of a merger, are not incorporated into this rule because section 215a only grants such rights to shareholders of any entity "to be merged into the receiving association." Because paragraph (c) of this regulation only applies where the receiving association will be the national bank involved in the merger with a Federal savings association and because the rights of dissenting shareholders of such Federal savings association, as discussed, will not be determined in accordance with this regulation, there appears to be no need to include in the regulation provisions pertaining to dissenters' rights in the context of a merger of a Federal thrift into a national bank.

Because mergers and consolidations between national banks and Federal savings associations are currently authorized, the OCC finds that publication for comment prior to adoption and a delay in implementation are impracticable and contrary to the public interest. Thus, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 553 (b)(3)(B) and (d)(3), this regulation is being adopted immediately on an emergency, temporary basis. Nevertheless, public comments are being solicited and will be considered by the OCC prior to finalization of a rule addressing these issues.

Regulatory Flexibility Act

It is hereby certified that this regulation will not have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities. Accordingly, a regulatory flexibility analysis is not required. The basis for this determination is that the purpose of the regulation is to clarify the procedures for all national banks, regardless of size, to enter into mergers and consolidations with Federal savings associations as authorized by the FDICIA. This will eliminate a source of confusion and uncertainty created by that statute by leaving such issues unaddressed.

Executive Order 12291

The OCC has determined that this document is not a major regulation as defined in Executive Order 12291 and a regulatory impact analysis is not required. Overall, the OCC expects the changes to facilitate new types of mergers and consolidations authorized by the FDICIA by clarifying the procedures to be followed and the rights of shareholders of national banks who dissent from such transactions.

Authority and Issuance

For the reasons set out in the preamble, part 5 of chapter I of title 12 of the Code of Federal Regulations is hereby amended as set forth below:

PART 5—RULES, POLICIES, AND PROCEDURES FOR CORPORATE ACTIVITIES

1. The authority citation for part 5 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 12 U.S.C. 1, et seq.; 12 U.S.C. 93a.

§ 5.33 [Amended]

2. In § 5.33(b)(2) (iii) and (iv) and (b)(6)(ii), the term "banks" is replaced by the term "depository institutions".

3. In § 5.33(b)(5) (i) and (iii) and (b)(6)(ii), the term "bank" is replaced by the term "depository institution" each place it appears.

4. In § 5.33(b)(7), the term "banks" is replaced by the term "national banks".

5. In § 5.33, new paragraphs (b)(8) and (h) are added and paragraphs (a), (b)(1), (c) and (f) are revised to read as follows:

§ 5.33 Merger, consolidation, purchase and assumption.

(a) Authority. 12 U.S.C. 1 et seq., 24(7), 93a, 181, 214a, 215, 215a, 215c, 1815(d)(3), and 1828(c).

(b) Policy—(1) General. It is the policy of the Office to preserve the soundness of the national banking system and promote market structures conducive to competition. A proposed merger, consolidation, or purchase of assets and assumption of liabilities between a national bank and another depository institution are all hereinafter referred to as mergers unless the context indicates otherwise. A merger which would not have a substantially adverse effect on competition and which would be beneficial to the merging depository institutions and to the public normally will be approved.

* * * * *

(8) Nonconforming assets. The Office may, in its discretion and subject to such conditions as it may prescribe, permit a national bank to retain and carry for purposes of prompt subsequent divestiture nonconforming assets acquired through merger. The value of any such assets so retained may be determined by the Office.

(c) Approval procedures and treatment of minority shareholders in consolidations and mergers.—(1) Consolidations and mergers of national banks with other national banks and state banks as defined in 12 U.S.C. 215b(1) under the charter of a national bank. National banks entering into consolidation and merger transactions authorized pursuant to 12 U.S.C. 215 and 215a shall follow and be bound by the approval procedures and by the requirements with respect to the treatment of minority shareholders set forth in those provisions.

(2) Consolidations and mergers of national banks with Federal savings associations under charter of a national bank.—(i) Approval of Comptroller, board and shareholders; terms and conditions; notice. Any national banking association and any Federal savings association, as authorized pursuant to title V of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Improvement Act of 1991 (12 U.S.C. 215c(a)), may, with the approval of the Office, be consolidated or merged under the charter of a national banking association on such terms and conditions as may be lawfully agreed upon by a majority of the board of directors of the national bank proposing to merge or consolidate and by the board of directors of the Federal savings association, in accordance with laws and regulations to which it is subject, and be ratified and confirmed by the affirmative vote of the shareholders of each such association owning at least two-thirds of its capital stock outstanding, or by a different proportion of such capital stock in the case of a Federal savings association in accordance with the laws and regulations governing such association, at a meeting to be held on the call of the directors after publishing notice of the time, place, and object of the meeting for four consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published in the place where the association is located, or, if there is no such newspaper, then in the paper of general circulation published nearest thereto, and after sending such notice to each shareholder of record by certified or registered mail at least ten days prior to the meeting, except to those shareholders who specifically waive notice.

Notwithstanding the above, notice to the shareholders of a Federal savings association involved in a proposed consolidation or merger shall be made in accordance with the laws and regulations to which such Federal savings association is subject. Publication of notice to the shareholders of the national bank may be waived in cases where the Office determines that an emergency exists justifying such waiver, or by unanimous action of the shareholders of the association.

(ii) Liability of resulting or receiving association; capital stock. The resulting or receiving association shall be liable for all liabilities of the respective consolidating or merging associations. The capital stock of such resulting or receiving association shall not be less than that required under existing law for the organization of a national bank in the place in which it is located and, with respect only to a merger, the merger agreement shall specify the amount of stock (if any) to be allocated, and cash (if any) to be paid, to the shareholders of the Federal savings association being merged into the receiving association.

(iii) Dissenting national bank shareholders in a consolidation. If a consolidation shall be voted for at such meetings by the necessary majorities of the shareholders of each association proposing to consolidate, and the consolidation shall be approved by the Office, any shareholder of any national bank so consolidating who has voted against such consolidation at the meeting of the association of which he or she is a stockholder, or who has given notice in writing at or prior to such meeting to the presiding officer that he or she dissents from the plan of consolidation, shall be entitled to receive the value of the shares so held when such consolidation is approved by the Office upon written request made to the resulting association at any time before thirty days after the date of consummation of the consolidation, accompanied by the surrender of his stock certificates.

(iv) Valuation of national bank shares. The value of the shares of any dissenting shareholder of any national bank shall be ascertained, as of the effective date of the consolidation, by an appraisal made by a committee of three persons, composed of: One selected by the vote of the holders of the majority of the stock, the owners of which are entitled to payment in cash; one selected by the directors of the resulting association; and one selected by the two so selected. The valuation agreed upon by any two of the three appraisers shall govern. If the value so fixed shall not be satisfactory to any dissenting shareholder who has requested payment, that shareholder may, within five days after being notified of the appraised value of his or her shares, appeal to the Office, who shall cause a reappraisal to be made provided that all of the parties agree that such reappraisal shall be final and binding on each party as to the value of the shares of the appellant.

(v) Appraisal of national bank shares by Comptroller; costs; sale and resale of shares. If, within ninety days from the date of consummation of the consolidation, for any reason one or more of the appraisers is not selected as herein provided, or the appraisers fail to determine the value of such shares, the Office shall, upon written request of any interested party, cause an appraisal to be made if the parties agree that such appraisal will be final and binding on all parties as to the value of the shares of the appellant. The expenses of the Office in making the appraisal or reappraisal, as the case may be, shall be paid by the resulting association. The value of the shares ascertained shall be promptly paid to the dissenting shareholders by the resulting association. Within thirty days after payment has been made to all dissenting shareholders as provided for above, the shares of stock of the resulting association which would have been delivered to such dissenting shareholders had they not requested payment shall be sold by the resulting association at an advertised public auction, unless some other method of sale is approved by the Office, and the resulting association shall have the right to purchase any of such shares at such public auction, if it is the highest bidder therefor, for the purpose of reselling such shares within thirty days thereafter to such person or persons and at such price not less than par as its board of directors by resolution may determine. If the shares are sold at public auction at a price greater than the amount paid to the dissenting shareholders the excess in such sale price shall be paid to such shareholders.

(vi) Dissenting Federal savings association shareholders. The appraisal of dissenters' shares of stock in a Federal savings association involved in a merger or consolidation with a national bank that will be the resulting or receiving association shall be determined in the manner prescribed by the law governing such association, rather than as provided in this section.

(vii) Status of receiving or resulting association; property rights and interests vested and held as fiduciary. The corporate existence of each of the consolidating or merging associations shall be continued in the resulting or receiving national banking association and such association shall be deemed to be the same corporation as each association participating in the consolidation or merger, provided that the Federal savings association shall relinquish its charter in accordance with the requirements of the Office of Thrift Supervision. All rights, franchises, and interests of the individual consolidating or merging associations in and to every type of property (real, personal, and mixed) and choses in action shall be transferred to and vested in the resulting or receiving national banking association by virtue of such consolidation or merger without any deed or other transfer. The resulting or receiving national banking association, upon the consolidation or merger and without any order or other action on the part of any court or otherwise, shall hold and enjoy all rights of property, franchises and interests, including appointments, designations, and nominations, and all other rights and interests as trustee, executor, administrator, registrar of stocks and bonds, guardian of estates, assignee, receiver, and committee of estates of lunatics, and in every other fiduciary capacity, in the manner and to the same extent as such rights, franchises, and interests were held or enjoyed by any one of the consolidating or merging associations at the time of consolidation or merger, subject to the conditions hereinafter provided.

(viii) Removal as fiduciary; discrimination. Where any consolidating or merging association, at the time of the consolidation, was acting under appointment of any court as trustee, executor, administrator, registrar of stocks and bonds, guardian of estates, assignee, receiver, or committee of estates of lunatics, or in any other fiduciary capacity, the resulting or receiving national banking association shall be subject to removal by a court of competent jurisdiction in the same manner and to the same extent as was such consolidating or merging association prior to the consolidation or merger. Nothing contained in this section shall be considered to impair in any manner the right of any court to remove the resulting or receiving national banking association and to appoint in lieu thereof a substitute trustee, executor, or other fiduciary, except that such right shall not be exercised in such a manner as to discriminate against national banking associations, nor shall any resulting or receiving national banking association be removed solely because of the fact that it is a national banking association.

(ix) Issuance of stock by resulting or receiving association; preemptive rights. Stock of the resulting or receiving national banking association may be issued as provided by the terms of the consolidation or merger agreement, free from any preemptive rights of the shareholders of the respective consolidating or merging associations.

(x) Definitions. For purposes of paragraph (c) of this section only, "receiving association" means the national banking association into which one or more Federal savings associations merge; and "resulting association" means the national banking association into which one or more Federal savings associations consolidate.

(f) Investigation and examination. The Office may conduct an examination into the condition of the applicants, whether state or federally chartered, to the extent deemed necessary. The cost of such an examination, in the case of a state-chartered depository institution or a Federal savings association, shall be charged to the applicants, pursuant to § 5.5(c) of this part, in addition to the filing fee imposed pursuant to § 5.5 (a) and (b) of this part.

(h) Merger or consolidation of a national bank into a state-chartered bank as defined in 12 U.S.C. 214(a) or into a Federal savings association—(1) Policy. The merger or consolidation of a national bank with a state-chartered bank or Federal savings association under the charter of the state-chartered bank or Federal savings association does not require Office approval. Additionally, the rules of general applicability (12 CFR part 5, subpart A) do not apply. Termination as a national banking association will be automatic upon completion of the requirements of 12 U.S.C. 214a, in the event of a merger or consolidation into a state-chartered bank, or paragraph (h)(3) of this section, in the event of a merger or consolidation into a Federal savings association, and consummation of the transaction.

(2) Procedure. A national bank desiring to merge or consolidate with a state bank or a Federal savings association under the charter of the state bank or Federal savings association should submit a notice to the appropriate district office advising of its intention. This notice should be submitted at the time the application to merge or consolidate is filed with the responsible agency under the Bank Merger Act (12 U.S.C. 1828(c)). The bank will be furnished with instructions to terminate its status as a national bank.

(3) Special procedures for merger or consolidation with a Federal savings association. A national banking association may, by vote of the holders of at least two thirds of each class of its capital stock, merge or consolidate with a Federal savings association, as authorized pursuant to title V of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Improvement Act of 1991 (12 U.S.C. 215c(a)), under a Federal savings association charter, in the following manner:

(i) Approval of board of directors; publication of notice of stockholders' meeting; waiver of publication; notice by registered or certified mail. The plan of merger or consolidation must be approved by a majority of the entire board of directors of the national banking association. The bank shall publish notice of the time, place, and object of the shareholders' meeting to act upon the plan, in some newspaper with general circulation in the place where the principal office of the national banking association is located, at least once a week for four consecutive weeks, provided that newspaper publication may be dispensed with entirely if waived by all the shareholders and one publication at least ten days before the meeting shall be sufficient if publication for four weeks is waived by holders of at least two thirds of each class of capital stock and prior written consent of the Office is obtained. The national banking association shall send such notice to each shareholder of record by registered mail or by certified mail at least ten days prior to the meeting, which notice may be waived specifically by any shareholder.

(ii) Rights of dissenting stockholders. a shareholder of a national banking association who votes against the merger or consolidation, or who has given notice in writing to the bank at or prior to such meeting that he or she dissents from the plan, shall be entitled to receive in cash the value of the shares he or she holds, if and when the merger or consolidation is consummated, upon written request made to the resulting Federal savings association at any time before thirty days after the date of consummation of such merger or consolidation, accompanied by the surrender of his or her stock certificates. The value of such shares shall be determined as of the date on which the shareholders' meeting was held authorizing the merger or consolidation, by a committee or three persons, one to be selected by majority vote of the dissenting shareholders entitled to receive the value of their shares, one by the directors of the resulting Federal savings association, and the third by the two so chosen. The valuation agreed upon by any two of three appraisers thus chosen shall govern; but, if the value so fixed shall not be satisfactory to any dissenting shareholder who has requested payment as provided herein, such shareholder may within five days after being notified of the appraised value of his or her shares appeal to the Office, which shall cause a reappraisal to be made if the parties agree that such reappraisal shall be final and binding on all parties as to the value of the shares of the appellant and also agree on how the full expenses of the Office in making the reappraisal shall be divided among the parties and paid to the Office. If, within ninety days from the date of consummation of the merger or consolidation, for any reason one or more of the appraisers is not selected as herein provided, or the appraisers fail to determine the value of such shares, the Office shall upon written request of any interested party, cause an appraisal to be made provided that the parties agree that such appraisal shall be final and binding on all parties as to the value of the shares of the appellant and also agree on how the full expenses of the Office in making the appraisal shall be divided among the parties and paid to the Office. The plan of merger or consolidation shall provide, consistent with the requirements of the Office of Thrift Supervision, the manner of disposing of the shares of the resulting Federal savings association not taken by the dissenting shareholders of the national banking association.

COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION

17 CFR Part 30

Limited Marketing Activities From a United States Location by Certain Firms and Their Employees or Other Representatives Exempted Under Commodity Futures Trading Commission Rule 30.10

AGENCY: Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

ACTION: Order.

SUMMARY: The Commodity Futures Trading Commission ("Commission") is granting relief under rule 30.10, 17 CFR 30.10 (1992), to permit firms that have received rule 30.10 relief,¹ to engage in limited marketing conduct with respect to foreign futures or option contracts within the United States through their employees or other representatives. The relief granted by this order, which responds to requests for clarification from certain persons granted rule 30.10 relief as to what marketing activities such relief permits to be undertaken in ¹ For purposes of this Order, the term "rule 30.10 relief" will include any comparability order of the Commission under rule 30.10 granting relief from the application of certain of the Commission's part 30 rules, including registration, as well as any order which in its effect is identical to such relief (e.g., Mutual Recognition Memorandum of Understanding, 55 FR 23902 (June 13, 1990)). To date the Commission has granted the following orders under rule 30.10: 55 FR 23903 (June 13, 1990) [Mutual Recognition Memorandum of Understanding between the CFTC and the French Commission des Operations de Bourse]; 54 FR 21614 (May 19, 1989) [Investment Management Regulatory Organization Limited]; 54 FR 21609 (May 19, 1989) [The Securities Association ("TSA")]; and 54 FR 21604 (May 19, 1989) [Association of Futures Brokers and Dealers ("AFBD")] [the AFBD and TSA have since merged to form the Securities and Futures Authority]; 54 FR 21599 (May 19, 1989) [Securities and Investments Board]; 54 FR 21599 (May 19, 1989) [Montreal Exchange]; 54 FR 806 (January 10, 1989) [Singapore International Monetary Exchange Limited]; and 53 FR 44856 (November 7, 1988) [Sydney Futures Exchange Limited].

the United States, will apply only to firms which have both received such relief and which are located in a foreign jurisdiction whose comparable regulatory regime extends to the supervision of the activities engaged in by a firm, its employees or other representatives operating in a jurisdiction other than the licensing or "home" jurisdiction.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 3, 1992.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Part 30 of the Commission's regulations establishes a regulatory framework governing the offer and sale of foreign futures and option contracts to persons located in the United States.² Commission rule 30.10, adopted on July 23, 1987, provides a framework pursuant to which persons located in a foreign jurisdiction which imposes a comparable regulatory regime may be exempted from certain of the Commission's part 30 rules and regulations subject to, among other things, appropriate information sharing arrangements between the Commission and relevant foreign authorities and assurances that the activities subject to regulation will be supervised by the appropriate regulatory authorities in that jurisdiction.

In adopting the exemptive provision of rule 30.10 the Commission stated that the exemption would be available only to persons located outside the United States who are subject to a comparable regulatory system and who engage in activities subject to regulation and supervision in their home jurisdiction by their home regulator.³ This restrictive application of relief was premised, in part, on the desire of the Commission to proceed in a cautious manner in the implementation of a new program which could implicate the customer protections accorded United States customers. Specifically, the Commission was concerned that conduct not occur in the United States which would not be supervised either by the Commission or the foreign regulator.

Consistent with the above, foreign firms which have received rule 30.10 relief could, from a location outside of the United States, offer or sell foreign futures or option contracts to persons located in the United States, as long as such conduct did not violate the anti-fraud provision of Commission rule 30.9 and was not otherwise inconsistent with the provisions of the Commodity Exchange Act ("Act") or regulations thereunder or the law of the other jurisdictions in which the firm is located. This conduct could include telephone calls, mailings (both printed material as well as electronically encoded material such as compact discs or computer diskettes), or advertising in media such as radio, television or newspapers (including the transmission of advertising via computer screens).⁴ Such solicitation activities, which (in addition to the acceptance of orders)⁵ otherwise would require registration with the Commission regardless of the point of origin, currently may be undertaken by foreign firms which have been exempted from the registration requirement under a rule 30.10 order based on that firm's compliance with the rules of a comparable regulatory system.

The Commission notes, however, that policies established under one set of circumstances may not necessarily be appropriate in light of change circumstances. In particular, the existence of a four year operational history under the part 30 program, as well as requests from various foreign regulations for a more flexible interpretation of the rule 30.10 orders or equivalent arrangements to permit limited conduct within the United States, warrant a reexamination of the Commission's policy under rule 30.10 so as to determine whether conduct in the United States by employees or other representatives of rule 30.10 firms directed to existing and prospective customers can be permitted consistent with the Commission's responsibilities under the Act.

The Commission initially observes that its experience with the operation of the part 30 program has been positive. To date, over 100 firms have received rule 30.10 relief and the Commission is aware of no problems under the program. The Commission believes that the success of the rule 30.10 program as well as the existence of working relationships established under that program with foreign regulatory and self-regulatory authorities provide assurances that the conduct of rule 30.10 exempted firms through their employees or other representatives located in the United States, if of a limited duration and subject to proper supervisory controls, will not be inconsistent with the Commission's obligations under the Act to ensure appropriate customer protection.

In addition, Commission staff previously has broadened the ability of certain foreign firms to communicate with United States persons from United States locations. For example, Commission staff made clear that the use by such a firm of a United States registered introducing broker ("IB"), whether affiliated or unaffiliated, as a sales agent would not disqualify the foreign firm from eligibility for rule 30.10 relief.⁶ A Commission staff no-action position permitted representatives of a firm exempted under rule 30.10 to solicit certain U.S. institutional entities under certain specified circumstances and conditions.⁷ This relief was of limited duration, however, and required, among other things, that the representatives of the foreign firm be accompanied by a registered associated person of an affiliated Commission registered firm and that any accounts ultimately opened with the foreign firm be introduced by the Commission registered firm. More recently, Commission staff has provided guidance to a foreign futures exchange with respect to the permissible scope of activities that the members of that exchange could engage in during a limited one-day promotional event in the ² 17 CFR Part 30 and Appendix A thereto, which was adopted by the Commission on July 23, 1987, 52 FR 28980 (August 5, 1987). Rule 30.1, 17 CFR 30.1, defines "foreign futures" and "foreign option" in terms contracts that are "made or to be made on or subject to the rules of any foreign board of trade." The relief granted in the order applies only with respect to foreign futures and options.

⁶ See Division of Trading and Markets Interpretative Letter 88-3, January 15, 1988, Comm. Fut. L. Rep. (CCH) ¶ 24,085.

The above positions were based on a recognition by Commission staff that in order for rule 30.10 relief to better serve the interests of existing and prospective United States customers of rule 30.10 firms consistent with relevant customer protection concerns, certain direct contacts between such firms and their customers which would not contravene the Commission's original intent to permit marketing by firms without permanent locations in the United States could be permitted. The Commission concurs and, accordingly, has determined that firms subject to a rule 30.10 exemption should be permitted to engage in reasonably limited marketing activities in the United States with respect to foreign futures and options from a United States location with certain customers or potential customers as described and subject to the conditions specified below.

As specified below, the Commission initially is limiting its relief to conduct directed towards certain institutions and governmental entities whose description in terms of status and assets has been derived generally from the definition of "qualified eligible participant" ("QEP") as that term is defined in recently adopted Commission rule 4.7(a)(1)(ii), 57 FR 34853, 34860 (August 7, 1992). The Commission believes that direct contacts by rule 30.10 firms through their employees or other representatives with such institutions and governmental entities, who have a high degree of sophistication and financial resources, may facilitate appropriate supervision by the relevant foreign regulator.⁹

⁸ See letter dated August 17, 1992 from Andrea Corcoran, Commission, to Patrick Stephen, Marche a Terme International de France.

⁹ The QEP definition includes a portfolio test for certain persons which is intended to reflect objective evidence of investment experience. Such prior investment experience was deemed necessary by the commission in order to ensure that investors who do not receive the specific commodity-pool related disclosures of rule 4.21 would have a relatively high degree of investment acumen and resources. See 57 FR 34853, 34855 (August 7, 1992). In the context of direct United States marketing contacts between rule 30.10 firms and certain institutions in the United States with whom such firms could communicate directly from offshore locations, the Commission does not believe that such a portfolio standard is necessary. Specifically, the portfolio test of rule 4.7 is intended to assure prior investment experience and thereby diminish the need for the mandated disclosures in rule 4.21. In contrast, the disclosure obligations to United States customers contacted directly pursuant to this Order by a firm with rule 30.10 relief will not in any way be diminished by this Order, as rule 30.10 contemplates disclosure pursuant to the Act.

The Commission notes, however, that this Order should be viewed as a first step. Absent any

The Commission's policy is intended only to permit marketing activities in the United States for limited periods by rule 30.10 exempted firms and their employees or other representatives. Clearly, any person who establishes a fixed location for the solicitation or acceptance of business in the United States, or whose marketing activities involve long or repeated periods within the United States that can be characterized as a de facto fixed presence, will be required to register with the Commission. In order to eliminate requests for guidance and to permit its new marketing policy to be implemented generally on a self-executing basis, the Commission Order includes as a condition an objective standard governing the permissible duration and frequency of conduct in the United States. Essentially, the Commission believes that for purposes of this Order marketing activity subject to regulation under part 30 which in the aggregate does not exceed thirty business days in any calendar year does not constitute a de facto fixed presence which would disqualify the rule 30.10 firm from eligibility for such relief.¹⁰ This relief is conditioned on the requirement that the foreign regulatory or self-regulatory organizations granted rule 30.10 relief interpret their authority to encompass supervision of firms which engage in marketing conduct from United States locations and undertake to use such authority to implement measures to monitor compliance with the criteria of this Order.¹¹ In addition, problems that would warrant a reconsideration of the appropriateness of permitting rule 30.10 firms to operate in accordance with the terms of this Order, the Commission may in due course expand the Order to include any customer located in the United States.

¹⁰ This order addresses marketing and other sales activities by firms with rule 30.10 relief and their employees or other representatives from United States locations and does not encompass any other activities subject to regulation under the Act. To the extent that a rule 30.10 firm has an affiliate (which is separately incorporated or otherwise has a separate legal existence) in the United States which is registered with the Commission (e.g., an IB), the Commission wishes to make clear that such registrant's conduct will not be attributed to the rule 30.10 firm for purposes of the limitation on duration and frequency of activities in the United States imposed by this Order. The Commission recognizes that employees or other representatives of a rule 30.10 firm may routinely conduct business in the United States that is unrelated to the Act. It is the Commission's intent that the 30 day limit apply only with respect to conduct subject to regulation under the Act.

¹¹ It should be noted of course that notwithstanding the supervision that a foreign regulator may apply to the activities of a rule 30.10 firm operating from relevant foreign jurisdictions or in the United States pursuant to this Order, the Commission retains its direct jurisdiction over such firms and their employees or representatives who engage in activities subject to part 30. In this the foreign regulatory or self-regulatory organization to which the Commission's rule 30.10 order is issued must request that the Order herein apply to firms in its jurisdiction with confirmed rule 30.10 relief and the Commission must confirm its applicability in writing.

Based upon the foregoing analysis and pursuant to its authority under sections 2(a)(1)(A), 4 and 4c of the Act, 7 U.S.C. 2, 6 and 6c, the Commission hereby authorizes any firms soliciting or accepting orders for foreign futures or options from U.S. customers for whom relief under rule 30.10 has been confirmed to market their services from non-permanent locations in the United States without prior notification to the Commission, Provided, That:

(1) The regulatory or self-regulatory organization to which rule 30.10 relief has been granted undertakes to supervise conduct by firms with such relief which takes place outside of that foreign jurisdiction through such firms' employees or other representatives under this Order;

(2) Any such firm supervises and accepts liability for all conduct by its employees or other representatives taking place in the United States with respect to its marketing activities;

(3) Marketing activities within the United States are reasonably limited in duration and frequency. (For this purpose, visits which do not in the aggregate exceed thirty business days in any one calendar year will be deemed to be reasonably limited);

(4) All accounts opened and all orders for foreign futures or options accepted as a result of any customer communications in the United States will be effected directly through the foreign office of the rule 30.10 firm;

(5) Such soliciting or marketing activities occurring within the United States will be limited to such activities directed to the following persons, acting either for their own account or the account of another entity which is described below:

(a) An FCM, IB, commodity pool operator or commodity trading advisor registered as such with the Commission;

(b) A broker or dealer registered pursuant to section 15 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934;

(c) An investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 or a business development company defined in section 2(a)(48) of that Act;

(d) A bank as defined in section 3(a)(2) of the Securities Act of 1933 ("Securities Act"), or any savings and loan association or other institution as defined in section 3(a)(5)(A) of the Securities Act;

In connection, the Commission notes that every order granting rule 30.10 relief has required a firm seeking relief under such an order to consent to jurisdiction in the United States under the Act and file a valid and binding appointment of an agent in the United States for service of process in accordance with the requirements set forth in Commission rule 30.5, 17 CFR 30.5.

(e) An insurance company as defined in section 2(13) of the Securities Act;

(f) A plan established by and maintained by a state, its political subdivisions, or any agency or instrumentality of a state or its political subdivisions, for the benefit of its employees, if such plan has total assets in excess of $5,000,000;

(g) An employee benefit plan within the meaning of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, Provided, That the investment decision is made by a plan fiduciary, as defined in section 3(21) of such Act, which is a bank, savings and loan association, insurance company, or registered investment adviser; or that the employee benefit plan has total assets in excess of $5,000,000;

(h) A private business development company as defined in section 202(a)(22) of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940;

(i) An organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, with total assets in excess of $5,000,000;

(j) A corporation, Massachusetts or similar business trust, or partnership, other than a pool, which has total assets in excess of $5,000,000;

(k) A pool, trust, insurance company separate account or bank collective trust, with total assets in excess of $5,000,000; or

(l) A governmental entity (including the United States, a state, or a foreign government) or political subdivision thereof, or a multinational or supranational entity or an instrumentality, agency or department of any of the foregoing; and Provided Further That:

(6) Before the Order herein may become effective as to any rule 30.10 order, the regulatory or self-regulatory organization to which rule 30.10 relief has been granted requests, and the Commission confirms in writing, the applicability of the Order herein to such rule 30.10 order.

The Commission wishes to make clear that firms and their employees or other representatives which engage in marketing conduct within the United States pursuant to this Order will be deemed by the Commission to have consented to the agent named in the agency agreement filed by the firm as a condition of rule 30.10 relief as their agent for service of process with respect to their activities regulated under the Act.

Any rule 30.10 firm operating under this Order will remain subject to all of the requirements contained in Part 30 of the Commission's regulations concerning the offer and sale of foreign futures or options to United States persons, including the antifraud prohibitions of rule 30.9. The Commission intends to evaluate the operation of this Order to determine whether the conditions noted above for the limited presence of foreign firms in the United States are appropriate. The Commission reserves the right to modify or revoke this Order, in its discretion, as it deems appropriate, including to terminate the authority granted hereunder to any specific firm operating hereto.

Issued in Washington, DC on October 28, 1992.

Lynn K. Gilbert,

Deputy Secretary to the Commission.

[Docket No. RM80-53]

Maximum Lawful Price and Inflation Adjustments Under the Natural Gas Policy Act

AGENCY: Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

ACTION: Final rule; order of the Director, OPPR.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to the delegated authority, the Director of the Office of Pipeline and Producer Regulation (OPPR) revises and publishes the maximum lawful prices (MLPs) prescribed under Title I of the Natural Gas Policy Act (NGPA) for the months of November and December 1992. Section 101(b)(6) of the NGPA requires that the Commission compute and publish the MLPs before the beginning of each month for which the figures apply.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 1, 1992.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Garry L. Penix, (202) 208-0622.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

PUBLICATION OF PRESCRIBED MAXIMUM LAWFUL PRICES UNDER THE NATURAL GAS POLICY ACT OF 1978

Order of the Director, OPPR

Issued October 28, 1992.

Section 101(b)(6) of the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978 (NGPA) requires the Commission to compute and make available maximum lawful prices (MLPs) and inflation adjustments prescribed in Title I of the NGPA prior to the month they apply to.

The permanent elimination of all wellhead price controls, through the repeal of Title I of the NGPA, is effective on January 1, 1993.¹ Therefore, under the authority delegated in § 375.307(c)(1) of the Commission's regulations, the Director of the Office of Pipeline and Producer Regulation is publishing MLPs and inflation adjustment factors for November and December 1992 only.

MLPs and inflation adjustment factors for periods before November 1992 are contained in Tables in §§ 271.101 and 271.102 of the Commission's regulations. Table I of § 271.101(a) specifies the MLPs for gas under NGPA sections 102, 103(b)(1), 105(b)(3), 106(b)(1)(B), 107(c)(5), 108 and 109. Table II of § 271.101(a) specifies the MLPs for gas under sections 104 and 106(a) of the NGPA. Table III of § 271.102(c) contains the inflation adjustment factors.

The quarterly percentage change in the gross domestic product (GDP) implicit price deflator published on October 27, 1992, was used in computing the MLPs and inflation adjustment factors for November and December 1992. The gross national product (GNP) specified in the NGPA wasn't used since the Department of Commerce states the next change in the GNP won't be published until December 1992. When the GNP is published, revised prices and inflation factors for November and December 1992 will be published, if necessary.

The Director notes that no changes to the MLPs and inflation adjustment factors for August, September and October 1992, which were computed with the GDP implicit price deflator, are necessary. After the GNP was published, it was found that MLPs and inflation factors for August, September and October 1992, computed using the GNP, were identical to those computed using the GDP.

Kevin P. Madden,

Director, Office of Pipeline and Producer Regulation.

Upon consideration of the foregoing, part 271, chapter I, title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations, is amended as set forth below.

1. The authority citation for part 271 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 15 U.S.C. 717-717w; 15 U.S.C. 3301-3432; 42 U.S.C. 7101-7352.

§ 271.101 [Amended]

2. Section 271.101(a) is amended by adding the maximum lawful prices for November and December 1992, in Tables I and II.

TABLE I.—NATURAL GAS CEILING PRICES

H.....	108.....	Stripper gas.....	7.307	7.345
I.....	109.....	Not otherwise covered.....	3.210	3.217

² Commencing January 1, 1985, and July 1, 1987, the price of some natural gas finally determined to be natural gas produced from a new, onshore production well under section 103 was deregulated. (See part 272 of the Commission's regulations.) Thus, for all months succeeding June 1987 publication of a maximum lawful price per MMBtu under NGPA section 103(b)(2) is discontinued.

⁴ The maximum lawful price for tight formation gas is the lesser of the negotiated contract price or 200% of the price specified in subpart C of part 271. The incentive ceiling price does not apply to certain gas after May 12, 1990, as a result of Commission Order No. 519-A. (See § 271.703 of the Commission's regulations.)

[Docket No. H040]

RIN 1218-AA58

Occupational Exposure to 4,4' Methyleneedianiline (MDA); Approval of Information Collection Requirements

AGENCY: Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), Labor.

ACTION: Final rule; approval of information collection requirements.

SUMMARY: On August 10, 1992, OSHA published final standards governing occupational exposure to MDA in both General Industry and Construction (57 FR 35630). These standards are designed to reduce the risks from exposure to MDA. At that time, OSHA submitted the information collection requirements to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) for review under the Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA) of 1980. OMB has approved all information requirements contained in 29 CFR 1910.1050 (General Industry) and 29 CFR 1926.60 (Construction). The OMB clearances expire on September 30, 1995. This amends the August 10, 1992, Federal Register document to properly display the OMB control numbers.

EFFECTIVE DATE: These clearances became effective on September 28, 1992.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. James F. Foster, Office of Information and Consumer Affairs, Occupational Safety and Health Administration, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., room N3637, Washington, DC 20210. Telephone (202) 219-8151.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The PRA provisions of information collection are triggered when an OSHA compliance officer asks an employer to produce certain records and, in some circumstances, when an employer goes out of business. The MDA standards require that OSHA have access to the employer's Compliance Plan (General Industry § 1910.1050(g)(2)(ii); Construction § 1926.60(h)(5)(ii)), information and training records (General Industry § 1910.1050(k)(4)(ii); Construction § 1926.60(l)(4)(ii)) as well as the employee's medical and monitoring records (General Industry § 1910.1050(n)(6); Construction § 1926.60(o)(7)). If an employer ceases business operation and there is no successor employer to receive these records, the employer is required to notify the Director of the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health three months prior to destroying the records and transmit the records to the Director if he or she requests them (General Industry § 1910.1050(n)(7); Construction § 1926.60(o)(8)(ii)).

Public reporting burden for collection of information in both General Industry and Construction was estimated to average five minutes per employer response to an OSHA compliance officer's request for access to the employer's records.

OMB reviewed the collection of information requirements for occupational exposure to MDA in accordance with the PRA, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., and 5 CFR part 1320. OMB approved all information requirements contained in 29 CFR 1910.1050 (General Industry) and 29 CFR 1926.60 (Construction) under OMB clearance numbers 1218-0184, 1218-0183 respectively. On September 28, 1992, OMB approved the information Collection provisions for three years, the maximum period authorized by the Paperwork Reduction Act.

Coast Guard

33 CFR Part 165

[COTP Los Angeles/Long Beach Regulation 92-08]

Safety Zone Regulations: Port of Los Angeles, CA

AGENCY: Coast Guard, DOT.

ACTION: Temporary final rule.

SUMMARY: The Coast Guard is establishing a safety zone around the following barges and tugs while they are moored either separately or together at Los Angeles Berths 142 through 144: the barges Crowley 020, Crowley 415, Crowley 417 and Crowley 419; and the tugs Sea Lion, Sea Victory, Adventurer and Guardian in the port of Los Angeles. The zone is needed to protect the public which may be attracted by the unusual appearance of, and danger posed by, tugs and barges carrying the topside platforms for offshore oil wells as they transit and moor in the Port of Los Angeles. Entry into this zone is prohibited unless authorized by the Captain of the Port.

EFFECTIVE DATES: This regulation becomes effective at 5 p.m., PDT October 16, 1992. It Terminates at 12 midnight PST November 30, 1992.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 553, a notice of proposed rule making was not published for this regulation and it is being made effective in less than 30 days after Federal Register publication.

Publishing an NPRM and delaying its effective date would be contrary to the public interest since immediate action is needed to protect the public which may be attracted by the unusual appearance of, and danger posed by, tugs and barges carrying the topside platforms for offshore oil wells as they transit and moor in the Port of Los Angeles.

Drafting Information

The drafters of this regulation are LT R.F. Shields, project officer for the Captain of the Port, and CAPT B.E. WEULE, project attorney, Eleventh Coast Guard District Legal Office.

Discussion of Regulation

The event requiring this regulation will occur between 5 p.m., PDT October 16, 1992, and 12 midnight PST November 30, 1992. This safety zone is necessary to protect the public which may be attracted by the unusual appearance of, and danger posed by, tugs and barges carrying the topside platforms for offshore oil wells as they transit and moor in the Port of Los Angeles.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

34 CFR Part 639

RIN 1840-AB58

Law School Clinical Experience Program

AGENCY: Department of Education.

ACTION: Final regulations.

SUMMARY: The Secretary amends the regulations governing the Law School Clinical Experience Program. These final regulations are needed to implement recently enacted changes made by the Higher Education Amendments of 1992. The amendments expand the purposes for which grant assistance may be provided and increase the maximum grant award under the Law School Clinical Experience Program.

EFFECTIVE DATE: These regulations take effect either 45 days after publication in the Federal Register or later if the Congress takes certain adjournments. If you want to know the effective date of these regulations, call or write the Department of Education contact person. A document announcing the effective date will be published in the Federal Register.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Barbara J. Harvey, U.S. Department of Education, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW., room 3022, ROB-3, Washington, DC 20202-5251. Telephone: (202) 708-7863.

Individuals who are hearing impaired may call the Federal Dual Party Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339 (in the Washington, DC 202 area code, telephone 708-9300) between 8 a.m. and 7 p.m., Eastern time.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: These regulations implement the Higher Education Amendments of 1992 (Pub. L. 102-325), enacted July 23, 1992, which expanded the purposes for which grant assistance may be provided under this program to include continuing programs of clinical experience for students in the practice of law and increased the maximum grant award.

Waiver of Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

In accordance with section 431(b)(2)(A) of the General Education Provisions Act (20 U.S.C. 1232(b)(2)(A)), and the Administrative Procedure Act, 5

U.S.C. 553, it is the practice of the Secretary to offer interested parties the opportunity to comment on proposed regulations. However, these amendments merely incorporate statutory changes into the regulations or make other technical changes and do not implement substantive policy. Therefore, the Secretary has determined pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(B), that public comment on the regulations is unnecessary and contrary to the public interest.

Executive Order 12291

These final regulations have been reviewed in accordance with Executive Order 12291. They are not classified as major because they do not meet the criteria for major regulations established in the order.

Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980

These regulations have been examined under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980 and have been found to contain no information collection requirements.

Intergovernmental Review

This program is subject to the requirements of Executive Order 12372 and the regulations in 34 CFR part 79. The objective of the Executive order is to foster an intergovernmental partnership and a strengthened federalism by relying on processes developed by State and local governments for coordination and review of proposed Federal financial assistance.

In accordance with the order, this document is intended to provide early notification of the Department's specific plans and actions for this program.

Assessment of Educational Impact

Based on its own review, the Department has determined that the regulations in this document do not require transmission of information that is being gathered by or is available from any other agency or authority of the United States.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On March 21, 1991, the State of Maryland submitted a formal revision to its State Implementation Plan (SIP). The SIP revisions consist of a revised numbering system for these regulations. The revisions were necessitated by the fact that the Maryland Air Management Administration (AMA), as part of a State government reorganization, was transferred from the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) to the Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE). The effective date of this transfer was July 1, 1987.

The State of Maryland's regulatory scheme is known as the Code of Maryland Administrative Regulations (COMAR). These regulations are organized by Title and Subtitle according to the issuing Department, followed by the subject matter within the Department. When the Maryland AMA was part of the DHMH, the air quality regulations were identified as COMAR 10.18.XX.XX, which represented the COMAR title 10 and subtitle 18. However, regulations issued by MDE are found in COMAR title 26, while air quality regulations are listed under subtitle 11. Thus, the air quality regulations, which are codified in the Maryland SIP as 10.18.XX.XX are now codified by the State as COMAR 26.11.XX.XX. The revised regulatory scheme was published as a Final Action in the January 27, 1989 Maryland Register. The Maryland air quality regulations which were in effect as of that date establish the "baseline" for recodification purposes.

Maryland held public hearings between July 9, 1990 and July 12, 1990 at three locations—Cambridge, Hagerstown, and Annapolis—as required by 40 CFR 51.102.

As part of the SIP revision request, Maryland provided documentation that the conversion of the regulatory numbering system resulted in no substantive changes in the existing regulations. However, the Maryland regulations underwent administrative wording changes necessitated by the transfer of Departments, as well as style changes to be consistent with that preferred by the State Division of State Documents. These revisions fall into six general categories:

1. Name changes were made so that any and all reference to the Maryland DHMH, its Secretary, and the Health-Environment Article would be changed to the corresponding references to MDE. In addition, all references to "Article 41" were changed to the "State Government Article."

2. All cross-references were revised accordingly, and lengthy regulations were split into shorter regulations (a style change preferred by the State Division of State Documents). Previously uncodified tables were recodified as separate regulations.

3. Alphabetical changes—Certain amendments were given sub-alphabetical citations (e.g., A-1) to restore the strict alphabetical sequence.

4. Stylistic changes were made, such as (1) replacement of units of measure abbreviations with a full word; (2) correction of grammatical errors in spelling, punctuation, and capitalizations; (3) use of bold face and italic type for emphasis, and (4) the addition of a lead zero to decimals (e.g., 0.03 instead of .03).

5. Updates were made to the Air Quality Regulations' administrative history.

6. Corrections were made, where necessary, to the authority line at the beginning of each chapter.

As part of the effort to shorten lengthy State regulations, Maryland rearranged the body of regulations that is currently codified in the Maryland SIP as COMAR 10.18.02.03A through 03N, listed below:

The revised Alphabetical format affects the Definitions Section found in COMAR 26.11.01.01. The revised citation are described below:

Because several Chapters in COMAR (10.18.18 and 10.18.19) had been reserved and contained no regulations, the following citations were revised accordingly:

Current SIP citation	Revised SIP citation
10.18.21.XX.....	26.11.19.XX
10.18.22.06.....	26.11.20.02

In order to evaluate the approvability as a SIP revision of the revised recodification scheme, the critical factors to be considered are (1) whether the SIP revision continues to contain all previously approved requirements for attainment and maintenance of the National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS); (2) whether issues of enforceability arise; and (3) whether all of the applicable requirements (both procedural and substantive) of 40 CFR part 51 are met.

The most significant issue surrounding this recodification scheme involves enforceability issues. If approved, the recodification scheme for the Federally-enforceable Maryland SIP regulations would mirror those of the State-enforceable air quality regulations as they existed on January 27, 1989. However, some of the provisions designated 26.11.XX.XX are pending before EPA as SIP revisions, but are currently not in the Maryland because EPA has yet to take final action. Another group of regulations have been approved by EPA as SIP revisions, but are no longer part of Maryland's Regulations. Other substantive provisions designated 26.11.XX.XX are not part of the SIP because of the four reasons discussed below. Thus, EPA would be renumbering, for SIP purposes, certain regulations where the Federally-enforceable and State-enforceable provisions are clearly different.

EPA has determined that the pertinent requirements of 40 CFR part 51 have been met. EPA has also determined that the recodified COMAR regulatory format does not substantive revise any SIP provision so as to have a substantive impact on any current National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) or Prevention of Significant Deterioration (PSD) increment. Therefore, EPA's approval action contains the following information to clarify the numbering system for SIP enforceability purposes:

(1) All current provisions in Maryland's regulations which EPA has approved as part as the Maryland SIP will now be cited as COMAR 26.11.XX.XX.

(2) All current Maryland SIP provisions which are no longer contained in Maryland's current regulations will continue to be designated, for SIP planning and enforcement purposes as COMAR 10.18.XX.XX. These provisions are listed in appendix A of the Technical Support Document (TSD), which is available upon request from the EPA Regional Office listed in the ADDRESSES section of this notice.

(3) All "COMAR 26.11." provisions which are not part of the Maryland SIP but pending before EPA will be designated as COMAR 26.11.XX.XX. However, this action only approves those changes made by Maryland as part of its recodification action. This FRN defers Agency action on all of the pertinent substantive changes. These provisions are listed in appendix B of the TSD, referenced above.

Except as noted below, EPA incorporates by reference the text of COMAR 26.11.XX.XX effective as of that date. All substantive language changes with regard to pending SIP revision actions on the COMAR 26.11.XX.XX are crossed out.

At the same time, the text of the provisions listed in appendix A (which are still designated as COMAR 10.18.XX.XX) will be inserted into the IBR package, since they still constitute approved provisions of the Maryland SIP. The text of these approved provisions will be taken from the following documents which had been published by the State of Maryland:

(1) Excerpts from the March 7, 1980 Maryland Register pertaining to COMAR 10.18.01.08 (Exceptions to Visible Emissions Requirements), all subsections of COMAR 10.18.08 (Control of Incinerators), and COMAR 10.18.09.05A(3)(b) (Visible Emissions from Fuel Burning Equipment—Exceptions).

(2) Excerpts from the Maryland State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Air Quality Regulations, Revision XVI (Effective Date: October 14, 1985) pertaining to the remainder of the COMAR provisions listed in appendix A.

However, Maryland's recodification request also encompasses State regulatory provisions which are not currently in the SIP. These regulations are listed respectively in the TSD appendices C through F:

(1) Those provisions covering subject matter which Maryland has historically requested EPA to not be included in the SIP.

(2) Those provisions are not in the Maryland SIP as embodied in 40 CFR part 52, but included in Maryland's section 111(d) Plans for noncriteria pollutants, which are embodied in 40 CFR part 62.

(3) Those provisions which Maryland had officially submitted as SIP revisions, but which EPA returned to Maryland because they were considered to be incomplete.

(4) Those provisions which Maryland has revised, but has not officially submitted to EPA for incorporation into the SIP.

EPA is taking no action on the recodification action as it pertains to these provisions. EPA has determined that because these provisions have never been part of the Maryland SIP, Maryland did not intend to add them to the SIP at this time. None of the above-listed COMAR provisions is currently awaiting SIP action by EPA other than the changes associated with the recodification request. Yet if EPA extends its approval of the recodification scheme to these non-SIP provisions, such action could be misconstrued by the affected parties (i.e., public regulatory agencies, and the regulatory community) that EPA is tacitly approving the entire body of these provisions as a SIP revision. EPA intends to seek further clarification from Maryland as to whether the State had intended EPA to formally review and process the revised provisions listed in appendices C through F as SIP revisions.

This action will be effective 60 days from the date of this Federal Register notice unless, within 30 days of its publication, notice is received that adverse or critical comments will be submitted. If such notice is received, this action will be withdrawn before the effective date by simultaneously publishing two subsequent notices. One notice will withdraw the final action and another will begin a new rulemaking by announcing a proposal of the action and establishing a comment period. If no such comments are received, the public is advised that this action will be effective on January 4, 1993.

Final Action

EPA is approving the recodification format of all current or pending SIP provisions, as well as the associated administrative and stylistic changes, as a revision of the Maryland SIP.

EPA has not reviewed the substance of these regulations at this time. These rules were approved into the State implementation plan in previous rulemakings. The EPA is now merely approving the new format and renumbering system submitted by the State. The EPA's approval of the renumbering system, at this time, does not imply any position with respect to the approvability of the substantive rules. To the extent EPA has issued any SIP calls to the State with respect to the adequacy of any of the rules subject to this recodification, EPA will continue to require the State to correct any such rule deficiencies despite EPA's approval of this recodification. EPA is approving this SIP revision without prior proposal because the Agency views this as a noncontroversial amendment and anticipates no adverse comments.

Nothing in this action should be construed as permitting or allowing or establishing a precedent for any future request for revision to any state implementation plan. Each request for revision to the state implementation plan shall be considered separately in light of specific technical, economic, and environmental factors and in relation to relevant statutory and regulatory requirements.

Under the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 600 et. seq., EPA must prepare a regulatory flexibility analysis assessing the impact of any proposed final rule on small entities. 5 U.S.C. 603 and 604. Alternatively, EPA may certify that the rule will not have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities. Small entities include small businesses, small not-for-profit enterprises, and government entities with jurisdiction over populations of less than 50,000.

SIP approvals under section 110 and subchapter I, part D of the CAA do not create any new requirements but simply approve requirements that the State is already imposing. Therefore, because the Federal SIP approval does not impose any new requirements, the Administrator certifies that it does not have a significant impact on any small entities affected. Moreover, due to the nature of the Federal-State relationship under the CAA, preparation of a flexibility analysis for would constitute Federal inquiry into the economic reasonableness of state action. The Clean Air Act forbids EPA to base its actions concerning SIPs on such grounds. Union Electric Co. v. U.S. EPA, 427 U.S. 246, 255-66 (S. Ct. 1976); 42 U.S.C. 7410(a)(2).

This action approving Maryland's SIP revision request to recodify its SIP rules have been classified as a Table 3 action by the Regional Administrator under the procedures published in the Federal Register on January 19, 1989 (54 FR 2214-2225). On January 6, 1989, the Office of Management and Budget waived Table 2 and Table 3 SIP revisions (54 FR 2222) from the requirements of Section 3 of Executive Order 12291 for a period of two years. EPA has submitted a request for a permanent waiver for Table 2 and 3 SIP revisions. OMB has agreed to continue the temporary waiver until such time as it rules on EPA's request.

Under section 307(b)(1) of the Clean Air Act, petitions for judicial review of this action must be filed in the United States Court of Appeals for the appropriate circuit by January 4, 1993. Filing a petition for reconsideration by the Administrator of this final rule does not affect the finality of this rule for the purposes of judicial review nor does it extend the time within which a petition for judicial review may be filed, and shall not postpone the effectiveness of such rule or action. This action may not be challenged later in proceedings to enforce its requirements. (See section 307(b)(2).)

Navel and Valencia Oranges Grown in Arizona and Designated Parts of California; Termination of 1985 Amendment Proceeding

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Termination of amendment proceeding.

SUMMARY: This action terminates a 1985 amendment proceeding on the Federal marketing orders regulating navel and Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated parts of California. This action is taken in response to an August 21 decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit in San Francisco, California (Ninth Circuit) invalidating the 1985 amendments to the Valencia orange marketing order. In its decision, the Ninth Circuit ruled that the amendments were not properly enacted under the Administrative Procedure Act (APA). The decision also has implications for the navel orange marketing order because that order was amended concurrently in 1985 with the Valencia orange order. Accordingly, this action terminates the proceeding, leaving both orders to operate without the 1985 amendments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 3, 1992.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Prior documents in this proceeding: Notice of Hearing issued on March 11, 1983, and published in the Federal Register on March 17, 1983 [48 FR 11276]; Notice of Recommended Decision issued on April 5, 1984, and published in the Federal Register on April 11, 1984 [49 FR 14360]; Secretary's Decision and Referendum Order issued on July 12, 1984, and published in the Federal Register on July 18, 1984 [49 FR 29071]; Amendment to the Referendum Order issued on August 8, 1984, and published in the Federal Register on August 10, 1984 [49 FR 32080]; and the Order Amending the Orders issued on January 8, 1985, and published in the Federal Register on January 11, 1985 [50 FR 1429].

This action is governed by the provisions of sections 556 and 557 of title 5 of the United States Code and therefore is not subject to the requirements of Executive Order 12291 and Departmental Regulation 1512-1.

Preliminary Statement

This proceeding is conducted pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended [7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.] (Act), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation and amendment of marketing agreements and orders [7 CFR part 900].

On March 17, 1983, a Notice of Hearing was published in the Federal Register regarding several proposals submitted by the Navel and Valencia Orange Administrative Committees and other interested persons to amend the California-Arizona navel and Valencia orange marketing orders. A public hearing was subsequently held on April 5-22, 1983, in Bakersfield, California, on the proposed changes.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service, on April 5, 1984, filed with the Department's Hearing Clerk, a Recommended Decision setting forth various proposed changes to the marketing agreements and orders and provided an opportunity to file written exceptions thereto by May 21, 1984. Nineteen exceptions were filed and were addressed in a Secretary's Decision which was issued on July 12, 1984. A Referendum Order was issued with the Secretary's Decision which provided navel and Valencia orange growers the opportunity to vote in referenda during the period August 1-31, 1984, on the proposed amended marketing orders as a whole.

An Amendment to the Referendum Order was issued on August 8, 1984, which changed the voting period to August 15-31, 1984. The August 8 Referendum Order also changed the voting procedures whereby growers could vote on each amendment individually so that only those amendments which passed in the referenda were incorporated into the marketing orders.

Those referenda were subsequently held from August 15-31, 1984. A Final Order Amending the Orders was issued on January 8, 1985, incorporating the amendments which passed by the requisite votes into the orange marketing orders.

On June 28, 1985, Sequoia Orange Company, Inc. (Sequoia) filed a petition under section 15(A) of the Act alleging that the grower referendum that was held in 1984 for this amendatory proceeding under the Valencia orange marketing order was illegal. Specifically, Sequoia challenged the change in voting procedures that occurred in the proceeding.

After the Department's Judicial Officer upheld the conduct of the referenda, the case was appealed by Sequoia to the U.S. District Court in Fresno, California (District Court). In a November 1990 decision, the District Court invalidated the 1985 amendments to the Valencia orange marketing order, ruling that the Department failed to comply with the notice and comment requirements of the APA in changing the voting procedures. Subsequently, the Department appealed that decision to the Ninth Circuit. On August 21, 1992, the Ninth Circuit affirmed the District Court's decision.

Termination of Proceeding

In view of the passage of time, the level of contention in the industries concerning various proposed amendments, and the Ninth Circuit's decision that the amendments were not properly enacted under the APA, the proceeding is hereby terminated. The orders will continue to operate without the 1985 amendments. A clarifying rule detailing the navel and Valencia orange marketing orders, without the 1985 amendments, will subsequently be issued by the Department and published in the Federal Register.

RIN 3150-AE27

Licensees' Announcements of Safeguards Inspections

AGENCY: Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is proposing an amendment to its regulations concerning fuel cycle facilities. The proposed rule would ensure that the presence of NRC safeguards inspectors at certain fuel cycle facilities is not announced or widely communicated to licensee and contractor personnel without an expressed request to do so by the inspector. The proposed rule would increase the effectiveness of unannounced safeguards inspections and enable a safeguards inspector to obtain a more accurate view of affected facilities.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before February 1, 1993. Comments received after this date will be considered if it is practical to do so, but only those comments received on or before this date can be assured of consideration.

ADDRESSES: Comments or suggestions regarding the proposed amendments should be sent to the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Branch. Copies of comments received will be available for inspection and copying for a fee in the NRC Public Document Room at 2120 L Street, NW, (Lower Level), Washington, DC 20555.

Material Safety and Safeguards, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20555, Telephone (301) 504-2478.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This proposed rulemaking would apply to fuel cycle facilities authorized to use or possess a formula quantity of strategic special nuclear material. The NRC proposes to prohibit a licensee or its contractors from using an access control measure or other means to intentionally give notice to other persons of the arrival or presence of an NRC safeguards inspector at an affected facility unless the licensee is specifically requested to do so by the NRC safeguards inspector. The proposed rule is intended to increase the effectiveness of unannounced safeguards inspections and to enable a safeguards inspector to get a more accurate view of normal operations at affected facilities. The rule is needed for safeguards inspections because of the quickness by which most safeguards degradations can typically be compensated after announcement of an inspector's presence (e.g., through the posting of a security officer) thus frustrating the effectiveness of the inspection. These proposed amendments are intended only to impose procedural changes to the way a licensee responds to the presence of an NRC safeguards inspector at affected fuel cycle facilities. It is anticipated that there will be minimal or no cost associated with implementation of these proposed amendments. The NRC may, in the future, consider the need for similar requirements for safety inspections at affected sites.

As the NRC said when it promulgated 10 CFR 50.70 (b)(4), which prohibits nuclear power reactor licensees from communicating the arrival or presence of an NRC inspector unless asked to do so by the inspector (see 53 FR 42939, 42940, October 25, 1988), the NRC expects to reserve enforcement action only for significant intentional violations of the prohibition. For example, the NRC recognizes the possibility of inadvertent communication of an inspector's presence. An honest response by an employee to an innocent inquiry that he just saw an NRC inspector is not proscribed by the rule. Therefore, an employee would not be required to lie, in response to a question, about the presence of an NRC inspector. Similarly, the NRC recognizes the possibility that some communication of an inspector's presence may even on occasion be necessary. For instance, the person directly in charge of an area being inspected may need to inform certain other people, perhaps higher-level managers, that, because of the inspection, she cannot attend a previously scheduled meeting. An employee would not be required by the rule to cancel previous engagements without giving timely and sufficient reasons.

Environmental Impact: Categorical Exclusion

The NRC has determined that this proposed change is the type of action described in categorical exclusion 10 CFR 51.22(c)(2). Therefore, neither an environmental impact statement nor an environmental assessment has been prepared for the proposed rule.

Paperwork Reduction Act Statement

This proposed rule does not contain a new or amended information collection requirement subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980 (44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.). Existing requirements were approved by the Office of Management and Budget approval numbers 3150-002 and 3150-0123.

Regulatory Analysis

This proposed rule would have no significant impact on state and local governments and geographical regions. It may have an impact on health, safety, and the environment, but only in the sense of preventing adverse impacts on health, safety, and the environment through more effective safeguards inspections at affected fuel cycle facilities. The proposed rule would make it clear that NRC safeguards inspectors are to have a realistic picture of the actual conditions at a site during the inspection process and, therefore, be better able to identify conditions and/or practices for corrective action and to ensure that licensees comply with laws, regulations, and orders administered by the NRC. It is anticipated that this proposed rule, if promulgated, would impose procedural changes only on affected licensees at minimal or no cost. This constitutes the regulatory analysis for this proposed rule.

Regulatory Flexibility Certification

As required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980 (5 U.S.C. 605(b)), the Commission certifies that this rule, if adopted, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The amendments being proposed would not impose additional cost on any affected licensees regardless of size.

Backfit Analysis

The NRC has determined that the backfit rule, 10 CFR 50.109, does not apply to this proposed rule, and therefore, that a backfit analysis is not required for this proposed rule because these amendments do not involve any provisions which would impose backfits on nuclear power plant licensees. This proposed rule affects only fuel cycle facilities that use or possess a formula quantity of strategic special nuclear material and is anticipated to impose only procedural changes at minimal or no cost to the licensee.

Occupational Exposure to Asbestos

AGENCY: Occupational Safety and Health Administration, Labor.

ACTION: Request for supplemental comments.

SUMMARY: On July 20, 1990, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) published proposed revisions to its asbestos standards (55 FR at 29712). Public hearings on the proposed revisions were held in Washington, DC, in January and February 1991. The post-hearing comment and briefing periods closed on July 28, 1991. OSHA now reopens the rulemaking record for 60 days for the limited purpose of receiving additional comments and information concerning: 1) Worker exposure due to asbestos in public and commercial buildings/facilities, and 2) the need for building/facility owners and other employers to communicate the presence and location of asbestos-containing materials (ACM) in their buildings/facilities in order to protect building/facility service and maintenance workers and other exposed employees.

The purpose of this notice is to inform participants of specific regulatory provisions being considered by the Agency and to solicit supplemental comment and information on this approach and other suggested regulatory provisions intended to provide such protection.

OSHA also invites written comment on submissions to the record after the close of the post-hearing comment period.

DATES: Information and comments should be sent in quadruplicate by January 4, 1993.

ADDRESSES: All submissions should be sent to the Docket Officer, Docket H-033e, room N2625, Occupational Safety and Health Administration, US Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20210 (telephone (202) 523-7894). Comments limited to 10 pages or less may also be transmitted by facsimile to: (202) 523-5046, provided the original and 4 copies of the comment are sent to the Docket Officer immediately thereafter.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. James Foster, room N3647, Office of Information and Consumer Affairs, Occupational Safety and Health Administration, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20210. Telephone (202) 523-8151.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On June 17, 1986, OSHA issued revised standards governing occupational exposure to asbestos for general industry (29 CFR 1910.1001) and construction (29 CFR 1958.58) (51 FR 22612 et seq.). These standards reduced the 8-hour time weighted average (TWA) permissible exposure limit (PEL) tenfold to 0.2 fibers per cubic centimeter of air (f/cc).

Participants in the rulemaking proceeding, including the Building and Construction Trades Department (BCTD) of the AFL-CIO and the Asbestos Information Association (AIA) challenged various provisions. In its decision of February 2, 1988, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia upheld most major challenged provisions, but remanded several issues to the Agency for reconsideration. OSHA resolved most of these issues on the record for the 1986 standards (54 FR 5204 and 55 FR 3724). OSHA determined, however, that resolution of four remaining issues would require further rulemaking.

On July 20, 1990, OSHA published its proposed revisions addressing the remaining remand issues. These proposed changes would: Reduce the PEL to 0.1 f/cc; extend the reporting and information transfer requirements; expand the requirement for a competent person to oversee all construction operations; and, clarify the negative pressure enclosure requirement and the definition of small-scale, short duration operations. OSHA's proposed information transfer (notification) requirements, among other things, would require building/facility owners to communicate all "available" knowledge concerning the location of asbestos-containing material to potentially exposed employees and their employers.

In discussing the proposed notification requirements, OSHA asked "whether the Agency should require building owners to determine the presence, location, and amount of asbestos within their buildings" (55 FR at 29730). Many responses were received during the rulemaking process. Most of these stated that material must be clearly identified as containing asbestos or assumed to contain asbestos when it is disturbed. Most comment supported some sort of mandatory building/facility inspection or survey to locate the asbestos-containing material. Awareness training was the next suggested step in protecting workers from the inadvertent exposure.

A review of specific responses from major participants follows. In their post-hearing briefs, union representatives uniformly expressed support for an extensive inspection rule for public and commercial buildings. The Building and Construction Trades Department, AFL-CIO (BCTD) discussed the relative merits of approaches to building inspections and concluded that "... an inspection survey requirement will be more workable, offer substantially more protection to employees covered under the construction standard, and be more cost effective, than an 'inspect-before-you-disturb rule'" (Exhibit 143). BCTD urged OSHA to "include an inspection survey requirement as the logical first step to a truly effective notification requirement." Similarly, the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) advocated a requirement to inspect all buildings and that this be performed by an accredited inspector with bulk sampling of materials in accessible areas and analysis by an accredited laboratory (Exhibit 5). AFSCME further recommended implementation of operation and maintenance programs in buildings with training of all employees, the length of which would be based on the likelihood that the employees' normal duties will disturb asbestos. The Service Employees International Union, AFL-CIO, (SEIU) stated its clear support for an up-front building inspection rule, reasoning that "... without a building inspection requirement, it is nearly impossible to determine what precautions should be taken for a particular task" (Exhibit 144). SEIU also urged OSHA to "institute requirements for * * * notification of building occupants and employees regarding the presence of asbestos, worker training, appropriate response, and coverage of state and local employees."

Inspection: Those employers whose employees' duties involve contact with ACM shall assure that all ACM in the workplace is identified. Employers may rely on inspections conducted since 1986 and need not inspect building areas constructed since 1980. (Exhibit 151)

SBA further recommended employee notification and training provisions similar to those outlined by OSHA in this notice. An association representing real estate interests recommended a more limited approach to building inspections in which prior to disturbances, the building owner, abatement contractor, operator of the building, his employees, or a qualified inspector could perform a visual survey to identify suspect ACM (Exhibit 149). It recommended that "[I]n specifying the suspect materials that should be identified by an inspector, OSHA should limit the materials to those which present a reasonable likelihood of creating a significant risk to workers if they are disturbed * * * i.e., friable surfacing materials, thermal system insulation, and resilient flooring materials."

Organization Resources Counselors, Inc. (ORC) expressed the view that every building owner should be required to develop an inventory of all ACM or assume all insulation in the building contains asbestos, have effective means to inform all occupants of its presence, and develop a written plan for dealing with its maintenance (Exhibit 145).

This review indicates wide acceptance of requirements to assure advance knowledge of ACM in buildings in order to protect exposed employees. OSHA agrees that such provisions are called for. It intends to include in the final revisions of the asbestos standards, provisions which will protect building/facility workers and other employees including those performing renovation work (e.g., drywallers, plumbers, sheet metal workers, carpenters, electricians) from unknowing exposure to asbestos in the course of their work.

Request for Supplemental Comment Concerning Identifying Asbestos in Buildings/Facilities.

OSHA agrees with most commentators that knowledge of the location, condition, and hazard potential of ACM is a rational predicate to employee protection. Unless employees know of the potential for asbestos exposure they cannot participate in protective control strategies, such as work practices and wearing of protective clothing. Similarly, unless employers, who are responsible for implementing control strategies, know of the location and hazard potential of ACM, they can provide neither protective equipment or training, nor enforce work rules which protect employees.

OSHA has worked closely with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in formulating a number of regulatory options to insure that workers do not become exposed to asbestos unknowingly. For example, one alternative to be considered is to clarify in the preamble to the final rule the current enforcement policy that a prudent building/facility owner or other employer is expected to identify certain asbestos-containing materials in his/her building/facility before disturbing them. Additional options presented to the Agency during the rulemaking process will also be considered. The Agency is now presenting for comment another specific regulatory option, consistent with public comment received, aimed at protecting workers against inadvertent exposure to asbestos in buildings.

OSHA anticipates that the following approach will insure more uniformly that workers in public and commercial buildings will not be unknowingly exposed to ACM. Such a rule would require that certain high-risk materials in accessible building/facility areas be designated presumptive asbestos-containing material (PACM), and thus be treated as if they contain asbestos. OSHA is considering limiting this list to thermal system insulation and sprayed-on or troweled-on surfacing material. Although the condition of the material influences its risk potential, at present, OSHA does not intend to distinguish materials based on their friability.

The rule would also allow the building/facility owner or employer to demonstrate, pursuant to specific criteria, that the material does not contain asbestos. Once assumed to be asbestos under this standard, the material must be treated as if it is asbestos-containing for all purposes of the standard. Because the building/facility owner is the best source of information about the location, condition, and composition of most installed building materials, and is often the employer of potentially exposed employees, this proposed approach would require the owner to assess and communicate the location of building/facility areas containing such "presumptive" asbestos-containing materials. Rebutting the designation of "presumptive" ACM (PACM) would be allowed pursuant to regulatory criteria such as sampling and analysis by a certified building inspector, or specific information in the building/facility owner's possession relating to construction specifications.

OSHA believes that the major advantages of such a regulatory approach is that the materials and buildings/facilities with the greatest risk potential would be automatically targeted for mandatory communication and control procedures, and possible testing. Focusing on high-risk building/facility situations would avoid the dilution of resources and attention which may result from requiring broader inspection. Other building/facility areas and material would not necessarily be exempt from the standard's control requirements; however, they would not be presumptively considered to contain asbestos. The current enforcement rules governing "employer knowledge" would be applied in a contested case to determine the application of the asbestos standard to other material or building/facility areas which the employer claims he did not know contained asbestos.

If the Agency determines to adopt the approach described above, OSHA will rely on evidence in the rulemaking record to designate potentially high hazard asbestos-containing areas in buildings/facilities in the standard as containing PACM. The Agency expects that requiring the identification of presumptively high hazard materials will be as protective as either of the other, broader identification approaches; full inspection and identify-before-disturb. One reason is that an increasing proportion of the building stock is being inspected for ACM as a result of NESHAP (National Emission Standards Hazardous Air Pollutants, 40 CFR part 61), state and local regulations, and forces in the real estate market.

OSHA believes that the presumptive approach would allow building/facility owners whose buildings/facilities contain PACM and other employers of employees potentially exposed to PACM flexibility to choose the most cost-effective way to protect employees. They may: (1) Treat the material as if it contains asbestos and provide appropriate required training to the custodial staff, and other potentially exposed employees performing renovation, repair, and installation activities which may disturb PACM, communicate the fact that the material is designated PACM under the communication provisions of the standard and comply with all other provisions of the standard applying to asbestos containing material; or (2) sample the material pursuant to a protocol in the standard, or otherwise determined from adequate (as defined in the standard) building/facility records that the insulation or surfacing materials used in the building/facility does not contain asbestos.

OSHA notes that while the above regulatory approach is neither an up-front inspection rule, nor precisely an identify-before-disturb rule, the identification approaches most recommended by participants, the Agency has not ruled out these approaches and remains interested in comment and data concerning their effectiveness in protecting employees from unknowing exposure to asbestos in buildings/facilities.

Specific Issues on Which Supplementary Comment and Data are Requested

OSHA now is requesting comments on the above regulatory approach to protecting employees from unknowing exposure to asbestos.

1. Presumed Asbestos-Containing Materials

In particular OSHA requests comment on the scope of the list of PACM. At present, OSHA intends to limit the list to high-risk, wide prevalence materials, such as thermal system insulation and sprayed-on or troweled-on surfacing materials. Such materials would be considered to be PACM if they were present in buildings/facilities found by OSHA to be constructed when such materials commonly contained asbestos. For example, the owner of a building constructed between 1920 and 1980 which contains thermal system insulation and/or sprayed-on or troweled-on surfacing material, must presume this material contains asbestos. OSHA solicits any pertinent information and/or comment on this point, including the kinds of materials which present higher risks to employees in buildings/facilities, the kinds of buildings/facilities, building/facility areas where these materials are likely to be contained, and the dates such materials are likely to have been installed. OSHA also wishes to receive comments on the appropriate protocol to be used for bulk sampling of building materials for the presence of asbestos.

2. Adequacy of Building Records

OSHA requests comment on the issue of allowing building/facility owners to rely on building/facility records to rebut the presumption that building material contains asbestos. The Agency also solicits comment as to what is to be considered "adequate buildings record."

3. Notification

What kind of notification will sufficiently warn employees and other employers of the presence of PACM? Should labels be required? On-site signs? Posting in elevators? Should materials designated as PACM, if unrebutted as to content, be treated as asbestos for all purposes of the standard? How can outside contractors and their employees be informed about the presence of PACM?

4. Exposure Data

OSHA has identified three studies presently in the docket which provide limited data on the exposure of workers performing "small-scale, short duration operations"/maintenance jobs in asbestos-containing buildings. These are briefly described. (1) The study of Paik et al, 1982 (Exhibit 84-204) in which worker exposures to airborne asbestos during renovation activity and removal of sprayed-on ACM was measured presented the results of 184 personal samples of workers in trades such as electricians, carpenters, and sheet metal workers. The overall unweighted PCM measurements had an arithmetic average of 0.38 f/cc. These measurements were made during a period in which the OSHA PEL for asbestos was 2.0 f/cc as an 8 hour time-weighted average. (2) The second is a study by Kaselaan and D'Angelo which was prepared for the Real Estate's Environmental Action League (Exhibit 123) in which the airborne asbestos exposure of personnel involved in asbestos disturbance associated with normal building operation and maintenance activities was measured. These measurements were made during the period in which the OSHA PEL for asbestos was 0.2 f/cc. The arithmetic mean of 49 personal samples taken in 5 buildings was 0.16 f/cc with no time weighting. (3) The third study was by B. Price for the Safe Buildings Alliance (Exhibit 151). Monitoring data were compiled representing a variety of "small-scale, short duration activities" from a number of sources. The study included 1,227 samples, 85% of which were personal and 15% were area samples. The results were weighted for sampling time and had a median airborne asbestos concentration of 0.014 f/cc and a weighted average of 0.046 f/cc. Similar exposure data for building custodians is not currently available to OSHA. Therefore, the Agency particularly solicits the submission of additional exposure data for these operations.

5. Frequency and Duration of Custodial Activities

OSHA also solicits data or comment on the types, frequency, and duration of maintenance and housekeeping tasks performed by custodians, janitors, and other service workers. To what extent is custodial work contracted out to specialists? Does the presence of asbestos in the building/facility influence the decision to use contractors for routine maintenance and housekeeping tasks?

6. Current Practices

OSHA also seeks data on the range of asbestos among the janitorial and maintenance workforce and the extent of current application of control technologies to minimize exposures. Are employees wearing respirators, coveralls, or other types of personal protective equipment while performing these tasks, or are other forms of controls, such as wet mopping or HEPA vacuuming, being applied?

7. Training Requirements

Comment on the specific minimum training needed by building/facility custodians is requested. OSHA is considering a training requirement modelled after that of the awareness training required by EPA in its AHERA rule. OSHA further notes that in its training requirements under AHERA, EPA distinguishes between the duties and training of custodial workers and the additional duties and training needs of maintenance and service workers (40 CFR part 763). OSHA, too, believes that building/facility workers, who frequently disturb asbestos-containing material need more extensive training. Comment on this issue is solicited. Moreover, OSHA is aware that EPA is currently revising its Model Accreditation Plan as mandated by Congress to extend accreditation requirements to include certain persons performing asbestos-related work in public and commercial buildings/facilities and to increase the minimum number of training hours required for accreditation (55 FR 20438, May 13, 1992). In that revision, EPA is considering what accreditation or training is required as a qualification to make a presumptive decision on the presence of ACM. OSHA requests comment on the qualifications and training needed to make this decision.

8. Application to Shipyard Activities

As stated in the 1990 proposal, OSHA is considering issuing a separate asbestos standard for shipyards which would be specific for shipyard activities and contain provisions based in large part on the construction standard. Therefore, OSHA is also considering applying the provisions described in this notice to shipyards. Comment on this issue is invited.

Impacts of Proposed PACM Notification Approach

A. Currently, OSHA's estimates of the impacts of this approach are based mostly on data placed in the record subsequent to the close of the post-hearing comment and briefing periods. Based on survey data from the EPA and the Department of Energy (Exhibits 1-246, 1-362, 1-363), OSHA estimates that of approximately 4.9 million public and commercial buildings in the United States, 1.2 million buildings fail the age or material criteria: That is, they either were built prior to 1920 or after 1980, or they do not contain thermal system insulation or sprayed-on or troweled-on surfacing material. Subtracting these buildings from the total, OSHA estimates that 3.7 million buildings meet the age/materials criteria.

OSHA further estimates that of these 3.7 million buildings with presumed asbestos containing materials (PACM), 10%, or 370,000 buildings, have records to prove the buildings are free of asbestos. Under the regulatory approach being considered by OSHA, the remaining 3.3 million buildings would need to take additional protective action prescribed by the asbestos construction standard.

OSHA estimates that approximately 2.0 million service workers would be at risk on these public and commercial buildings. Based on survey data from EPA and DOE, OSHA estimates that about 450,000 buildings have damaged, friable PACM and pose the greatest risk to workers. OSHA requests comment on these estimates of the number of affected public and commercial buildings, and the number of workers at risk. OSHA welcomes data, information, and comment on the profile presented above and on topics related to risks of asbestos exposure to service workers in public and commercial buildings. OSHA also wishes information on whether contract workers performing maintenance and repair operations in buildings are also at risk because of lack of information about asbestos-containing materials in such buildings.

B. OSHA wants to assure that the public understands what has to be done to meet all federal inspection and notification regulatory requirements, and how this approach would fit into the existing framework. Assuming OSHA's current notification proposal and the assumption/sampling approach outlined here become final, the following are the regulatory requirements that would have to be met:

For relatively large disturbances of material that might contain asbestos during renovation or demolition activities (greater than the National Emissions Standard for Hazardous Air Pollutants (NESHAP) limits of 160 square feet or 260 linear feet), all asbestos materials would have to be identified before work began (NESHAP) and all building employees who are in the vicinity would have to be notified (OSHA). It is important to note that the NESHAP requirements are cumulative for the year. Specifically, if planned renovations exceed or are expected to exceed the NESHAP threshold for the year, the NESHAP inspection requirement will apply to all such renovations, even if they are individually below the threshold.

For smaller jobs, thermal system insulation and surfacing material would have to be explicitly identified (either assumed or sampled) before work began. The same OSHA worker notification requirements as above would apply. For other asbestos materials, OSHA requires that employees be appropriately protected through the establishment of a regulated area whenever removal, maintenance, demolition, and renovation operations disturb these materials. However no explicit assumption or sampling is required for these materials (i.e., materials that are not thermal system insulation or surfacing material) if the job size does not exceed the NESHAP annual threshold of 160 square or 260 linear feet.

Request for Comment on Late Submissions

After the close of the public post-hearing comment and briefing periods, various comments and evidence were submitted to the rulemaking record. OSHA invites comment on any such submissions. In particular, OSHA requests public comment on the report of the Health Effects Institute which was released shortly after the rulemaking record closed (Ex. 1-344). This is a congressionally mandated literature review whose purpose was " * * * determining what is presently known, what is not known, and what is uncertain about the risks of exposure to asbestos in public buildings" (HEI Report, p. iii). The Agency also requests comment on the surveys cited in this report, which contain information concerning the prevalence of asbestos-containing materials in buildings/facilities.

Late post-hearing comments to Docket H033e commence at exhibit number 152; other submissions made to this docket after July 26, 1991, commence with exhibit 1-315.

Written Comments or Data

Evidence or comments already in the record or duplicative of what is already in the record should not be resubmitted. Comments and information concerning the issues discussed above and the materials submitted after the close of the record must be received or postmarked no later than January 4, 1993. All submissions should be sent in quadruplicate to the Docket Officer, Docket H-033e, room N2625, Occupational Safety and Health Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20210 (telephone (202) 523-7894), where the entire record is available for inspection and copying.

Authority

This document was prepared under the direction of Dorothy L. Strunk, Acting Assistant Secretary of Labor for Occupational Safety and Health, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20210.

It is issued under section 6(b) of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (29 U.S.C. 655), Secretary of Labor's Order No. 1-90 (55 FR 9033) and 29 CFR part 1911.

Signed at Washington, DC, this 29th day of October, 1992.

Dorothy L. Strunk,

Acting Assistant Secretary for Occupational Safety and Health.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

Defense Investigative Service

32 CFR Part 321

[Defense Investigative Service Regulation 28-4]

Privacy Act; Access to and Maintenance of DIS Personal Records

AGENCY: Defense Investigative Service, DOD.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: The Defense Investigative Service proposes to add an exemption rule to those found at 32 CFR part 321 in accordance with the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. 552a), as amended. The proposed exemption rule is for a new proposed system of records, V9-01, entitled Litigation Case Files.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before December 3, 1992, to be considered by the agency.

ADDRESSES: Send comments to Chief, Office of Information and Public Affairs, Defense Investigative Service, 1900 Half St., SW, Washington, DC 20324-1700.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Executive Order 12291. The Director, Administration and Management, Office of the Secretary of Defense has determined that this Privacy Act rule for the Department of Defense is not a major rule. Analysis of the rule indicates that it does not have an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; does not cause a major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State, or local government agencies, or geographic regions; and does not have a significant adverse effect on competition, employment, investment, productivity, or innovation.

Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980. The Director, Administration and Management, Office of the Secretary of Defense certifies that this Privacy Act rule for the Department of Defense does not have significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities because it is concerned only with the administration of Privacy Act systems of records within the Department of Defense.

Paperwork Reduction Act. The Director, Administration and Management, Office of the Secretary of Defense certifies that this Privacy Act rule for the Department of Defense imposes no information requirements beyond the Department of Defense and that the information collected within the Department of Defense is necessary and consistent with 5 U.S.C. 552a, known as the Privacy Act of 1974.

Accordingly, the Defense Investigative Service proposes to add an exemption rule to existing exemption rules in 32 CFR part 321 as follows:

PART 321-DEFENSE INVESTIGATIVE SERVICE PRIVACY ACT PROGRAM

1. The authority citation for 32 CFR part 321 continues to read as follows:

Authority: Pub.L. 93-579, 88 Stat 1896 (5 U.S.C. 552a)

2. Section 321.14 is proposed to be amended by adding paragraph (h) as follows:

§ 321.14 Exemptions.

* * * * *

(h) System identifier: V9-01.

(1) System name: Litigation Case Files.

(2) Exemption: Any portion of this system that falls under the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(2) and (k)(5) may be exempt from the following subsections of 5 U.S.C. 552a: (d) and (e)(1).

(3) Authority: 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(2) and (k)(5).

(4) Reasons: (i) Subsection (d) because granting individuals access to information relating to the preparation and conduct of litigation would impair the development and implementation of legal strategy. Accordingly, such records are exempt under the attorney-client privilege. Disclosure could compromise on-going investigations and reveal confidential informants. Granting access to the record would seriously impair DIS' ability to negotiate settlements or pursue other civil remedies. Amendment of the record is inappropriate because litigation files contain official records including transcripts, court orders, investigatory materials, evidentiary materials such as exhibits, decisional memoranda and other case related papers. Administrative due process could not be achieved by the ex parte correction of such materials.

(ii) Subsection (e)(1), because it is not possible in all instances to determine the relevancy or necessity of specific information in the early stages of case development. Material apparently relevant and necessary when collected, may ultimately be deemed unnecessary when assessed in the context of legal strategy. Information collected during civil litigation investigations which is not used during the subject case is often retained to provide leads in other cases or to establish patterns of activity.

Dated: October 28, 1992.

Officer, Department of Defense.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

40 CFR Part 52

[IL12-17-5504; FRL-4529-7]

Approval and Promulgation of Implementation Plan; IL

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: The United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA) promulgated the Chicago Federal Implementation Plan for ozone (FIP) on June 29, 1990. The FIP requires that certain sources perform tests to demonstrate compliance and that they certify compliance to USEPA by July 1, 1991. Those sources complying by means of an add-on control device are required to test the capture efficiency of each control system. USEPA is proposing to extend the date by which sources must certify the capture efficiency of each control system, from July 1, 1991, to July 1, 1993.

DATES: Comments on this requested revision to the FIP and on USEPA's proposed rulemaking action must be received by December 3, 1992 at the address below. A public hearing, if requested, will be held in Chicago, Illinois. Requests for a hearing should be submitted to J. Elmer Bortzer by December 3, 1992 at the address below. Interested persons may call Hattie Geisler at (312) 886-3199 to see if a hearing will be held and the date and location of any hearing. Any hearing will be strictly limited to the subject matter of this proposal, the scope of which is discussed below.

ADDRESSES: Written comments on this proposed action should be addressed to

J. Elmer Bortzer, Chief, Regulation Development Section (AR-18J), U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Region 5, 77 West Jackson Street, Chicago, Illinois 60604. Comments should be strictly limited to the subject matter of this proposal, the scope of which is discussed below.

DOCKET: Pursuant to section 307(d)(1) of the Clean Air Act (CAA), 42 U.S.C. § 7607(d)(1) (West 1983 & Supp. 1991), this action is subject to the procedural requirements of section 307(d). Therefore, USEPA has established a public docket for this action, 5AR-92-5, which is available for public inspection and copying between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, at the following addresses. We recommend that you contact Randolph O. Cano at (312) 886-6036 before visiting the Chicago location and Gloris Butler before visiting the Washington, DC location. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

On June 29, 1990, USEPA promulgated federal revisions to the rules for volatile organic compounds (VOCs) contained in the Illinois State Implementation Plan (SIP) for ozone (55 FR 26814). These revisions, which were promulgated pursuant to the settlement agreement in the matter of Wisconsin v. Reilly, No. 87-C-0395 [E.D. Wis., January 18, 1989], constitute the FIP for ozone for the Chicago metropolitan area, which includes Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry and Will counties (in Illinois). The FIP contains VOC regulations for several source categories, including coating operations, printing operations and major sources (100 tons per year and greater maximum theoretical emissions) of VOCs not covered by a Control Techniques Guideline¹ document.

¹ Control techniques guideline (CTG) documents have been prepared by USEPA to assist States in defining reasonably available control technology (RACT) for the control of VOC emissions from existing stationary sources. Each individual CTG

Section 52.741(a)(4) contains the test methods and procedures that must be used to determine compliance with the FIP. This paragraph specifies that the overall efficiency of an emission control system shall be determined as the product of the capture system efficiency and the control device efficiency or by the liquid/liquid test protocol.² This paragraph contains methods to determine control device efficiency [§ 52.741(a)(4)(iv)], capture efficiency [§ 52.741(a)(4)(iii)(B)], and the overall control of a system by use of the liquid/liquid method [§ 52.741(a)(4)(iii)(A)(2)]. Installation of a permanent total enclosure, which directs all VOCs to a control device [(a)(4)(iii)(A)(1)] and the liquid/liquid method are alternatives to the specific capture efficiency requirements in [a)(4)(iii)(B). Section 52.741(a)(4)(i) specifies the test methods and procedures used to determine compliance for coatings and inks.

A. Coating Operations

Section 52.741(e) contains the FIP rules for coating operations. This paragraph allows subject coating source to comply by the use of complying coatings or add-on control equipment; It specifies that compliance must be demonstrated by use of the test methods in § 52.741(a)(4). Section 52.741(e)(2)(ii) requires that any subject coating line, equipped with a capture system and control device, be operated in compliance with the requirements in paragraph (e)(2)(i)(A) or (e)(2)(i)(B). Paragraph (e)(2)(i)(A) requires that the coating line be equipped with a capture system and control device that provides 81 percent reduction in the overall emissions of VOCs from the coating line and also that the control device has a 90 percent efficiency. Paragraph (e)(2)(i)(B) requires that the system used to control VOCs from the coating line demonstrate an overall efficiency sufficient to limit VOC emissions to no more than what is allowed under paragraph (e)(1).

Section 52.741(e)(6) contains recordkeeping and reporting requirements and states that the records required under paragraph (e)(6) are to be based upon test methods in paragraph recommends a presumptive norm of control considered reasonably available to a specific source category. Sources in categories for which no CTG exist are termed "non-CTG sources."

² The liquid/liquid protocol is based on a material balance in which the overall control of the system is determined by comparing the input liquid VOC to the recovered liquid VOC. This method is appropriate if a source uses a control device designed to collect and recover VOCs (e.g., carbon adsorber). This is in contrast to the gas-gas and liquid-gas methods in which fugitive (uncaptured) emissions are measured directly.

(a)(4). The owner or operator of a coating line subject to the emission limitations in paragraph (e) and complying by means of complying coatings is required to certify to the Administrator (of USEPA) by July 1, 1991, that the coating line will be in compliance with the coating limitations in paragraph (e)(1), by the use of complying coatings on and after July 1, 1991. The owner or operator of a coating line subject to the emission limitations in paragraph (e) and complying by means of add-on control is required to perform all tests and, by July 1, 1991, submit to the Administrator the results of all tests and calculations necessary to demonstrate that the subject coating line will be in compliance with paragraph (e)(2) on and after July 1, 1991.

B. Printing and Publishing Operations

Section 52.741(h) contains the FIP rules for printing and publishing operations. Paragraph (h)(1) contains emission limitations for flexographic and rotogravure printing and allows compliance to be achieved by use of complying inks and coatings or by use of a capture system and control device. Compliance with paragraph (h)(1) must be demonstrated through the applicable coating or ink analysis test methods and procedures in paragraph (a)(4) or through the applicable capture system and control device test methods and procedures in paragraph (a)(4).

Paragraph (h)(1)(iii) requires that any subject flexographic, packaging rotogravure, or publication rotogravure printing line equipped with a capture system and control device have a control device efficiency of at least 90 percent. Overall emission reduction requirements are also specified in this paragraph. These overall reduction requirements are 75 percent for a publication rotogravure printing line, 65 percent for a packaging rotogravure printing line, and 60 percent for a flexographic printing line.

Section 52.741(h)(4) contains recordkeeping and reporting requirements for flexographic and rotogravure printing operations. This paragraph states that the records required under (h)(4) are to be based upon the test methods in paragraph (a)(4). The discussion of recordkeeping and certification requirements for coating sources [contained in the prior discussion of paragraph (e)(6)] applies to paragraph (h)(4).

Section 52.741(h)(5) contains the FIP rules for heatset-web-offset lithographic printing operations and specifies that subject heatset-web-offset printing lines must comply with the control requirements in either paragraph (h)(5)(ii)(A) or (h)(5)(ii)(B). Paragraph (h)(5)(ii)(A) requires an afterburner control device efficiency of 90 percent on the dryer exhaust. Paragraph (h)(5)(ii)(B) contains a VOC content limitation and specifies a condensation control device efficiency of seventy-five percent for certain VOC emissions from the dryer exhaust.

Section 52.741(h)(5)(iii) contains the recordkeeping and reporting requirements for heatset-web-offset lithographic printing operations. This paragraph states that VOC contents and control device efficiencies are to be determined by the applicable test methods and procedures specified in paragraph (a)(4) to establish the records required under paragraph (h)(5)(iii). Paragraph (h)(5)(iv) requires that compliance with the control device efficiency limit in paragraph (h)(5)(ii)(A) or the VOC content and control device efficiency limits in paragraph (h)(5)(ii)(B) must be achieved by July 1, 1991. Paragraph (h)(5)(iii) requires that the owner or operator of a subject heatset-web-offset printing line must certify to the Administrator, by July 1, 1991, that the printing line is in compliance with paragraph (h)(5)(ii)(A) or (h)(5)(ii)(B).

C. Major non-CTG Operations

Sections 52.741(u), 52.741(v), 52.741(w), and 52.741(x), in the FIP contain control requirements for major non-CTG sources. Section 52.741(v), which covers miscellaneous formulation manufacturing processes, and § 52.741(w), which covers miscellaneous organic chemical manufacturing processes, require that compliance be achieved by emission capture and control techniques which achieve an overall reduction in uncontrolled VOC emissions of 81 percent or by an alternative control plan approved by USEPA as a State Implementation Plan (SIP) or FIP revision. Section 52.741(u), which covers miscellaneous fabricated product manufacturing processes, and § 52.741(x), which covers other emission sources, in addition to the above mentioned control alternatives, also allow compliance to be achieved by limiting the VOC content of coatings. Paragraphs (u), (v), (w), and (x), require that compliance be demonstrated by the applicable test methods and procedures specified in paragraph (a)(4).

Section 52.741(y) contains the recordkeeping and reporting requirements for the non-CTG source categories covered by paragraphs (u), (v), (w), and (x). Paragraph (y) requires that any owner or operator of a VOC emission source which is subject to the requirements of paragraph (u), (v), (w), or (x) and complying by the use of emission capture and control equipment must, by July 1, 1991, perform all tests and submit to the Administrator the results of all tests and calculations necessary to demonstrate that the subject emission source will be in compliance on and after July, 1991. Paragraph (y) requires that any owner or operator of a coating line which is subject to the requirements of paragraphs (u) or (x) and complying by means of complying coatings must, by July 1, 1991, certify to the Administrator that the coating line will be in compliance on and after July 1, 1991.

II. USEPA Policy on Capture Efficiency

On March 20, 1992, John S. Seitz, Director, Office of Air Quality Planning and Standards, issued a memorandum entitled "Reanalysis of Capture Efficiency (CE) Guidance." This memorandum indicates that in light of comments received from the regulated community regarding the cost of the "gas-gas and liquid-gas methods [* * * using] a temporary total enclosure (TTE)", (a structure that captures the fugitive VOC emissions and allows them to be measured) and of the President's recent directive to review Federal regulations for ways to minimize their cost to industry, USEPA is undertaking a 12-month study to develop and review less costly alternatives to the TTE method.

This policy memorandum states that for areas in which USEPA's CE test methods have been incorporated into the SIP (including the FIP), USEPA's recommended methods are valid and enforceable and should be used to determine CE where noncompliance is suspected. This memorandum states USEPA's intent to revise the FIP to suspend the date for the initial compliance certification of a control system's capture efficiency. Sources that are controlled by incinerators and that would have to perform CE testing with a TTE would not be required to perform CE testing, as part of their compliance certification, until July 1, 1993. This temporary suspension does not apply to initial compliance determinations where other methods can be used, such as Method 24 testing for VOC content of coatings or the liquid-liquid balance method for carbon adsorbers (test methods that do not require measurement of CE). This temporary suspension also does not have any effect on the date by which the efficiency of a control device must be determined.

III. Proposed Rulemaking Action and Solicitation of Public Comment

For the reasons stated above, USEPA is proposing to extend the date by which capture efficiency testing must be performed and submitted to USEPA. The date by which certification of capture efficiency test results is due to USEPA is being proposed for extension from July 1, 1991, to July 1, 1993. As stated previously, this extension does not extend the initial certification (of compliance) date for control device efficiency testing and it also does not extend the initial certification date for sources which choose to comply by use of complying coatings and/or inks or by use of a recovery device (e.g., a carbon adsorber). Furthermore, the control device efficiency shall be no less than the required overall control system efficiency in those cases in which there is not an independent control device efficiency requirement. This conservatively gives credit for 100 percent CE.

USEPA has received site-specific requests for alternative CE test methods. Since USEPA is currently re-evaluating the CE test method, as set forth in the FIP, USEPA will defer action on these requests until such time as the USEPA completes its study.

Public comment is solicited on USEPA's proposed rulemaking action. Additionally, if requested, USEPA will provide an opportunity for a public hearing on this proposed revision. All comments received by the close of the public comment period will be considered in the development of USEPA's final rule.

Under 5 U.S.C. section 605(b), I certify that this rule, if finally adopted, will not have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities. It delays the existing compliance date and it imposes no additional requirements. Under Executive Order 12291, today's action is not "major." It has been submitted to the Office of Management and Budget for review.

(A) By July 1, 1991, or upon initial start-up of a new coating line, or upon changing the method of compliance for an existing coating line from paragraph (e)(1)(i) or (ii) to paragraph (e)(2) of this section; the owner or operator of the subject coating line shall perform all tests, except the capture efficiency tests contained in paragraph (a)(4)(iii)(B) of this section, and submit to the Administrator the results of all tests and calculations, except those dealing with a determination of capture efficiency by the methods in paragraph (a)(4)(iii)(B) of this section, necessary to demonstrate that the subject coating line will be in compliance with paragraph (e)(2) of this section on and after July 1, 1991, or on and after the initial start-up date. The owner or operator shall perform the capture efficiency tests in accordance with paragraph (a)(4)(iii)(B) of this section and submit the test results to the Administrator by July 1, 1993. The owner or operator must submit the results of the following tests to the Administrator, and comply with the following requirements, by July 1, 1991:

(1) Control device efficiency is required, unless the owner or operator of a subject coating line, which is controlled by a recovery device, demonstrates compliance with paragraph (e)(2)(i)(B) of this section by the liquid/liquid method in paragraph (a)(4)(iii)(2) of this section.

(i) If this owner or operator chooses to comply with paragraph (e)(2) of this section by means of the control requirements in paragraph (e)(2)(i)(A) of this section, then the control device must have a minimum of 90 percent efficiency in the removal of VOCs.

(ii) If this owner or operator chooses to comply by means of the control requirements in paragraph (e)(2)(i)(B) of this section then all tests and calculations necessary to calculate the overall efficiency required must be submitted to the Administrator. In addition, for sources complying with paragraph (e)(2)(i)(B) of this section by a control device other than a recovery system, the control device efficiency must, as a minimum, equal the overall efficiency required.

(2) The results of all tests and calculations necessary to demonstrate compliance with paragraph (e)(2) of this section by the liquid/liquid method in paragraph (a)(4)(iii)(2) of this section must be submitted to the Administrator if the coating line is controlled by a recovery device (including a carbon adsorber), unless the owner or operator chooses to install a permanent total enclosure (PTE) that meets USEPA specifications in Procedure T of appendix B of this section, and demonstrates compliance with a control device efficiency test instead of a liquid/liquid test.

BILLING CODE 6560-50-M

FEDERAL MARITIME COMMISSION

46 CFR Parts 514 and 581

[Docket No. 92-31]

Service Contracts

AGENCY: Federal Maritime Commission.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: The Federal Maritime Commission ("Commission" or "FMC") is proposing to amend its service contract and ATFI rules to refine its definition of a "shippers' association." The proposed rule provides that any group of shippers shall be deemed to be such an association for the purpose of negotiating service contracts and volume rates if the group meets certain minimal requirements. The purpose of this Notice is to solicit comments and information from the public on the desirability and feasibility of such a rule.

DATES: Comments due December 3, 1992.

ADDRESSES: Comments (original and 15 copies) are to be submitted to: Joseph C. Polking, Secretary, Federal Maritime Commission, 800 North Capitol Street, NW., Washington, DC 20573, (202) 523-5725.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Robert D. Bourgoin, General Counsel, Federal Maritime Commission, 800 North Capitol Street, NW., Washington, DC 20573, (202) 523-5740.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Commission initiated this proceeding by Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking ("ANPR") published in the Federal Register, 57 FR 24220. The ANPR stated that the Commission was considering the publication of a proposed rule ("Proposal") that would allow two or more shippers to enter into a service contract with an ocean common carrier, or conference of such carriers, regardless of whether the shippers were members of a shippers' association. The Commission also identified six specific issues upon which it sought comment.

The Commission received comments in response to the ANPR from: (1) Household Goods Forwarders Association of America, Inc. ("HHGFAA"); (2) New York Foreign Freight Forwarders and Brokers Association ("NYFFBBA"); (3) International Association of NVOCCs ("IANVOCC"); (4) Votainer USA Inc.; (5) National Industrial Transportation League ("NITL"); (6) Hiram Walker & Sons, Inc.; (7) American Institute for Shippers' Associations, Inc. ("AISA"); (8) American Import Shippers Association ("Import SA"); (9) Streamline Shippers Association, Inc.; (10) Fashion Accessories Shippers' Association, Inc. ("FASA"); (11) Hyundai Merchant Marine Co., Ltd.; (12) Hanjin Shipping Co., Ltd.; (13) a group of 15 South/Central American Conferences¹ ("South/Central American Conferences"); (14) a group of 9 conferences of ocean common carriers² ("COCC"); (15) North Europe—USA Rate Agreement and USA—North Europe Rate Agreement ("NEC"); (16) Trans-Pacific Freight Conference of Japan and Japan-Atlantic and Gulf Freight Conference ("Japan Conferences"); (17) Inter/American Freight Conference ("IAFC"); and (18) Transpacific Westbound Rate Agreement ("TWRA").

Comments

HHGFAA and NITL support issuance of a proposed rule that would permit two or more unaffiliated shippers to enter into a service contract even though they are not members of a shippers' association. HHGFAA suggests that NVOCCs should be permitted to obtain the same consolidation advantages they already achieve by being able to pool their shipment requirements under service contracts, thereby achieving the lowest ocean freight rates. NITL likewise supports publication of a proposed rule. It contends that joint service contracts would increase the opportunities for shippers to participate in the world marketplace and to accommodate changing transportation needs. However, NITL also notes that it fully supports the application of the antitrust laws to ocean transportation transactions. NITL surmises that most joint contracts would not violate such laws.

The remaining commenters urge discontinuance of this proceeding. They generally argue that the Proposal is outside the Commission's legal authority and contrary to the Shipping Act of 1984 ("1984 Act"), 46 U.S.C. app. 1701-1719. Commenters also take the position that the 1984 Act's definition of "shippers' association" as "a group of shippers that consolidates * * * freight * * * to secure * * * service contracts," indicates that this was the means contemplated by Congress for groups of shippers to secure service contracts. They submit that Congress gave statutory recognition to shippers' association for the express purpose of enabling groups of shippers to negotiate collectively. It is suggested, by some, that the Proposal would result in the demise of the international shippers' association industry.

Some commenters maintain that shippers' associations are easily formed and operated. They note that the definition of shippers' association does not establish any onerous preconditions and that the only prerequisite is that the group operate on a non-profit basis. In this regard, Import SA notes that, as a result of Commission interpretations, shippers' associations are not required to physically consolidate cargo.

IAFC and TWRA submit that joint service contracts by multiple shippers could raise antitrust concerns, especially if shippers are competitors. TWRA further suggests that competing shippers of the same product may be unwilling to share service contracts and access to their commercial information. FASA notes that the Department of Justice has set out antitrust "safe harbor" standards for shippers' associations. These standards are said to imply an organization charged with administering the group's activities to avoid anticompetitive effects.

Discussion

While other approaches have been suggested for permitting shippers to band together to enter into service contracts and negotiate volume rates with carriers and conferences, the Commission believes that this objective can best be accomplished by clarifying that it is relatively simple for multiple shippers desiring to enter into joint contracts to do so by forming and operating a shippers' association. There are no onerous statutory preconditions to the formation of such an entity and the Commission has not adopted any. In fact, since the 1984 Act became effective, the Commission has resisted attempts by carriers or conferences to impose restrictions or conditions on shippers' associations. This appears to have resulted in the rise of a large number of rate-negotiator shippers' associations that do not actually physically consolidate cargo but rather simply negotiate service contracts for their members.

A group of shippers desiring to operate as a shippers' association does not have to structure itself in any particular way. Although the non-profit corporation appears to be the most prevalent organizational structure, there is nothing that precludes other forms of organizations. The only requirement that the Commission has imposed is that any group of shippers operates consistent with the definition of "shippers' association" contained in the 1984 Act — i.e., on a nonprofit basis, consolidating or distributing the freight of the members, and securing volume rates or service contracts.

In an effort to clarify the scope and status of shippers' associations, the Commission is therefore proposing an amendment to the definition of "shippers' association" contained in its service contract and ATFI rules. This proposed rule provides that combinations of two or more shippers will be deemed to be a shippers' association if they operate as such and pursuant to an agreement providing who can execute service contracts on their behalf and providing for the apportionment of liability among themselves. The apportionment of liability is a matter which may be addressed in negotiations with the carrier or conference and need not be finally determined prior to the execution of the contract. In this event, the agreement among the shippers would need to so provide.

This proposal will permit multiple shippers, desirous of entering into joint service contracts, the freedom to do so subject to minimal, non-burdensome requirements. Such associations between or among shippers will remain subject to antitrust laws. As the Commission has determined in the past, however, carriers or conferences may not require from the association a business review letter from a government antitrust agency as a condition to negotiating or agreeing to a volume rate or service contract. See 46 CFR 571.1; Docket No. 88-17, Interpretations and Statements of Policy, 24 S.R.R. 1368 (1988).

Although the Commission, as an independent regulatory agency, is not subject to Executive Order 12291, dated February 17, 1981, it nonetheless has reviewed the proposed rule in terms of this Order and has determined that the rule, if adopted, is not a "major rule" as defined because it will not result in: (1) An annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; (2) a major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State, or local government agencies, or geographic regions; or (3) significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovations, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

Pursuant to the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601 et seq., the Commission certifies that the proposed rule will not, if adopted, have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities, including small businesses, small organization units and small governmental jurisdictions. The proposed rule essentially codifies the Commission's treatment of shippers' associations under the 1984 Act. To the extent that the proposal has any new economic impact on small entities, it could increase their opportunities to operate pursuant to shippers' associations and, as a result, lower their transportation costs.

PART 514—[AMENDED]

1. The authority citation for part 514 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 5 U.S.C. 552 and 553; 31 U.S.C. 9701; 46 U.S.C. app. 804, 812, 814-817(a), 820, 833a, 841a, 843, 844, 845, 845a, 845b, 847, 1702-1712, 1714-1716, 1718, 1721 and 1722; and sec. 2(b) of Pub. L. 101-92, 103 Stat. 601.

2. In § 514.2, revise the definition of "Shippers Association" to read as follows:

§ 514.2 Definitions.

Shippers' Association (foreign commerce) means a group of shippers that consolidates or distributes freight on a nonprofit basis for the members of the group in order to secure carload, truckload, or other volume rates or service contracts. A combination of two or more shippers will be deemed to be a shippers' association if they are parties to an agreement that, at a minimum, provides:

- (1) That the combination will operate consistent with the preceding definition;
- (2) Which parties have the authority to execute a service contract on behalf of the combination; and
- (3) Whether liability is apportioned among the combination members.

For the purposes of this definition, the term "consolidates" does not require physical handling of freight and does include aggregating cargo volumes from different shippers for the sole purpose of negotiating a volume rate or service contract. The term "nonprofit basis" does not require the shippers to obtain nonprofit status from the Internal Revenue Service or any other government agency, nor does it mean the shippers may not benefit from the association; it simply requires that the association itself not be a profit-making enterprise.

PART 581—[AMENDED]

1. The authority citation for part 581 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 5 U.S.C. 553; 46 U.S.C. app. 1702, 1706, 1709, 1712, 1714–1716, 1718 and 1722.

2. Paragraph (r) of § 581.1 is revised to read as follows:

§ 581.1 Definitions.

(r) Shippers' association means a group of shippers that consolidates or distributes freight on a nonprofit basis for the members of the group in order to secure carload, truckload, or other volume rates or service contracts. A combination of two or more shippers will be deemed to be a shippers' association if they are parties to an agreement that, at a minimum, provides:

- (1) That the combination will operate consistent with the preceding definition;
- (2) Which parties have the authority to execute a service contract on behalf of the combination; and
- (3) Whether liability is apportioned among the combination members.

For the purposes of this definition, the term "consolidates" does not require physical handling of freight and does include aggregating cargo volumes from different shippers for the sole purpose of negotiating a volume rate or service contract. The term "nonprofit basis" does not require the shippers to obtain nonprofit status from the Internal Revenue Service or any other government agency, nor does it mean the shippers may not benefit from the association; it simply requires that the association itself not be a profit-making enterprise.

[Docket No. 92-33]

Marine Terminal Facilities Agreements—Exemption

AGENCY: Federal Maritime Commission.

ACTION: Supplemental notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: The Federal Maritime Commission proposes to revise the notice of proposed rulemaking published in this proceeding by unconditionally exempting marine terminal facilities agreements among marine terminal operators and between marine terminal operators and common carriers by water from the agreement filing and notice requirements of the Shipping Act, 1916 ("1916 Act"), and the Shipping Act of 1984 ("1984 Act"), and the Commission's implementing regulations thereunder, and by establishing a new public notice requirement.

DATES: Comments are due on or before December 3, 1992. Comments must be received at the Commission by the due date; the date of mailing will not be accepted as the date of filing in this proceeding.

ADDRESSES: Comments (original and 15 copies) are to be submitted to: Joseph C. Polking, Secretary, Federal Maritime Commission, 800 North Capitol Street, NW., Washington, DC 20573, (202) 523-5725.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Austin L. Schmitt, Director, Bureau of Trade Monitoring and Analysis, Federal Maritime Commission, 800 North Capitol Street, NW., Washington, DC 20573, (202) 523-5787.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Federal Maritime Commission ("Commission" or "FMC"), in its notice of proposed rulemaking ("NPR") published in the Federal Register on June 10, 1992 (57 FR 24569), proposed to exempt marine terminal facilities agreements (leases, subleases, licenses, assignments, permits, etc. that convey the right to operate marine terminal facilities or property) from the current filing requirements contained in 46 CFR parts 560 and 572 under two conditions. First, information concerning the parties involved, the facilities covered, and the effective date of the agreement would have to be published in the marine terminal tariffs filed with the Commission. Second, parties to the exempt agreements would be required to make copies of their active facilities agreements available to interested parties at a nominal copying cost.

The Commission now proposes to revise its NPR to grant terminal facilities agreements unconditional exemption from current filing and notice requirements, and to require marine terminal operators¹ ("MTOs") that are subject to Commission regulation to make copies of their currently effective terminal facilities agreements available to any and all interested parties for a reasonable copying and mailing fee.

This revised proposal is designed to relieve the industry of the administrative burden and associated costs of filing marine terminal facilities agreements with the Commission, and to allow the Commission to realize cost savings resulting from termination of the current process of reviewing, processing, and maintaining facilities agreements; noticing agreements in the Federal Register; and retrieving, copying, and providing copies of agreements.

Comments on the NPR

The Commission received comments on its June 10 NPR from: The American Association of Port Authorities ("AAPA"), American President Lines, Ltd. ("APL"), Master Contracting Stevedore Association of the Pacific Coast, Inc., Matson Navigation Company, National Association of Stevedores ("NAS"), North Europe Conferences,² Port of Portland, Puerto

Whatever approach is taken, the fact remains that public port authorities, whether or not they directly conduct terminal operations within their port, are "marine terminal operators" as defined by the 1984 Act because they are deemed to be "engaged . . . in the business of furnishing wharfage, dock, warehouse, or other terminal facilities in connection with a common carrier." This is so even when they lease those terminals to private terminal operators. So, in the case of US public ports, both the lessor (port authority) and lessee (private terminal operator) are viewed as "operators" of a given terminal. At 448-449.

² North Europe Conferences is the collective designation for the combination of (1) the USA-North Europe Rate Agreement, and (2) the North Europe-USA Rate Agreement.

Rico Maritime Shipping Authority ("PRMSA"), Sea-Land Service, Inc. ("Sea-Land"), Stevedoring Services of America, Inc. ("SSA"), Tampa Port Authority ("Tampa"), and the Department of Justice ("DOJ").

Several of the commenting parties raised concerns regarding the effect of the proposed exemption on the status of MTO antitrust immunity. In particular, the exemption's application to terminals that handle cargo in the domestic offshore trades was seen as problematic by at least four parties (Sea-Land, DOJ, PRMSA, and Tampa).

Several commenting parties also addressed various aspects of the proposed requirement for publication of information about terminal facilities agreements in MTO tariffs. They sought specific details concerning what had to be published, by whom, and when. The relationship between the proposed exemption for terminal facilities agreements and the recently issued rule on marine terminal service agreements³ was the focus of several suggestions for revising the NPR. Finally, one commenter inquired whether the proposed exemption was optional and whether the current agreement processing system would continue to apply to those who decided not to avail themselves of the exemption.

Discussion

The Commission has considered all of the comments received in response to the NPR, and has decided not to issue a final rule at this time but rather revise its proposal by eliminating the requirement that information on the exempt agreements be filed in MTO tariffs, and by expanding the exemption to cover notice requirements as well as filing requirements.⁴ In addition, while

Although the 1916 Act contains no statutory notice requirement similar to that found in section 6 of the 1984 Act, the Commission's rules at 46 CFR 560.601 state that agreements filed for approval under the 1916 Act, and not rejected pursuant to § 560.401, shall be noticed in the Federal Register.

the Commission has decided to retain the proposed requirement that MTOs make copies of currently effective terminal facilities agreements available to all requesting parties, the Commission is proposing to make that a separate requirement rather than a condition of the filing exemption.

The discussion below presents key comments on the NPR and addresses their relevance to the new proposal set forth in this further notice of proposed rulemaking ("FNPR").

A. The Effect of the Exemption on Antitrust Immunity

Many of the parties who filed comments on the NPR noted that, because the proposed exemption would be granted under section 16 of the 1984 Act, 46 U.S.C. app. 1715, marine terminal facilities agreements subject to the 1984 Act would continue to enjoy immunity from U.S. antitrust laws as provided for in section 7(a)(1) of the 1984 Act, 46 U.S.C. app. 1706,⁵ absent a Commission decision to the contrary.⁶ Nevertheless,

Section 5 of the 1984 Act, 46 U.S.C. app. 1704, specifies the filing requirements for agreements and provides, in pertinent part, that a true copy of every agreement entered into with respect to an activity described in section 4 (a) or (b) of the Act shall be filed with the Commission, except agreements related to transportation performed within or between foreign countries and agreements among common carriers to establish, operate, or maintain a marine terminal in the United States.

Section 4(b) of the 1984 Act, 46 U.S.C. app. 1703, deals with marine terminal agreements within the scope of the 1984 Act and provides that the Act applies to agreements (to the extent the agreements involve ocean transportation in the foreign commerce of the United States) among marine terminal operators and among one or more ocean common carriers to—

(1) discuss, fix, or regulate rates or other conditions of service; and

(2) engage in exclusive, preferential, or cooperative working arrangements.

⁶ In Docket No. 91-20, the Commission withheld 1984 Act antitrust immunity as a condition of a section 16 filing exemption. In doing so, the Commission relied on the legislative history of the 1984 Act, specifically an explanatory statement published in the Congressional Record at the request of the leadership of the House Judiciary and Merchant Marine and Fisheries committees to record "important changes" made as a result of certain compromises made by the two committees (Cong. Rec. H 8124 and 8125, October 6, 1983). The statement recites that the compromise resulted in a change in wording which "closely tracks that of section 35 of the Shipping Act of 1916," and that, "[t]he change permits the Commission to impose conditions upon such an exemption, including the partial or total removal of antitrust immunity for agreements or conduct that might be exempted from filing requirements."

The House version of section 16, representing the House committees' compromise, was accepted by the Senate without change (H. Rept. 98-600, p. 42).

several commenting parties requested that the Commission explicitly state that the proposed exemption was not conditioned on the withdrawal of antitrust immunity.

Sea-Land noted that while agreements subject to the 1984 Act would continue to be immunized from the antitrust laws, the effect of the exemption on terminal facilities used for domestic commerce activities under the 1916 Act and for "mixed" (i.e., both foreign and domestic) commerce was less clear. PRMSA stated that by virtue of section 7 of the 1984 Act, marine terminal facilities agreements would be exempt from antitrust laws "to the extent they involve foreign commerce only," thereby suggesting that any domestic offshore commerce activities in marine terminal facilities agreements would not retain antitrust immunity under the proposed exemption. PRMSA at 2. The implicit rationale underlying PRMSA's remarks would appear to be similar to that offered by DOJ:

The immunity provided for exempt agreements by the 1984 Act covers agreements only to the extent they "involve ocean transportation in the foreign commerce of the United States." 46 U.S.C. app. 1703(b). To the extent exempt MTO facilities agreements involve domestic commerce, the antitrust laws will apply. As a practical matter, then, exempted facilities agreements involving any domestic cargoes must comply with the antitrust laws. DOJ at 6.

Likewise, Tampa contended that a marine terminal facilities agreement involving operations by water in interstate commerce that was not filed with the Commission as a result of the proposed exemption, "would lose its antitrust immunity as there are no provisions in the 1916 Act similar to section 7 of the 1984 Act." Tampa at 5. Tampa recommended that the Commission's final rule emphasize this point, and include a reference to 46 CFR 560.301(b), under which optional filing is permitted.⁷

As to timing, NAS expressed the view that the NPR did not adequately address the question of when an unfilled agreement becomes legally effective, or when antitrust immunity attaches to such agreements. NAS observed that "[p]resumably, the legal effective date and the date of antitrust immunity are the same, or at least should be the same." NAS at 4.

Marine terminal facilities agreements pertaining to facilities that handle foreign cargo exclusively are subject to regulation under the 1984 Act, and can receive antitrust immunity under the provisions of section 7(a)(1) of the 1984 Act whether they are filed and become effective or are exempt from filing. Agreements subject to the 1916 Act, however, are not afforded antitrust immunity if exempted from the applicable filing requirements.⁸ Therefore, under the proposed exemption, marine terminal facilities agreements covering facilities used for the handling of any domestic commerce will not obtain antitrust immunity for the domestic commerce portion unless such agreements are filed optionally as provided for in 46 CFR 560.301(b)⁹ and subsequently approved by the Commission. The foreign portion of such agreements would obtain antitrust immunity pursuant to section 7(a)(1) of the 1984 Act. Marine terminal facilities agreements that previously were filed with and approved by the Commission under the 1916 Act will continue to retain antitrust immunity under the proposed filing exemption.

In response to NAS's concern about when antitrust immunity would attach to exempted terminal facilities agreements, the Commission notes that the legally effective date set forth in the text of the terminal facilities agreement is the date on which antitrust immunity will attach.

B. Publication of Facilities Agreement Information in MTO Tariffs

In its NPR, the Commission proposed that, as a condition of the filing exemption, MTOs would be required to publish certain basic information about their terminal facilities agreements in MTO tariffs filed with the Commission, i.e. (1) the names and business addresses of the parties to all such agreements, and subsequent amendments thereto, currently in effect to which the terminal operator is a party; (2) identification of the terminal facilities covered by each agreement and amendments thereto; and (3) the effective date for each marine terminal facilities agreement, and amendments thereto, currently in effect.

Comments on the proposed tariff publication requirement included requests for clarification on such issues as the timing of, extent of, and responsibility for publication of the required information. In addition, AAPA recommended that in lieu of publishing facilities information in MTO tariffs, the Commission should provide for an "information filing" with the Commission that would include the same information proposed to be placed in the tariff plus the name of contact persons from whom copies of the agreement can be obtained. AAPA suggested that the Commission could then publish that information in the Federal Register to alert the public to the existence of the agreement.

AAPA stated that many parties interested in terminal facilities agreements may not be interested in MTO tariffs and vice versa, and that "some public ports are required to adopt tariff modifications by complex ordinance procedures including separate publications and/or city council approval." AAPA at 3. APL, on the other hand, did not "consider the proposed rule's requirement for tariff identification of marine terminal facilities to be necessary." APL at 2. APL added, however, that the benefits of exemption from filing outweigh the burden of tariff identification.

The Commission has decided to eliminate what appears to be an unnecessary additional burden by removing the NPR's proposed tariff publication requirement. The Commission believes that the FNPR's proposal that all MTOs make copies of their marine terminal facilities agreement available to any and all requesting parties is sufficient to ensure that current standards of regulatory oversight are maintained.

C. Making Copies of Facilities Agreements Available to the Public

Although commenting parties responded positively to the NPR's proposed requirement that copies of MTO facilities agreements be made available to parties upon request, two additional measures were suggested. AAPA urged that the requirement that MTOs provide copies of their agreements to requesting parties for a "nominal copying fee" be revised to substitute the term "reasonable charge." AAPA said that a "reasonable charge," which includes labor, overhead, and mailing costs as well as the direct copying charge, would be more appropriate and in line with the costs currently charged by the Commission for document retrieval. SSA requested that the Commission specify a time limit—three business days—by which copies of any requested agreement would have to be provided by an MTO to the requesting party.

The Commission accepts AAPA's "reasonable charge" suggestion and the FNPR will so reflect.

The Commission assumes that the MTO community will comply with the public notice requirement in a responsible and timely manner, and has not, therefore, established a specific time within which MTOs must provide a copy of their facilities agreement to a requesting party. Should a need ever arise, the Commission could revisit the matter.

D. Facilities Agreements vs. Service Agreements

Although the NPR made no reference to the previous Commission rulemaking that dealt with MTO service agreements, FMC Docket No. 91-20, several of the commenting parties referred to that rulemaking in their responses to the proposed facilities agreement rule. Generally, the comments contained suggestions that the proposed facilities agreement filing exemption be expanded in some way, such as: To require the filing of service agreements, or to exempt service agreements between two or more common carriers, or to exempt all facilities and service agreements from filing. These comments address issues that were considered in Docket No. 91-20, and are outside the scope of this proceeding.

DOJ's argument that the Commission should withdraw antitrust immunity from all MTO agreements (facilities agreements and service agreements) simply because the MTO industry appears to be generally competitive and no evidence of market failure has been established, is unpersuasive. As the Commission concluded in its Section 18 Report:

But even if the question about an economic need for antitrust immunity for public port authorities and private terminal operators were answered in the negative, this would not necessarily settle the fundamental policy issue. The question of whether to retain the current provisions dealing with marine terminal operators, or abridge them to cover only public port authorities, or remove them altogether, involves a policy decision that balances the full array of regulatory concerns, including economic concerns, antitrust policy, state vs. federal regulatory responsibilities, and established industry practices. At 479.

Moreover, since the Commission's intention in promulgating the proposed exemption is to reduce unnecessary

⁹ The relevant subsection states:

(b) Optional Filing. Notwithstanding any exemption from filing or approval or other requirements of the Act and this part, any party to an exempt agreement may file such an agreement with the Commission.

regulatory burdens and governmental costs, it would be counter-productive to impose a condition that would create a disincentive to the use of the exemption.

In reassessing its NPR, the Commission has considered the similarities and differences between the service agreement exemption it established in Docket No. 91-20 and the revised facilities agreement exemption it is now proposing. Accordingly, the Commission has decided to withdraw the original proposal to make publication of certain information in MTO tariffs a condition of the terminal facilities agreement filing exemption.

In the matter of antitrust immunity, the Commission has decided not to withhold antitrust immunity as a condition of the proposed filing and notice exemption for facilities agreements. In reaching that decision, the Commission finds a number of significant distinctions between the scope and nature of the proposed facilities agreement exemption and the existing service agreement exemption in Docket No. 91-20, which obviates any need to regulate the former type of agreement under the antitrust laws.

First, unlike the service agreement exemption which contains no public notice requirement, the FNPR on facilities agreements includes a requirement that copies of all terminal facilities agreements be made available to all requesting parties. This requirement will ensure that interested parties will have ready access to the terms and conditions of exempt terminal facilities agreements, and hence will be able to protest any provisions that may warrant Commission action.

Second, while prices established pursuant to terminal service agreements are usually between two private parties and remain confidential, terminal facilities agreements are generally between a private company and a public, or quasi-public agency. The public agency involved (the port authority landlord) is, as a rule, subject to a variety of state or local disclosure requirements that virtually ensure that interested third parties can learn the terms and conditions of terminal facilities agreements. Thus, those interested parties will be able to protest any terminal facilities agreements that contain provisions that may warrant Commission action.

Third, although terminal service agreements can include combined MTO/stevedore "throughput" rates, it should be pointed out that the Commission does not assert jurisdiction over stevedore services. Terminal facilities agreements, on the other hand, are indisputably subject to Commission jurisdiction.

Finally, terminal facilities agreements almost invariably include public port authorities as parties to the agreement (as landlords/lessors). As public or quasi-public agencies, public port authorities may have antitrust immunity under the "state action" doctrine and/or the Local Government Antitrust Act of 1984.¹⁰ Terminal service agreements likely do not have similar alternative sources of antitrust immunity.

E. Optional Filing

NAS noted in its comments that the exemption proposed in the NPR appeared to be optional and that "marine terminal facilities agreements may continue to be filed with and processed by the Commission under present rules and regulations." NAS at 2. Under the revised proposal, MTOs may decide not to use the exemption and continue to file their terminal facilities agreements with the Commission just as they do now. However, since the Commission will not receive copies of exempt terminal facilities agreements, and since the notice exemption will still pertain to any facilities agreements which are voluntarily filed, the Commission proposes to no longer publish notices of terminal facilities agreements in the Federal Register. Under the proposed rule's requirement that all FMC-regulated MTOs must make copies of their terminal facilities agreements available to all interested parties, the MTO community would itself become the primary source of public information on terminal facilities agreements.

Exemption Criteria

The revised version of the proposed filing and notice exemption for terminal facilities agreements appears to meet the exemption criteria of section 16 of the 1984 Act and section 35 of the 1916 Act, i.e., it should not substantially impair effective regulation, be unjustly discriminatory, be detrimental to commerce, or result in a substantial reduction in competition.

The proposed exemption should not substantially impair effective regulation since the Commission retains its authority to adjudicate formal complaints and to investigate and take appropriate action to address any statutory violations occurring under arrangements that have been exempted from filing and notice requirements. Section 12 of the 1984 Act, 46 U.S.C. app. 1711, and section 27 of the 1916 Act, 46 U.S.C. app. 826, confer the Commission with subpoena powers to obtain the information it may need for investigations and adjudicatory proceedings involving exempt activities. That authority and those powers should, in conjunction with the FNPR's new public notice requirement, be sufficient to ensure that there will be no diminution of the Commission's present degree of regulatory oversight. Additionally, the proposed exemption applies only to filing and notice requirements, and does not relieve the parties to marine terminal facilities agreements from other requirements of the 1916 and 1984 Acts.

The exemption would not appear to be unjustly discriminatory since it is available to all parties to marine terminal facilities agreements. And, parties to such agreements will maintain the option of filing such agreements with the Commission should they so choose.

Finally, MTOs are being required to make all current marine terminal facilities agreements available to the public, which should ensure that competing parties have access to information to which they properly are entitled. Therefore, the exemption should not adversely affect competition in the marine terminal industry.

Although the Commission, as an independent regulatory agency, is not subject to Executive Order 12291, dated February 17, 1981, it nonetheless has reviewed the rule in terms of the Order and has determined that this is not a "major rule" because it will not likely result in:

(1) An annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more;

(2) A major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State, or local government agencies, or geographic regions; or

(3) Significant adverse effect on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

This proposed rule concerns a filing and notice exemption that applies primarily to U.S. public port authorities and approximately twoscore private terminal operating companies. The minimal cost of the public notice requirement included in the proposed rule is expected, on average, to be offset by the savings that are anticipated from the filing and notice exemption. Therefore, the Commission certifies, pursuant to section 605(b) of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b), that this rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

OMB Control Number

The collection of information requirements contained in this regulation were approved by the Office of Management and Budget under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, as amended, and have been assigned OMB control numbers 3072-0040 for part 560 and 3072-0045 for part 572. Public reporting burdens for the collection of information were originally estimated to average 45 minutes per response for Part 560 and 45 minutes per response for part 572, including the time for reviewing instructions, searching existing data sources, gathering and maintaining data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. However, because of the subsequent removal of the proposed requirement to publish information concerning terminal facilities agreements in MTO tariffs, the new public reporting burdens for collection of information are estimated to average approximately 25 minutes per response for part 560 and 25 minutes per response for part 572. Appropriate inventory correction worksheets will be forwarded to OMB. Comments regarding this burden estimate or any other aspect of this collection of information, including suggestions for reducing this burden, should be sent to Norman W. Littlejohn, Director, Bureau of Administration, Federal Maritime Commission, Washington, DC 20573 and to the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Attention: Desk Officer for the Federal Maritime Commission, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, DC 20503.

List of Subjects

46 CFR Part 560

Administrative practice and procedure, Agreements, Antitrust, Freight, Maritime carriers, Penalties, Reporting and recordkeeping requirements.

46 CFR Part 572

Administrative practice and procedure, Agreements, Maritime carriers, Reporting and recordkeeping requirements.

Therefore, parts 560 and 572 of title 46, Code of Federal Regulations, are proposed to be amended as follows:

PART 560—[AMENDED]

1. The authority citation for part 560 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 5 U.S.C. 553; 46 U.S.C. app. 814, 817(a), 820, 821, 833a and 841a.

2. Part 560 is amended by adding § 560.309 to subpart C to read as follows:

§ 560.309 Marine terminal facilities agreement-exemption.

(a) Marine terminal facilities agreement means any agreement between or among two or more marine terminal operators, or between one or more marine terminal operators and one or more common carriers by water in interstate commerce, which conveys to any of the involved parties any rights to operate any marine terminal facility by means of lease, license, permit, assignment, land rental, or other similar arrangement for the use of marine terminal facilities or property.

(b) All marine terminal facilities agreements as defined in § 560.309(a) are exempt from the filing and approval requirements of section 15 of the Shipping Act, 1916, and this part 560.

(c) Copies of any and all marine terminal facilities agreements currently in effect shall be provided, by parties to such agreements, to any requesting party for a reasonable copying and mailing fee.

3. Section 560.601 is amended by revising the first sentence to read as follows:

§ 560.601 Federal Register notice.

With the exception of marine terminal facilities agreements, as defined in § 560.309(a), requests for approval which are not rejected pursuant to § 560.401 shall be noticed in the Federal Register.

PART 572—[AMENDED]

4. The authority citation for part 572 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 5 U.S.C. 553; 46 U.S.C. app. 1701-1707, 1709-1710, 1712 and 1714-1717.

5. Part 572 is amended by adding § 572.311 to subpart C to read as follows:

§ 572.311 Marine terminal facilities agreement-exemption.

(a) Marine terminal facilities agreement means any agreement between or among two or more marine terminal operators, or between one or more marine terminal operators and one or more ocean common carriers, which conveys to any of the involved parties any rights to operate any marine terminal facility by means of lease, license, permit, assignment, land rental, or other similar arrangement for the use of marine terminal facilities or property.

(b) All marine terminal facilities agreements as defined in § 572.311(a) are exempt from the filing and waiting period requirements of sections 5 and 6 of the Shipping Act of 1984 and this part 572.

(c) Copies of any and all marine terminal facilities agreements currently in effect shall be provided, by parties to such agreements, to any requesting party for a reasonable copying and mailing fee.

6. Section 572.602(a) is revised to read as follows:

§ 572.602 Federal Register notice.

(a) With the exception of marine terminal facilities agreements, as defined in § 572.311(a), a notice of any filed agreement which is not rejected pursuant to § 572.601 will be transmitted to the Federal Register within seven days of the date of filing.

RIN 1018-AB83

Endangered and Threatened Wildlife and Plants; Proposal to Determine Two Utah Plants, Lesquerella tumulosa (Kodachrome Bladderpod) and Lepidium Montanum Var. Stellae (Kodachrome Pepper-Grass), to be Endangered Species

AGENCY: Fish and Wildlife Service, Interior.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: The Fish and Wildlife Service (Service) proposes to determine two Utah mustard plants, Lesquerella tumulosa (Kodachrome bladderpod) and Lepidium montanum var. stellae (Kodachrome pepper-grass), to be endangered species. These two species are endemic to soils derived from the Carmel geological formation in the lower elevations of the Paria River drainage in Kane County in southern Utah. These two plants have one small population each on the same shared habitat. A significant portion of the species habitat is subject to disturbance from recreational off-road vehicle activity and potentially from mineral development. A determination that L.

tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae are endangered species would provide these plants protection under the authority of the Endangered Species Act, as amended. The Service is requesting comments on this proposed action.

DATES: Comments from all interested parties must be received by January 4, 1993. Public hearing requests must be received by December 18, 1992.

ADDRESSES: Comments and materials concerning this proposal should be sent to the Field Supervisor, Fish and Wildlife Enhancement, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 2060 Administration Building, 1745 West 1700 South, Salt Lake City, Utah 84104. Comments and materials received will be available for public inspection, by appointment, during normal business hours at the above address.

Background

The Kodachrome bladderpod was discovered by Rupert Barneby in 1966 from a site in the Kodachrome Basin of the Paria River drainage in extreme northern Kane County, Utah. Barneby (1966) described the plant as Lesquerella hitchcockii ssp. tumulosa, comparing the taxon with Lesquerella hitchcockii ssp. rubicundula (now Lesquerella rubicundula) from the nearby Paunsagunt Plateau. James Reveal, in his taxonomic treatment of the Lesquerella hitchcockii complex of species, elevated Barneby's L. h. tumulosa to species rank as Lesquerella tumulosa (Reveal 1970). Rollins and Shaw (1973) submerged L. tumulosa in L. rubicundula. Welsh and Reveal (1977) and Welsh et al. (1987) reestablished L. tumulosa based on: (1) Its distinctive gross vegetative morphology (L. tumulosa has very small linear leaves and a distinctive pulvinate growth form arising from a many branched caudex as opposed to L. rubicundula which has spatulate leaves and a caespitose growth form arising from a simple to few branched caudex), (2) its ecological setting (L. tumulosa is restricted to very xeric shale outcrops at about 1,740 m (5,700 ft) elevation as opposed to L. rubicundula on much more mesic limestone soils at about 2,040 m (6,700 ft) elevation and higher, and (3) its spatial separation (L. tumulosa is restricted to a small area in Kodachrome Basin and L. rubicundula is restricted to a limited area on the Paunsagunt Plateau with no known intermediate populations).

The Kodachrome pepper-grass was discovered by Stella and Stanley Welsh in 1975 from the same site as the L. tumulosa population. Welsh and Reveal (1977) described the species as Lepidium montanum var. stellae.

Lesquerella tumulosa is a perennial herbaceous plant, with a densely pulvinate caespitose growth form from a many-branched caudex forming hemispheric clumps or cushions. The caudex branches are clothed with numerous marcescent leaves and leaf bases. The stems are 1 to 4 cm (0.4 to 1.6 in) tall with mainly basal leaves. The leaves are narrowly linear 2 to 10 mm (0.1 to 0.4 in) long and about 1 mm (0.05 in) wide, pubescent with stellate hairs, and not differentiated into a blade and petiole. The flowers of L. tumulosa have spatulate, yellow petals 5 to 7 mm (0.2 to 0.3 in) long. The fruit is an ovoid silicle about 3 mm (0.1 in) long containing two to four seeds (Barneby 1966, Reveal 1970, Welsh and Reveal 1977, Welsh et al. 1987).

Lepidium montanum var. stellae is a perennial herbaceous plant, with stems 5 to 10 cm (2 to 4 in) tall arising from a woody caudex. The leaves are pinnately lobed about 2 cm (0.8 in) long and 0.8 cm (0.3 in) wide. The flowers of L. m. stellae have petals that are white and measure about 2.5 mm (0.1 in) long. The fruit is a compressed silicle about 3 mm (0.1 in) long covered with short stiff hairs and contains two seeds (Welsh and Reveal 1977, Welsh et al. 1987).

Lesquerella tumulosa grows on sparsely vegetated white shale knolls in thin, poorly developed soils derived from the Winsor member of the Carmel geologic formation (Welsh and Reveal 1977, Welsh 1978, Franklin 1990). Plant species commonly associated with L. tumulosa include: Pinus edulis, Juniperus osteosperma, Purshia tridentata, Cryptantha flava, Stipa hymenoides, Eriogonum corymbosum, Asclepias cryptoceras, Hymenopappus filifolius, and Oenothera caespitosa. L. tumulosa is restricted to one population with scattered occurrences with total range of about 4 km (2.5 mi) across in its largest dimension in the Kodachrome flats area of the Paria River drainage in northern Kane County, Utah. The species total population is about 20,000 plants (Franklin 1990). L. tumulosa's small population and restricted habitat make the species vulnerable to man-caused and natural environmental disturbances. Some habitat has been destroyed in the past by gravel aggregate removal (Welsh 1978). Off-road vehicle use and mineral exploration and mining claim assessment work are potential threats to the species habitat (John L. England, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, pers. obs., 1991, 1992).

Lepidium montanum var. stellae grows on the same geological formation as L. tumulosa but in a different microhabitat in one of the following three situations: (1) On gypsiferous layers forming outcrops on the above-mentioned shale knolls, (2) on downslope soils influenced by those gypsiferous layers, and (3) on accumulated leaf litter under pinyons (Pinus edulis) along drainage channels through the knolls (Franklin 1990). Plant species normally associated with L. m. stellae include: Pinus edulis, Juniperus osteosperma, Purshia tridentata, Cryptantha flava, Cryptantha fulvocanescens, Hilaria jamesii, Eriogonum corymbosum, Muhlenbergia pungens, Hymenopappus filifolius, and Ephedra viridis. The L. m. var. stellae population has approximately the same distribution as L. tumulosa. The species total known population is less than 1,000 plants (Franklin 1990). L. m. var. stellae has the same vulnerabilities and threats as L. tumulosa.

Lepidium montanum var. stellae and L. tumulosa occur only on public lands owned and managed by the State of Utah or the Bureau of Land Management. The majority of the population of L. tumulosa occurs on one section of State land, and a significant portion of L. m. var. stellae also occurs on State-owned land. The balance of the population for both species occur on adjacent Federal lands.

Section 12 of the Endangered Species Act (Act) of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) directed the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution to prepare a report on those plants considered to be endangered, threatened, or extinct. This report, designated as House Document No. 94-51, was presented to Congress on January 9, 1975. On July 1, 1975, the Fish and Wildlife Service (Service) published a notice in the Federal Register (40 FR 27823) of its acceptance of the report as a petition to list the taxa named therein under section 4(c)(2) of the Act (petition acceptance is now governed by section 4(b)(3)(A) of the Act), and its intention to review the status of those plants.

Lesquerella tumulosa was proposed by the Service for listing as endangered along with some 1,700 other vascular plant taxa on June 16, 1976 (41 FR 24523). General comments received in relation to the 1976 proposal are summarized in an April 26, 1978, Federal Register publication (43 FR 17909). The 1978 amendments to the Act required that all proposals over 2 years old be withdrawn, though proposals published before the date of enactment of the 1978 amendments could not be withdrawn before the end of a 1-year grace period.

beginning on the date of enactment. On December 10, 1979, the Service published a notice of withdrawal of that portion of the June 16, 1976, proposal that had not been made final (44 FR 70796), including L. tumulosa.

The July 1975 notice was updated by a notice in the Federal Register on December 15, 1980 (45 FR 82480), which included L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae as category 1 species. Category 1 comprises taxa for which the Service presently has significant biological information to support their being proposed to be listed as endangered or threatened species. The Service published a notice of review on November 28, 1983 (48 FR 53640), which supplemented the 1980 notice. This notice moved L. m. var. stellae to category 2. Category 2 comprises taxa for which information in the possession of the Service indicates that proposing the species is possibly appropriate, but for which conclusive data on biological vulnerability and threat(s) are not currently known or on file to support a proposed rule. The Service at that time deemed that additional status information concerning the abundance and distribution of L. m. var. stellae was needed before the species should be proposed as endangered or threatened.

The Service published a notice of review on September 27, 1985 (50 FR 39526), replacing the 1980 Notice of Review and the 1983 supplement. This Notice of Review moved L. tumulosa from category 1 to category 2. The Service received a status survey report which indicated that the population of L. tumulosa was much larger than previously reported (Hreha 1982). The Service deemed it prudent at that time to further review the status of L. tumulosa before proposing to list the species as either endangered or threatened. The Service also returned L. m. var. stellae to category 1 in that notice because its abundance and distribution were then known to be extremely limited and the plant highly vulnerable to habitat destruction. On February 21, 1990, the Service published a new notice of review (55 FR 6184) replacing the previous notices. This notice maintained both L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae at the same categories as in the 1985 notice. The Service has since received additional information (Franklin 1990), which has been validated by Service personnel, that indicates that both L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae should be listed as endangered. The Service now considers both plants to be category 1 species.

Section 4(b)(3)(B) of the 1982 amendments to the Act requires the Secretary of the Interior to make findings on certain petitions within 1 year of their receipt. Section 2(b)(1) of the Act's amendments of 1982 further requires that all petitions pending as of October 13, 1982, be treated as having been newly submitted on that date. The 1975 Smithsonian report was accepted as a petition and the plant taxa in the Service's 1980 and 1985 notices are treated as though they are petitioned. Beginning on October 13, 1983, and each successive year, the Service has made 1-year findings that the petition to list L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae was warranted, but precluded by other listing actions of higher priority. This proposed rule constitutes the next 1-year petition finding for L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae.

Summary of Factors Affecting the Species

Section 4(a)(1) of the Endangered Species Act (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) and regulations (50 CFR part 424) promulgated to implement the listing provisions of the Act set forth the procedures for adding species to the Federal lists. A species may be determined to be an endangered or threatened species due to one or more of the five factors described in section 4(a)(1). These factors and their application to Lesquerella tumulosa (Barneby) Reveal and Lepidium montanum var. stellae Welsh and Reveal are as follows:

A. The Present or Threatened Destruction, Modification, or Curtailment of Its Habitat or Range

The L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae populations are on Federal and State lands subject to leasing for their oil and gas energy reserves. Portions of the habitat have been disturbed by prospecting and the excavating of gravel and clay. Both plants are vulnerable to any surface disturbing activity associated with mineral development within their habitat (Welsh 1978). Recent inventories for these species have demonstrated very small populations and ranges for these plants (Franklin 1990; John L. England, pers. obs., 1991, 1992). Both L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae are vulnerable to the habitat disturbing effects of dispersed off-road vehicle recreation.

B. Overutilization for Commercial, Recreational, Scientific, or Educational Purposes

None known. However, because of the limited distribution of L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae, both species are vulnerable to vandalism.

C. Disease or Predation

Sheep and cattle grazing may have had an impact on L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae historically, but with current levels of grazing intensity and grazing management by the Bureau of Land Management, domestic livestock grazing is not expected to significantly impact either species.

D. The Inadequacy of Existing Regulatory Mechanisms

There are no Federal, State, or local laws or regulations that address these species specifically or directly provide for the protection of their habitat. The Bureau of Land Management is aware of both L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae and is considering them in environmental planning of their habitat areas until the Service makes a final determination concerning their status under the Act. No Federal Agencies are currently under legal obligation for the conservation of L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae. The Utah State Land Board is authorized, by State law, to provide conservation planning for federally listed endangered and threatened plant species, but no such recognition is granted to species that are not recognized as endangered or threatened under Federal law. The majority of the population of L. tumulosa and much of L. m. var. stellae are on one section of land owned by the State of Utah.

E. Other Natural or Manmade Factors Affecting Their Continued Existence

The total population of L. tumulosa is about 20,000 individuals (Franklin 1990). The total population of L. m. var. stellae is less than 1,000 individuals (Franklin 1990). The populations of these species, especially L. m. var. stellae, are at levels which may not be demographically stable in the medium to long term. The existence of just one population for each of these species makes them particularly vulnerable to extinction from any catastrophic event to either of the species populations or its very limited habitat. The effects of past habitat degradation on the species ability to respond to environmental stress is not known but may be critical to the species future existence. L. m. var. stellae in particular may not have sufficient genetic variability to provide for long-term adaptation to natural changes in environmental conditions.

The Service has carefully assessed the best scientific and commercial information available regarding the past, present, and future threats faced by L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae in determining to propose this rule. Based on this evaluation, the preferred action is to list Lesquerella tumulosa and Lepidium montanum var. stellae as endangered species. Both these species are rare local endemics on habitat that has the potential for being exploited for its mineral resources and damaged by recreational activities. The populations of both species are very small both in numbers and range and are vulnerable to environmental variation which may drive their populations to extinction. Because both of these two species have sympatric populations, on a single very small shared habitat that may face extinction, they fit the definition of endangered as defined by the Act. The status of threatened does not reflect the biological condition and vulnerability of these species populations. For the reasons given below, it is not considered prudent to propose designation of critical habitat.

Critical Habitat

Section 4(a)(3) of the Act, as amended, requires that to the maximum extent prudent and determinable, the Secretary propose critical habitat at the time the species is proposed to be endangered or threatened. The Service finds that designation of critical habitat for L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae is not presently prudent for these species because possible adverse consequences from vandalism would likely outweigh the minimal benefits accruing from critical habitat designation.

As noted under Factor "A," L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae occupy extremely limited habitat. Designation of critical habitat would entail publication of a detailed description and map of this habitat in the Federal Register, exposing the species to the potential and probable threat of vandalism. Lacking mobility, plants are more vulnerable to vandalism than animals. One person could easily vandalize the single small L. tumulosa or L. m. var. stellae populations.

Moreover, few additional benefits would be provided to the species by the critical habitat designation that would not already be provided by listing the species as endangered, particularly because much of each species population is located on lands under Federal jurisdiction. Any Federal action that would impact the plant's habitat would affect the plants as rooted organisms and, consequently, would be addressed through section 7 consultation. Section 9(a)(2)(B) of the Act makes it unlawful to remove and reduce to possession any endangered species of plant from areas under Federal jurisdiction or to maliciously damage or destroy such species on any such area. Such provisions are difficult to enforce and publication of critical habitat descriptions and maps would make both plants more vulnerable. The Bureau of Land Management is aware of the occurrence of L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae on Federal lands and of their obligations under the Act. The Utah Natural Heritage Program of the Utah Department of Natural Resources is similarly aware of each species population on State of Utah lands. Protection of the species habitat will also be accomplished through the recovery process.

Available Conservation Measures

Conservation measures provided to species listed as endangered or threatened under the Act include recognition, recovery actions, requirements for Federal protection, and prohibitions against certain practices. Recognition through listing encourages and results in conservation actions by Federal, State, and private agencies, groups, and individuals. The Act provides for possible land acquisition and cooperation with the States and requires that recovery actions be carried out for all listed species. Such actions are initiated by the Service following listing. The protection required of Federal Agencies and the prohibitions against certain activities involving listed plants are discussed, in part, below.

Section 7(a) of the Act, as amended, requires Federal Agencies to evaluate their actions with respect to any species that is proposed or listed as endangered or threatened and with respect to its critical habitat, if any is being designated. Regulations implementing this interagency cooperation provision of the Act are codified at 50 CFR part 402. Section 7(a)(4) requires Federal Agencies to confer informally with the Service on any action that is likely to jeopardize the continued existence of a proposed species or result in destruction or adverse modification of proposed critical habitat. If a species is listed subsequently, section 7(a)(2) requires Federal Agencies to insure that activities they authorize, fund, or carry out are not likely to jeopardize the continued existence of such a species or to destroy or adversely modify its critical habitat. If a Federal action may affect a listed species or its critical habitat, the responsible Federal Agency must enter into formal consultation with the Service.

A significant portion of the known populations of L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae are on Federal lands under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Land Management. The Bureau of Land Management, in addition, is responsible for the leasing of minerals under Federal jurisdiction. The Bureau of Land Management would be responsible for ensuring that Federal land uses and actions are not likely to jeopardize the continued existence of L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae.

The Act and its implementing regulations found at 50 CFR 17.61, 17.62, and 17.63 set forth a series of general trade prohibitions and exceptions that apply to all endangered plants. All trade prohibitions of section 9(a)(2) of the Act, implemented by 50 CFR 17.61, apply. These prohibitions, in part, make it illegal for any person subject to the jurisdiction of the United States to import or export, transport in interstate or foreign commerce in the course of a commercial activity, sell or offer for sale these species in interstate or foreign commerce, or to remove and reduce to possession the species from areas under Federal jurisdiction. In addition, for endangered plants, the 1988 amendments (Pub. L. 100-478) to the Act prohibit the malicious damage or destruction on Federal lands and the removal, cutting, digging up, or damaging or destroying of endangered plants in knowing violation of any State law or regulation, including State criminal trespass law. Certain exceptions apply to agents of the Service and State conservation agencies. The Act and 50 CFR 17.62 and 17.63 also provide for the issuance of permits to carry out otherwise prohibited activities involving endangered species under certain circumstances. It is anticipated that few, if any, trade permits would ever be sought or issued for L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae because the species is not common in cultivation or in the wild. Requests for copies of the regulations on plants and inquiries regarding them may be addressed to the Office of Management Authority, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Room 432, 4401 North Fairfax Drive, Arlington, Virginia 22203 (703/358-2093).

Public Comments Solicited

The Service intends that any final action resulting from this proposal will be as accurate and as effective as possible. Therefore, comments or suggestions from the public, other concerned governmental agencies, the scientific community, industry, or any other interested party concerning any aspect of this proposal are hereby solicited. Comments particularly are sought concerning:

(1) Biological, commercial trade, or other relevant data concerning any threat (or lack thereof) to L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae;

(2) The location of any additional populations of L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae and the reasons why any habitat should or should not be determined to be critical habitat as provided by Section 4 of the Act;

(3) Additional information concerning the range, distribution, and population size of L. tumulosa and L. m. var. stellae; and

(4) Current or planned activities in the subject area and their possible impacts on L. tumulosa and L. m. stellae.

Final promulgation of the regulation on these species will take into consideration the comments and any additional information received by the Service, and such communications may lead to a final regulation that differs from this proposal.

The Act provides for a public hearing on this proposal, if requested. Requests must be filed within 45 days of the date of the proposal. Such requests must be made in writing and addressed to the Service's Field Supervisor in Salt Lake City, Utah (see ADDRESSES above).

National Environmental Policy Act

The Service has determined that an Environmental Assessment, as defined under the authority of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, need not be prepared in connection with regulations adopted pursuant to section 4(a) of the Act of 1973, as amended. A notice outlining the Service's reasons for this determination was published in the Federal Register on October 25, 1983 (48 FR 49244).

Atlantic Sea Scallop Fishery; Public Hearing

AGENCY: National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), NOAA, Commerce.

ACTION: Temporary adjustment of standards; notice of public hearing and request for comments.

SUMMARY: NMFS will hold a public hearings to solicit public comment on a temporary adjustment of the meat count/shell height standards for Atlantic sea scallops.

DATES: The public hearing will be held on December 2, 1992, at 11:30 a.m. Written comments will be accepted through December 2, 1992, [See ADDRESSES].

ADDRESSES: The December 2, 1992, hearing will be held in conjunction with the New England Fishery Management Council (Council) meeting at the King's Grant Inn, Route 128 at Trask Lane, Danvers, MA 01923. Written comments should be addressed to Richard B. Roe, Director, Northeast Regional Office, NMFS, One Blackburn Drive, Gloucester, MA 01930.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Paul H. Jones, Resource Policy Analyst, Fishery Management Operations, NMFS Northeast Region, 508-281-9273.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Section 650.22 of the regulations implementing the Fishery Management Plan for the Atlantic Sea Scallops Fishery (50 CFR part 650) provides authority to the Regional Director to temporarily adjust the meat count/shell height standards upon finding that specific criteria are met. The standards can be adjusted within a range from 25 to 40 meat per pound and may be adjusted no more than 5 meats by any one adjustment. The Director, Northeast Region, NMFS (Regional Director) has considered the criteria specified in § 650.22(c) and has decided to recommend an adjustment to the standards from 30 to 33 meats per pound [shell height from 3½ inches (89 mm) to 3⅞ inches (87 mm)] for the period February 1, 1993, through September 30, 1993.

The regulations require the Regional Director to hold a public hearing on this recommendation and to solicit comments from the Council. The Regional Director may modify this recommendation based on comments from the Council or the public. After consideration of the full record, a final determination will be made by the Regional Director whether or not to adjust the standards. If the Regional Director determines that the standards should be adjusted, notice will be published in the Federal Register.

Dated: October 28, 1992.

[Docket No. 90927-2280]

Northeast Multispecies Fishery

AGENCY: National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), NOAA, Commerce.

ACTION: Denial of council recommendation to implement restrictive measures under Flexible Area Action System No. 6.

SUMMARY: NOAA issues this notification to inform the public and the fishing industry that the Director, Northeast Region (Regional Director) has disapproved the New England Fishery Management Council's (Council) recommendation to implement restrictive measures under Flexible Area Action System No. 6 (FAAS No. 6) to deal with alleged high discards of sublegal yellowtail flounder in Ipswich Bay off Massachusetts and New Hampshire. No information has been made available through sea sampling to confirm that significant discards of small yellowtail are occurring. Public comments received, both written and at public hearings, also failed to support the belief that significant discards of small yellowtail flounder are occurring.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Jack Terrill (NMFS, Resource Policy Analyst), 508-281-9252.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Amendment 3 to the Fishery Management Plan for the Northeast Multispecies Fishery established a Flexible Area Action System (FAAS), whereby protection can be provided to concentrations of juvenile, sublegal, or spawning fish. Regulations implementing Amendment 3 were published on December 22, 1989 (54 FR 52803).

FAAS No. 6 was initiated by reports to the chairman of the Council that high discards of sublegal yellowtail flounder were occurring in areas offshore of Massachusetts and New Hampshire known as Ipswich Bay. Under the provisions of 50 CFR 651.26, a notice was published on October 13, 1992 (57 FR 46840). The notice announced that the Council would consider action under FAAS No. 6 to protect a large concentration of yellowtail flounder smaller than the legal minimum landing size in Ipswich Bay.

Upon initiation, the Regional Director began fact finding to determine the existence of a problem in the area. Attempts were made to place a sea sampler on a vessel fishing in the area. Unfortunately, other species moved into the area immediately after FAAS No. 6 was initiated, causing vessels to leave the area. As a consequence, sea samplers were not placed on vessels and could not confirm or deny the existence of a problem. The U.S. Coast Guard provided assistance by boarding two vessels and observing haulbacks. These observations were inconclusive. Neither a fact-finding report nor an economic impact analysis could be prepared for FAAS No. 6.

A public hearing on FAAS No. 6 was held on October 22, 1992, in Danvers, Massachusetts, in conjunction with the October meeting of the Council, to hear comments on the proposed action. Approximately 15 persons attended. In addition, three written comments were received. The comments addressed the issue of large scallop vessels working in an area generally fished by small vessels, rather than the problem of yellowtail flounder discards. The scallop vessels use dredge gear containing 3-inch (7.62 cm) diameter rings. Commenters stated that this ring size would equate to a mesh size that is less than the regulated mesh size of 5½ inches (13.97 cm) and that these vessels should not be working in this area without further restrictions.

At the conclusion of the public hearing the Council met to consider the results of the Regional Director's fact-finding investigations and the public comments received. The Council raised concerns about the presence of scallop vessels in the area and recommended to the Regional Director that scallopers fishing in Ipswich Bay be subject to a 500-pound possession limit of groundfish for a period of up to 6 months.

Under the provisions of § 651.26(f), the Regional Director has disapproved the Council's recommendation. The decision is based upon a lack of conclusive evidence that a problem is occurring in the area. While there is concern over the use of gear capable of taking sublegal groundfish, the absence of information that significant discards are occurring makes it inappropriate to take the recommended action under FAAS No. 6. The lack of a fact-finding report or an economic impact analysis makes it unfair to impose a restriction for which there has been no opportunity for public review and comment.

Classification

This denial of FAAS No. 6 is authorized by 50 CFR part 651 and is consistent with the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act and other applicable law.

Pacific Halibut Fisheries; Groundfish of the Gulf of Alaska; Groundfish Fishery of the Bering Sea and Aleutian Islands; Limited Access Management of Fisheries Off Alaska

AGENCY: National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), NOAA, Commerce.

ACTION: Notice of availability of amendments to fishery management plans; request for comments.

SUMMARY: The North Pacific Fishery Management Council (Council) has submitted Amendment 15 to the Fishery Management Plan (FMP) for the Groundfish Fishery of the Bering Sea and Aleutian Islands Area (BSAI) and Amendment 20 to the FMP for Groundfish of the Gulf of Alaska for review by the Secretary of Commerce (Secretary). Comments are requested from the public. Copies of the amendments and the final environmental impact statement/supplemental environmental impact statement (FEIS/SEIS) may be obtained from the Council (see "ADDRESSES").

DATES: Comments on the amendments must be received on or before January 4, 1993.

ADDRESSES: Comments should be sent to Ronald J. Berg, Chief, Fisheries Management Division, Alaska Region, NMFS, P.O. Box 21668, Juneau, Alaska 99802 or delivered to the Federal Building Annex, Suite 6, 9109 Mendenhall Mall Road, Juneau, Alaska. Copies of the amendments and the FEIS/SEIS are available on request from the North Pacific Fishery Management Council, P.O. Box 103136, Anchorage, AK 99510 (telephone 907-271-2809).

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Jay J. C. Ginter, Fishery Management Biologist, Alaska Region, NMFS at 907-586-7228.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act (Magnuson Act) (16 U.S.C. 1801 et seq.) requires that each Regional Fishery Management Council submit any FMP or FMP amendment it prepares to the Secretary for review and approval, disapproval, or partial disapproval. The Magnuson Act also requires the Secretary, on receiving the plan or amendment, to immediately publish a notice in the Federal Register that the plan or amendment is available for public review and comment. The Secretary will consider the public comments received during the comment period in determining whether to approve Amendments 15 and 20.

A companion regulatory amendment would effect changes to rules governing the harvest of Pacific halibut by U.S. fishermen in and off of Alaska. The proposed halibut regulatory amendment would provide management measures that are in addition to, and not in conflict with, regulations developed by the International Pacific Halibut Commission and promulgated at 50 CFR part 301. Although the Council does not have an FMP for halibut, it has delegated authority under the Halibut Act, as amended in 1982, to recommend to the Secretary policies affecting halibut allocation among U.S. fishermen in and off of Alaska.

If approved, the proposed FMP and regulatory amendments would allocate future total catch limits of Pacific halibut and sablefish among individual fishermen. An individual fishing quota (IFQ) would be a transferable harvest privilege that could be used, within specified limitations, by the IFQ holder to harvest halibut or sablefish whenever and however such harvests would be most beneficial to the holder's fishing operation. The proposed IFQ program would limit the entry of future fishermen into the affected fisheries to those persons willing to purchase the harvest privilege from a person who already holds the privilege. The IFQ program is intended to resolve various conservation and management problems that stem from the current "open access" regulatory regime that allows free access to the common property fishery resources and stimulates excessive capital investment in the fisheries. If implemented, the proposed IFQ program would apply only to the fixed gear fisheries for sablefish and halibut in and off of Alaska.

In addition, a Western Alaska Community Development Quota is proposed to help develop commercial fisheries in communities on the Bering Sea coast by allowing them exclusive access to specified amounts of halibut and sablefish in the BSAI area.

Regulations proposed by the Council to implement these amendments are scheduled to be published within 15 days of this notice.

Feed Grain Donations for the Duck Valley Indian Reservation of Nevada and Idaho

Pursuant to the authority set forth in section 407 of the Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended (7 U.S.C. 1427) and Executive Order 11336, I have determined that:

1. The chronic economic distress of the needy members of the Shoshone-Paiute Tribe (the Tribe) of the Duck Valley Indian Reservation of Nevada and Idaho has been materially increased and become acute because of severe and prolonged drought, thereby creating a serious shortage of feed and causing increased economic distress. This reservation is designated for Indian use and is utilized by members of the Tribe for grazing purposes.

2. The use of feed grain or products thereof made available by the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) for livestock feed for such needy members of the Tribe will not displace or interfere with normal marketing of agricultural commodities.

3. Based on the above determinations, I hereby declare the reservation and grazing land of the Tribe to be acute distress areas and authorize the donation of feed grain owned by the CCC to livestock owners who are determined by the Bureau of Indian Affairs, United States Department of the Interior, to be needy members of the Tribe utilizing such lands. These donations by the CCC may commence upon October 21, 1992, and shall be made available through April 30, 1993, or such other date as may be stated in a notice issued by the Administrator, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Forest Service

Exemption of Sprouse House Log Salvage Project From Appeal, Wallowa-Whitman National Forest, Oregon

AGENCY: Forest Service, USDA.

ACTION: Notice to exempt decisions from administrative appeal.

SUMMARY: This is a notification that the decision to implement the Sprouse House Log Salvage Project in the area of Big Sheep Creek on the Wallowa-Whitman National Forest is exempted from appeal. This is in conformance with provisions of 36 CFR 217.4(a)(11) as published in the Federal Register on January 23, 1989 (54 FR 3342).

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Bruce Kaufman, Timber Staff, Wallowa-Whitman National Forest, 1550 Dewey Avenue, Baker City, Oregon, 97814, phone (503) 523-6391.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In 1987 an infestation of spruce bark beetles attacked the spruce component of the southern portion of the Wallowa-Whitman National Forest. During 1988 and 1989 the infestation became more severe and by July of 1989 approximately 15 percent of the southern portion of the district contained dead stands of spruce. At this time, a lightning storm moving through the area ignited the Canal Fire which burned a total of 19,700 acres on the Wallowa Valley Ranger District. Pockets of dead spruce supplied high intensity ladder fuels which hindered fire containment efforts. The area contained in the Sprouse House Log Salvage Project was not burned and fuel levels remain high.

Beginning in the fall of 1990, an interdisciplinary team (IDT) analyzed the infested area and identified the need to reduce fuel levels and salvage the dead trees in as short a time as possible so that logs would remain merchantable. Since 1990, when the project was initially proposed, the value of the usable wood fiber has decreased. In September of 1991, a decision notice for the Sprouse House Log Salvage Project was signed and published. This decision was withdrawn in the fall of 1991 due to the need for completed biological evaluations for fish and wildlife. Biological evaluations have now been completed and usable fiber values remain high enough to make this an economically feasible project. Further delay in salvaging the dead trees could result in a loss of more than 25 percent of usable wood fiber, jeopardize the projects viability, and fail to address hazardous fuel build-up and the increased potential for high intensity fire in the area.

Public and internal scoping raised a number of issues concerning proposed project activities. Two significant issues were identified. These were:

1. Whether harvest activities would create an adverse effect on the landscape as seen from Forest Service Road 39 (a National Scenic Byway), or Big Sheep Creek (a study river under the National Wild and Scenic Rivers Act).

2. Whether harvest activities would damage new seedlings and advanced reproduction in the project area, and spread root diseases among residual trees through ground disturbance.

The IDT developed three alternatives to analyze, including the No Action Alternative. The effects of these alternatives are disclosed in an environmental assessment (EA) which was prepared for the proposal. Under the Proposed Action (Alternative 3), approximately 149 acres would be salvaged yielding an estimated 370 MBF of timber. All units would be accessible using existing roads; no temporary or specified road construction is planned. Along Forest Service Road 39, a 100 foot no-activity buffer would be maintained in the immediate retention foreground. The remaining harvest area in immediate retention foreground would be leave tree marked with a portion of dead spruce being tractor winched to FS Road 3900-134. This combination of no-treatment and partial-treatment buffers would prevent any major changes in the landscape as seen from FS Road 29. Proposed treatment of the project area will meet visual quality objectives required under the Interim Management guidelines for Management Area 7, Wild and Scenic Rivers. With mitigation measures identified in Chapter II of the EA, no negative effects to the landscape are expected. Natural regeneration would be protected and ground disturbance reduced through mitigation measures including restricting operation of equipment to existing skid trails. Analysis shows that this alternative best provides for the health and vigor of forest stands while meeting project objectives and Forest Plan Standards and Guidelines.

Biological evaluations have been completed for all plant, wildlife, and fish. Proposed, Endangered, Threatened, and Sensitive species within the project area. All biological evaluations indicated that the project could proceed as planned. Informal consultation for chinook salmon, a threatened species, has been initiated with the National Marine Fisheries Service.

The sale and accompanying work is designed to accomplish the objectives as quickly as possible and minimize the amount of salvage volume lost. To expedite this salvage and the accompanying work, this project is exempted from appeal (36 CFR 217). Under this Regulation, the following is exempt from appeal:

Decisions related to rehabilitation of National Forest System lands and recovery of forest resources resulting from natural disasters or other natural phenomena, such as wildfires * * * when the Regional Forester * * * determines and gives notice in the Federal Register that good cause exists to exempt such decisions from review under this part.

After publication of this notice in the Federal Register, the Decision Notice for the Sprouse House Log Salvage Project may be signed by the Wallowa Valley District Ranger. Therefore, this project will not be subject to review under 36 CFR part 217.

Dated: October 28, 1992.

Acting Deputy Regional Forester.

BILLING CODE 3410-11-M

Open Pit Gold Mine Expansion Proposal, Submitted to the Sawtooth National Forest, Burley Ranger District; BLM-Burley District, Deep Creek Resource Area: Cassia County, Idaho, by Black Pine Mining, Inc. The proposal is known as the Black Pine Gold Mine Expansion Proposal.

AGENCY: USDA Forest Service, USDI Bureau of Land Management (BLM).

ACTION: Notice of Intent to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement.

SUMMARY: The Forest Service, acting as lead agency, will prepare a Draft Environmental Impact Statement on a proposal by Black Pine Mining, Inc., to expand their current open pit gold mining operations. The proposed action is to mine gold ore from a newly discovered ore body in the area. The proposed action involves development of one open pit, and an associated waste rock dump and haul road segment on National Forest System lands. The gold ore would be processed on the currently permitted leach pad and processing plant facilities. The proposed action includes a plan to utilize a contingency site for land application of treated process solution for emergency or final reclamation on BLM lands.

DATES: Comments concerning the scope of the analysis, issues, and alternatives should be received by December 3, 1992.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Black Pine Mining, Inc., a subsidiary of Pegasus Gold Corporation, purchased the rights to develop a cyanide heap leach/open pit gold operation from Noranda, Inc., in June 1990. The project is located on the Black Pine Division of the Burley Ranger District, Sawtooth National Forest, and the Deep Creek Resource Area, Burley District, Bureau of Land Management.

Noranda submitted plans for the development of the mine in 1987. An Environmental Analysis was conducted on the proposal and the findings documented in an Environmental Assessment (EA) dated August 1988. The decision to allow mining was documented in a Decision Notice and Finding Of No Significant Impact (FONSI) dated August 4, 1988.

Noranda's Operating Plan, Revision 2, was prepared and approved on August 7, 1989. The approved operating plan involved the development of three open pits, two large cyanide heap leach pads, up to eight cyanide ponds, an ore haul road system, ore recovery facilities, and ancillary mining facilities with the capacity to process approximately 11 million tons of gold ore.

Black Pine Mining (BPM) adopted Noranda's approved plan when they acquired the the rights to mine from Noranda in June 1990. BPM then re-evaluated the approved plan and submitted a revised development plan—The Black Pine Plan of Operations, Revision 3. It was evaluated in an EA dated March 1991. The decision to allow the changes identified in the revised operating plan was documented in a FONSI dated March 4, 1991.

Revision 3 involves constructing a single 100-acre, valley fill (composite), heap leach facility in place of the previously approved two leach pads. Seven of the eight surface ponds were eliminated. Instead of the 11 million tons of ore previously approved, up to 22 million tons could be processed.

Proposed Action

The proposed action is for BPM to mine gold ore in a newly discovered anomaly in open pit fashion. The proposal includes an associated waste dump and haul road segment, as well as a land application system to dispose of treated process solution. The Company proposes to utilize existing facilities to process the ore.

The gold ore is located near the top of Black Pine Cone within the permitted mine area. The proposed "E" pit will generate approximately one million tons of ore and affect about 36 acres.

Approximately 1.6 million tons of waste rock would be disposed of at the site. The Company's proposed site is just below the pit and would disturb about 34 acres of land. It will be an angle of repose dump.

A 55-foot-wide haul road would be needed to access the ore body. Access would be from the currently approved "A" pit to minimize haul distance and disturbance. The proposed haul route travels along the eastern slope of Black Pine Cone Mountain. The road segment would be 7,750 feet long and disturb 75 acres.

Mining sequence is critical in order to economically extract minerals from "E" pit. The proposed access route is via a previously approved haul road within "A" pit. The haul road within "A" pit is scheduled to be mined out; thereby terminating the access to "E" pit. Access alternatives that bypass the haul road through "A" pit would create additional disturbances and may not be economically feasible.

The final item proposed for this mine expansion is a contingency site for land application of neutralized process solution for emergency or final reclamation disposal. The land application methodology utilizes the soil's natural percolation and absorption properties for discharge of neutralized solutions. The proposed land application site is located on BLM land just below the existing process facilities. It is approximately 90 acres in size. The site would have little disturbance associated to it. The disturbance would be limited to the treated solutions being applied to the soil utilizing a single access road and overland travel on the site for sprayer or drip line layout and setup.

Decision to be Made

Based on the analysis in the EIS, a determination of how to best operate the Black Pine Mine will be made. The analysis in the EIS will not make a determination as to whether BPM should be allowed to mine. This decision has already been made in the Forest Plan and through the approval of BPM's existing operating plan. The decision to be made is whether to implement the proposed expansion plan or continue with the currently approved plan.

In making this decision, the following determinations must be made:

1. Determine if the proposed changes are in conformance with existing Forest Service and Bureau of Land Management policies, regulations, and approved land management direction, including the requirements of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act (FLPMA).

2. Determine if any additional mitigation, management, or monitoring requirements are needed if the proposed changes are implemented.

Issues Identified for Date

A number of issues have been identified to date for the proposed expansion of the mine. The issues shown here were derived from an Interdisciplinary Team of resource specialists who have reviewed the proposal and monitored the current mining operations. The main issues are summarized below.

1. Surface and groundwater contamination: Land application involves disposing of treated process solution on surface lands adjacent to the mining operations. Effected soils must have suitable percolation properties and be able to attenuate heavy metals. There may be a potential for surface or ground water contamination if the process solution is not properly treated.

2. Waste Rock Stability: The location, construction, and composition of the waste rock affect the stability of the waste dump over time.

3. Visual Quality: The proposed pit, dump, and haul road impact the visual quality of the Black Pine Mountains. The existing mine site is visible from the Interstate. The proposed expansion will be visible from Interstate 84 and/or Highway 30.

4. Wildlife protection: Wildlife may be exposed to the treated process solution directly (during application), or indirectly (by utilizing forage produced by the application). The potential risk of toxic exposure to wildlife needs to be addressed.

5. Public/Operator safety: The construction of haul roads, pit excavation methods, waste dump construction, and temporary area closure boundaries affect public and operator safety.

6. Soil/Watershed: Disturbances associated with the construction of the pit, dump, and haul road potentially increase surface erosion and effect watershed quality.

7. Reclamation potential: The surface conditions (side slope steepness, sparse vegetation, various soil conditions, dry climate, etc.) and type of disturbance (pit, dump, or road) effects the standard of reclamation that can be expected to be successful.

8. Mine economics: The location of the project components, the timing of approval and the reclamation standards imposed effect the economics of the mine. The mining operations effect the economies of the local communities (Malta, Burley, Snowville).

Possible Alternatives

The Draft Environmental Impact Statement will analyze alternatives for road, dump, and possibly land application locations. The location of the ore body is fixed. Following are the alternatives to be analyzed as of this date. These alternatives are not fully developed at this time, but will be when the Draft EIS is completed. Any components of the expansion or their alternatives could require an amendment to the Forest Plan.

No Action Alternative: Under the no action alternative, mining would continue as approved in BPM's Plan of Operations, Revision 3. The "E" pit, associated waste dump, and haul road segment would not be allowed. The land application site would not be permitted either.

Haul Road Alternative #1: Is the proposed road alternative. It starts from the top of "A" pit and traverses south along the eastern slope of Black Pine Cone Mountain to "E" pit. Length is approximately 4,920 ft. Disturbance is 48 acres. BPM's proposed haul route.

Haul Road Alternative #2: Starts from the middle of "A" pit heading north above "A" waste dump, switches back and traverses the east slope of Black Pine Cone Mountain to "E" pit. Length is 7,750 ft. Disturbance is 75 acres.

Haul Road Alternative #3: Starts from the top of "A" pit as in Alternative #1. It travels north along the eastern slope of the mountain, switches back and travels south along the western slope to "E" pit.

Haul Road Alternative #4: Starts from the middle of "A" pit as in Alternative #2. It then switches back to the north along the eastern slope of Black Pine Cone Mountain ridge, crosses the ridge and switches back again to the south, traversing Black Pine Mountain along the western slope to "E" pit. Length is 8,750 feet. Disturbance is about 110 acres.

Waste Dump Alternative #1: Proposed waste dump. It would be an "angle of repose" dump located just below "E" pit on the western slope of Black Pine Cone Mountain. Disturbance would be approximately 33 acres.

Waste Dump Alternative #2: An angle of repose dump would be located just above the approved "A" waste dump in Mineral Gulch. It would disturb about 34 acres.

Waste Dump Alternative #3: Waste from "E" pit would be hauled to "A" waste dump.

Permits, Licenses Required

There are a number of state permits that have been secured by BPM for their current operations. The following permits will need to be modified if the expansion project is implemented:

Reclamation Plan: Idaho Department of Lands; Amend plan #RP-906.

Permit To Construct An Air Pollution Emitting Source: Idaho Department of Health and Welfare, Division of Environmental Quality; Amend Permit #0440-0018.

Ore Processing By Cyanidation: Division of Environmental Quality; Amend permit CN-000020-3.

Plan of Operations: USDA Forest Service, USDI Bureau of Land Management; Supplement to Operating Plan #01-91-02 (Black Pine Mine, Plan of Operations Rev. 3) as amended.

Scoping Process

A scoping statement is being developed which will be sent to all interested publics. Those on the scoping mailing list from the EA and supplemental EA for mining will be notified. All publics who indicated they wished to be notified of any proposal on the Sawtooth National Forest (1992 Sawtooth National Forest Shareholder's list) will receive a scoping statement and invitation to comment.

There are over two hundred individuals, organizations, and agencies on these lists.

A press release will be issued to describe the proposal and invite the public to comment. The release will include notification of two public scoping meetings that will be held in Burley, Idaho and Snowville, Utah on September 30 and October 1, respectively.

This scoping process will allow 30 days after publication of this notice for submitting additional comments concerning the scope of the analysis, issues and alternatives.

The Forest Service will be actively seeking public input after the draft has been published. It is anticipated the Draft Environmental Impact Statement will be completed by December 15, 1992. There will be a formal comment period on the draft and an open house will be held to discuss the draft if needed.

The comment period on the draft Environmental Impact Statement will be 45 days from the date the Environmental Protection Agency publishes the notice of availability in the Federal Register.

The Forest Service believes, at this early stage, it is important to give reviewers notice of several court rulings related to public participation in the environmental review process. First, reviewers of draft environmental impact statements must structure their participation in the environmental review of the proposal so that it is meaningful and alerts an agency to the reviewer's position and contentions.

Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Corp. v. NRDC, 435 U.S. 519, 553 (1978). Also, environmental objections that could be raised at the draft environmental impact statement stage but that are not raised until after completion of the final environmental impact statement may be waived or dismissed by the courts. City of Angoon v. Hodel, 803 F.2d 1016, 1022 (9th Cir. 1986) and Wisconsin Heritages, Inc. v. Harris, 490 F. Supp. 1334, 1338 (E.D. Wis. 1980). Because of these court rulings, it is very important that those interested in this proposed action participate by the close of the 45-day comment period so that substantive comments and objections are made available to the Forest Service at a time when it can meaningfully consider them and respond to them in the final environmental impact statement.

To assist the Forest Service in identifying and considering issues and concerns on the proposed action, comments on the draft Environmental Impact Statement should be as specific as possible. It is also helpful if comments refer to specific pages or chapters of the draft statement. Comments may also address the adequacy of the draft Environmental Impact Statement or the merits of the alternatives formulated and discussed in the statement. Reviewers may wish to refer to the Council on Environmental Quality Regulations for implementing the procedural provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act at 40 CFR 1503.3 in addressing these points.

Responsible Officials

Jack E. Bills, Forest Supervisor, Sawtooth National Forest, and Gerald L. Quinn, District Manager, Burley District, BLM are the responsible officials.

Idaho's Department of Health and Welfare, Division of Environmental Quality and Division of Water Resources, Department of Lands, and Department of Fish and Game will be cooperating agencies.

The Forest Service will be acting as lead agency in preparing the Draft and Final EIS. Comments should be sent to James L. Chard, Acting District Ranger, Burley Ranger District, 2621 S. Overland Avenue, Burley, Idaho 83318. For more information contact Larry Randall, Burley District Minerals Administrator; Phone (208) 678-0430.

Rural Telephone Bank

Determination of the 1992 Fiscal Year Interest Rates on Rural Telephone Bank Loans

AGENCY: Rural Telephone Bank, USDA.

ACTION: Notice of 1992 fiscal year interest rates determination.

SUMMARY: In accordance with 7 CFR 1610.10, the Rural Telephone Bank fiscal year 1992 cost of money rates have been established as follows: 6.14% and 7.38% for advances from the liquidating account and financing account, respectively (fiscal year is the period beginning October 1 and ending September 30).

Except for loans approved from October 1, 1987 through December 21, 1987 where borrowers elected to remain at interest rates set at loan approval, all loan advances made during fiscal year 1992 under bank loans approved prior to fiscal year 1992 shall bear interest at the rate of 6.14% (the liquidating account rate). All loan advances made during fiscal year 1992 under bank loans approved during fiscal year 1992 shall bear interest at the rate of 7.38% (the financing account rate).

The calculation of the Bank's cost of money rates for fiscal year 1992 for the liquidating account and the financing account are provided in Tables 1a and 1b. Since the calculated rates are greater than the minimum rate (5.00%) allowed under 7 U.S.C. 948(b)(3)(A), the cost of money rates for the liquidating account and financing account are set at 6.14% and 7.38%, respectively. The methodology required to calculate the cost of money rates is established in 7 CFR 1610.10(c).

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Matthew P. Link, Director, Rural Telephone Bank Management Staff, Rural Electrification Administration, room 2832, South Building, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington DC 20250, telephone number (202) 720-0530.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

The Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990 ("Credit Reform") (2 U.S.C. 661a, et seq.) implemented a system to reform the budgetary accounting and management of Federal credit programs. Bank loans approved on or after October 1, 1991, are accounted for in a different manner than Bank loans approved prior to fiscal year 1992. As a result, the Bank must calculate two cost of money rates: (1) The cost of money rate for advances made from the liquidating account (advances made during fiscal year 1992 on loans approved prior to fiscal year 1992) and (2) the cost of money rate for advances made during fiscal year 1992 on loans approved on or after October 1, 1991 (otherwise referred to as loans from the financing account).

The cost of money rate methodology is the same for both accounts. It develops a weighted average rate for the Bank's cost of money considering total fiscal year loan advances; the excess of fiscal year loan advances over amounts received in the fiscal year from the issuances of Class A, B, and C stocks, debentures and other obligations; and the costs to the Bank of obtaining funds from these sources.

Sources and Costs of Funds—Liquidating Account

During fiscal year 1992, the Bank was authorized to pay the following dividends: The dividend on Class A stock was 2.00% as established in amended section 406(c) of the Rural Electrification Act; no dividends were payable on Class B stock as specified in 7 CFR 1610.10(c); and the dividend on Class C stock was established by the Bank at 7.5%.

In accordance with section 406(a) of the RE Act, the Bank did not issue Class A stock in fiscal year 1992. Total advances for the purchase of Class B stock and cash purchases for Class B stock were $2,229,747. Rescissions of loan funds advanced for Class B stock amounted to $1,230,997. Thus, the amount received by the Bank from the issuance of Class B stock, per 7 CFR 1610.10(c), was $998,750 ($2,229,747 - 1,230,997). The total amount received by the Bank in fiscal year 1992 from the issuance of Class C stock was $4,525.

The Bank did not issue debentures or any other obligations related to the liquidating account in fiscal year 1992. Consequently, no cost was incurred related to the issuance of debentures subject to 7 U.S.C. 948(b)(3)(D).

The excess of fiscal year 1992 loan advances from the liquidating account over amounts received from issuances of stocks, debentures, and other obligations amounted to $83,937,547. The cost associated with this excess is the historical cost of money rate as defined in 7 U.S.C. 948(b)(3)(D)(v). The calculation of the Bank's historical cost of money rate is provided in Table 2. The methodology required to perform this calculation is described in 7 CFR 1610.10(c). The cost for money rates for fiscal years 1974 through 1987 are defined in section 408(b) of the RE Act, as amended by Public Law 100-203, and are listed in 7 CFR 1610.10(c) and Table 2 herein.

Sources and Costs of Funds—Financing Account

During fiscal year 1992, the Bank was authorized to pay the following dividends: The dividend on Class A stock was 2.00% as established in amended section 406(c) of the Rural Electrification Act; no dividends were payable on Class B stock as specified in 7 CFR 1610.10(c); and the dividend on Class C stock was established by the Bank at 7.5%.

In accordance with section 406(a) of the RE Act, the Bank did not issue Class A stock in fiscal year 1992. Total advances for the purchase of Class B stock and cash purchases for Class B stock were $193,155. Since there were no rescissions of loan funds advanced for Class B stock, the amount received by the Bank from the issuance of Class B stock, per 7 CFR 1610.10(c), was $193,155. No amounts were received in fiscal year 1992 from the issuance of Class C stock associated with the financing account.

During fiscal year 1992, issuances of debentures or any other obligations related to the financing account were $2,471,259.89 at an interest rate of 7.63% and $1,501,836.87 at an interest rate of 7.37%.

The Bank did not have an excess of fiscal year 1992 loan advances from the financing account over amounts received from issuances of stocks, debentures, and other obligations. Consequently, no cost was incurred related to excess of advances over amounts received from issuances subject to 7 U.S.C. 948(b)(3)(D)(v).

Dated: October 28, 1992.

James B. Huff, Sr.,

Governor, Rural Telephone Bank.

[A-427-098]

Anhydrous Sodium Metasilicate from France; Final Results of Antidumping Duty Administrative Review

AGENCY: International Trade Administration/Import Administration, Department of Commerce.

ACTION: Notice of final results of antidumping duty administrative review.

SUMMARY: On August 12, 1992, the Department of Commerce published the preliminary results of its administrative review of the antidumping duty order on anhydrous sodium metasilicate from France (57 FR 36064). The review covers one manufacturer/exporter of this merchandise to the United States and the period January 1, 1991 through December 31, 1991. We have now completed the review and determine the dumping margin to be 60 percent for Rhone Poulenc Chime deBase (Rhone Poulenc).

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 3, 1992.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Joseph A. Fargo or Robert J. Marenick, Office of Antidumping Compliance, International Trade Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, DC 20230; telephone: (202) 482-5253.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On August 12, 1992, the Department of Commerce (the Department) published in the Federal Register the preliminary results of its administrative review of the antidumping duty order on anhydrous sodium metasilicate (ASM) from France (57 FR 36064) covering the period January 1, 1991 through December 31, 1991. The Department has now completed this administrative review in accordance with section 751 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (the Act).

Scope of the Review

Imports covered by the review are shipments of ASM, a crystallized silicate (Na₂ SiO₃) which is alkaline and readily soluble in water. Applications include waste paper de-inking, ore-flotation, bleach stabilization, clay processing, medium or heavy duty cleaning, and compounding into other detergent formulations. This merchandise is classified under Harmonized Tariff Schedules (HTS) item numbers 2839.11.00 and 2839.19.00. The HTS item numbers are provided for convenience and Customs purposes. The written description remains dispositive. The review covers Rhone Poulenc and the period January 1, 1991 through December 31, 1991.

Use of Best Information Available

We mailed the antidumping questionnaire to Rhone Poulenc, the only manufacturer/exporter of this merchandise to the United States. Since Rhone Poulenc failed to respond to our questionnaire, we have decided to use the best information available (BIA) for this firm.

When a company refuses to cooperate with the Department or otherwise significantly impedes the proceeding, we use as BIA the higher of: (a) The highest of the rates found for any company in a previous administrative review or the less-than-fair-value investigation, or (b) the highest rate found in this review for any firm. See 19 CFR 353.37(b) and Final Results of Antidumping Duty Administrative Reviews: Antifriction Bearings (Other Than Tapered Roller Bearings) and Parts Thereof from France, et al., (June 24, 1992, 57 FR 28360). In this case, for BIA we used 60 percent, the firm's highest rate from the last reviewed period. See Final Results of Antidumping Duty Administrative Review: Anhydrous Sodium Metasilicate From France, (52 FR 33856, September 8, 1987).

Analysis of Comments Received

We gave interested parties an opportunity to comment on the preliminary results. We received no comments.

Final Results of the Review

As a result of this review, we determine the following dumping margin for the period January 1, 1991 through December 31, 1991:

Manufacturer/exporter	Margin (percent)
Rhone Poulenc.....	60

The Department will instruct the Customs Service to assess antidumping duties on all appropriate entries. The Department will issue appraisement instructions directly to the Customs Service.

Furthermore, the following deposit requirements will be effective upon publication of this notice of final results of administrative review for all shipments of the subject merchandise, entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after the publication date, as provided by section 751(a)(1) of the Tariff Act: (1) The cash deposit rate for the reviewed company will be as outlined above; (2) for previously reviewed or investigated companies not listed above, the cash deposit rate will continue to be the company-specific rate published for the most recent period; (3) if the exporter is not a firm covered in this review, a prior review, or the original less-than-fair-value investigation, but the manufacturer is, the cash deposit rate will be the rate established for the most recent period for the manufacturer of the merchandise; and (4) cash deposits for all other manufacturers or exporters will be the highest rate for any firm with shipments in this administrative review, other than those firms receiving a rate based entirely on BIA. Since the rate for the only firm in this review is a BIA rate, the "all other" rate is the highest non-BIA rate in the most recent review or in the less-than-fair-value investigation in which such a rate was established. The all other rate is 60 percent.

These deposit requirements, when imposed, shall remain in effect until publication of the final results of the next administrative review.

This notice also serves as a final reminder to importers of their responsibility under 19 CFR 353.26 to file a certificate regarding the reimbursement of antidumping duties prior to liquidation of the relevant entries during this review period. Failure to comply with this requirement could result in the Secretary's presumption that reimbursement of antidumping duties occurred and subsequent assessment of double antidumping duties.

This administrative review and notice are in accordance with section 751(a)(1) of the Tariff Act (19 U.S.C. 1675(a)(1)) and 19 CFR 353.22.

Dated: October 23, 1992.

Alan M. Dunn,
Assistant Secretary for Import
Administration.

Carbon Steel Wire Rope From Japan; Determination Not to Revoke Antidumping Finding

AGENCY: International Trade Administration/Import Administration, Department of Commerce.

ACTION: Notice of determination not to revoke antidumping finding.

SUMMARY: The Department of Commerce is notifying the public of its determination not to revoke the antidumping finding on carbon steel wire rope from Japan.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 3, 1992.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Jonathan Freilich or Wendy Frankel.

Office of Agreements Compliance,
International Trade Administration, U.S.
Department of Commerce, Washington,
DC 20230; telephone: (202) 482-3793.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:Background

On October 2, 1992, the Department of Commerce (the Department) published in the Federal Register (57 FR 45607) its notice of intent to revoke the antidumping finding on carbon steel wire rope from Japan. The Department may revoke an antidumping finding if the Secretary concludes that the finding is no longer of interest to interested parties. The Department has not received a request to conduct an administrative review of this finding for the most recent five consecutive annual anniversary months.

On October 16, 1992, the Committee on Domestic Steel Wire Rope and Specialty Cable Manufacturers, the petitioner, objected to the Department's intent to revoke this antidumping finding. Therefore, we no longer intend to revoke the antidumping finding.

This notice is in accordance with § 353.25(d)(4) of the Commerce Department's regulations (19 CFR 353.25(d)(4)).

Certain High-Capacity Pagers From Japan; Final Results of Antidumping Duty Administrative Review

AGENCY: Import Administration/International Trade Administration, Department of Commerce.

ACTION: Notice of final results of antidumping duty administrative review.

SUMMARY: On August 12, 1992, the Department of Commerce published the preliminary results of its administrative review of the antidumping duty order on certain high-capacity pagers from Japan. This notice covers two manufacturers/exporters for the periods August 1, 1985 through July 31, 1986 and August 1, 1986 through July 31, 1987.

There were no known shipments of this merchandise to the United States by Matsushita Communications Industrial Co. and NEC Corporation during the periods.

We gave interested parties an opportunity to comment on the preliminary results. We received no comments. Therefore, our results remain unchanged from those presented in our preliminary results of review.

The Department of Commerce has determined that the rate for Matsushita Communications Industrial Co. is 109.00 percent, and that the rate for NEC Corporation is 70.35 percent.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 3, 1992.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On August 12, 1992, the Department of Commerce (the Department) published in the Federal Register (57 FR 36067) the preliminary results of the 1985-87 administrative review of the antidumping duty order on high-capacity pagers from Japan (48 FR 37058, August 16, 1983). The Department has now completed that administrative review in accordance with section 751 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (the Tariff Act), and 19 CFR 353.22 (1992).

Scope of the Review

Imports covered by this review are shipments of certain high-capacity pagers from Japan. The term "high-capacity pagers" covers tone-only paging signal receivers, 3,000 or more of which can be operated in a paging system on a single radio frequency channel. Prior to January 1, 1989, the merchandise was classified under items 685.1686 and 685.7036 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States Annotated (TSUSA). This merchandise is currently classifiable under item numbers 8527.90.80 and 8531.80.00 of the Harmonized Tariff Schedules (HTS). TSUSA and HTS item numbers are provided for convenience and Customs purposes. The written description remains dispositive. The review covers two manufacturers/exporters of certain high-capacity pagers from Japan, Matsushita Communications Industrial Co. (MCI) and NEC Corporation (NEC), and the periods August 1, 1985 through July 31, 1986 and August 1, 1986 through July 31, 1987.

On March 13, 1992, the Department issued the results of a scope inquiry determining that parts and/or subassemblies imported from Japan and used for the manufacturing/assembly of high-capacity pagers are outside the scope of the order.

Final Results of Review

We received no comments on our preliminary results of review. MCI and NEC made no shipments to the United States of the subject merchandise during the periods of review. Consequently, we have determined that the following margins exist for the periods August 1, 1985 through July 31, 1986, and August 1, 1986 through July 31, 1987:

Manufacturer/exporter	Margin (percent)
Matsushita Communications Industrial Co., Ltd.	* 109.00
NEC Corporation	* 70.35

* No shipments during the period; margins are from the last period in which there were shipments.

The following deposit requirements will be effective upon publication of this notice of final results of administrative review for all shipments of certain high-capacity pagers from Japan entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after the publication date, as provided by section 751(a)(1) of the Tariff Act: (1) The cash deposit rates for the reviewed companies will be as listed above; (2) For previously reviewed or investigated companies with company-specific rates not listed above, the cash deposit rate will continue to be the company-specific rate published for the most recent period; (3) If the exporter is not a firm covered in this review, a prior review, or the original less-than-fair-value investigation, but the manufacturer is, the cash deposit rate will be the rate established for the most recent period for the manufacturer of the merchandise; (4) The cash deposit rate for all other manufacturers or exporters will be the "all others" rate. This rate normally represents the highest rate for any firm with shipments in the administrative review, other than those firms receiving a rate based entirely on best information available. The highest rate is the administrative review is 109.00 percent, the rate for MCI.

These deposit requirements, when imposed, shall remain in effect until publication of the final results of the next administrative review.

This notice also serves as a final reminder to importers of their responsibility under 19 CFR 353.26 to file a certificate regarding the reimbursement of antidumping duties prior to liquidation of the relevant entries during this review period. Failure to comply with this requirement could result in the Secretary's presumption that reimbursement of antidumping duties occurred and the subsequent assessment of double antidumping duties.

This administrative review and notice are in accordance with section 751(a)(1) of the Tariff Act (19 U.S.C. 1675(a)(1)) and 19 CFR 353.22.

Dated: October 23, 1992.

Assistant Secretary for Import Administration.

Red Raspberries From Canada; Final Results of the Antidumping Duty Administrative Review, and Revocation in Part of the Antidumping Duty Order

AGENCY: International Trade Administration/Import Administration, Department of Commerce.

ACTION: Red Raspberries from Canada—Notice of final results of the antidumping duty administrative review, and revocation in part of the antidumping duty order.

SUMMARY: On April 16, 1992 (57 FR 13331), the Department published the preliminary results of its administrative review of the antidumping duty order on red raspberries from Canada. The review covers ten processors/exporters of this merchandise to the United States during the period June 1, 1990 through May 31, 1991.

Based on our analysis of the comments received, we have now completed that review and have determined margins ranging from zero to de minimis for those companies not receiving a rate based on best information available (BIA). See the Final Results of the Review section of this notice for the information on margins and cash deposit requirements for reviewed companies.

In accordance with §§ 353.25(a) and 353.25(b) of the Department regulations, B.C. Blueberry Cooperative Association (B.C. Blueberry) has met the requirements for revocation. B.C. Blueberry has demonstrated three consecutive years of sales at not less than foreign market value and has submitted the required certifications. Furthermore, it is not likely that B.C. Blueberry will sell the subject merchandise at less than foreign market value in the future. Therefore, the Department is revoking the order with respect to B.C. Blueberry.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 3, 1992.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On April 16, 1991, the Department of Commerce (the Department) published in the Federal Register (56 FR 13331), the notice of preliminary results of its administrative review of the antidumping duty order on certain red raspberries from Canada (50 FR 26019; June 24, 1985) for the period June 1, 1990 through May 31, 1991. The Department has now completed the administrative review in accordance with section 751 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (the Act).

The review covers ten processors/exporters of Canadian red raspberries and the period June 1, 1990 through May 31, 1991. Pacific Coast Fruit Products reported no shipments during the review period. East Chilliwack, Sabolay, and BB Fruit companies responded that they were no longer in business and had ceased exporting raspberries to the United States well before the review period. The Department confirmed the absence of imports from these companies with the U.S. Customs Service. Any future imports from these companies will be assigned a cash deposit rate in accordance with the hierarchy outlined in the Final Results of the Review section of this notice. Two processors/exporters, Valley Berries and Marco Estates/Landgrow, did not respond to the Department's questionnaire; therefore, we are using best information available (BIA) for those companies. For the four remaining companies, we found zero or de minimis margins. The review of Jesse Processing was terminated following a timely withdrawal of their request (57 FR 13331).

Scope of the Review

Imports covered by this review are shipments of fresh and frozen red raspberries packed in bulk containers and suitable for further processing. These products are classifiable under the Harmonized Tariff Schedule (HTS) item numbers 0810.20.90, 0810.20.10, and 0811.20.20. The HTS item numbers are provided for convenience and customs purposes. The written description remains dispositive.

Analysis of Comments Received

We gave interested parties an opportunity to comment on our preliminary results and held a hearing on June 1, 1992. We received case and rebuttal briefs from the petitioners—the Washington Red Raspberry Commission and the Red Raspberry Regional Relations Committee of the Oregon Caneberry Commission (collectively the Red Raspberry Commissions); and the following reviewed Canadian companies—B.C. Blueberry Co-op, Clearbrook Packers Inc., Mukhtiar & Sons Packers Ltd., Universal Packers Inc., and Valley Berries Inc.

Comment 1: Respondents argue that there is no substantial evidence on the record to support the Red Raspberry Commissions' standing as interested parties. Respondents assert that the Commissions have not demonstrated that either their membership or status qualifies them as interested parties in accordance with 19 U.S.C. 1677(9). Therefore, the Department should reject the case brief submitted on their behalf.

Department's position: The Red Raspberry Commissions were co-petitioners in the original investigation and parties to the proceeding in subsequent administrative review. During the 1988-89 administrative review, respondents challenged the Red Raspberry Commissions' status as interested parties in the context of an application for disclosure of proprietary information under an administrative protective order. In response, the Department reaffirmed the Commissions' status as interested parties. See Red Raspberries from Canada—Notice of Final Results of Antidumping Duty Administrative Review (56 FR 677; January 8, 1991); see also Red Raspberries from Canada—Notice of Final Results of Antidumping Duty Administrative Review (56 FR 37527; August 7, 1991). Respondents have not submitted any new evidence concerning the Red Raspberry Commissions' status as interested parties. Therefore, there is no justification for the Department to review its prior determination with regard to petitioners' standing.

Comment 2: Petitioners argue that the Department is legally prohibited from revoking the order with respect to B.C. Blueberry because the Department failed to publish notice of the request for revocation with the notice of initiation, in accordance with 19 CFR 353.25(c)(2)(i). Relying on Belton Industries, Inc. v. United States, No. 90-90-00474, Slip Op. 92-39 (CIT 1992), petitioners argue that the requirement for publishing notice of a request for revocation is not discretionary and failure to publish the notice of request for revocation prevents interested parties from fully participating in the review and revocation process. Therefore, absent publication of the notice, revocation is illegal.

B.C. Blueberry argues that the petitioner was served a copy of the actual letter requesting revocation and, therefore, was not prejudiced by the failure to publish notice of its revocation request with the notice of initiation. Lack of prejudice is demonstrated by petitioner's active participation at every phase of the review.

Department's Position: The Department agrees with the respondent, B.C. Blueberry. Petitioners' reliance on Belton Industries is misplaced. There are two types of notice requirements: (1) Requirements to provide general notice to the public through publication in the Federal Register; and (2) requirements to serve notice directly on interested parties. The Belton Industries case dealt with a failure to fulfill properly the latter type of notice requirement. In contrast, respondent B.C. Blueberry served petitioners and all interested parties in this proceeding with a copy of its request for revocation. Because all interested parties received notice of the request for revocation through direct service, failure to publish notice of the request in the Federal Register was not prejudicial. In addition, the Department published in the Federal Register, together with the notice of the preliminary results of the review, notice of its intent to revoke and a request for comments. Petitioners submitted comments on revocation and otherwise have actively participated in the review and revocation process. Because petitioners received notice of the request for revocation and have actively participated in the proceedings without prejudice, there is no basis on which to invalidate the revocation.

Comment 3: Petitioners assert that the Department cannot legally revoke the order with respect to B.C. Blueberry because B.C. Blueberry has not demonstrated sales of the merchandise at not less than foreign market value (FMV) for a period of at least three consecutive years. Petitioners argue that the Department's calculation of a 0.05 percent margin for B.C. Blueberry in the 1988/89 review, demonstrates that B.C. Blueberry made some U.S. sales at prices below FMV. Petitioners do not dispute that, pursuant to 19 CFR 353.6(a), the Department may disregard any de minimis margin. However, petitioners argue that the question is whether B.C. Blueberry has satisfied the explicit revocation requirements of 19 CFR 353.25(a)(2) which requires the Department to conclude that the foreign producers covered by the order has not sold the subject merchandise at less than FMV for a minimum of three consecutive years. Petitioners argue that that question does not involve application of the de minimis rule.

Respondents agree with the Department's preliminary determination that B.C. Blueberry has satisfied the revocation requirements of § 353.25(a)(2).

Department's position: For purposes of eligibility for revocation, the Department considers a weighted-average de minimis margin to be equivalent to a zero margin for all sales, regardless of the actual margin on individual sales. B.C. Blueberry has had a weighted-average de minimis or a zero margin for at least three consecutive years of review. Further, B.C. Blueberry timely requested revocation and submitted the required certification and agreement that it will not sell the subject merchandise at less than FMV in the future. Therefore, the Department is satisfied that B.C. Blueberry has met all the requirements for revocation under 19 CFR 353.25(a)(2).

Comment 4: Valley Berries submitted two affidavits from company officials attesting that they did not receive the antidumping questionnaire from the Department; nor did they receive notification from the Department by mail, telephone, telegraph, commercial courier or any other means, of the existence or mailing of the questionnaire, or of the fact that they would be expected or required to complete a questionnaire in this administrative review. Valley Berries asserts that it first received a questionnaire on May 8, 1992, when a copy was provided by the company's counsel. On May 18, 1992, Valley Berries submitted a questionnaire response as an attachment to their case brief. Valley Berries argues that, in accordance with 19 CFR 353.31(b)(4), their May 18, 1992 questionnaire response was timely submitted within 60 days after the date they received the questionnaire and should be considered in this administrative review.

Valley Berries also requests that the Department bifurcate this proceeding to allow the Department time to calculate separately a margin for their company without impeding the review process for other parties.

Petitioners argue that Valley Berries' questionnaire response is untimely. Petitioners further argue that the factual information concerning non-receipt of the questionnaire is "new information," which is untimely and should be removed from the record.

Department's position: In accordance with 19 CFR 353.22(c), the Department published a Notice of Initiation (56 FR 33251; July 19, 1991), which listed Valley Berries as a company to be reviewed. Valley Berries has admitted knowledge of the notice (see Transcript of Hearing on June 1, 1992 at 40). The Department sent a questionnaire to Valley Berries by registered mail, return receipt requested. According to information provided by the Canadian postal facility in Abbotsford, B.C., two postcards were mailed to Valley Berries providing notice that a registered item was being held for them at the postal facility. After 30 days, the postal facility returned the package to the Department marked "unclaimed." After trying unsuccessfully to telephone Valley Berries, the Department confirmed by telephone call with B.C. Raspberry Growers Association that Valley Berries was still in business and the address and telephone number in our file was correct. Our telephone calls to Valley Berries were not answered.

On May 7, 1992, after the publication of the preliminary results of review (57 FR 13331; April 16, 1992), a notice of appearance was filed by counsel on behalf of Valley Berries, and on May 18, 1992, counsel submitted a case brief, attaching a questionnaire response. By letter dated May 28, 1992, the Department rejected the questionnaire response as untimely. That letter explained that Valley Berries' response did not fall within the deadline governing the timely submission of questionnaire responses (19 CFR 353.31(b)(4)). Although the letter also noted that the response was outside the deadline for submission of factual information (19 CFR 353.31(a)(1)(ii)), that provision does not govern the submission of questionnaire responses. The specific provision governing the timely submission of questionnaire responses is dispositive. Because the questionnaire response was untimely, it was not made a part of the record of this proceeding and was not considered in the final results of review.

In determining whether Valley Berries' questionnaire response was timely submitted, the Department found it necessary to consider the factual information submitted by Valley Berries concerning non-receipt of the questionnaire. The Department is, therefore, retaining that factual information in the record.

Comment 5: Valley Berries contends that, if the Department deems the questionnaire response untimely, it is still inappropriate to apply a BIA rate to Valley Berries because the Department may not resort to BIA unless the party against which BIA is applied has failed to comply with an information request.

Valley Berries claims that it has not failed to comply with an information request because it did not receive the Department's questionnaire and was not given an opportunity to provide the requested information. Further, Valley Berries argues that the Department's use of the highest rate ever found for any company under this order is punitive and should be used only in cases where a company refuses to cooperate. Valley Berries argues that there is no basis for characterizing the company as uncooperative during this review, nor is there a rational basis for imputing a margin of 22.76 percent to a company whose previous margin was 1.77 percent.

Department's position: Section 776(c) of the Act requires the Department to use BIA "whenever a party or any other person refuses or is unable to produce information requested in a timely manner or in the form required, or otherwise significantly impedes an investigation." The Department has discretion in selecting BIA, which is determined on a case-by-case basis. In making that determination, the Department may take into account whether a party has refused to provide requested information. 19 CFR 353.37(b).

The Department sent Valley Berries a questionnaire by registered mail, and the Canadian postal facility sent to Valley Berries two notices of registered mail delivery. It is reasonable for the Department to presume that Valley Berries received those notices, absent a reasonable explanation to the contrary. Valley Berries has failed to offer any explanation for why it would not have received either of the two delivery notices, or if it did receive notice of delivery, why it failed to claim the questionnaire. Thus, there is no justification for relieving Valley Berries of responsibility for failing to respond to the Department's request for information in a timely manner. The Department's selection of the BIA rate was reasonable given Valley Berries' failure to respond to the Department's questionnaire. If the Department had used the highest rate found for other companies that had fully complied with the Department's information requests in this review, the Department would have rewarded Valley Berries for its non-participation in the review process because the cooperating companies all had zero or de minimis margins. If the Department had used the rate previously determined for Valley Berries, the Department would encourage noncompliance with information requests by companies satisfied with existing rates. See Final Results of Antidumping Duty Administrative Review, Antifriction Bearings (Other than Tapered Roller Bearings) and Parts Thereof from the Federal Republic of Germany (56 FR 31692; July 11, 1991). Therefore, in accordance with established practice, because Valley Berries did not produce any of the information requested in a timely manner, the Department selected the highest rate ever found for a company under this order as the appropriate BIA rate for Valley Berries.

Comment 6: Petitioners contend that the Department cannot make fair value comparisons between B.C. Blueberry's sales of jam berries sold in the home market (HM) and juice berries sold in the U.S. because B.C. Blueberry's claimed difference in merchandise (difmer) adjustment exceeds 20 percent of the cost of manufacturing the merchandise sold in the United States. Petitioners argue that, pursuant to 19 U.S.C. 1677(16)(C)(iii), the Department has adopted a guideline for determining whether merchandise "may reasonably be compared." Under that guideline, the Department does not normally compare merchandise if the difmer adjustment would be greater than 20 percent of the cost of manufacturing the U.S. product. Petitioners further argue that in the absence of verified constructed value (CV) information, the Department must base FMV on BIA which petitioners claim is B.C. Blueberry's November 1990 HM sale of juice berries.

B.C. Blueberry agrees that the 20 percent policy is a guideline used to determine whether, within the meaning of the Act, a product sold to the U.S. is "similar" to a product sold in the HM. However, B.C. Blueberry argues that the policy is not applicable in this case because the Department has consistently determined that juice and jam berries are "similar," and petitioner has submitted no new information that would justify the Department now concluding otherwise. Further, B.C. Blueberry argues that the 20 percent guideline has no application with regard to agricultural commodities where the commodities are similar except for differences in grade. Also, B.C. Blueberry argues that the Department cannot resort to BIA to determine FMV because B.C. Blueberry has not failed to respond to any of the Department's requests for information. Because there is no basis for using BIA, if the Department determines that jam and juice sales are not comparable, it will have to resort to CV because B.C. Blueberry has not made any contemporaneous sales of such or similar merchandise (see Comment 8).

Department's position: The Department has established policy practices for determining when to make and how to quantify adjustments for differences in merchandise (difmer) when comparing sales of similar merchandise. These practices apply to all types of products including agricultural commodities, and will be implemented for current reviews if the necessary information is available and the case will not be delayed.

Under these practices, the Department normally does not consider merchandise to be reasonably comparable if the difmer adjustment is greater than 20 percent of the cost of manufacturing (COM) the product sold in the U.S. However, the Department recognizes that there may be limited circumstances in which a difmer adjustment greater than 20 percent is appropriate.

In the investigation and past reviews of this order, the Department has consistently found jam and juice berries to be comparable and allowed a difmer adjustment reflecting the differences in the variable costs of manufacturing between the two berries, including the difference in their acquisition costs. During this period of review (POR), although the physical differences and similarities between the two grades of berries remained the same as in past reviews, the difference in the acquisition costs of jam and juice berries was more than 20 percent of the COM of juice berries which were sold to the United States. This issue was only raised after the issuance of the preliminary results of this review. The Department does not have all of the information required to calculate CV, and gathering the necessary data would impose an administrative burden on both the Department and the companies and further delay the proceedings. For this reason, the Department will continue, in this review, to compare jam and juice berries with the difmer adjustment. However, if cost differentials greater than 20 percent persist in subsequent reviews, the Department will review this issue in accordance with current Department policy.

Because the Department has determined that jam and juice berries can reasonably be compared, petitioners argument that the Department should use the November 1990 sale as BIA is moot.

Comment 7: Petitioners contend that the Department should not allow B.C. Blueberry's claimed difmer adjustment because B.C. Blueberry sold juice berries at a higher price than jam berries in the home market. Petitioners argue that according to § 353.57 of the Department's regulations, a difmer will be allowed for the difference in physical characteristics of merchandise to the extent that the amount of any price differential is wholly or partly due to such difference. Because B.C. Blueberry sold lower grade juice berries for more than higher grade jam berries, petitioners conclude that the price differential is not due to physical differences. Therefore, the Department should not allow the claimed difmer adjustment.

Respondents argue that the juice berries sold in the home market were purchased by B.C. Blueberry in the open market from another packer who had purchased and packed the raspberries. B.C. Blueberry simply resold the berries to their customer. Because B.C. Blueberry was not the producer, the price commanded for a sale of berries purchased in the open market bears no relationship to the difmer adjustment, which is based on B.C. Blueberry's COM. Respondents also note that the juice sale was low volume while the jam sale was high volume.

Department's position: The purpose of the difmer is to adjust for the differences in price between similar products attributable to differences in the physical characteristics of the products. The difmer adjustment is based on the differences in the producer's variable costs of manufacturing similar products. B.C. Blueberry did not produce the juice berries in question. Therefore, neither the production costs of the resale berries nor B.C. Blueberry's final sale price of these berries bears any relationship to B.C. Blueberry's own production costs.

Comment 8: In a comment submitted to state its position on the record, B.C. Blueberry argues that the Department misclassified the November 1990 sale of juice stock raspberries as "such or similar" merchandise within the meaning of 19 U.S.C. 1677(16) because the merchandise was not produced by B.C. Blueberry. B.C. Blueberry purchased the already processed berries from another producer and re-sold them to their customer in the home market.

Petitioners state that 19 U.S.C. 1677(16)(A) refers to both "the merchandise which is the subject of an investigation," and also "other merchandise which is identical in physical characteristics with, and was produced in the same country by the same person as, that merchandise." Petitioners argue that there is no requirement that the "merchandise which is the subject of an investigation" be produced by the same person. Further, petitioners argue that the Department's regulations cover both producers and resellers. The term "reseller" is defined in § 353.2(s) of Department's regulations as "any person (other than the producer) whose sales the Secretary uses to calculate foreign market value or U.S. price, including the foreign reseller or exporter." B.C. Blueberry acknowledges that it acted as a "reseller" of the juice berries. Therefore, in accordance with Department regulations, it is appropriate for the Department to base FMV for B.C. Blueberry, a reseller, on its November 1990 home market sale.

Department's position: We verified that the home market sale of juice berries was a resale of processed berries purchased from a Canadian producer/processor. Because that November 1990 home market sale was not contemporaneous with any sale to the United States, the Department did not use this sale when comparing U.S. sales to HM sales. For purposes of this review, the argument is, therefore, moot.

Comment 9: Respondent, Universal Packets Inc. (Universal), claims that the Department should use Universal's March 1990 HM sales as the basis of comparison with Universal's two June 1990 U.S. sales rather than Universal's July 1990 third country sale. Respondents do not challenge the Department's determination that Universal's home market was not viable because there were no HM sales during the POR. However, respondents argue that the 90/60 day rule authorizes the comparison of U.S. sales to HM sales 90 days preceding and 60 days after the U.S. sale. See Certain Circular Welded Carbon Steel Pipes and Tubes from Thailand, Notice of Final Results of Antidumping Duty Administrative Review (56 FR 58355; November 19, 1991). Therefore, the HM viability analysis should also be extended 90/60 days beyond the POR to include the entire period of "contemporaneous" HM sales. If the Department extends the viability period, Universal's home market would be viable. The June 1990 U.S. sales would then be compared to the voluminous March 1990 HM sales, and the de minimis margin would decrease to zero.

Department's position: In accordance with 19 CFR 353.48(a), the Department considers the HM to be non-viable if there are inadequate HM sales during the POR (normally less than five percent of the amount sold to third countries). Nothing in the statute or regulations requires that the "pool" of sales used to determine HM viability be the same as the pool of sales used for specific price comparisons. U.H.F.C. v. United States, 916 F.2d 689 (Fed Cir. 1990); Kerr McGee

Chemical Corporation v. United States, 741 F. Supp. 947 (CIT 1990). The viability test is a macro-level indicator of home market activity during the POR for the products under review. It is performed at the early stages of a review to determine the appropriate foreign market on which to base FMV. In contrast, price comparisons are intended to determine dumping margins at the micro-level. The 90/60 day rule is intended to increase the accuracy of those micro-level comparisons by allowing for "contemporaneous" comparisons, even though the HM sale is outside the POR. Given the different goals of the viability test and the 90/60 day rule, it is not necessary that the same pool of transactions be used for both. The focus of an administrative review is imports during the twelve-month POR. Therefore, in determining whether the HM is the appropriate foreign market for comparison purposes, it is reasonable to base the viability assessment solely on the POR, regardless of whether there are HM sales outside the POR that could be used for price comparisons.

Comment 10: Universal argues that the previous season's difference in acquisition costs of raspberries should be applied to Universal's June 1990 U.S. sales of juice raspberries because those berries were purchased by Universal during the previous POR and simply were sold from existing inventory during the current POR. By applying the previous season's difmer, proper allowance is made for the lower cost of purchasing juice stock raspberries during the earlier season. If the Department allows the previous difmer adjustment, the margin will decrease from de minimis to zero.

Department's position: The Department calculates a difmer adjustment for the comparison of similar merchandise for the POR. That difmer adjustment is then applied to all such comparison sales during the POR. Separate difmer adjustments are not calculated for each of these individual transactions. Otherwise, the Department would be required to track the movement of all merchandise into and out of inventory as well as each period's respective cost for the same merchandise. The difmer applied to Universal's sales during this POR was calculated based on the average cost data for the current POR submitted in the company's questionnaire response.

Comment 11: Respondents point out that the Department did not deduct any home market indirect selling expenses in the FMV calculation for Mukhtiar's exporter's sales price (ESP) sales. If the Department makes this correction, the negative margin will increase.

Department's position: The correction has been made. The rate for Mukhtiar remains zero.

Final Results of the Review

As a result of our comparison of United States price to FMV, we determine that the following margins exist for the review period:

Processor/exporters	Margin (percent) 6/1/90-5/31/91
BC Blueberry Co-op.....	0
Clearbrook Packers.....	0
Mukhtiar & Sons.....	0
Marco Estates/Landgrow.....	22.76
Universal Packers.....	0.20
Valley Berries.....	22.76

The Department will instruct the Customs Service to assess antidumping duties on all appropriate entries. Individual differences between U.S. price and FMV may vary from the percentages stated above. The Department will issue appraisement instructions directly to the Customs Service.

Furthermore, the following deposit requirements will be effective upon publication of this notice of final results of administrative review for all shipments of the subject merchandise, entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after the publication date, as provided for by section 751(a)(1) of the Act: (1) The cash deposit rates for the reviewed companies will be as outlined above; (2) for previously reviewed or investigated companies not listed above, the cash deposit rate will continue to be the company-specific rate published for the most recent period; (3) if the exporter is not a firm covered in this review, a prior review, or the original less-than-fair-value investigation, but the manufacturer is, the cash deposit rate will be the rate established for the most recent period for the manufacturer of the merchandise; and (4) the cash deposit rate for all other manufacturers or exporters will be zero percent. This rate represents the highest rate for any firm with shipments in the administrative review, other than those firms receiving a rate based entirely on BIA. Because the highest non-BIA rate is de minimis, the cash deposit rate is zero. Pacific Coast Fruit Products does not have a company-specific rate because they reported no shipments during this review period, or during any periods in which they were previously reviewed.

Their cash deposit rate will, therefore, be the "all other" rate established in this review.

These deposit requirements, when imposed, shall remain in effect until publication of the final results of the next administrative review.

This notice also serves as a final reminder to importers of their responsibility under 19 CFR 353.26 to file a certificate regarding the reimbursement of antidumping duties prior to liquidation of the relevant entries during this review period. Failure to comply with this requirement could result in the Secretary's presumption that reimbursement of antidumping duties occurred and the subsequent assessment of double antidumping duties.

This administrative review and notice are in accordance with section 751(a)(1) of the Tariff Act (19 U.S.C. 1675(a)(1)) and 19 CFR 353.22.

Dated: October 23, 1992.

Alan M. Dunn,

Assistant Secretary for Import Administration.

Deformed Steel Concrete Reinforcing Bar From Peru; Intent To Revoke Countervailing Duty Order

AGENCY: International Trade Administration/Import Administration, Department of Commerce.

ACTION: Notice of intent to revoke countervailing duty order.

SUMMARY: The Department of Commerce is notifying the public of its intent to revoke the countervailing duty order on deformed steel concrete reinforcing bar from Peru. Interested parties who object to this revocation must submit their comments in writing not later than November 30, 1992.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 3, 1992.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Patricia W. Stroup or Maria MacKay, Office of Countervailing Compliance, International Trade Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, DC 20230; telephone: (202) 482-0983 or 482-1767.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On November 27, 1985, the Department of Commerce ("the Department") published a countervailing duty order on deformed steel concrete reinforcing bar from Peru (50 FR 48819).

The Department has not received a request to conduct an administrative review of the countervailing duty order on deformed steel concrete reinforcing bar from Peru for more than four consecutive annual anniversary months.

In accordance with 19 CFR 355.25(d)(4)(iii), the Secretary of Commerce will conclude that an order is no longer of interest to interested parties and will revoke the order if no interested party objects to revocation or requests an administrative review by the last day of the fifth anniversary month. Accordingly, as required by § 355.25(d)(4) of the Department's regulations, we are notifying the public of our intent to revoke this order.

Opportunity To Object

Not later than November 30, 1992, interested parties, as defined in § 355.2(i) of the Department's regulations, may object to the Department's intent to revoke this countervailing duty order.

Seven copies of any such objections should be submitted to the Assistant Secretary for Import Administration, International Trade Administration, room B-099, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, DC 20230.

If interested parties neither request an administrative review (pursuant to the Department's notice of opportunity to request administrative review), nor object to the Department's intent to revoke by November 30, 1992, we shall conclude that the order is no longer of interest to interested parties and shall proceed with the revocation.

This notice is in accordance with 19 CFR 355.25(d)(4)(i).

Dated: October 28, 1992.

Joseph A. Spetrini,

Deputy Assistant Secretary for Compliance.

National Institute of Standards and Technology

[Docket No. 921031-2231]

Precision Measurement Grants

AGENCY: National Institute of Standards and Technology, Commerce.

ACTION: Announcing continuation of the NIST Precision Measurement Grants Program.

(Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance Name and Number: Measurement and Engineering Research and Services; 11.609.)

SUMMARY: The purpose of this notice is to inform potential applicants that the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) is continuing a program of research grants, formally titled Precision Measurement Grants, to scientists in U.S. academic institutions for significant, primarily experimental research, in the field of precision measurement and fundamental constants. Applications are now being accepted for two new NIST Precision Measurement Grants to be awarded beginning October 1, 1993 (fiscal year 1994). Each grant is in the amount of $50,000 per year, renewable at NIST's option for up to two additional years.

CLOSING DATE FOR APPLICATIONS: February 1, 1993, is the deadline for applying for the FY 94 awards.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Dr. Barry N. Taylor, Chairman, NIST Precision Measurement Grants Committee, Bldg. 221, rm. B160, National Institute of Standards and Technology, Gaithersburg, MD 20899, (301) 975-4220.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: As authorized by section 2 of the Act of March 3, 1901 as amended (15 U.S.C. 272), the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) conducts directly, and through grants and contracts, a basic and applied research program in the general area of precision measurement and the determination of fundamental constants of nature. As part of this research program, NIST has since 1970 awarded Precision Measurement Grants to scientists in U.S. academic institutions for significant, primarily experimental research in the field of precision measurement and fundamental constants.

NIST is now accepting applications for two new grants in the amount of $50,000 per year to be awarded for the period October 1, 1993, through September 30, 1994 (fiscal year 1994). Each grant may be renewed for up to two additional years; however, future or continued funding will be at the discretion of NIST based on such factors as satisfactory performance and the availability of funds.

NIST sponsors these grants to encourage basic, measurement-related research in U.S. colleges and universities and to foster contracts between NIST scientists and those researchers in the U.S. academic community who are actively engaged in such work. The Precision Measurement Grants are also intended to make it possible for workers in U.S. academic institutions to pursue new measurement ideas for which other sources of support maybe difficult to find. The Precision Measurement Grants Program does not involve the payment of any matching funds and does not directly affect any state or local government. Accordingly, NIST has determined that Executive Order 12372 is not applicable to the Precision Measurement Grants Program. This notice does not contain policies with federalism implications sufficient to warrant preparation of a federalism assessment under Executive Order 12612.

Research Topics/Who May Apply

There is considerable latitude in the kind of research projects that will be considered for support under the Precision Measurement Grants Program. The key requirement is that they are consistent with NIST's mission in the field of basic measurement science, for example:

Experimental and theoretical studies of fundamental physical phenomena to test the basic laws of physics or which may lead to improved or new fundamental measurement methods and standards.

The determination of important fundamental physical constants.

The development of new standards for physical measurement of the highest possible precision and accuracy.

In general, proposals for experimental research will be given preference over proposals for theoretical research because of the greater expense of experimental work. Proposals from workers at the assistant and associate professor level who have some record of accomplishment are especially encouraged in view of the comparative difficulty aspiring researchers have in obtaining funds.

Typical projects which have been funded through the NIST Precision Measurement Grants Program include:

"Measurement of fundamental constants using three-level resonances in hydrogen," Carl E. Wieman, University of Michigan.

"Quantum limited measurement of a harmonic oscillator," William C. Oelfke, University of Central Florida.

"Fine-Structure constant determination using precision Stark spectroscopy," Michael G. Littman, Princeton University.

"Eötvös experiment-cryogenic version," D. F. Barlett, University of Colorado.

"A test of local Lorentz invariance using polarized ^{21}Ne nuclei," T.E. Chupp, Harvard University.

"A new method to search for an electric dipole moment of the electron," L. R. Hunter, Amherst College.

"High precision timing of millisecond pulsars," D. R. Stinebring, Princeton University.

"Precision optical spectroscopy of positronium," S. Chu, Stanford University.

"Quantum-limited cooling and detection with stored ions," D. J. Heinzen, University of Texas/Austin.

Eligibility: U. S. Universities and colleges.

Procedures

To simplify the proposal writing and evaluation process, the following selection procedure will be used:

Candidates are requested to submit a preapplication proposal to NIST by February 1, 1993 using Standard Form 424 (Rev. 4-88) with a description of their proposed work of no more than five double spaced pages. Standard Form 424A (4-88) and 424B (4-88) are also required.

On the basis of this material, four to eight semi-finalist candidates will be selected by the NIST Precision Measurement Grants Committee and the Outside Review Committee to submit more detailed proposals. The same committees will evaluate the detailed proposals, and on the basis of their evaluation, the two grantees for fiscal year 1994 will be selected. The semi-finalists will be notified of their status by March 22, 1993, and will be requested to submit their full proposals to NIST by May 7, 1993. The successful grantees will be notified of their selection by August 15, 1993.

The criteria to be used in evaluating the preapplication proposals and full proposals include:

1. Importance of the proposed research to science—does it have the potential of answering some currently pressing question or of opening up a whole new area of activity?

2. The relationship of the proposed research to measurement science—is there a possibility that it will lead to a new or improved fundamental measurement method, basic measurement unit, or physical standard? (Or to a better understanding of important, but already existing, measurement methods, measurement units, or physical standards?)

3. The feasibility of the research—is it likely that significant progress can be made in a three year time period with the funds and personnel available?

4. The past accomplishment of the applicant—is the quality of the research previously carried out by the prospective grantee such that there is a high probability that the proposed research will be successfully carried out?

Each of these factors are given equal weight in the selection process.

Technical Questions concerning the NIST Precision Measurement Grants Program may be directed to the above address or call Dr. Taylor on (301) 975-4220. Prospective candidates are urged to contact Dr. Taylor before preparing their preapplication proposal.

Paperwork Reduction Act

The standard forms 424, 424A and 424B referenced in this notice are subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act and are cleared under Office of Management and Budget (OMB) control numbers 0348-0043, 0348-0044 and 0348-0040.

Additional Requirements

Applicants should recognize that unsatisfactory performance under prior Federal awards may result in an application not being considered for funding.

Applicants should recognize that if they incur any costs prior to an award being made they do solely at their own risk of not being reimbursed by the Government. Applicants also should be notified that notwithstanding any verbal assurance that they may have received, there is no obligation on the part of DoC to cover pre-award costs.

All primary applicants must submit a Form CD-511, "Certifications Regarding Debarment, Suspension and Other Responsibility Matters; Drug-Free Workplace Requirements and Lobbying," and the following explanations must be provided:

1. Nonprocurement Debarment and Suspension

Prospective participants (as defined at 15 CFR part 26, section 105) are subject to 15 CFR part 26, "Nonprocurement Debarment and Suspension" and the related section of the certification form prescribed above applies;

2. Drug Free Workplace

Grantees (as defined at 15 CFR part 26, section 605) are subject to 15 CFR part 26, subpart F, "Governmentwide Requirements for Drug-Free Workplace (Grants)" and the related section of the certification form prescribed above applies;

3. Anti-Lobbying

Persons (as defined at 15 CFR part 26, section 105) are subject to the lobbying provisions of 31 U.S.C. 1352, "Limitation on use of appropriated funds to influence certain Federal contracting and financial transactions," and the lobbying section of the certification form prescribed above applies to applications/bids for grants, cooperative agreements, and contracts for more than $100,000, and loans and loan guarantees for more than $150,000, or the single family maximum mortgage limit for affected programs, whichever is greater; and

4. Anti-Lobbying Disclosures

Any applicant that has paid or will pay for lobbying using any funds must submit an SF-LLL, "Disclosure of Lobbying Activities," as required under 15 CFR part 28, appendix B.

Grant recipients shall require applicants/bidders for subgrants, contracts, subcontracts, or other lower tier covered transactions at any tier under the award to submit, if applicable, a completed Form CD-512, "Certifications Regarding Debarment, Suspension, Ineligibility and Voluntary Exclusion-Lower Tier Covered Transactions and Lobbying" and disclosure form, SF-LLL, "Disclosure of Lobbying Activities." Form CD-512 is intended for the use of recipients and should not be transmitted to DoC. SF-LLL submitted by any tier recipient or subrecipient should be submitted to DoC in accordance with the instructions contained in the award document.

All for-profit and nonprofit applicants will be subject to a name check review process. Name checks are intended to reveal if any key individuals associated with the applicant have been convicted of or is presently facing, criminal charges such as fraud, theft, perjury, or other matters which significantly reflect on the applicant's management honesty or financial integrity.

Applicants are reminded that a false statement may be grounds for denial or termination of funds and grounds for possible punishment by fine or imprisonment. No award of Federal funds shall be made to an applicant who has an outstanding delinquent Federal debt until either:

1. The delinquent account is paid in full,
2. A negotiated repayment schedule is established and at least one payment is received, or
3. Other arrangement satisfactory to DoC are made.

Applicants should be aware that all awards under this program shall be subject to all applicable Federal laws and Departmental regulations, policies, and procedures applicable to financial assistance awards.

Fastener Quality Act Advisory Committee

AGENCY: National Institute of Standards and Technology, Commerce.

ACTION: Notice of advisory committee meeting open to the public.

SUMMARY: The National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) will hold a meeting of the Fastener Advisory Committee on December 1 and 2, 1992. The meeting will be for the purpose of providing advice to the Department of Commerce, pursuant to statute, on the implementation of the Fastener Quality Act of 1990 (Pub. L. 101-592).

DATES: The meeting will be held on December 1, 1992 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on December 2, 1992 from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., or earlier if so adjourned.

ADDRESSES: The meeting will be held at the Holiday Inn, Goshen Room, 2 Montgomery Avenue, Gaithersburg, MD.

AGENDA: To advise NIST on comments received from the public in response to Part II of the Federal Register Notice dated August 17, 1992.

PUBLIC PARTICIPATION: The meeting is open to the public. Attendance shall be on a first-come, first-serve basis in so far as seating is concerned, up to the reasonable and safe capacity of the meeting room. The public may file written statements with the Advisory Committee at any time before or after the meeting. An effort shall be made to set aside a portion of the meeting for public participation. To the extent that the meeting time and agenda permits, interested persons will be allowed to present oral statements or to participate in the discussions.

National Technical Information Service

Notice of Prospective Grant of Partially Exclusive Patent License

This is notice in accordance with 35 U.S.C. 209(c)(1) and 36 CFR 404.7(a)(1)(i) that the National Technical Information Service (NTIS), U.S. Department of Commerce, is contemplating the grant of one or more partially exclusive licenses in the United States to practice the invention embodied in U.S. Patent 5,078,219 issued January 7, 1992, entitled "Concave Drag Bit Cutter Device and Method" to the following companies: Caterpillar Inc., 100 NE. Adams Street, Peoria, IL 61629, Kennametal Inc., Latrobe, PA 15650, and Philippi-Hagenbuch, Inc., 7424 Plank Road, Peoria, IL 61604. The patent rights in this invention have been assigned to the United States of America.

The prospective partially exclusive license(s) will be royalty-bearing and will comply with the terms and conditions of 35 U.S.C. 209 and 37 CFR 404.7. The prospective license(s) may be granted within 60 days from the date of this published Notice, NTIS receives written evidence and argument which establish that the grant of the license(s) to any of the companies would not be consistent with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 209 and 36 CFR 404.7.

The invention covers a concave drag bit cutter device which provides increased efficiency over conventional bits and can be utilized in continuous mining machines, saw blades, long wall shearers, and in cutting and mining operations.

The availability of the invention for licensing was published in the Federal Register, Vol. 57, No. 25 (February 6, 1992). A copy of the U.S. Patent may be obtained from U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, Washington, DC.

Inquiries, comments, and other materials relating to the contemplated license(s) must be submitted to Girish C. Barua, Office of Federal Patent Licensing, NTIS, Box 1423, Springfield, VA 22151. Properly filed competing applications received by the NTIS in response to this notice will be considered as objections to the grant of the contemplated license(s).

COMMITTEE FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF TEXTILE AGREEMENTS

Announcement of a Request for Bilateral Textile Consultations on Certain Man-Made Fiber Textile Products Produced or Manufactured in Hong Kong

October 27, 1992.

AGENCY: Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements (CITA).

ACTION: Notice.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Anne Novak, International Trade Specialist, Office of Textiles and Apparel, U.S. Department of Commerce, (202) 482-4212. For information on categories on which consultations have been requested, call (202) 482-3740.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Authority: Executive Order 11651 of March 3, 1972, as amended; section 204 of the Agricultural Act of 1956, as amended (7 U.S.C. 1854).

On October 9, 1992, the Government of the United States requested consultations with the Government of Hong Kong regarding imports of man-made fiber twills and sateen fabric in Category 617, produced or manufactured in Hong Kong. This request was made on the basis of the current bilateral agreement between the Governments of the United States and Hong Kong.

The United States reserves the right to control imports at the level under paragraph 7 of the agreement. The United States remains committed to finding a solution concerning this category. Should such a solution be reached in consultations with the Government of Hong Kong, further notice will be published in the Federal Register.

Anyone wishing to comment or provide data or information regarding the treatment of Category 617, under the agreement with the Government of Hong Kong, or in any aspect thereof, or to comment on domestic production or availability of products included in Category 617, is invited to submit 10 copies of such comments or information to Auggie D. Tantillo, Chairman, Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, DC 20230; ATTN: Helen L. LeGrande.

The comments received will be considered in the context of the consultations with the Government of Hong Kong.

Comments or information submitted in response to this notice will be available for public inspection in the Office of Textiles and Apparel, room H3100, U.S. Department of Commerce, 14th and Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, DC.

Further comments may be invited regarding particular comments or information received from the public which the Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements considers appropriate for further consideration.

The solicitation of comments regarding any aspect of the agreement or the implementation thereof is not a waiver in any respect of the exemption contained in 5 U.S.C. 553(a)(1) relating to matters which constitute "a foreign affairs function of the United States."

A description of the textile and apparel categories in terms of HTS numbers is available in the CORRELATION: Textile and Apparel Categories with the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (see Federal Register notice 56 FR 60101, published on November 27, 1991).

COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION

Financial Products Advisory Committee; Meeting

This is to give notice, pursuant to section 10(a) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act, 5 U.S.C. app. 2 section 10(a) and 41 CFR 101-6.1015(b), that the Commodity Futures Trading Commission's Financial Products Advisory Committee will conduct a public meeting in the Lower Level Hearing Room (B-1) at the Commission's Washington, DC headquarters located at 2033 K Street, NW., Washington, DC 20581, on November 19, 1992, beginning at 1:30 p.m. and lasting until 5 p.m. The agenda will consist of:

Agenda

1. An overview of the recently passed CFTC reauthorization legislation.
2. A panel discussion of what the new CFTC exemptive authority contained in the CFTC reauthorization bill could mean for both exchange and off-exchange markets.
3. A panel discussion of the operation of post-October '87 market reforms in today's markets.
4. Rule 4.5: a report by the Division of Economic Analysis on changes being considered to CFTC Rule 4.5. Report of the Hedging Working Group on its recommendations for revisions to Rule 4.5.
5. Status report of the Working Group on Third Party Custodial Accounts.
6. Report from the Division of Trading & Markets on proposed rules to streamline risk disclosure.
7. Development of future agenda items and scheduling of next meeting. Other Committee business.

The purpose of this meeting is to solicit the views of the Committee on these agenda matters. The Advisory Committee was created by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission for the purpose of advising the Commission on the assessment of issues concerning individuals and industries interested in or affected by financial markets regulated by the Commission. The purposes and objectives of the Advisory Committee are more fully set forth in the April 25, 1991 Charter of the Advisory Committee.

The meeting is open to the public. The Chairman of the Advisory Committee, CFTC Commissioner Sheila C. Bair, is empowered to conduct the meeting in a fashion that will, in her judgement, facilitate the orderly conduct of business. Any member of the public who wishes to file a written statement with the Advisory Committee should mail a copy of the statement to the attention of: the Commodity Futures Trading Commission Financial Products Advisory Committee, c/o Susan Milligan, 2033 K Street NW., Washington, DC 20581, before the meeting. Members of the public who wish to make oral statements should also inform Ms. Milligan in writing at the foregoing address at least three business days before the meeting. Reasonable provision will be made, if time permits, for an oral presentation of no more than five minutes each in duration.

Jean A. Webb,

Secretary of the Commission.

[OMB Control No. 9000-0036]

Clearance Request for Information Regarding Previous Contracts

AGENCIES: Department of Defense (DOD), General Services Administration (GSA), and National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

ACTION: Notice of request for an extension to an existing OMB clearance (9000-0036).

SUMMARY: Under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980 (44 U.S.C. chapter 35), the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) Secretariat has submitted to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) a request to review and approve an extension of a currently approved information collection requirement concerning Information Regarding Previous Contracts.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Beverly Fayson, Office of Federal Acquisition Policy, GSA (202) 501-4755.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:A. Purpose

When the same item or class of items is being acquired by more than one agency, the exchange and coordination of pertinent information, particularly cost and pricing data, is necessary to promote uniformity of treatment of major issues and the resolution of particularly difficult or controversial issues. For this reason, the contracting officer, early in a negotiation of a contract, or in connection with the review of a subcontract, must request the contractor to furnish information as to the contractor's or subcontractor's previous Government contracts and subcontracts for the same or similar end items and major subcontractor components. This information is particularly beneficial during the period of acquisition planning, presolicitation, evaluation, and preaward survey. The information is used to determine a firm's responsibility.

B. Annual Reporting Burden

The annual reporting burden is estimated as follows: Respondents, 2,000; responses per respondent, 10; total annual responses, 20,000; preparation hours per response, .25; and total response burden hours, 5,000.

Obtaining Copies of Proposals

Requester may obtain copies of OMB applications or justifications from the General Services Administration, FAR Secretariat (VRS), room 4037, Washington, DC 20405, telephone (202) 501-4755. Please cite OMB Control No. 9000-0036, Information Regarding Previous Contracts, in all correspondence.

Dated: October 21, 1992.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSEPublic Information Collection Requirement Submitted to OMB for Review

ACTION: Notice.

The Department of Defense has submitted to OMB for clearance the following proposal for collection of information under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction act (44 U.S.C. chapter 35).

Title, Applicable Form, and Applicable OMB Number: NTOTC Applicant Questionnaire; NAVCRUIT 1131/6; OMB Control Number 0703-0028.

Type of Request: Revision.

Average Burden Hours/Minutes Per Response: 15 minutes.

Responses Per Respondent: 1.

Number of Respondents: 40,000.

Annual Burden Hours: 10,000.

Annual Responses: 40,000.

Needs and Uses: An assessment of an individual's basic eligibility for the NROTC Scholarship Program is necessary for the initial screening of prospective applicants. In order to pre-screen applicants it is necessary to have information concerning date of birth, citizenship, etc. Address and phone number are needed to contact those individuals who are eligible and to inform those who are not. El Paso Natural Gas Co.; Technical Conference

October 28, 1992.

Take notice that on November 17, 1992, at 9 o'clock AM, Commission staff will convene a technical conference in the above-captioned proceedings to discuss non-environmental issues related to the applications filed by El Paso Natural Gas Company (El Paso).

The following applications will be discussed at the technical conference:

(1) Docket No. CP92-466-000. El Paso's request for approval to construct and operate compression and pipeline facilities on its East-End System (East-End Flexibility Project).

(2) Docket No. CP92-511-000. El Paso's request for approval to construct and operate compression facilities on its Havasu Crossover Line (West-End Flexibility Project).

(3) Docket No. CP92-580-000. El Paso's request for approval to construct incremental facilities (including looping, metering, and compression facilities) on its existing pipeline located in La Paz County, Arizona, and to construct the Yuma lateral extending from the existing facilities. These facilities are intended to provide transportation service to the International Boundary between the United States and the Republic of Mexico (Yuma Lateral Expansion Project).

(4) Docket No. CP92-581-000. El Paso's request for authorization under Section 3 of the NGA for the siting, construction, operation and maintenance of a border crossing facility at the United States-Mexico international boundary in Yuma County Arizona near San Luis Rio Colorado, Sonora, Mexico. El Paso also requested a Presidential permit for the border facilities.

El Paso, contesting parties, and interested parties should be prepared to discuss the issues which have been raised in the interventions and protests, including the following:

1. The need for the facilities proposed in each docket.
2. The impact of the facilities proposed in each docket on existing services.
3. Whether the East-End Flexibility Project and the West-End Flexibility Project constitutes major expansion projects?
4. The methodology of the rate treatment proposed in each docket and El Paso's request for pre-approved rolled-in rates in the Yuma Lateral Expansion Project.

5. The impact of any capacity releasing requests on the proposed facilities in the Yuma Lateral Expansion Project.

6. The relationship of the proposed West-End Flexibility facilities to the Yuma Lateral Expansion Project.

The conference will be held at the offices of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20426. All interested parties are invited to attend.

Office of Conservation and Renewable Energy

[Case No. F-048]

Energy Conservation Program for Consumer Products: Decision and Order Granting a Waiver From the Furnace Test Procedure to Lennox Industries, Inc.

AGENCY: Office of Conservation and Renewable Energy, Department of Energy.

ACTION: Decision and order.

SUMMARY: Notice is given of the Decision and Order (Case No. F-048) granting a Waiver to Lennox Industries, Inc. (Lennox) from the existing Department of Energy (DOE) test procedure for furnaces. The Department is granting Lennox its Petition for Waiver regarding blower time delay in calculation of Annual Fuel Utilization Efficiency (AFUE) for its G21Q, GSR21Q, G21V, and GSR21V series of condensing furnaces.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Cyrus H. Nasser, U.S. Department of Energy, Office of Conservation and Renewable Energy, Mail Station CE-431, Forrestal Building, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20585, (202) 586-9127. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In accordance with 10 CFR 430.27(g), notice is hereby given of the issuance of the Decision and Order as set out below. In the Decision and Order, Lennox has been granted a Waiver for its G21Q, GSR21Q, G21V, and GSR21V series of condensing furnaces, permitting the company to use an alternate test method in determining AFUE.

Issued in Washington, DC, October 28, 1992.

J. Michael Davis,

Assistant Secretary, Conservation and Renewable Energy.

DECISION AND ORDER

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

OFFICE OF CONSERVATION AND RENEWABLE ENERGY

In the Matter of: The Lennox Industries, Inc. (Case No. F-048).

Background

The Energy Conservation Program for Consumer Products (other than automobiles) was established pursuant to the Energy Policy and Conservation Act (EPCA), Public Law 94-163, 89 Stat. 917, as amended by the National Energy Conservation Policy Act (NECPA), Public Law 95-619, 92 Stat. 3266, the National Appliance Energy Conservation Act of 1987 (NAECA), Public Law 100-12, and the National Appliance Energy Conservation Amendments of 1988 (NAECA 1988), Public Law 100-357, which requires DOE to prescribe standardized test procedures to measure the energy consumption of certain consumer products, including furnaces. The intent of the test procedures is to provide a comparable measure of energy consumption that will assist consumers in making purchasing decisions. These test procedures appear at 10 CFR part 430, subpart B.

DOE amended the prescribed test procedures by adding 10 CFR 430.27 to create a waiver process. 45 FR 64108, September 26, 1980. Thereafter, DOE further amended its appliance test procedure waiver process to allow the Assistant Secretary for Conservation and Renewable Energy (Assistant Secretary) to grant an Interim Waiver from test procedure requirements to manufacturers that have petitioned DOE for a waiver of such prescribed test procedures. 51 FR 42823, November 26, 1986.

The waiver process allows the Assistant Secretary to waive temporarily test procedures for a particular basic model when a petitioner shows that the basic model contains one or more design characteristics which prevent testing according to the prescribed test procedures or when the prescribed test procedures may evaluate the basic model in a manner so unrepresentative of its true energy consumption as to provide materially inaccurate comparative data. Waivers generally remain in effect until final test procedure amendments become effective, resolving the problem that is the subject of the waiver.

The Interim Waiver provisions added by the 1986 amendment allow the Assistant Secretary to grant an Interim Waiver when it is determined that the applicant will experience economic hardship if the Application for Interim Waiver is denied, if it appears likely that the Petition for Waiver will be granted, and/or the Assistant Secretary determines that it would be desirable for public policy reasons to grant immediate relief pending a determination on the Petition for Waiver. An Interim Waiver remains in effect for a period of 180 days or until DOE issues its determination on the Petition for Waiver, whichever is sooner, and may be extended for an additional 180 days, if necessary.

Lennox filed a "Petition for Waiver," dated February 10, 1992, in accordance with § 430.27 of 10 CFR part 430. DOE published in the Federal Register on July 31, 1992, Lennox's petition and solicited comments, data and information respecting the petition. 57 FR 33952. Lennox also filed an "Application for Interim Waiver" under § 430.27(g) which DOE granted on July 27, 1992. 57 FR 33952, July 31, 1992.

No comments were received concerning either the "Petition for Waiver" or the "Interim Waiver." DOE consulted with The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) concerning the Lennox Petition. The FTC did not have any objections to the issuance of the waiver to Lennox.

Assertions and Determinations

Lennox's Petition seeks a waiver from the DOE test provisions that require a 1.5-minute time delay between the ignition of the burner and the starting of the circulating air blower. Lennox requests the allowance to test using a 60-second blower time delay when testing its G21Q and GSR21Q series and a 45-second blower time delay when testing its G21V and GSR21V series of condensing furnaces. Lennox states that the 60-second and 45-second delays are indicative of how these furnace actually operate and since such delays result in an improvement in efficiency of approximately 1.0 to 2.0 percent, the petition should be granted.

Under specific circumstances, the DOE test procedure contain exceptions which allow testing with blower delay times of less than the prescribed 1.5-minute delay. Lennox indicates that it is unable to take advantage of any of these exceptions for its G21Q, GSR21Q, G21V, and GSR21V series of condensing furnaces.

Since the blower controls incorporated on the Lennox furnaces are designed to impose a 60-second blower time delay when testing its G21Q and GSR21Q series and a 45-second blower time delay when testing its G21V and GSR21V series in every instance of start up, and since the current provisions do not specifically address these type of controls, DOE agrees that a waiver should be granted to allow the 60-second blower time delay when testing the Lennox G21Q and GSR21Q and 45-second blower time delay when testing the Lennox G21V and GSR21V series of condensing furnaces. Accordingly, with regard to testing the G21Q, GSR21Q, G21V, and GSR21V series of condensing furnaces, today's Decision and Order exempts Lennox from the existing provisions regarding blower controls and allows testing with the 60-second and 45-second delays.

It is, therefore, ordered that:

(1) The "Petition for Waiver" filed by Lennox Industries, Inc. (Case No. F-048) is hereby granted as set forth in paragraph (2) below, subject to the provisions of paragraphs (3), (4), and (5).

(2) Notwithstanding any contrary provisions of Appendix N of 10 CFR part 430, subpart B, Lennox Industries, Inc. shall be permitted to test its G21Q, GSR21Q, G21V, and GSR21V series of condensing furnaces on the basis of the test procedure specified in 10 CFR part 430, with modifications set forth below:

(i) Section 3.0 of appendix N is deleted and replaced with the following paragraph:

3.0 Test Procedure. Testing and measurements shall be as specified in section 9 in ANSI/ASHRAE 103-82 with the exception of sections 9.2.2, 9.3.1, and 9.3.2, and the inclusion of the following procedures:

(ii) Add a new paragraph 3.10 to appendix N as follows:

3.10 Gas- and Oil-Fueled Central Furnaces. The following paragraph is in lieu of the requirement specified in section 9.3.1 of ANSI/ASHRAE 103-82. After equilibrium conditions are achieved following the cool-down test and the required measurements performed, turn on the furnaces and measure the flue gas temperature, using the thermocouple grid described above, at 0.5 and 2.5 minutes after the main burner(s) comes on. After the burner start-up, delay the blower start-up by 1.5 minutes (t-), unless: (1) The furnace employs a single motor to drive the power burner and the indoor air circulating blower, in which case the burner and blower shall be started together; or (2) the furnace is designed to operate using an unvarying delay time that is other than 1.5 minutes, in which case the fan control shall be permitted to start the blower; or (3) the delay time results in the activation of a temperature safety device which shuts off the burner, in which case the fan control shall be permitted to start the blower. In the latter case, if the fan control is adjustable, set it to start the blower at the highest temperature. If the fan control is permitted to start the blower, measure time delay, (t-), using a stopwatch. Record the measured temperatures. During the heat-up test for oil-fueled furnaces, maintain the draft in the flue pipe within ± 0.01 inch of water column of the manufacturer's recommended on-period draft.

(iii) With the exception of the modifications set forth above, Lennox Industries, Inc. shall comply in all respects with the test procedures specified in appendix N of 10 CFR part 430, subpart B.

(3) The waiver shall remain in effect from the date of issuance of this Order until DOE prescribes final test procedures appropriate to the G21Q, GSR21Q, G21V, and GSR21V series of condensing furnaces manufactured by Lennox Industries, Inc.

(4) This Waiver is based upon the presumed validity of statements, allegations, and documentary materials submitted by the petitioner. This Waiver may be revoked or modified at any time upon a determination that the factual basis underlying the petition is incorrect.

(5) Effective October 28, 1992, this Waiver supersedes the Interim Waiver granted The Lennox Industries, Inc. on July 27, 1992. 57 FR 33952, July 31, 1992 (Case No. F-048).

Issued In Washington, DC, October 28, 1992.

BILLING CODE 6450-01-M

Western Area Power Administration

Notice of Intent to Prepare an Environmental Impact Statement for the Adelanto-Lugo Transmission Project, San Bernardino County, California

AGENCY: Western Area Power Administration, DOE.

ACTION: Notice of intent to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement.

SUMMARY: In accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA), the Western Area Power Administration (Western) intends to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) for the Adelanto-Lugo Transmission Project (Project). The EIS will be prepared according to NEPA requirements, Council on Environmental Quality Regulations, (40 Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) parts 1500 through 1508), and DOE NEPA Regulations (10 CFR part 1021). Full public participation and disclosure are planned for the entire EIS process.

DATES: Public Scoping Meetings are scheduled for December 3, 1992. These meetings will be held at 1 p.m. at the Maverick Stadium Conference Center, Adelanto, CA, and at 7 p.m. at the Cafeteria of the Hesperia High School, 9898 Maple Avenue, Hesperia, CA. The purpose of these meetings is to inform the public about the environmental review process, and to receive public comment to help identify the environmental issues to be addressed in the EIS/EIR. The public is invited to attend these meetings to submit comments on the proposed Project.

Comments may also be submitted in writing and should be received no later than December 3, 1992.

ADDRESSES: Written comments should be sent to: Mr. Thomas A. Hine, Area Manager, Phoenix Area Office, Western Area Power Administration, P.O. Box 6457, Phoenix, AZ 85005-6457, (602) 352-2525.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: The Participants have developed and are maintaining a mailing list of interested parties who wish to be kept informed of the progress of the EIS/EIR. To receive additional information or be placed on the mailing list, write to the address provided above, or call (602) 352-2525.

For further information on DOE's general NEPA review procedures contact: Carol M. Borgstrom, Office of NEPA Oversight, EH-25, U.S. Department of Energy, 1000 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20585, (202) 536-4600 or (800) 472-2756.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The proposed Project's sponsors (collectively called the Participants) include the cities of Anaheim, Azusa, Banning, Burbank, Colton, Glendale, Pasadena, Riverside, and Vernon in California; the Modesto-Santa Clara-Redding Public Power Agency, and Western. Western and the City of Anaheim are responsible for the preparation of a joint environmental compliance document (EIS and Environmental Impact Report (EIR)). The joint EIS/EIR will satisfy the requirements of both NEPA and the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). Western is the Lead Federal Agency for NEPA and the City of Anaheim is the Lead State Agency for CEQA.

The proposed Project would connect the Adelanto Switching Station in Adelanto, California, owned by the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power (LADWP), to the Lugo Substation near Hesperia, California, owned by the Southern California Edison Company (Edison), via construction of a 500-kilovolt transmission line approximately 20 miles long. The Project alternatives under consideration include: the "no action/no project alternative," a new transmission line in a new corridor, a new transmission line in an existing corridor, system upgrades to existing transmission lines, long-term firm transmission service agreements using existing transmission lines, and combinations of the above alternatives.

The proposed Project would be located in the Victor Valley area of the western portion of San Bernardino County, California (see Figure 1). The incorporated cities of Adelanto, Hesperia, and Victorville are located within the Victory Valley, which also includes many small unincorporated areas in semi-rural and rural areas. The Project Study Area, as depicted on Figure 1, is generally defined as follows: Rancho Road on the north, the Range 5 West/Range 4 West division on the east, Hesperia Road on the south, Ranchero Road on the southwest, and Wilson Ranch Road on the west. The proposed Project Study Area boundaries are based on existing and future land use constraints, existing linear land use corridors, physiographic and linear land use constraints, and land ownership.

The Participants seek to establish a firm, bidirectional transmission path from existing transmission facilities at the Adelanto Switching Station to the Lugo Substation. This required transmission path is needed so the Participants can access, deliver, and exchange available economical power supplies through LADWP's and Edison's existing transmission systems to meet customer needs.

The California Energy Commission estimates that California's electricity demand will grow at an annual rate of 2.7 percent over the next 20 years. Power purchases, sales, and exchanges on existing and proposed bulk transmission facilities (e.g., the proposed Project) would continue to contribute significantly to meeting the increased demand. Such transmission paths create opportunities for direct power exchanges among utilities, increase the efficiency and use of existing intra- and inter-State electric power generation resources, encourage competition among suppliers, and reduce the need for construction of new power generating resources. The proposed Project would also accomplish the following: increase capacity and reliability of the overall electric power transmission system in southern California, provide flexibility for the Participants to purchase and transfer bulk power, and provide an additional connection and transfer path for electricity between the two largest electric power systems in southern California (i.e., LADWP and Edison).

As a result of a year of preliminary environmental feasibility studies, the EIS/EIR will focus on the assess the potential environmental issues associated with the proposed Project, including but not limited to: land use and land resources, aesthetic/visual resources, noise impacts, air resources and air quality, cultural resources (including historic, archeologic, and paleontologic resources), earth resources, biologic resources (including sensitive plant and animal species and habitat), and human health and safety including electromagnetic field effects. Based on the preliminary environmental review and a review of current wetlands regulations, it has been determined that wetlands resources will not be an issue or impacted as a result of the proposed Project. Preliminary study corridor alternatives, which were developed based on consideration of the identified potential environmental issues and with public input during the preliminary environmental review, are shown on Figure 2. These study corridors will be further refined during the Scoping Process. Additional issues may be identified for analysis in response to this notice of intent, through public Scoping Meetings and field review.

The NEPA/CEQA compliance process will take about 18 months with acceptance and certification of the Final EIS/EIR expected in mid 1994. The process will include public information meetings, Scoping Meetings, coordination and involvement with appropriate Federal, State, and local agencies, public review and public hearings on the published Draft EIS/EIR, a published Final EIS/EIR, a review period, and a published Record of Decision.

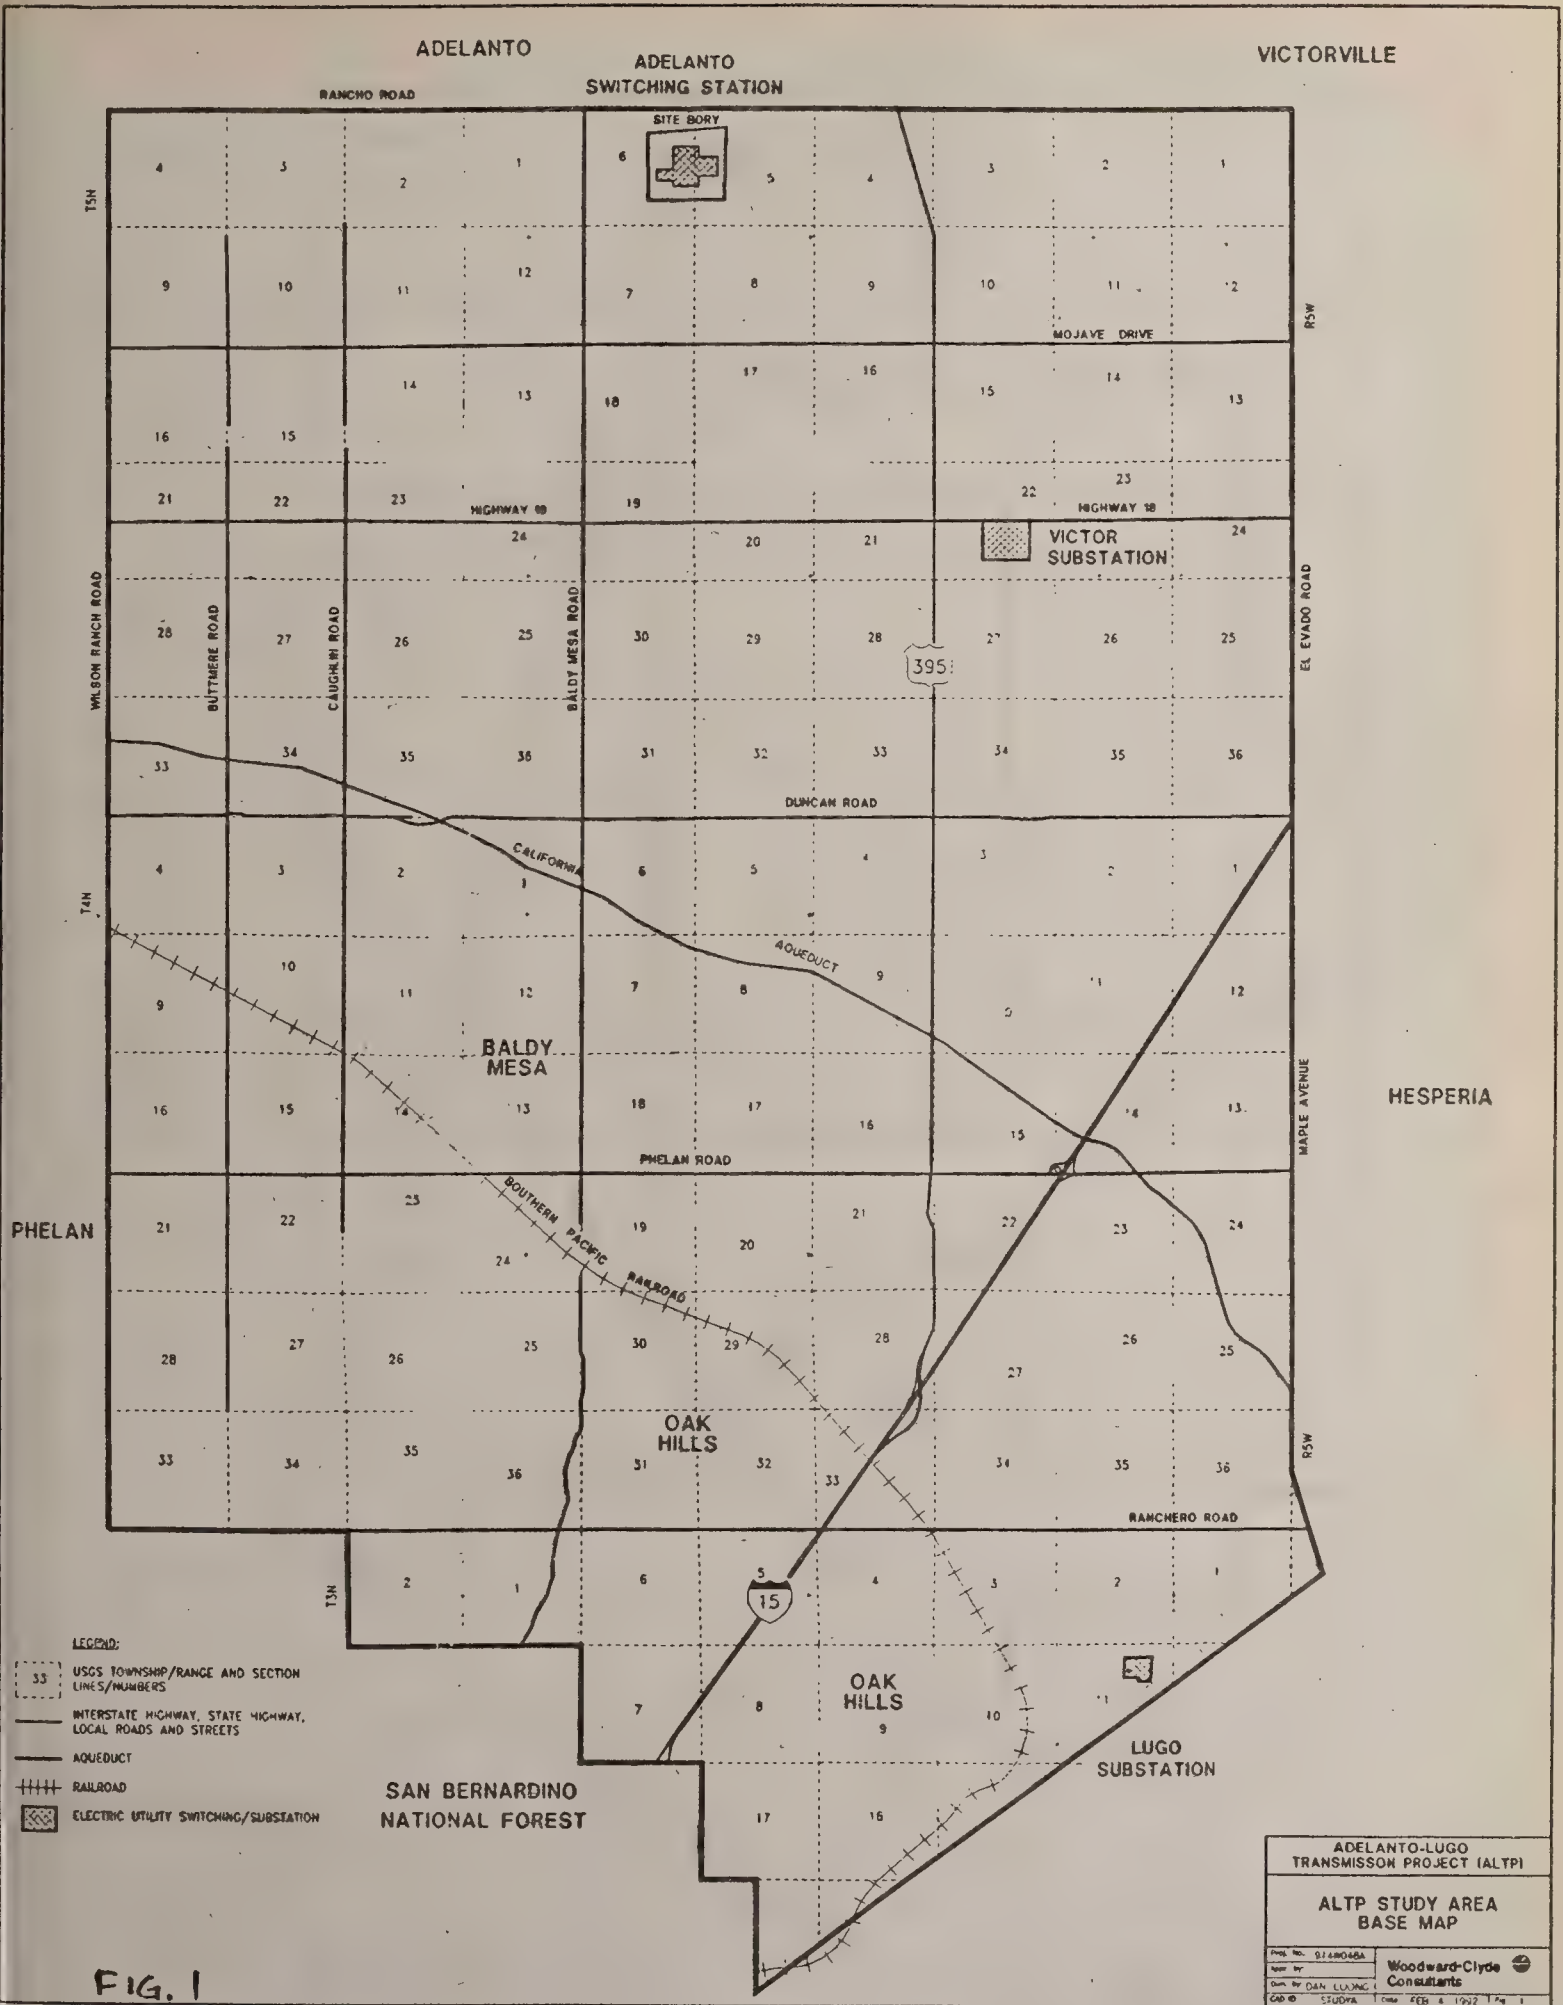

Repositories for information related to the proposed Project have been established at public libraries in Adelanto, Victorville, and Hesperia. A series of prescoping public information meetings were held in the proposed Project area in September 1991 and January 1992. A Community Advisory Committee consisting of approximately 25 representatives of local government and the community-at-large has been formed and will meet on a regular basis throughout the NEPA/CEQA compliance process.

Paul L. Ziemer,

Assistant Secretary for Environment, Safety and Health.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

[AD-FRL-4529-5]

Technical Guidance Documents for Particulate MatterAGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).ACTION: Notice announcing availability of technical guidance documents for particulate matter sources.

SUMMARY: This notice announces the availability of three technical guidance documents for the control of PM-10 (particles with an aerodynamic diameter less than or equal to a nominal 10 micrometers) emissions from fugitive dust, residential wood combustion, and prescribed burning. The documents contain information on what the EPA currently considers best available control measures (BACM) for each of the three source categories. The documents also supplement the reasonably available control measures (RACM) technical guidance issued in conjunction with the General Preamble for title I of the Clean Air Act (Act) Amendments of 1990 (57 FR 13541, April 16, 1992; 57 FR 18070, April 28, 1992). Thus, issuance of these BACM technical guidance documents completes EPA's obligation to issue RACM and BACM guidance for the three source categories identified under section 190 of the Act.

These documents provide technical guidance to States and other interested parties regarding BACM for the source categories addressed. The public will have an opportunity to comment on any actual BACM strategies developed by the States, and their reliance on the documents, during the State implementation plan adoption processes. The public will have further opportunity to comment at the time that EPA proposes individual SIP's for approval or disapproval pursuant to notice and comment rulemaking. Thus, the technical guidance does not have a binding effect and EPA will consider the submissions made by any person and the particular factual circumstances presented before the guidance is given any binding effect.

ADDRESSES: Copies of the three BACM technical guidance documents are available from the U.S. EPA Library, MD-35, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina 27711, telephone (919) 541-2777. Copies of the documents will also be available from the National Technical Information Service, 5285 Port Royal Road, Springfield, Virginia 22161. In requesting the documents, please refer to: "Fugitive Dust Background Document and Technical Information Document for Best Available Control Measures" (EPA-450/2-92-004), "Residential Wood Combustion Technical Information Document for Best Available Control Measures" (EPA-450/2-92-002), and "Prescribed Burning Background Document and Technical Information Document for Best Available Control Measures" (EPA-450/2-92-003). As new information becomes available, EPA will update the documents, as appropriate. Any such additional information should be forwarded to Mr. Christopher Stoneman at the Sulfur Dioxide/Particulate Matter Programs Branch, Office of Air Quality Planning and Standards, MD-15, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina 27711.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Christopher Stoneman, telephone (919) 541-0823, Sulfur Dioxide/Particulate Matter Programs Branch, MD-15, Office of Air Quality Planning and Standards, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina 27711.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:I. Background

Section 190 of the Act requires EPA to issue technical guidance for RACM and BACM no later than 18 months from enactment of the 1990 Amendments to the Act for three PM-10 source categories: Urban fugitive dust, residential wood combustion, and prescribed silvicultural and agricultural burning. In conjunction with publication of the General Preamble, EPA discharged the section 190 requirement to issue RACM technical guidance for each of these three source categories (57 FR 13541, April 16, 1992; 57 FR 18070, April 28, 1992). The General Preamble provides a policy for how to utilize the available RACM technical guidance to develop area-specific RACM strategies. The BACM documents are, therefore, the subject of today's notice.

II. Today's Notice

By today's notice, EPA is issuing BACM technical guidance, which, taken together with EPA's previous issuance of RACM technical guidance, wholly fulfills EPA's statutory obligation to issue RACM and BACM technical guidance for urban fugitive dust, residential wood combustion, and prescribed silvicultural and agricultural burning under section 190 of the Act. Similar to the manner in which EPA provided guidance on Act requirements applicable to moderate PM-10 nonattainment areas, in the General Preamble, including a policy or how to utilize the RACM technical guidance documents, the EPA is planning to provide guidance on Act requirements and provisions applicable to serious PM-10 nonattainment areas,¹ including BACM, in an addendum to the General Preamble. [The EPA made a draft of the addendum available for public comment on July 16, 1993 (57 FR 31477).] The portion of the addendum that addresses BACM provides a policy for how to utilize today's BACM technical guidance to develop area-specific BACM strategies.

Section 190 of the Act also requires that EPA examine other source categories contributing to PM-10 nonattainment, determine whether additional guidance on RACM and BACM is needed, and issue any such guidance no later than November 15, 1993. Note that the guidance document issued today provide BACM guidance for sources of fugitive dust (including urban), residential wood combustion, and prescribed burning (including silvicultural and agricultural). The EPA believes, at this time, that these categories of sources are contributing to nonattainment of the PM-10 national ambient air quality standards. To the extent these categories of sources are broader than, or in addition to, those identified in section 190, the Administrator is in today's notice determining that BACM guidance is needed for these sources and is issuing such guidance (see 57 FR 13540).

The EPA must take into account emission reductions achieved, or expected to be achieved, under title IV and other provisions of the Act in issuing guidelines and making determinations under section 190. The EPA does not believe at this time that actual or expected reductions from title IV or other provisions of the Act will significantly reduce emissions from the PM-10 source categories addressed in the guidance issued today. For example, the three source categories addressed in the technical guidance issued today constitute direct sources of PM-10 emissions and, as such, do not overlap with title IV-related reductions which focus on potential PM-10 precursors, such as sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxides. Likewise, these three source categories do not appear to be regarded as major sources subject to maximum achievable control technology standards under title III. While emissions from other potential PM-10 source categories may, in some fashion, be impacted by provisions of titles III or IV, any such impacts will be considered in determining whether additional guidance is needed under section 190 and at the time that EPA develops and issues any such additional guidance.

The BACM technical guidance documents include information on the control measures EPA regards as among the most effective currently available for control of PM-10 and provide technical guidance to States and other parties regarding BACM for the source categories addressed. Note also that the documents are not exclusionary and that, as new information on effective control techniques and measures comes to light, WPA will update the documents as appropriate.

The public will have an opportunity to comment on any actual BACM strategies developed by the States, and their reliance on the documents, during the States' SIP adoption processes. The public will have further opportunity to comment at the time that EPA proposes individual SIP's for approval or disapproval pursuant to notice and comment rulemaking. Thus, the technical guidance does not have a binding effect and EPA will consider the submissions made by any person and the particular factual circumstances presented before the guidance is given any binding effect.

The BACM technical guidance documents were developed in consultation with BACM task forces that included representatives from Federal, State, and local agencies involved in the control of the respective PM-10 source categories.

Access to Confidential Business Information by ICF International, Incorporated and Meridian Research, Incorporated AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: EPA has authorized its contractor, ICF International,

Incorporated (ICF), of Fairfax, Virginia, and its subcontractor Meridian Research, Incorporated (MER), of Silver Spring, Maryland for access to information which has been submitted to EPA under all sections of the Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA). Some of the information may be claimed or determined to be confidential business information (CBI).

DATES: Access to the confidential data submitted to EPA will occur no sooner than November 18, 1992.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Susan B. Hazen, Director, TSCA Environmental Assistance Division (TS-799), Office of Pollution Prevention and Toxics, Environmental Protection Agency, Rm. E-545, 401 M St., SW., Washington, DC 20460, (202) 554-1404, TDD: (202) 554-0551.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Under contract number 68-D2-0064, contractor ICF, of 9300 Lee Highway, Fairfax, VA, and its subcontractor MER, of 1010 Wayne Ave., Suite 1220, Silver Spring, MD will assist the Office of Pollution Prevention and Toxics (OPPT) in performing economic and regulatory impact analyses of actual and potential EPA actions taken under TSCA.

In accordance with 40 CFR 2.306(j), EPA has determined that under EPA contract number 68-D2-0064, ICF and MER will require access to CBI submitted to EPA under all sections of TSCA to perform successfully the duties specified under the contract. ICF and MER personnel will be given access to information submitted to EPA under all sections of TSCA. Some of the information may be claimed or determined to be CBI.

In a previous notice published in the Federal Register of March 13, 1992 (57 FR 8873), ICF was authorized for access to CBI submitted to EPA under all sections of TSCA under contract number 68-D8-0116. EPA is issuing this notice to allow ICF to continue its work under the new contract and to allow TSCA CBI access for the new subcontractor MER.

EPA is issuing this notice to inform all submitters of information under all sections of TSCA that EPA may provide ICF and MER access to these CBI materials on a need-to-know basis only. All access to TSCA CBI under this contract will take place at ICF's Fairfax, VA and 1850 K St., NW., Washington, DC facilities, MER's Silver Spring, MD facilities, and EPA Headquarters.

ICF and MER will be authorized access to TSCA CBI at their facilities under the EPA "Contractor Requirements for the Control and Security of TSCA Confidential Business Information" security manual. Before access to TSCA CBI is authorized at ICF's and MER's sites, EPA will approve their security certification statements, perform the required inspections of their facilities, and ensure that the facilities are in compliance with the manual. Upon completing review of the CBI materials, ICF and MER will return all transferred materials to EPA.

Clearance for access to TSCA CBI under this contract may continue until September 30, 1996.

ICF and MER personnel will be required to sign nondisclosure agreements and will be briefed on appropriate security procedures before they are permitted access to TSCA CBI.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Under contract number 68-D2-0141, contractor SRC, of Merrill Lane, Syracuse, NY, will assist the Office of Pollution Prevention and Toxics (OPPT) in collecting and summarizing health and environmental data of existing chemicals.

In accordance with 40 CFR 2.306(j), EPA has determined that under EPA contract number 68-D2-0141, SRC will require access to CBI submitted to EPA under sections 4, 5, and 8 of TSCA to perform successfully the duties specified under the contract. SRC personnel will be given access to information submitted to EPA under sections 4, 5, and 8 of TSCA. Some of the information may be claimed or determined to be CBI.

EPA is issuing this notice to inform all submitters of information under sections 4, 5, and 8 of TSCA that EPA may provide SRC access to these CBI materials on a need-to-know basis only. All access to TSCA CBI under this contract will take place at EPA Headquarters and SRC's facility only.

SRC will be authorized access to TSCA CBI at its facility under the EPA "Contractor Requirements for the Control and Security of TSCA Confidential Business Information" security manual. Before access to TSCA CBI is authorized at SRC's site, EPA will approve SRC's security certification statement, perform the required inspection of its facility, and ensure that the facility is in compliance with the manual. Upon completing review of the CBI materials, SRC will return all transferred materials to EPA.

Clearance for access to TSCA CBI under this contract may continue until September 30, 1996.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

First Meeting of the Small Business Advisory Committee

Dated: October 9, 1992.

ACTION: Notice of public meeting.

SUMMARY: In accordance with the Federal Advisory Committee Act, Public Law 92-463, as amended, this notice advises interested persons of the first meeting of the Small Business Advisory Committee (SBAC).

DATES: Wednesday, November 18, 1992, 8:30 a.m.-1 noon.

ADDRESSES: Federal Communications Commission, room 856, Commission

Meeting Room, 1919 M Street, NW., Washington, DC 20554.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Federal Communications Commission has established the SBAC to provide advice on how FCC rules and policies impact small businesses and minority enterprise. The SBAC is also charged with recommending changes in existing government rules and policies to facilitate small and minority business participation in telecommunications, especially in new and emerging technologies.

Agenda

1. Welcoming Remarks
 - a. Chairman Alfred C. Sikes
 - b. Commissioner James H. Quello (invited)
 - c. Commissioner Sherries P. Marshall (invited)
 - d. Commissioner Andrew C. Barrett
 - e. Commissioner Ervin S. Duggan
 - f. Joshua I. Smith, Chairman, Small Business Advisory Committee (SBAC)
 - g. John R. Winston, Acting Director, FCC Office of Small Business Activities and Designated Federal Officer, SBAC
2. Discussion of SBAC Charter; Mission and Current Tasks
3. Second Annual Conference on Communications, Minority Enterprise and Small Business
4. SBAC Meeting Schedule
5. Committee Organization
6. Discussion
 - a. Policy
 - b. Ownership and Management
 - c. Financing
 - d. New Technology
7. Other Business
8. Adjournment

Members of the general public may attend the meeting. The Federal Communications Commission will attempt to accommodate as many people as possible. However, admittance will be limited to the seating available. There will be no public oral participation, but the public may submit written comments to John Winston, the Committee's Designated Federal Officer, before the meeting. Credit Lyonnais, et al.; Applications to Engage de novo in Permissible Nonbanking Activities

The companies listed in this notice have filed an application under § 225.23(a)(1) of the Board's Regulation Y (12 CFR 225.23(a)(1)) for the Board's approval under section 4(c)(8) of the Bank Holding Company Act (12 U.S.C. 1843(c)(8)) and § 225.21(a) of Regulation Y (12 CFR 225.21(a)) to commence or to engage de novo, either directly or through a subsidiary, in a nonbanking activity that is listed in § 225.25 of Regulation Y as closely related to banking and permissible for bank holding companies. Unless otherwise noted, such activities will be conducted throughout the United States.

Each application is available for immediate inspection at the Federal Reserve Bank indicated. Once the application has been accepted for processing, it will also be available for inspection at the offices of the Board of Governors. Interested persons may express their views in writing on the question whether consummation of the proposal can "reasonably be expected to produce benefits to the public, such as greater convenience, increased competition, or gains in efficiency, that outweigh possible adverse effects, such as undue concentration of resources, decreased or unfair competition, conflicts of interests, or unsound banking practices." Any request for a hearing on this question must be accompanied by a statement of the reasons a written presentation would not suffice in lieu of a hearing, identifying specifically any questions of fact that are in dispute, summarizing the evidence that would be presented at a hearing, and indicating how the party commenting would be aggrieved by approval of the proposal.

Unless otherwise noted, comments regarding the applications must be received at the Reserve Bank indicated or the offices of the Board of Governors not later than November 27, 1992.

A. Federal Reserve Bank of New York (William L. Rutledge, Vice President) 33 Liberty Street, New York, New York 10045:

1. Credit Lyonnais, Paris, France; to engage de novo through its subsidiary, C.L. Servicing Corp., New York, New York, in acting as a servicing agent for one or more special purpose vehicles (the "SPVS") owned by independent parties. The SPVS will purchase assets from customers of Credit Lyonnais and make loans to customers of Credit Lyonnais secured by assets pledged by such customers. The SPVS will finance such purchases and loans by issuing commercial paper and possibly other securities. In its capacity as servicing agent, the subsidiary will provide services in connection with the structuring and negotiation of loan and purchase transactions. The subsidiary will also provide services in connection with the administration and monitoring of the asset purchase and loan agreements and the liquidity and credit facilities supporting the obligations of the SPVS pursuant to §§ 225.25(b)(1) and (b)(3) of the Board's Regulation Y.

B. Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago (David S. Epstein, Vice President) 230 South LaSalle Street, Chicago, Illinois 60690:

1. Irwin Financial Corporation, Columbus, Indiana; to engage de novo through its subsidiary, Irwin Union Securities, Inc., Columbus, Indiana, in providing securities brokerage services and investment advisory services on a combined basis pursuant to § 225.25(b)(15) of the Board's Regulation Y.

C. Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco (Kenneth R. Binning, Director, Bank Holding Company) 101 Market Street, San Francisco, California 94105:

1. DNB Financial, Riverside, California; to engage de novo through its subsidiary, De Anza National Bank, Riverside, California, in purchasing loans and loan participations as would be made by a mortgage or commercial finance company pursuant to § 225.25(b)(1) of the Board's Regulation Y. This activity will be conducted in the State of California.

Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, October 28, 1992.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Office of the Secretary

Delegation of Authority Under the Federal Committee Act

Delegation of Authority

Notice is hereby given that I have delegated to the Operating Division Heads and the Assistant Secretary for Public Affairs the authority to make determinations that committee meetings or portions thereof may be closed to the public pursuant to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552b(c), and 5 U.S.C. App. 2 section 10(d), section 10(d) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act (Pub. L. 92-463) and as hereafter amended.

This authority is to be exercised in accordance with the requirements of the Act and General Services Administration and Departmental regulations, and provided:

(a) The meeting is closed for the shortest time necessary, a summary of the work of the committee during the closed session is made, and a report prepared by the Executive Secretary will be made available promptly to the public;

(b) When feasible, the public is given a timely opportunity to present relevant information to the committee.

Limitations

Concurrence for closing the meeting for such purpose is obtained from the Office of Public Affairs and the appropriate attorney in the Office of the General Counsel.

The Assistant Secretary for Health may redelegate this authority to PHS Agency Heads who may redelegate to a single official that reports directly to the Agency Head.

All other OPDIV Heads may redelegate this authority to a single official who reports directly to the OPDIV Head.

No further redelegation may be made.

Supersession

This authority supersedes the January 5, 1973 delegation of authority under the Federal Advisory Committee Act from the Secretary.

Effective Date

This delegation becomes effective on October 23, 1992.

Dated: October 23, 1992.

Louis W. Sullivan,

Secretary.

Advisory Committee to the Director, Centers for Disease Control; Meeting

In accordance with section 10(a)(2) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act (Pub. L. 92-463), the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) announces the following committee meeting.

Name: Advisory Committee to the Director, CDC.

Time and Date: 8:30 a.m.-3 p.m., December 3, 1992.

Place: CDC, Auditorium A, 1600 Clifton Road, NE., Atlanta, Georgia 30333.

Status: Open to the public, limited only by the space available.

Purpose: This committee will advise the Director, CDC, on policy issues and broad strategies that will enable CDC, the Nation's prevention agency, to fulfill its mission of preventing unnecessary disease, disability, and premature death, and promoting health. The committee will recommend ways to incorporate prevention activities more fully into health care. It will also provide guidance to help CDC work more effectively with its various constituents, in both the private and public sectors, to make prevention a practical reality.

Matters To Be Discussed: This is the initial meeting of the Advisory Committee to the Director, CDC. The agenda will include introductions and a charge to the committee; an overview of CDC, including information about its history, mission, organizational structure, and program priorities; and presentation and response to the results of CDC's strategic thinking process. Agenda items are subject to change as priorities dictate.

Contact Person for More Information: Martha F. Katz, Executive Secretary, Advisory Committee to the Director, CDC, 1600 Clifton Road, NE., Mailstop D-23, Atlanta, Georgia 30333, telephone 404/639-3243.

Idaho National Engineering Laboratory Environmental Dose Reconstruction Project; Public Meetings

The National Center for Environmental Health (NCEH), Centers for Disease Control (CDC), announces the following meetings.

Name: Idaho National Engineering Laboratory Environmental Dose Reconstruction Project.

Date: November 18, 1992.

Time: 7 p.m.-9 p.m.

Place: Holiday Inn, 414 West Appleway, Coeur D'Alene, Idaho 83814.

Date: November 17, 1992.

Time: 7 p.m.-9 p.m.

Place: Owyhee Plaza Hotel, 1109 Main Street, Boise, Idaho 83702.

Date: November 18, 1992.

Time: 7 p.m.-9 p.m.

Place: Canyon Springs Inn, 1357 Blue Lakes Blvd., North, Twin Falls, Idaho 83391.

Date: November 19, 1992.

Time: 7 p.m.-9 p.m.

Place: Shilo Inn, 780 Lindsay Blvd., Idaho Falls, Idaho 83402.

Status: Open to the public for observation and comment, limited only by space available. The meeting rooms accommodate approximately 100 people.

Purpose: Under a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the Department of Energy (DOE), the Department of Health and Human Services has been given the responsibility and resources for conducting analytic epidemiologic investigations of residents of communities in the vicinity of DOE facilities and other persons potentially exposed to radiation or to potential hazards from non-nuclear energy production and use.

An initial step in an analytic epidemiologic study for persons living offsite of a given DOE facility is the reconstruction of radiation doses due to releases from that facility. CDC is beginning such an environmental dose reconstruction for DOE's Idaho National Engineering Laboratory near Idaho Falls, Idaho. A contractor has been selected to begin gathering the data necessary to perform the dose reconstruction and to provide for logistics of public involvement in this project. The purpose of these public meetings is to introduce the contractor to the community, to outline the project for the public, and to solicit public comments and suggestions on all aspects of the dose reconstruction.

Agenda items are subject to change as priorities dictate.

BILLING CODE 4160-19-M

Food and Drug Administration

Clinical Studies of Safety and Effectiveness of Orphan Products; Availability of Grants; Request for Applications

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is announcing the availability of funds for fiscal year FY 1993 for awarding grants to support clinical trials on safety and effectiveness of orphan products in rare diseases and conditions (i.e., one affecting fewer than 200,000 people in the United States). Contingent on availability of FY 1993 funds, FDA intends to award approximately $3 million for 15 to 20 grants of up to $100,000 each in direct costs per annum for up to 3 years. Applications exceeding this direct cost limit will be considered nonresponsive and will be returned to the applicant. An investigational new drug (IND) or investigational device exemption (IDE) number must appear on the face page of the application with the title of the project. Applicants may submit either an application under this announcement (RFA-FDA-OP-93-1) or under RFA-FDA-OP-93-2, but may not submit under both for the same product and indication.

DATES: The closing date of submission of applications is February 1, 1993.

ADDRESSES: Application forms are available from, and completed applications should be submitted to: Robert L. Robins, Grants Management Officer, State Contracts and Assistance Agreements Branch (HFA-520), Food and Drug Administration, Park Bldg., rm. 3-40, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, 301-443-6170.

Note: Applications hand-carried or commercially delivered should be addressed to the Park Bldg., rm. 3-40, 12420 Parklawn Dr., Rockville, MD 20857. Do not send applications to the Division of Research Grants, National Institutes of Health (NIH).

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Regarding the administrative and financial management aspects of this notice: Robert L. Robins, address above.

Regarding the programmatic aspects of this notice: Carol A. Wetmore or Patricia R. Robuck, Office of Orphan Products Development (HF-35), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, rm. 8-73, Rockville, MD 20857, 301-443-4903.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: FDA will support and fund the clinical studies covered by this notice under section 301 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 241). FDA's research program is described in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance, No. 93.103.

The Public Health Service (PHS) urges applicants to submit work plans that address specific objectives of "Healthy People 2000." Potential applicants may obtain a copy of "Healthy People 2000" (Full Report, stock No. 017-001-00474-0) or "Healthy People 2000" (Summary Report, stock No. 017-001-00473-1) through the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402-9325, 202-783-3238.

I. Background

The Office of Orphan Products Development (OPD) was established to identify and facilitate the availability of orphan products. In the OPD grants program, orphan products are defined as drugs, biologics, medical devices, and foods for medical purposes which are indicated for a rare disease or condition

(i.e., one affecting fewer than 200,000 people in the United States).

One way to make orphan products available is to support clinical research to determine whether the products are safe and effective. FDA has allocated funds to support such research since FY 1983. All funded studies are subject to the requirements of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the act) and regulations promulgated thereunder. The grants are funded under the legislative authority of section 301 of the Public Health Service Act.

II. Research Goals and Objectives

A. Clinical Studies

The goal of FDA's OPD grants program is to encourage clinical development of products for use in rare diseases or conditions. In the furtherance of this goal, FDA provides grants to conduct clinical studies intended to provide data acceptable to the agency which will either result in or substantially contribute to approval of these products. Applicants should keep this goal in mind and must include an explanation in the "Specific Aims" section of the application of how their proposed study will either facilitate product approval or provide essential data needed for product development. The application will be considered nonresponsive without this explanation in the "Specific Aims" section.

Except for medical foods that do not require premarket approval, FDA will only consider awarding grants to support clinical studies for determining whether the products are safe and effective for premarket approval under the act (21 U.S.C. 301 et seq.) or under section 351 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 262). In most cases, preliminary clinical research suggesting effectiveness and relative safety will already be available.

Applications should propose a clinical trial of one therapy for one indication. The applicant must provide supporting evidence that sufficient quantity of the product to be investigated is available to the applicant in the form needed for the clinical trial. The applicant must also provide supporting evidence that the patient population has been surveyed and that there is reasonable assurance that the necessary number of eligible patients is available for the study.

The typical study that FDA will consider for support may involve up to several dozen subjects, will be well-controlled, and will be designed to provide substantial evidence of the safety and effectiveness of the product.

FDA's standards for adequate and well-controlled studies should be followed. In designing a well-controlled study, the investigator should especially keep in mind that historical controls or use of the subjects as their own control is generally less desirable and reliable than active control or placebo controls. The applicant's proposal should provide a rationale for use of the control method chosen to satisfy considerations of scientific quality.

B. Significance

All investigators submitting a grant application for a proposed orphan use in response to this request for applications must include in the "Specific Aims" section of the "Research Plan" of their application an explanation of why the product and the proposed indication for use meet the objectives of the OPD grants program as described in the "Background" section of this notice. Unless the product has previously been designated as an orphan product, documentation with authoritative references must be provided to demonstrate that the disease or condition for which the product is intended affects fewer than 200,000 people in the United States or, if the product is a vaccine, diagnostic drug, or preventive drug, the persons to whom the drug will be administered in the United States are fewer than 200,000 per year. Supporting documentation may be placed in an appendix if referred to in the "Specific Aims" section. The application will be considered nonresponsive if this explanation is not supported adequately with data and/or reference citations in the "Specific Aims" section.

C. Statistical Support

Statistical expertise is vital in the planning, design, execution, and analysis of clinical investigations and clinical pharmacology to ensure the validity of estimates of safety and efficacy obtained from human studies. Applicants are expected to provide a statistical justification for the number of patients chosen for the trial based on the proposed outcome measures. Applicants should also document the appropriateness of the statistical procedures to be used in analysis of the results.

D. Journal References

Published reports are necessary and often critical for the review process and help to support the investigator's research intent. Applicants may include copies of reprints of relevant references for FDA review. This should include favorable as well as unfavorable reports. Applicants should follow "Section D., Specific Instructions—

Appendix," of the application kit (the original and five copies if using Grant Application Form PHS 398 or the original and two copies of Form PHS 5161). The application may be returned if the applicant fails to observe the Appendix size limitations.

III. Human Subject Protection and Informed Consent

A. Research Involving Human Subjects

Applicants should carefully review the section on human subjects in the application kit. "Section B. Specific Instructions—Forms, Item 4, Human Subjects," on pages 11 through 13 of the application kit should be carefully reviewed for the certification of Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval requirements. Documentation of IRB approval for every participating center is required to be on file with the Grants Management Officer, FDA. The goal should be to include enough information on the protection of human subjects in a sufficiently clear fashion so reviewers will have adequate material to make a complete review.

B. Informed Consent

Consent and/or assent forms and any additional information to be given to a subject should accompany the grant application. Information that is given to the subject or the subject's representative shall be in language that the subject or his or her representative can understand. No informed consent, whether oral or written, may include any language through which the subject or the subject's representative is made to waive any of the subject's legal rights, or by which the subject or representative releases or appears to release the investigator, the sponsor, or the institution or its agent from liability.

If a study involves both adults and children, separate consent forms must be provided for the adults and the parents or guardians of the children.

C. Elements of Informed Consent

The elements of informed consent are as stated in the regulations at 45 CFR 46.116 and 21 CFR 50.25 as follows:

1. Basic elements of informed consent. In seeking informed consent, the following information shall be provided to each subject.

(a) A statement that the study involves research, an explanation of the purposes of the research and the expected duration of the subject's participation, a description of the procedures to be followed, and identification of any procedures which are experimental.

(b) A description of any reasonably foreseeable risks or discomforts to the subject.

(c) A description of any benefits to the subject or to others which may reasonably be expected from the research.

(d) A disclosure of appropriate alternative procedures or courses of treatment, if any, that might be advantageous to the subject.

(e) A statement that describes the extent, if any, to which confidentiality of records identifying the subject will be maintained, and that notes the possibility that FDA may inspect the records.

(f) For research involving more than minimal risk, an explanation as to whether any compensation and any medical treatments are available if injury occurs and, if so, what they consist of or where further information may be obtained.

(g) An explanation of whom to contact for answers to pertinent questions about the research and research subject's rights, and whom to contact in the event of research-related injury to the subject.

(h) A statement that participation is voluntary, that refusal to participate will involve no penalty or loss of benefits to which the subject is otherwise entitled, and that the subject may discontinue participation at any time without penalty or loss of benefits to which the subject is otherwise entitled.

2. Additional elements of informed consent. When appropriate, one or more of the following elements of information shall also be provided to each subject.

(a) A statement that the particular treatment or procedure may involve risks to the subject (or the embryo or fetus, if the subject is or may become pregnant) which are currently unforeseeable.

(b) Anticipated circumstances under which the subject's participation may be terminated by the investigator without regard to the subject's consent.

(c) Any costs to the subject that may result from participation in the research.

(d) The consequences of a subject's decision to withdraw from the research and procedures for orderly termination of participation by the subject.

(e) A statement that significant new findings developed during the course of the research which may relate to the subject's willingness to continue participation will be provided to the subject.

(f) The approximate number of subjects involved in the study.

The informed consent requirements are not intended to preempt any applicable Federal, State, or local laws which require additional information to be disclosed for informed consent to be legally effective.

Nothing in the notice is intended to limit the authority of a physician to provide emergency medical care to the extent that a physician is permitted to do so under applicable Federal, State, or local law.

IV. Reporting Requirements

An annual Financial Status Report (SF-269) is required. The original and two copies of this report must be submitted to FDA's Grants Management Officer within 90 days of the budget expiration date of the grant. Failure to file the Financial Status Report (SF-269) on time will be grounds for suspension or termination of the grant.

For continuing grants, an annual program progress report is also required. The noncompeting continuation application (PHS 2590) will be considered the annual program progress report.

A final program progress report, Financial Status Report (SF-269) and Invention Statement must be submitted within 90 days after the expiration of the project period as noted on the Notice of Grant Award.

Program monitoring of grantees will be conducted on an ongoing basis and written reports will be done by the project officer. The monitoring may be in the form of telephone conversations between the project officer/grants management specialist and the principal investigator and/or a site visit with appropriate officials of the grantee organization. The results of these reports will be recorded in the official grant file and may be available to the grantee upon request.

V. Mechanism of Support

A. Award Instrument

Support will be in the form of a grant. All awards will be subject to all policies and requirements that govern the research grant programs of PHS, including the provisions of 42 CFR part 52 and 45 CFR parts 74 and 92. The regulations promulgated under Executive Order 12372 do not apply to this program.

All grant awards are subject to applicable requirements for clinical investigations imposed by sections 505, 507, 512, and 515 of the act (21 U.S.C. 355, 357, 360b, and 360e), section 351 of the Public Health Service Act, and regulations promulgated under any of these sections.

B. Eligibility

These grants are available to any public or private nonprofit entity (including State and local units of government) and any for-profit entity. For-profit entities must exclude fees or profit from their request for support.

C. Length of Support

The length of the study will depend upon the nature of the study. For those studies with an expected duration of more than 1 year, a second and third year of noncompetitive continuation of support will depend on: (1) Performance during the preceding year and (2) the availability of Federal fiscal year appropriations.

D. Funding Plan

The number of studies funded will depend on the quality of the applications received and the availability of Federal funds to support the projects. Before an award will be made, the status of the IND or the IDE will be verified. Further, documentation of IRB approvals for all performance sites must be on file with the Grants Management Officer, FDA (address above).

Resources for this program are limited. Therefore, should FDA approve two or more applications which propose duplicative or very similar studies, FDA will support only the study with the best score.

VI. Review Procedure and Criteria

A. Review Method

All applications submitted in response to this request for applications will first be reviewed by grants management and program staff for responsiveness to this request for applications. If applications are found to be nonresponsive, they will be returned to the applicant. Applicants may submit either an application under this announcement (RFA-FDA-OP-93-1) or under RFA-FDA-OP-93-2, but may not submit under both.

Responsive applications will be reviewed and evaluated for scientific and technical merit by a panel of experts in the subject field of the specific application. Responsive applications will also be subject to a second level of review by a National Advisory Council for concurrence of the recommendations made by the first-level reviewers with funding decisions made by the Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

B. Responsiveness Review Criteria

Before the applications are sent out for the first level review, they will be evaluated by program and grants management staff for responsiveness according to the following criteria:

1. Whether the application proposes a clinical trial to determine safety and efficacy of an orphan product;

2. Whether a well-supported explanation is included (supplemented as appropriate with documentation in the appendices) as to why the product is appropriate to the objectives of the OPD grants program;

3. Whether an explanation has been included as to how the proposed study will either facilitate product approval or provide essential data needed for product development;

4. Whether the IND/IDE number is noted on the face page of the application with the title of the project;

5. Whether the product is subject to FDA review prior to marketing. (Medical foods will be exempt when they are not subject to premarket approval requirements.); and

6. Whether the requested budget is within the limits (up to $100,000 in direct costs) as stated in this request for applications.

Applications considered nonresponsive will be returned to the applicant.

C. Scientific/Technical Review Criteria

For the first level of review, the scientific and technical merit criteria are:

1. The soundness of the rationale for the proposed study;

2. The quality and appropriateness of the study design;

3. The statistical justification for the number of patients chosen for the trial, based on the proposed outcome measures and the appropriateness of the statistical procedures to be used in analysis of the results;

4. The adequacy of the evidence that the proposed number of eligible subjects can be recruited;

5. The qualifications of the investigator and support staff and resources available to them;

6. The evidence that a sufficient quantity of the product is available to the applicant in the form needed for the investigation. (A current letter from the supplier as an appendix will be acceptable.);

7. The adequacy of the justification for the request for financial support;

8. The adequacy of plans for complying with regulations for protection of human subjects; and

9. The ability of the applicant to complete the proposed study within its budget and within time limitations stated in this request for applications.

The priority score will be based on the above scientific/technical review criteria (section VI.C.). In addition, the reviewers may advise the program staff concerning the appropriateness of the proposal to the objectives of the OPD Grants Program.

VII. Submission Requirements

The original and five copies of the completed Grant Application Form PHS 398 (Rev. 9/91) or the original and two copies of Form PHS 5161 (Rev. 3/89) for State and local governments, with copies of the appendices for each of the copies, should be delivered to Robert L. Robins (address above). No supplemental material will be accepted after the closing date. Evidence of final IRB approval will be accepted for the file after the closing date, but it will not be sent out to the first level reviewers.

The outside of the mailing package and item 2 of the application face page should be labeled, "Response to RFA-FDA-OP-93-1."

VIII. Method of Application

A. Submission Instructions

Applications will be accepted during normal working hours, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, on or before February 1, 1993. Applications will be considered received on time if sent on or before the closing date(s) as evidenced by a legible U.S. Postal Service dated postmark or a legible date receipt from a commercial carrier, unless they arrive too late for orderly processing. Private, metered postmarks shall not be acceptable as proof of timely mailing. Applications not received on time will not be considered for review and will be returned to the applicant.

Note: Applicants should note that the U.S. Postal Service does not uniformly provide dated postmarks. Before relying on the method, applicants should check with their local post office.

B. Format for Application

Applications must be submitted on Grant Application Form PHS 398 (Rev. 9/91). All "General Instructions" and "Specific Instructions" in the application kit should be followed with the exception of the receipt dates and the mailing label address. Do not send applications to the Division of Research Grants, NIH. Applications from State and local governments should be submitted on Form PHS 5161 (Rev. 3/89). The face page of the application must reflect the request for applications number RFA-FDA-OP-93-1. The title of the proposed study must include the name of the product and the disease/disorder to be studied along with the IND/IDE number. Data included in the application, if restricted with the legend specified below, may be entitled to confidential treatment as trade secret or confidential commercial information within the meaning of the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(4)) and FDA's implementing regulations (21 CFR 20.61).

Information collection requirements requested on Form PHS 398 and the instructions have been submitted by PHS to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) and were approved and assigned OMB control number 0925-0001.

C. Legend

Unless disclosure is required by the Freedom of Information Act as amended (5 U.S.C. 552) as determined by the freedom of information officials of the Department of Health and Human Services or by a court, data contained in the portions of this application which have been specifically identified by page number, paragraph, etc., by the applicant as containing restricted information shall not be used or disclosed except for evaluation purposes.

Dated: September 30, 1992.

Michael R. Taylor,

Deputy Commissioner for Policy.

[FR Doc. 92-26682 Filed 11-2-92; 8:45 a.m.]

BILLING CODE 4160-01-F

Clinical Studies of Safety and Effectiveness of Orphan Products; Availability of Grants; Request for Applications

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is announcing the availability of funds for fiscal year (FY) 1993 for awarding grants to support phase 2 and phase 3 clinical trials on safety and effectiveness of orphan products in rare diseases and conditions (i.e., one affecting fewer than 200,000 people in the United States). Contingent on availability of FY 1993 funds, FDA intends to award no more than $1.2 million a year for up to four grants. Each award will be for up to $200,000 in direct costs per annum plus applicable indirect costs for up to 2 years. Applications exceeding this direct cost limit will be considered nonresponsive and will be returned to the applicant. An investigational new drug (IND) or investigational device exemption (IDE) number must appear on the face page of the application with the title of the project. Applicants may submit either a application under this announcement (RFA-FDA-OP-93-2) or under RFA-

FDA-OP-93-1, but may not submit under both for the same product and indication.

DATES: The closing date for submission of applications is February 1, 1993.

ADDRESSES: Application forms are available from, and completed applications should be submitted to: Robert L. Robins, Grants Management Officer, State Contracts and Assistance Agreements Branch (HFA-520), Food and Drug Administration, Park Bldg., rm. 3-40, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857, 301-443-6170.

NOTE: Applications hand-carried or commercially delivered should be addressed to Park Bldg., rm. 3-40, 12420 Parklawn Dr., Rockville, MD 20857. Do not send applications to the Division of Research Grants, National Institutes of Health (NIH).

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Regarding the administrative and financial management aspects of this notice: Robert L. Robins, address above.

Regarding the programmatic aspects of this notice: Carol A. Wetmore or Patricia R. Robuck, Office of Orphan Products Development (HF-35), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, rm. 8-73, Rockville, MD 20857, 301-443-4903.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: FDA will support the clinical studies covered by this notice under section 301 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 241). FDA's research program is described in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance, No. 93.103.

The Public Health Service (PHS) urges applicants to submit work plans that address specific objectives of the publication "Healthy People 2000." Potential applicants may obtain a copy of "Healthy People 2000" (Full Report; Stock No. 017-001-00474-0) or "Healthy People 2000" (Summary Report; Stock No. 017-001-00473-1) through the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402-9325, 202-783-3238.

I. Background

The Office of Orphan Products Development (OPD) was established to identify and facilitate the availability of orphan products. In the OPD grants program, orphan products are defined as drugs, biologics, medical devices, and foods for medical purposes which are indicated for a rare disease or condition (i.e., one affecting fewer than 200,000 people in the United States).

One way to make orphan products available is to support clinical research to determine whether the products are safe and effective. FDA has allocated funds to support such research since FY 1983. All funded studies are subject to the requirements of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the act) and regulations promulgated thereunder. The grants are funded under the legislative authority of section 301 of the Public Health Service Act.

II. Research Goals and Objectives

A. Clinical Studies

The goal of FDA's OPD grants program is to encourage clinical development of products for use in rare diseases or conditions. In furtherance of this goal, FDA provides grants to conduct clinical studies intended to provide data acceptable to the agency which will either result in or substantially contribute to approval of these products. Applicants should keep this goal in mind and must include an explanation in the "Specific Aims" section of the application of how their proposed study will either facilitate product approval or provide essential data needed for product development. The application will be considered nonresponsive without this explanation in the "Specific Aims" section.

Except for medical foods that do not require premarket approval, FDA will only consider awarding grants to support clinical studies for determining whether the products are safe and effective for premarket approval under the act (21 U.S.C. 301 et seq.) or under section 351 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 262). In most cases, preliminary clinical research suggesting effectiveness and relative safety will be already available.

Studies submitted in response to this announcement must be continuing in phase 2 or phase 3 of investigation. Phase 2 trials include controlled clinical studies conducted to evaluate the effectiveness of the drug for a particular indication in patients with the disease or condition and to determine the common or short-term side effects and risks associated with the drug. Phase 3 trials gather additional information about effectiveness and safety that is necessary to evaluate the overall benefit-risk relationship of the drug and to provide an adequate basis for physician labeling. Phase 1 studies will be considered nonresponsive to this announcement. (See announcement RFA-FDA-OP-93-1.)

Applications should propose a clinical trial of one therapy for one indication. The applicant must provide supporting evidence that a sufficient quantity of the product to be investigated is available to the applicant in the form needed for the clinical trial. The applicant must also provide supporting evidence that the patient population has been surveyed and that there is reasonable assurance that the necessary number of eligible patients is available for the study.

The typical study that FDA will consider for support may involve up to several dozen subjects, will be well-controlled, and will be designed to provide substantial evidence of the safety and effectiveness of the product.

FDA's standards for adequate and well-controlled studies should be followed. In designing a well-controlled study, the investigator should especially keep in mind that historical controls or use of the subjects as their own control is generally less desirable and reliable than active control or placebo controls. The applicant's proposal should provide a rationale for use of the control method chosen to satisfy considerations of scientific quality.

B. Significance

All investigators submitting a grant application for a proposed orphan use in response to this request for applications must include in the "Specific Aims" section of the "Research Plan" of their application, an explanation of why the product and the proposed indication for use meet the objectives of the OPD grants program as described in the "Background" section of this notice. Unless the product has previously been designated as an orphan product, documentation with authoritative references must be provided to demonstrate that the disease or condition for which the product is intended affects fewer than 200,000 people in the United States or, if the product is a vaccine, diagnostic drug, or preventive drug, the persons to whom the drug will be administered in the United States are fewer than 200,000 per year. Supporting documentation may be placed in an appendix if referred to in the "Specific Aims" section. The application will be considered nonresponsive if this explanation is not supported adequately with the data and/or reference citations in the "Specific Aims" section.

C. Statistical Support

Statistical expertise is vital in the planning, design, execution, and analysis of clinical investigations and clinical pharmacology to ensure the validity of estimates of safety and efficacy obtained from human studies. Applicants are expected to provide a statistical justification for the number of patients chosen for the trial based on the proposed outcome measures. Applicants should also document the appropriateness of the statistical procedures to be used in analysis of the results.

D. Journal References

Published reports are necessary and often critical for the review process and help to support the investigator's research intent. Applicants may include copies of reprints of relevant references for FDA review. This should include favorable as well as unfavorable reports. Applicants should follow Section D., Specific Instructions—Appendix of the application kit (the original and five copies if using Grant Application Form PHS 398 (Rev. 9/91) or the original and two copies of the PHS 5161 (Rev. 3/89)). The application may be returned if the applicant fails to observe the Appendix size limitations.

III. Human Subject Protection and Informed Consent

A. Research Involving Human Subjects

Applicants should carefully review the section on human subjects in the application kit. Section B. Specific Instructions—Forms, Item 4. Human Subjects, on pages 11 through 13 of the application kit should be carefully reviewed for the certification of Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval requirements. Documentation of IRB approval for every participating center is required to be on file with the Grants Management Officer, FDA. The goal should be to include enough information on the protection of human subjects in a sufficiently clear fashion so reviewers will have adequate material to make a complete review.

B. Informed Consent

Consent and/or assent forms and any additional information to be given to a subject should accompany the grant application. Information that is given to the subject or the subject's representative shall be in language that the subject or his or her representative can understand. No informed consent, whether oral or written, may include any language through which the subject or the subject's representative is made to waive any of the subject's legal rights, or by which the subject or representative releases or appears to release the investigator, the sponsor, or the institution or its agent from liability.

If a study involves both adults and children, separate consent forms must be provided for the adults and the parents or guardians of the children.

C. Elements of Informed Consent

The elements of informed consent are as stated in the regulations at 45 CFR 46.116 and 21 CFR 50.25 as follows:

1. Basic elements of informed consent. In seeking informed consent, the following information shall be provided to each subject:

(a) A statement that the study involves research, an explanation of the purposes of the research and the expected duration of the subject's participation, a description of the procedures to be followed, and identification of any procedures which are experimental.

(b) A description of any reasonably foreseeable risks or discomforts to the subject.

(c) A description of any benefits to the subject or to others which may reasonably be expected from the research.

(d) A disclosure of appropriate alternative procedures or courses of treatment, if any, that might be advantageous to the subject.

(e) A statement that describes the extent, if any, to which confidentiality of records identifying the subject will be maintained, and that notes the possibility that FDA may inspect the records.

(f) For research involving more than minimal risk, an explanation as to whether any compensation and any medical treatments are available if injury occurs and, if so, what they consist of or where further information may be obtained.

(g) An explanation of whom to contact for answers to pertinent questions about the research and research subject's rights, and whom to contact in the event of research-related injury to the subject.

(h) A statement that participation is voluntary, that refusal to participate will involve no penalty or loss of benefits to which the subject is otherwise entitled, and that the subject may discontinue participation at any time without penalty or loss of benefits to which the subject is otherwise entitled.

2. Additional elements of informed consent. When appropriate, one or more of the following elements of information shall also be provided to each subject:

(a) A statement that the particular treatment or procedure may involve risks to the subject (or the embryo or fetus, if the subject is or may become pregnant) which are currently unforeseeable.

(b) Anticipated circumstances under which the subject's participation may be terminated by the investigator without regard to the subject's consent.

(c) Any costs to the subject that may result from participation in the research.

(d) The consequences of a subject's decision to withdraw from the research and procedures for orderly termination of participation by the subject.

(e) A statement that significant new findings developed during the course of the research which may relate to the subject's willingness to continue participation will be provided to the subject.

(f) The approximate number of subjects involved in the study.

The informed consent requirements are not intended to preempt any applicable Federal, State, or local laws which require additional information to be disclosed for informed consent to be legally effective.

Nothing in the notice is intended to limit the authority of a physician to provide emergency medical care to the extent that a physician is permitted to do so under applicable Federal, State, or local law.

IV. Reporting Requirements

An annual Financial Status Report (FSR) (SF-269) is required. An original FSR and two copies of this report must be submitted to FDA's Grants Management Officer within 90 days of the budget expiration date of the grant. Failure to file the FSR (SF-269) in a timely fashion will be grounds for suspension or termination of the grant.

For continuing grants, an annual program progress report is also required. The noncompeting continuation application (PHS 2590) will be considered the annual program progress report.

A final program progress report, FSR (SF-269) and Invention Statement must be submitted within 90 days after the expiration of the project period as noted on the Notice of Grant Award.

Program monitoring of grantees will be conducted on an ongoing basis and written reports will be done by the project officer. The monitoring may be in the form of telephone conversations between the project officer/grants management specialist and the principal investigator and/or a site visit with appropriate officials of the grantee organization. The results of these reports will be recorded in the official grant file and may be available to the grantee upon request.

V. Mechanism of Support

A. Award Instrument

Support for this program will be in the form of a grant. All awards will be subject to all policies and requirements that govern the research grant programs of PHS, including the provisions of 42 CFR Part 52 and 45 CFR Parts 74 and 92. The regulations promulgated under Executive Order 12372 do not apply to this program.

All grant awards are subject to applicable requirements for clinical investigations imposed by sections 505, 507, 512, and 515 of the act (21 U.S.C. 355, 357, 360b, and 360e), section 351 of the Public Health Service Act, and regulations promulgated under any of these sections.

B. Eligibility

These grants are available to any public or private nonprofit entity (including State and local units of government) and any for-profit entity. For-profit entities must exclude fees or profit from their request for support.

C. Length of Support

The length of the study will depend upon the nature of the study. For those studies with an expected duration of more than 1 year, a second year of noncompetitive continuation of support will depend on: (1) Performance during the preceding year and (2) the availability of Federal fiscal year appropriations.

D. Funding Plan

The number of studies funded will depend on the quality of the applications received and the availability of Federal funds to support the projects. No more than four awards will be made. Before an award will be made, the status of the IND or the IDE will be verified. Further, documentation of IRB approvals for all performance sites must be on file with the Grants Management Officer, FDA (address above).

Resources for this program are limited. Therefore, should FDA approve two or more applications which propose duplicative or very similar studies, FDA will support only the study with the best score.

VI. Review Procedures and Criteria

A. Review Methods

All applications submitted in response to this request for applications will first be reviewed by grants management and program staff for responsiveness to this request for applications. If applications are found to be nonresponsive, they will be returned to the applicant. Applicants may submit either an application under this announcement (RFA-FDA-OP-93-2) or under RFA-FDA-OP-93-1, but may not submit under both.

Responsive applications will be reviewed and evaluated for scientific and technical merit by experts in the subject field of the specific application. Responsive applications will also be subject to a second level of review by a National Advisory Council for concurrence of the recommendations made by the first-level reviewers with funding decisions made by the Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

B. Responsiveness Review Criteria

Before the applications are sent out for the first level review, they will be evaluated by program and grants management staff for responsiveness according to the following criteria:

1. Whether the application proposes a clinical trial, conducted in phase 2 or phase 3 of the study to determine safety and efficacy of an orphan product. (Phase 1 studies will be considered nonresponsive. Please see RFA-FDA-OP-93-1.);

2. Whether a well-supported explanation is included (supplemented as appropriate with documentation in the appendices) as to why the product is appropriate to the objectives of the OPD grants program;

3. Whether an explanation has been included as to how the proposed study will either facilitate product approval or provide essential data needed for product development;

4. Whether the IND/IDE number is noted on the face page of the application with the title of the project;

5. Whether the product is subject to FDA review prior to marketing. Medical foods will be exempt when they are not subject to premarket approval requirements; and

6. Whether the requested budget is within the limits (up to $200,000 in direct costs) as stated in this request for applications.

Applications considered nonresponsive will be returned to the applicant.

C. Scientific/Technical Review Criteria

For the first level of review, the scientific and technical merit criteria are:

1. The soundness of the rationale for the proposed study;

2. The quality and appropriateness of the study design;

3. The statistical justification for the number of patients chosen for the trial, based on the proposed outcome measures and the appropriateness of the statistical procedures to be used in analysis of the results;

4. The adequacy of the evidence that the proposed number of eligible subjects can be recruited;

5. The qualifications of the investigator and support staff and resources available to them;

6. The evidence that a sufficient quantity of the product is available to the applicant in the form needed for the investigation (a current letter from the supplier as an appendix will be acceptable);

7. The adequacy of the justification for the request for financial support;

8. The adequacy of plans for complying with regulations for protection of human subjects; and

9. The ability of the applicant to complete the proposed study within its budget and within time limitations stated in this request for applications.

The priority score will be based on the scientific/technical review criteria (section VI. C.). In addition, the reviewers may advise the program staff concerning the appropriateness of the proposal to the objectives of the OPD Grants Program.

VII. Submission Requirements

The original and five copies of the completed Grant Application Form PHS 398 (Rev. 9/91) or the original and two copies of the PHS 5161 (Rev. 3/89) for State and local governments, with sufficient copies of the appendix for each application, should be delivered to Robert L. Robins (address above). No supplemental material will be accepted after the closing date. Evidence of final IRB approval will be accepted for the file after the closing date, but it will not be sent out to the first level reviewers.

The outside of the mailing package and item No. 2 of the application face page should be labeled, "Response to RFA-FDA-OP-93-2."

VIII. Method of Application

A. Submission Instructions

Applications will be accepted during normal working hours, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, on or before February 1, 1993. Applications will be considered received on time if sent on or before the closing date as evidenced by a legible U.S. Postal Service dated postmark or a legible dated receipt from a commercial carrier, unless they arrive too late for orderly processing. Private metered postmarks shall not be acceptable as proof of timely mailing. Applications not received on time will not be considered for review and will be returned to the applicant.

NOTE: Applicants should note that the U.S. Postal Service does not uniformly provide dated postmarks. Before relying on the method, applicants should check with their local post office.

B. Format for Application

Applications must be submitted on Grant Application Form PHS 398 (Rev. 9/91). All "General Instructions" and "Specific Instructions" in the application kit should be followed with the exception of the receipt dates and the mailing label address. Do not send applications to the Division of Research Grants, NIH. Applications from State and local governments should be submitted on Form PHS 5161 (Rev. 3/89). The face page of the application must reflect the request for applications number RFA-FDA-OP-93-2. The title of the proposed study must include the name of the product and the disease/disorder to be studied along with the IND/IDE number. Data included in the application, if restricted with the legend specified below, may be entitled to confidential treatment as trade secret or confidential commercial information within the meaning of the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(4)) and FDA's implementing regulations (21 CFR 20.61).

Information collection requirements requested on Form PHS 398 and the instructions have been submitted by PHS to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) and were approved and assigned OMB control number 0925-0001.

C. Legend

Unless disclosure is required by the Freedom of Information Act as amended (5 U.S.C. 552) as determined by the freedom of information officials of the Department of Health and Human Services or by a court, data contained in the portions of an application which have been specifically identified by page number, paragraph, etc., by the applicant as containing confidential information or other information that is exempt from public disclosure will not be used or disclosed except for evaluation purposes.

Meeting of the California Desert District Advisory Council

SUMMARY: Notice is hereby given, in accordance with Public Laws 92-463 and 94-579, that the California Desert District Advisory Council to the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Department of the Interior, will meet in formal session Friday, December 4, 1992, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Needles City Hall at 111 Bailey Avenue in Needles, California.

Agenda items for the meetings will include:

- Introduction of the new California Desert District Manager, Henri Bisson.
- Status review of wind energy issues in the Tehachapi area.
- Status report on the vehicle route designation update.
- Update on Southern California Area Governments (SCAG) open space planning effort.
- Report on the new national mining claim rental fee.
- Briefing and update on the California Desert Conservation Area Plan - Amendments including the motor vehicle access amendment.
- Report on Bighorn Sheep planning initiatives.

All formal meetings are open to the public. Time is allocated for public comments, and time also may be made available by the Council Chairman during the presentation of various agenda items.

On Thursday, December 3, from 7:30 to 5 p.m., Council members will participate in a field trip through the East Mojave National Scenic Area, with scheduled stops at Camp Rock Springs, the Hole-in-the-Wall Information Center, Mid-Hills Campground, Kelso Depot, and Kelso Sand Dunes. The tour will focus on the management programs for each area.

The public is welcome to participate in the field tour, but should plan on providing their own transportation and drinks, as well as lunch on Thursday. Anyone interested in participating should contact BLM at (714) 697-5215 for more information. The tour will assemble at the Travelers Inn Motel, 1195 3rd Street in Needles at 7:15 a.m.

Written comments may be filed in advance of the meeting with the California Desert District Advisory Council Chairman, Mr. David Fisher, c/o Bureau of Land Management, Public Affairs Office, 6221 Box Springs Boulevard, Riverside, California 92507-0714. Written comments are also accepted at the time of the meeting and, if copies are provided to the recorder, will be incorporated into the minutes.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION AND MEETING CONFIRMATION: Contact the Bureau of Land Management, California Desert District, Public Affairs Office, 6221 Box Springs Boulevard, Riverside, California 92507; (714) 697-5215.

Realty Action

AGENCY: Bureau of Land Management, Interior.

ACTION: Notice of intent to prepare a planning amendment to the Royal Gorge Management Framework Plan and notice of realty action COC-53620, exchange of public land for private land in Fremont County, Colorado.

SUMMARY: The following described public lands are to be considered for suitability for disposal by exchange under section 206 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976, 43 U.S.C. 1716:

Sixth Principal Meridian, Colorado

T. 16 S., R. 69 W.,

Sec. 28: E½SE¼

This is an isolated 80-acre parcel of land in Fremont County approximately 6 miles south of Victor, Colorado. The parcel has no legal public access.

In exchange for the above, or some part thereof, the United States would acquire the following described private land of equal value from Mr. Paul Hall:

Sixth Principal Meridian, Colorado

T. 16 S., R. 69 W.

Sec. 27: NW¼NW¼

Sec. 28: NE¼NE¼ except Dolly Mack No 1 and No 2 lode mining claims, survey #11908.

This parcel includes approximately 72.8 acres in Fremont County located on Phantom Canyon Road, which is a part of the Gold Belt Scenic Byway. The historic townsite of Wilbur is also included within the boundaries of this parcel.

The publication of this notice segregates the public lands described above from the public land laws including the mining laws, except the mineral leasing act and exchange pursuant to section 206 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 for a period of 2 years.

DATES: Interested parties should submit comments prior to January 1, 1993.

ADDRESSES: Bureau of Land Management, Canon City District, P.O. Box 2200, Canon City, Colorado 81215-2200.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Jan Fackrell, Realty Tech at 3170 East Main St., Canon City, Colorado (719) 275-0631.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: An environmental assessment of the proposed action described herein will be made to determine if the action is in the public's best interest and what reservations on the patent are needed. Comments submitted by the public will be addressed by the environmental assessment. Equalization of the value of the exchange parcels will be through acreage adjustment or private cash payment.

Dated: October 22, 1992.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Lodging of Consent Decree Pursuant to Clean Water Act

In accordance with Departmental policy, 28 CFR 50.7, notice is hereby given that a consent decree in United States v. Biggi, et. al, Civ. No. 90-806 (D. Ore.), was lodged with the United States District Court for the District of Oregon on October 14, 1992.

The proposed consent decree concerns alleged violations of sections 301 and 404 of the Clean Water Act, 33 U.S.C. 1311, 1344, as a result of discharges of fill material onto portions of property located in Beaverton, Oregon, which are alleged to constitute "waters of the United States." The consent decree requires that the defendants comply with a plan that provides for wetlands mitigation, enhancement and restoration at five sites—totalling 7.63 acres—in the Beaverton area, as well as five years of monitoring to ensure the success of the work, and requires that they pay the additional sum of $10,000 to the United States.

The Department of Justice will receive, until thirty (30) days from the date of this notice, written comments relating to the proposed Consent Decree. Comments should be addressed to the United States Department of Justice, Assistant Attorney General, Environment and Natural Resources Division, 10th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, NW. 20530, to the attention of Lewis M. Barr, Attorney, Environmental Defense Section, and should refer to United States v. Biggi, et al., Civ. No. 90-806 (D. Ore.) and DJ Reference No. 90-5-1-1-3443.

The proposed Consent Decree may be examined at the Clerk's Office, United States District Court for the District of Oregon, 503 Gus J. Solomon United States Courthouse, 620 SW. Main Street, Portland, Oregon 97205 during regular business hours, or a copy may be requested from Lewis M. Barr (202) 514-4206.

BILLING CODE 4410-01-M

Lodging of Consent Decree Involving Claims Under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act

In accordance with Department policy, notice is hereby given that on October 5, 1992 a proposed Consent Decree in United States v. Shell Oil Company, Civil Action No. 83-C-2379, was lodged with the United States District Court for the District of Colorado. The Complaint in this case sought, pursuant to sections 104 and 107 of the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980 ("CERCLA"), as amended, 42 U.S.C. 9604 & 9607, response costs and natural resource damages attributable to releases or threatened releases of hazardous substances at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal, located adjacent to Denver, Colorado.

The proposed Consent Decree incorporates the extra-judicial Settlement Agreement previously executed by the parties, with an effective date of February 17, 1989. That document established a binding process to ensure the payment of response costs and natural resource damages and the implementation of other financial arrangements essential to the cleanup process.

The Department of Justice will receive for a period of thirty (30) days from the date of entry of this publication comments relating to the proposed Consent Decree. Comments should be addressed to the Assistant Attorney General of the Environment and Natural Resources Division, Department of Justice, P.O. Box 7611, Ben Franklin Station, Washington, DC 20044, and should refer to United States v. Shell Oil Company, DOJ Ref. No. 90-11-2-73.

The proposed Consent Decree may be examined at the Joint Administrative Record Facility, Rocky Mountain Arsenal, 72nd and Quebec, Commerce City, CO 80022, (303) 289-0362, and at the Region VIII Office of the Environmental Protection Agency, 999

Eighteenth Street, Suite 500 South, Denver, CO 80202, and at the Environmental Enforcement Section Document Center, 1333 F Street, NW., Suite 600, Washington, DC. 20004, (202) 347-7829. Copies of the proposed Consent Decree may be obtained in person or by mail from the Document Center. In requesting a copy, please enclose a check in the amount of $30.00 ($.25 per page reproduction costs) payable to: "Consent Decree Library."

Employment and Training Administration

Determinations Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents summaries of determinations regarding eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance issued during the period of October 1992.

In order for an affirmative determination to be made and a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance to be issued, each of the group eligibility requirements of section 222 of the Act must be met.

(1) That a significant number or proportion of the workers in the workers' firm, or an appropriate subdivision thereof, have become totally or partially separated.

(2) That sales or production, or both, of the firm or subdivision have decreased absolutely, and

(3) That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

Negative Determinations

In each of the following cases the investigation revealed that criterion (3) has not been met. A survey of customers indicated that increased imports did not contribute importantly to worker separations at the firm.

TA-W-27,691; Die Mesh Corp., Mount Vernon, NY

In the following cases, the investigation revealed that the criteria for eligibility has not been met for the reasons specified.

TA-W-27,844; C.R. Bard, Inc., Bard Urological Div., Covington, GA

The workers' firm does not produce an article as required for certification under section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974.

TA-W-27,569; Thomas & Betts Corp., Electronics Div., Iowa City, IA

Increased imports did not contribute importantly to worker separations at the firm.

TA-W-27,780; DDC Pertec, Tucson, AZ

The workers' firm does not produce an article as required for certification under section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974.

TA-W-27,536; GE Aerospace, General Electric System Div., Moorestown, NJ

Increased imports did not contribute importantly to worker separations at the firm.

TA-W-27,684; Hughes Christianson Co., Houston, TX

U.S. imports of oil and gas field machinery were negligible in 1991 and in Jan.-July 1992.

TA-W-27,828; Old Hickory Clay Co., Hickory, KY

U.S. imports of clay were negligible.

TA-W-27,809; Western Production Co., Newcastle, WY

The investigation revealed that criterion (2) has not been met. Sales or production did not decline during the relevant period as required for certification.

TA-W-27,738; Downeast Mfg., Livermore Falls, ME

The investigation revealed that criterion (2) and criterion (3) have not been met. Sales or production did not decline during the relevant period as required for certification. Increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have not contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

TA-W-27,688; Robertshaw Controls Co., Grayson Div., El Paso, TX

The investigation revealed that criterion (1) and criterion (3) have not been met. Significant number or proportion of the workers did not become totally or partially separated as required for certification. Increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have not contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

Affirmative Determinations

NATIONAL ARCHIVES AND RECORDS ADMINISTRATION

Records Schedules; Availability and Request for Comments

AGENCY: Office of Records Administration, National Archives and Records Administration.

ACTION: Notice of availability of proposed records schedules; request for comments.

SUMMARY: The National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) publishes notice at least once monthly of certain Federal agency requests for records disposition authority (records schedules). Records schedules identify records of sufficient value to warrant preservation in the National Archives of the United States. Schedules also authorize agencies after a specified period to dispose of records lacking administrative, legal, research, or other value. Notice is published for records schedules that (1) propose the destruction of records not previously authorized for disposal, or (2) reduce the retention period for records already authorized for disposal. NARA invites public comments on such schedules, as required by 44 USC 3303a(a).

DATES: Request for copies must be received in writing on or before December 18, 1992. Once the appraisal of the records is completed, NARA will send a copy of the schedule. The requester will be given 30 days to submit comments.

ADDRESSES: Address requests for single copies of schedules identified in this notice to the Records Appraisal and Disposition Division (NIR), National Archives and Records Administration, Washington, DC 20408. Requesters must cite the control number assigned to each schedule when requesting a copy. The control number appears in the parentheses immediately after the name of the requesting agency.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Each year U.S. Government agencies create billions of records on paper, film, magnetic tape, and other media. In order to control this accumulation, agency records managers prepare records schedules specifying when the agency no longer needs the records and what happens to the records after this period. Some schedules are comprehensive and cover all the records of an agency or one of its major subdivisions. The comprehensive schedules provide for the eventual transfer to the National Archives of historically valuable records, and authorize the disposal of all other records. Most schedules, however, cover records of only one office or program or a few series of records, and many are updates of previously approved schedules. Such schedules also may include records that are designated for permanent retention.

Destruction of records requires the approval of the Archivist of the United States. This approval is granted after a thorough study of the records that takes into account their administrative use by the agency of origin, the rights of the Government and of private persons directly affected by the Government's activities, and historical or other value.

This public notice identifies the Federal agencies and their subdivisions requesting disposition authority, includes the control number assigned to each schedule, and briefly describes the records proposed for disposal. The records schedule contains additional information about the records and their disposition. Further information about the disposition process will be furnished to each requester.

Schedules Pending:

1. Department of Labor, Occupational Safety and Health Administration (N1-100-92-1). Reduction in retention period for general program correspondence files created in OSHA field offices.

2. Department of State, Office of Safety/Health and Environmental Management (N1-59-92-30). Facilitative records relating to safety and environmental issues.

3. Department of State, Bureau of Politico-Military Affairs (N1-59-92-38). Routing and facilitative records of the Office of Weapons Proliferation Policy.

4. Department of State, Bureau of Politico-Military Affairs (N1-59-92-39).

Routine and facilitative records of the Office of Strategic and Theater Policy.

5. Department of State, Bureau of Politico-Military Affairs (N1-59-92-40). Routine and facilitative records of the Assistant Secretary.

6. Department of Treasury, Bureau of Public Debt (N1-053-92-1). Reduction of retention period for Summary of Daily Transactions for Federal Securities.

7. Defense Investigative Service (N1-446-92-1). Hotline Referral files.

8. National Archives and Records Administration (N1-GRS-92-4). Revisions to General Records Schedule 2, Payroll and Pay Administration Records, to integrate electronic records.

9. White House Conference on Aging (N1-220-92-9). Comprehensive schedule.

NATIONAL AERONAUTICS AND SPACE ADMINISTRATION

[Notice (92-72)]

NASA Advisory Council; Space Science and Applications Advisory Committee; Microgravity Science and Applications Subcommittee; Meeting

AGENCY: National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

ACTION: Notice of meeting.

SUMMARY: In accordance with the Federal Advisory Committee Act, Public Law 92-463, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announces a meeting of the NASA Advisory Council, Space Science and Applications Advisory Committee, Microgravity Science and Applications Subcommittee.

DATES: November 13, 1992, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

ADDRESSES: NASA Headquarters, 300 E Street, SW., Conference Room CH21, Washington, DC 20546.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Dr. Roger Crouch, Code SN, National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Washington, DC 20546, 202/358/0818.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The meeting will be open to the public up to the seating capacity of the room. The agenda for the meeting is as follows:

- NASA Research Announcement Selections
- Committee on Microgravity Research of the Space Studies Board Report
- Future Assignments for Discipline Working Groups

It is imperative that the meeting be held on this date to accommodate the scheduling priorities of the key participants. Visitors will be requested to sign a visitor's register.

Dated: October 27, 1992.

NATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR LITERACY

Board Meeting

AGENCY: National Institute for Literacy.

ACTION: Notice of partially closed meeting.

SUMMARY: This Notice sets forth the schedule and proposed agenda of a forthcoming meeting of the National Institute for Literacy Board (Board). This notice also describes the function of the Board. Notice of this meeting is required under section 10(a)(2) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act. This document is intended to notify the general public of their opportunity to attend the open portions of the meeting.

Date: November 19, 1992.

Address: National Institute for Literacy, 800 Connecticut Avenue, NW., suite 200, Washington, DC 20006.

Date: November 19, 1992.

Address: Annapolis Marriott Waterfront, 80 Compromise Street, Annapolis, Maryland 21401.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Thomas R. Hill, Executive Officer, National Institute for Literacy, 800 Connecticut Avenue, NW., suite 200, Washington, DC 20006. Telephone (202) 632-1500.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Board is established under Section 384 of the Adult Education Act, as amended by title I of Public Law 102-73, the National Literacy Act of 1991. The Board consists of ten individuals appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Board is established to advise and make recommendations to the Interagency Group, composed of the Secretaries of Education, Labor, and Health and Human Services, which administers the National Institute for Literacy (Institute). The Interagency Group considers the Board's recommendations in planning the goals of the Institute and in the implementation of any programs to achieve the goals of the Institute. Specifically, the Board performs the following functions: (a) Makes recommendations concerning the appointment of the Director and the staff of the Institute; (b) provides independent advice on operation of the Institute; and (c) receives reports from the Interagency Group and the Director of the Institute.

In addition, the Institute consults with the Board on the award of fellowships.

The Board will meet in Washington, DC on November 19 and in Annapolis, MD on November 21, 1992. The Board will meet from 1:30 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. on November 19, 1992 in an informative session to be briefed on standards of conduct, legislative history of the National Institute for Literacy and rules governing the Board under the Federal Advisory Committee Act and the General Education Provisions Act.

On November 21, the Board will meet from 10:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. From 10:15 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., the Board will meet in open session to discuss the hiring needs of the Institute. In particular, the Board will look at the duties and the desired qualifications for the Director and other staff positions.

From 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., the Board will meet in closed session to discuss scopes of work options and associated costs for a proposed request for proposal (RFP). The discussions will focus on the expected costs of different scopes of work options. The scopes of work options must be presented in closed session because premature disclosure of costs associated with the proposed RFP might harm the economic interest of the Institute, and might frustrate implementation of a proposed agency action. Such matters are protected by exemption 9(b) of section 552b(c) of title 5 U.S.C.

A summary of the activities at the closed session and related matters which are informative to the public consistent with the policy of title 5 U.S.C. 552b will be available to the public within fourteen days of the meeting.

Records are kept of all Board proceedings and are available for public inspection at the National Institute for Literacy, 800 Connecticut Avenue, NW., Suite 200, Washington, DC 20006 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Franmarie Kennedy-Keel,

Interim Director, National Institute for Literacy.

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

Georgia Power Co., et al.; Issuance of Environmental Assessment and Finding of No Significant Impact

[Docket Nos. 50-321 and 50-366]

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) is considering issuance of amendments to Facility Operating License Nos. DPR-57 and NPF-5 issued to Georgia Power Company, et al. (the licensee), for operation of the Edwin I. Hatch Nuclear Plant, Units 1 and 2 (Hatch or the facility), located in Appling County, Georgia.

Environmental Assessment

Identification of Proposed Action

By letter dated September 18, 1992, as revised October 6 and 15, and supplemented October 8 and 23, 1992, the licensee proposed amendments that would revise Facility Operating License Nos. DPR-57 and NPF-5, currently held by Georgia Power Company, Oglethorpe Power Corporation, Municipal Electric Authority of Georgia, and City of Dalton, Georgia (the Owners), to allow Southern Nuclear Operating Company, Inc. (hereafter called Southern Nuclear), to become the operator of Hatch Units 1 and 2. Southern Nuclear would become the exclusive operating licensee, to possess, manage, use, operate, and maintain the facility. Georgia Power Company is the current operator of the facility. The proposed action would involve no change in ownership—the current Owners would remain on the licenses as licensed owners and would continue to own the assets of the facility in the same percentages as now. Southern Nuclear would have no entitlement to power output from Hatch or authority to dispatch, broker or market the energy generated.

As described in the application, Georgia Power Company and Southern Nuclear are wholly owned subsidiaries of the Southern Company. Georgia Power Company states that there would be no significant change in nuclear personnel or support organizations, and that the on-site organization responsible for operations of the Hatch facility would be transferred intact to Southern Nuclear.

The transfer of any right under the operating licenses is subject to NRC approval pursuant to 10 CFR 50.80(a). Such approval is proposed to be given through an Order approving this transfer.

Need for the Proposed Action

The proposed changes are needed to reflect the addition of Southern Nuclear as the licensed operator for Hatch. Southern Nuclear would have exclusive responsibility and control over the physical construction, operation and maintenance of the facility. Southern Company incorporated Southern Nuclear for the purpose of consolidating personnel within the Southern Electric System engaged in nuclear operations into a single, integrated organization to pursue a higher degree of performance in multiple-unit nuclear operations.

Environmental Impacts of the Proposed Action

The licensee anticipates that no changes in the on-site nuclear operating organization would result from the proposed license amendments, except that the on-site nuclear operating organization would become employees of Southern Nuclear and, where appropriate, titles would be changed to reflect the exclusive licensed operator status of Southern Nuclear. The off-site corporate organizations would continue to provide support and quality assurance for Hatch. The corporate support responsibility for the environmental program would be assigned to the Southern Nuclear Manager-Environmental Services. Southern Nuclear Environmental Services would be complemented with certain support services provided by Georgia Power Company. There would be no other changes to the facility or to the operating, maintenance, engineering, or other nuclear-related personnel which might affect the environmental program.

Accordingly, the Commission concludes that this proposed action would result in no radiological or nonradiological environmental impact.

Alternative to the Proposed Action

Since the Commission concluded that there are no significant environmental effects that would result from the proposed action, any alternative with equal or greater environmental impacts need not be evaluated.

The principal alternative would be to deny the requested amendments. This would not reduce the environmental impact of plant operations and would result in the Facility Operating Licenses, Technical Specifications, and other documents not properly reflecting the organizational relationships between Georgia Power Company, Southern Nuclear and the Hatch facility.

Alternative Use of Resources

This action does not involve the use of resources not previously considered in the "Final Environmental Statement for the Edwin I. Hatch Nuclear Plant, Unit 1 and Unit 2," dated October 1972, and in the "Final Environmental Statement Related to Operation of Edwin I. Hatch Nuclear Plant, Unit No. 2," dated March 1978.

Agencies and Persons Consulted

The NRC staff has reviewed the licensee's request and did not consult other agencies or persons.

Finding of No Significant Impact

The Commission has determined not to prepare an environmental impact statement for the proposed license amendments.

Based on the foregoing environmental assessment, we conclude that the proposed action will not have a significant adverse effect on the quality of the human environment.

For further details with respect to this action, see the application for amendments dated September 18, 1992, as revised October 6 and 15, 1992, and supplements dated October 8 and 23, 1992. Also see the NRC's "Summary Of September 28, 1992, Meeting Regarding License Amendment Applications For Hatch And Vogtle Plants," dated October 9, 1992. These documents are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 2120 L Street, NW., Washington, DC and at the Appling County Public Library, 301 City Hall Drive, Baxley, Georgia 31513.

Dated at Rockville, Maryland, this 27th day of October 1992.

Georgia Power Co. et al.; Issuance of Environmental Assessment and Finding of No Significant Impact

[Docket Nos. 50-424 and 50-425]

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) is considering issuance of amendments to Facility Operating License Nos. NPF-68 and NPF-81 issued to Georgia Power Company (the licensee), for operation of the Vogtle Electric Generating Plant, Units 1 and 2 (Vogtle or the facility), located in Burke County, Georgia.

Environmental AssessmentIdentification of Proposed Action

By letter dated September 18, 1992, as revised October 7 and 15, 1992, and supplemented October 7 and 23, 1992, Georgia Power Company proposed amendments that would revise Facility Operating License Nos. NPF-68 and NPF-81, currently held by Georgia Power Company, Oglethorpe Power Corporation, Municipal Electric Authority of Georgia, and City of Dalton, Georgia (the Owners), to allow Southern Nuclear Operating Company, Inc. (hereafter called Southern Nuclear), to become the operator of Vogtle Units 1 and 2. Southern Nuclear would become the exclusive operating licensee, to possess, manage, use, operate, and maintain the facility. Georgia Power Company is the current operator of the facility. The proposed action would involve no change in ownership—the current Owners would remain on the licenses as licensed owners and would continue to own the assets of the facility in the same percentages as now. Southern Nuclear would have no entitlement to power output from Vogtle or authority to dispatch, broker or market the energy generated.

As described in the application, Georgia Power Company and Southern Nuclear are wholly owned subsidiaries of the Southern Company. Georgia Power Company states that there would be no significant change in nuclear personnel or support organizations, and that the on-site organization responsible for operations of the Vogtle facility would be transferred intact to Southern Nuclear.

The transfer of any right under the operating licenses is subject to NRC approval pursuant to 10 CFR 50.80(a). Such approval is proposed to be given through an Order approving this transfer.

Need for the Proposed Action

The proposed changes are needed to reflect the addition of Southern Nuclear as the licensed operator for Vogtle. Southern Nuclear would have exclusive responsibility and control over the physical construction, operation and maintenance of the facility. Southern Company incorporated Southern Nuclear for the purpose of consolidating personnel within the Southern Electric System engaged in nuclear operations into a single, integrated organization to pursue a higher degree of performance in multiple-unit nuclear operations.

Environmental Impacts of the Proposed Action

The licensee anticipates that no changes in the on-site nuclear operating organization would result from the proposed license amendments, except that the on-site nuclear operating organization would become employees of Southern Nuclear and, where appropriate, titles would be changed to reflect the exclusive licensed operator status of Southern Nuclear. The offsite corporate organizations would continue to provide support and quality assurance for Vogtle. The corporate support responsibility for the environmental program would be assigned to the Southern Nuclear Manager—Environmental Services. Southern Nuclear Environmental Services would be complemented with certain support services provided by Georgia Power Company. There would be no other changes to the facility or to the operating, maintenance, engineering, other nuclear-related personnel which might affect the environmental program.

Accordingly, the Commission concludes that this proposed action would result in no radiological or nonradiological environmental impact.

Alternative to the Proposed Action

Since the Commission concluded that there are no significant environmental effects that would result from the proposed action, any alternative with equal or greater environmental impacts need not be evaluated.

The principal alternative would be to deny the requested amendments. This would not reduce the environmental impact of plant operations and would result in the Facility Operating Licenses, Technical Specifications, and other documents not properly reflecting the organizational relationships between Georgia Power Company, Southern Nuclear and the Vogtle facility.

Alternative Use of Resources

This action does not involve the use of resources not previously considered in the "Final Environmental Statement Relating to Operation of Vogtle Electric Generating Plant, Units 1 and 2," dated March 1985.

Agencies and Persons Consulted

The NRC staff has reviewed the licensee's request and did not consult other agencies or persons.

Finding of No Significant Impact

The Commission has determined not to prepare an environmental impact statement for the proposed license amendments.

Based on the foregoing environmental assessment, we conclude that the proposed action will not have a significant adverse effect on the quality of the human environment.

Final Memorandum of Understanding Between the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission and the State of Alabama

AGENCY: Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: This notice is to advise the public of the issuance of a Final Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) and the State of Alabama. The MOU provides the basis for mutually agreeable procedures whereby the State of Alabama may utilize the NRC Emergency Response Data System (ERDS) to receive data during an emergency at a commercial nuclear power plant in Alabama. Public comments were addressed in conjunction with the MOU with the State of Michigan published in the Federal Register Vol. 57, No. 28, February 11, 1992.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This MOU is effective August 26, 1992.

ADDRESSES: Copies of all NRC documents are available for public inspection and copying for a fee in the NRC Public Document Room, 2120 L Street, NW (Lower Level), Washington, DC.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: John R. Jolicoeur or Eric Weinstein, Office for Analysis and Evaluation of Operational Data, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20555. Telephone (301) 492-4155 or (301) 492-7836.

This attached MOU is intended to formalize and define the manner in which the NRC will cooperate with the State of Alabama to provide data related to plant conditions during emergencies at commercial nuclear power plants in Alabama.

Dated at Rockville, Maryland, this 22nd day of September, 1992.

For the Nuclear Regulatory Commission,
James M. Taylor,
Executive Director for Operations.

Agreement Pertaining to the Emergency Response Data System Between the State of Alabama and the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission

I. Authority

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) and the State of Alabama enter into this Agreement under the authority of Section 274i of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended.

Alabama recognizes the Federal Government, primarily the NRC, as having the exclusive authority and responsibility to regulate the radiological and national security aspects of the construction and operation of nuclear production or utilization facilities, except for certain authority over air emissions granted to States by the Clean Air Act, or other Acts of Congress.

II. Background

A. The Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, and the Energy Reorganization Act of 1974, as amended, authorize the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) to license and regulate, among other activities, the manufacture, construction, and operation of utilization facilities (nuclear power plants) in order to assure common defense and security and to protect the public health and safety. Under these statutes, the NRC is the responsible agency regulating nuclear power plant safety.

B. NRC believes that its mission to protect the public health and safety can be served by a policy of cooperation with State governments and has formally adopted a policy statement on "Cooperation with States at Commercial Nuclear Power Plants and Other Nuclear Production or Utilization Facilities" (54 FR 7530, February 22, 1989). The policy statement provides that NRC will consider State proposals to enter into instruments of cooperation for certain programs when these programs have provisions to ensure close cooperation with NRC. This agreement is intended to be consistent with, and implement the provisions of the NRC's policy statement.

C. NRC fulfills its statutory mandate to regulate nuclear power plant safety by, among other things, responding to emergencies at licensee's facilities, monitoring the status and adequacy of the licensee's responses to emergency situations.

D. Alabama fulfills its statutory mandate to provide for preparedness, response, mitigation, and recovery in the event of an accident at a nuclear power plant through the Radiation Control Agency (The Alabama Department of Public Health's Division of Radiation Control) title 22 chapter 14 Code of Alabama, 1975, as Amended.

III. Scope

A. This Agreement defines the way in which NRC and Alabama will cooperate in planning and maintaining the capability to transfer reactor plant data via the Emergency Response Data System during emergencies at nuclear power plants, in the State of Alabama.

B. It is understood by the NRC and the State of Alabama that ERDS data will only be transmitted by a licensee during emergencies classified at the Alert level or above, during scheduled tests, or during exercises when available.

C. Nothing in this Agreement is intended to restrict or expand the statutory authority of NRC, the State of Alabama, or to affect or otherwise alter the terms of any agreement in effect under the authority of section 274b of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended. Nor is anything in this Agreement intended to restrict or expand the authority of the State of Alabama on matters not within the scope of this Agreement.

D. Nothing in this Agreement confers upon the State of Alabama authority to (1) interpret or modify NRC regulations and NRC requirements imposed on the licensee; (2) take enforcement actions; (3) issue confirmatory letters; (4) amend, modify, or revoke a license issued by NRC; or (5) direct or recommend nuclear power plant employees to take or not to take any action. Authority for all such actions is reserved exclusively to the NRC.

IV. NRC's General Responsibilities

Under this agreement, NRC is responsible for maintaining the Emergency Response Data System (ERDS). ERDS is a system designed to receive, store, and retransmit data from in-plant data systems at nuclear power plants during emergencies. The NRC will provide user access to ERDS data to one user terminal for the State of Alabama during emergencies at nuclear power plants which have implemented an ERDS interface and for which any portion of the plant's 10 mile Emergency Planning Zone (EPZ) lies within the State of Alabama. The NRC agrees to provide unique software available to NRC (not commercially available) that was developed under NRC contract for configuring an ERDS workstation.

V. Alabama's General Responsibilities

A. Alabama will, in cooperation with the NRC, establish a capability to receive ERDS data. To this end, Alabama will provide the necessary computer hardware and commercially licensed software required for ERDS data transfer to users.

B. Alabama agrees not to use ERDS to access data from nuclear power plants for which a portion of the 10 mile Emergency planning Zone does not fall within its State boundary.

C. For the purpose of minimizing the impact on plant operators, clarification of ERDS data will be pursued through the utility provided technical liaison personnel or the NRC.

VI. Implementation

Alabama and the NRC agree to work in concert to assure that the following communications and information exchange protocol regarding the NRC ERDS are followed.

A. Alabama and the NRC agree in good faith to make available to each other information within the intent and scope of this Agreement.

B. NRC and Alabama agree to meet as necessary to exchange information on matters of common concern pertinent to this Agreement. Unless otherwise agreed, such meetings will be held in the NRC Operations Center. The affected utilities will be kept informed of pertinent information covered by this Agreement.

C. To preclude the premature public release of sensitive information, NRC and Alabama will protect sensitive information to the extent permitted by the Federal Freedom of Information Act, the State Freedom of Information Act, 10 CFR 2.790, and other applicable authority.

D. NRC will conduct periodic test of licensee ERDS data links. A copy of the test schedule will be provided to Alabama by the NRC. Alabama may test its ability to access ERDS data during these scheduled tests, or may schedule independent tests of the State link with the NRC.

E. NRC will provide access to ERDS for emergency exercises with reactor units capable of transmitting exercise data to ERDS. For exercises in which the NRC is not participating, Alabama will coordinate with NRC in advance to ensure ERDS availability. NRC reserves the right to preempt ERDS use for any exercise in progress in the event of an actual event at any licensed nuclear power plant.

VII. Contacts

A. The principal senior management contacts for this Agreement will be the Director, Division of Operational Assessment, Office for Analysis and Evaluation of Operational Data, and the Director, Division of Radiation Control, Alabama Department of Public Health. These individuals may designate appropriate staff representatives for the purpose of administering this Agreement.

B. Identification of these contacts is not intended to restrict communication between NRC and Alabama staff numbers on technical and other day-to-day activities.

VIII. Resolution of Disagreements

A. If disagreements arise about matters within the scope of this Agreement, NRC and Alabama will work together to resolve these differences.

B. Resolution of differences between the State and NRC staff over issues arising out of this Agreement will be the initial responsibility of the NRC Division of Operational Assessment management.

C. Differences which cannot be resolved in accordance with sections VIII.A and VIII.B. will be reviewed and resolved by the Director, Office for Analysis and Evaluation of Operational Data.

D. The NRC's General Counsel has the final authority to provide legal interpretation of the Commission's regulations.

IX. Effective Date

This Agreement will take effect after it has been signed by both parties.

X. Duration

A formal review, not less than 1 year after the effective date, will be performed by the NRC to evaluate implementation of the Agreement and resolve any problems identified. This Agreement will be subject to periodic reviews and may be amended or modified upon written agreement by both parties, and may be terminated upon 30 days written notice by either party.

XI. Separability

If any provision(s) of the Agreement, or the application of any provision(s) to any person or circumstances is held invalid, the remainder of this Agreement and the application of such provisions to other persons or circumstances will not be affected.

For the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

NUREG: Issuance, Availability

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has issued "Residual Radioactive Contamination From Decommissioning: Volume 1, Technical Basis For Translating Contamination Levels to Annual Total Effective Dose Equivalent" (NUREG/CR-5512). This document was prepared for the NRC by Pacific Northwest Laboratory.

Upon completion, the entire report will consist of three volumes and one supplement. This first volume is designed to provide screening models, mathematical formulations for the screening models, and referenced parameter values for estimating doses, above natural background, to individuals from residual radioactivity associated with lands and structures after decommissioning licensed facilities. The modeling structure permits the use of either generic or site-specific parameters to be used as screening estimates of radiation doses from multiple environmental pathways.

Volume 2, will provide the user manual, software, and example applications for the implementation of Volume 1. Volume 3, will provide a sensitivity analysis and comparisons with other models and guidance such as Regulatory Guides 1.109 and 1.86. Supplement 1, will provide the selection and methodology to implement existing ground-water transport models in conjunction with this screening model for sites requiring more complex analysis of ground-water transport.

Copies of the document have been placed in the Commission's Public Document Room, 2120 L Street NW. (Lower Level), Washington, DC. Copies may be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Post Office

Box 37082, Washington, DC 20013-7082. Copies are also available from the National Technical Information Service, Springfield, Virginia 22161.

Written comments on the document are being solicited. Written comments should be addressed to Dr. Robert A. Meck, Radiation Protection and Health Effects Branch, Mail Stop NL/S-139, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission Washington, DC 20555. Copies of the comments received may be examined at the NRC Public Document Room at 2120 L Street, NW. (Lower Level), Washington, DC. Comments will be most helpful if they are received by February 3, 1993.

PENSION BENEFIT GUARANTY CORPORATION

Request for Extension of Approval Under the Paperwork Reduction Act; Payment of Premiums and Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation Premium Payment Package Thereunder (Including PBGC Forms 1 and 1-ES and Schedule A to Form 1)

AGENCY: Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

ACTION: Notice of request for extension of OMB approval.

SUMMARY: This notice advises the public that the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation has requested extension of approval by the Office of Management and Budget for the collection of information in the PBGC's regulation on Payment of Premiums (29 CFR part 2610) and the PBGC Premium Payment Package thereunder (including PBGC Forms 1 and 1-ES and Schedule A to Form 1, with instructions). The collection of information has not been materially revised. Current approval of the collection of information (1212-0009) expires on June 30, 1993.

ADDRESSES: All written comments should be addressed to: Office of Management and Budget, Paperwork Reduction Project (1212-0009), Washington, DC 20503, with a copy to the Office of the General Counsel (Code 22500), Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation, 2020 K Street, NW., Washington, DC 20006. The request for extension will be available for public inspection at the PBGC Communications and Public Affairs Department, suite 7100, 2020 K Street, NW., Washington, DC 20006, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on business days.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Deborah C. Murphy, Attorney, Office of the General Counsel (22500), Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation, 2020 K Street, NW., Washington, DC 20006, 202-778-8820 (202-778-8859 for TTY and TDD).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Sections 4006 and 4007 of title IV of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA") require the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation ("PBGC") to collect premiums from pension plans covered under the title IV pension insurance programs that the PBGC administers. Pursuant to ERISA sections 4006 and 4007, the PBGC has issued its regulation on Payment of Premiums (29 CFR part 2610). Sections 2610.3, 2610.25, and 2610.34 of the premium regulation require the filing of forms prescribed by the PBGC in connection with the payment of premiums, and § 2610.11 requires the retention of records supporting or validating the computation of premiums paid. The forms prescribed are PBGC Form 1-ES and Form 1 and (for single-employer plans only) Schedule A to Form 1, which, together with instructions, comprise the PBGC Premium Payment Package. The premium forms are needed to determine the amount and record the payment of PBGC premiums, and the submission of forms and retention of records are needed to enable the PBGC to perform premium audits. The plan administrator of each pension plan covered by title IV of ERISA is required to file one or more of the premium payment forms each year. The PBGC uses the information on the premium payment forms to identify the plans paying premiums and to verify whether plans are paying the correct amounts. That information and the retained records are used for audit purposes.

The PBGC estimates the burden on the public from this collection of information as follows:

	Number of responses	Average time	Total hours
Form 1-ES filing (plans with 500 or more participants only):
Single-employer plans.....	9,000	.5	4,500
Multiemployer plans.....	1,300	.5	650
	10,300		5,150
Form 1 with Schedule A (single-employer plans only):
Plans with fewer than 500 participants:
Fully-funded.....	54,000	1	54,000
Underfunded.....	15,000	1.7	25,500
	69,000		79,500
Plans with 500 or more participants:
Fully-funded.....	7,000	1	7,000
Underfunded (2,000) ¹	1,500	4	6,000
	500	8.5	4,250
	9,000		17,250
Form 1 alone (multiemployer plans only):
All multiemployer plans.....	2,200	.5	1,100

In summary, the PBGC estimates that it receives a total of about 90,500 responses annually (3,500 for multiemployer plans and 87,000 for single-employer plans) and that the total burden of the collection of information is about 103,000 hours. This reflects an average burden of 1 hour for large multiemployer plans; 30 minutes for small multiemployer plans; about 2 hours and 25 minutes for large single-employer plans; and about 1 hour and 10 minutes for small single-employer plans. (The estimated burden includes recordkeeping under 29 CFR 2610.11.)

Although, as noted above, current approval of this collection of information does not expire until June 30, 1993, the PBGC is seeking extension of approval now to avoid the need for a second printing of the 1993 Form 1-ES with a new approval expiration date during 1993.

Issued at Washington, DC, this 29th day of October 1992.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34-31352; File No. SR-MBS-92-02]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; MBS Clearing Corporation; Order Granting Partial Approval of a Proposed Rule Change Implementing Major System Enhancements

October 23, 1992.

On March 27, 1992, the MBS Clearing Corporation ("MBS") filed a proposed rule change (File No. SR-MBS-92-02) with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act").¹ Notice of the proposal was published in the Federal Register on August 28, 1992.² No comments were received. Subsequently, on September 23, 1992³ and September 29, 1992⁴ MBS amended the filing. As discussed below, the Commission is approving the first phase of the proposal.

I. Description of the Proposal

The proposed rule change concerns a number of major operational enhancements to MBS' data processing operations. MBS is proposing a new comparison and clearing system ("CCS") for processing eligible securities, a new netting and new comparison-only system, and a limited purpose participant category. MBS proposes to implement the new systems in phases.

In the first phase ("phase I"), MBS will implement CCS. CCS is MBS' proposed system for comparing trade input, margining, and comparing clearing information concerning transactions in eligible securities between participants.⁵ Subsequent to the successful implementation of Phase I, MBS plans to implement other enhancements including a comparison-only participant category and changes to its trade netting system and its procedures for liquidating the open commitments of a defaulting participant.⁶

² Securities Exchange Act Release No. 31058 (August 19, 1992), 57 FR 38897.

A. CCS

CCS will add a variety of enhancements to MBS' data processing operations. Some of the operational enhancements include: (1) A revised account structure; (2) revised procedures regarding "Broker Give-up Trades";⁷ (3) revised reporting of settlement information; (4) multiple intra-day batch processing; and (5) revised trade input procedures. In addition, the proposal includes technical changes to various MBS rules and reports.

1. Account Structure

The proposal eliminates the concept of separate account groups for trade-for-trade transactions, SBO-designated trades and option contracts. Dealer transactions and broker transactions will continue to be processed through separate accounts. Under the proposal, a participant will have the option of processing trade-for-trade transactions, SBO-designated trades, and option contracts through a single broker account or through a single dealer account. Participants, however, may elect to maintain more than one dealer account or more than one broker account. In addition, a participant that chooses to maintain more than one dealer account or more than one broker account may elect to have some or all of its dealer accounts or some or all of its broker accounts aggregated for purposes of computing a single cash settlement obligation for the aggregated accounts.⁸

2. Broker Give-up Trades

The proposal will change the current practice where the broker submits the trade data for a broker give-up trade on behalf of the dealers involved in the transaction by requiring all parties to the broker give-up trade (both the broker and each dealer to the trade) to submit trade input. Transactions involving a broker will be considered "fully compared" if the trade input submitted by the broker matches the trade input of the selling and purchasing dealers. A transaction will be considered "partially compared" if the trade input submitted by the broker matches the trade input by one or more, but not all, of the dealers to the transaction.⁹ Any SBO-designated trade that remains partially compared on the netting date in the applicable settlement cycle will automatically be converted to a trade-for-trade transaction.

The proposal allows for a dealer to elect one of three match modes: An exact match mode, a net position match mode and a maximum match mode. In an exact match mode, the trade input of the dealer and the broker must match up in all respects, including the par amount. In a net position match mode, a transaction in which the trade input matches in all respects except for the par amount will be reported as matched if the par amount of the securities reported to have been sold or purchased by the dealer equals the aggregate par value for one or more transactions reported by the broker. In a maximum match mode, a transaction in which the trade input matches in all respects except for the par amount will be reported as matched if the par amount of securities reported to have been sold or purchased by the dealer does not exceed the aggregate par amount for one or more transactions reported by the broker. Under the maximum match mode, any difference in the par amount reported by the dealer and the broker will remain uncomparated. Regardless of the match mode selected by the dealer, MBS will attempt to compare each transaction using the exact match mode first and will apply the other match modes only to the extent necessary to effect comparison.

Under the proposal, any transaction input submitted by a dealer which has compared with trade input submitted by a broker will be listed in the dealer's Purchase and Sale Report and Open Commitment Report, and the dealer will be responsible for the transaction. Any transaction in which the trade input submitted (or not submitted) by a dealer does not compare with the trade input submitted by a broker will be listed in the dealer's Unmatched Margin Report. Unless and until a dealer submits a DK (i.e., don't know) of a transaction listed in the dealer's Unmatched Margin Report, the dealer will be responsible for any MMD debits arising from such transaction and, in the event of a liquidation, may be fully responsible for the transaction.¹⁰

Trades submitted by a broker that do not match with a trade submitted by a dealer will be reported on the broker's Transaction Summary Report. If neither dealer submits the transaction the trade is considered unmatched and will not be margined. If one dealer to the trade submits the broker give-up trade data and the other dealer does not, it will be considered a partial match and, until the dealer submits the transaction or a DK notice, the trade will be treated as a compared trade for margin purposes and will be settled on a trade-for-trade basis.

3. Reporting of Settlement Information

The proposal will revise MBS rules to require both parties to an MBS cleared transaction (either through the trade-for-trade or the SBO netting systems) to report completion of delivery and payment as designated in the SBO Summary Report and in the Purchase and Sale Report.¹¹ For an SBO-designated trade, both the delivering participant and the receiving participant must submit a Notification of Settlement. In the case of a trade-for-trade transaction, the delivering participant and the receiving participant may submit either a Notification of Settlement or a cancellation of the transaction.¹² To the extent that the ⁶ See supra, note 4. Currently, MBS rules require that in the event of a liquidation of a participant for which MBS has ceased to act, MBS will undertake to unwind those SBO trades that have not been settled and will establish them as trade-for-trade transactions for settlement between the parties. MBS is proposing to reduce its reliance on unwinding transactions and instead require SBO contra-side participants to liquidate the SBO trades. Among other things, the proposal would clarify that an SBO contra-side participant who follows MBS' liquidation procedures in good faith would not incur any liability to the original contra-side participants for unreasonable liquidation of the open commitment with the defaulting participant. Proposed MBS Art. III, Rule 3, 5. The Commission has not completed its consideration of these changes and, accordingly, is not approving (or disapproving) these changes today.

⁷ The term "Broker Give-up Trade" means an SBO-designated trade, i.e., a trade intended for netting through MBS' SBO netting system, or a trade-for-trade transaction, i.e., a trade submitted to MBS for comparison in CCS in which the parties have agreed that their settlement obligations will remain on a trade-for-trade basis at the contract price, in which a broker acting on behalf of selling and purchasing dealers temporarily is identified in Purchase and Sale Reports and Open Commitment Reports initially by MBS as the original contra-side participant with respect to each dealer, with the dealers to be substituted on the broker give-up date [five days after the transaction]. See MBS Art. I, Rule 1.

⁸ The cash balance of an account is the net positive or negative amount resulting from the computation of SBO Market Differential obligations, cash adjustment obligations, commissions owed or earned, fees, fines and interest payable or receivable. MBS will net the positive or negative cash balance for each account to produce a single cash settlement obligation for that set of aggregated accounts. Supra, note 5.

¹⁰ MBS Art. II, Rule 4.

¹¹ MBS collects margin on all cleared transactions until it is reported as settled. Thus MBS will continue to margin a participant for a cleared transaction until both sides submit settlement information.

¹² In the case of a trade-for-trade transaction, the trade will be considered compared if one party to the trade submits a Notification of Settlement and the other party to the trade submits a cancellation notice.

information in a Notification of Settlement does not compare (or, in the case of trade-for-trade transaction, any uncomparing portion of the transaction has not been cancelled), the trade (or uncomparing or uncanceled portion thereof) will continue to be reflected on a participant's Open Commitment Report and will remain subject to MMD Deposit requirements.¹³

4. Market Margin Differential Requirements

Another aspect of phase I involves changes in the way MBS calculates participant MMD requirements. A participant's MMD is designed to protect other participants against financial loss if the participant defaults and other participants must liquidate open or failed trades at unfavorable prices. (In effect, the value of the contractual rights and obligations are "marked-to-the-market" using current securities prices.) More than a year ago MBS determined to take a more conservative approach to calculating MMD requirements by reducing when BMS would allow a participant to reduce the required deposit because of profitable open or failed trades. The proposal implements that approach and refines the calculation to reduce the circumstances under which profitable positions can offset losses.

The proposal would revise the way MBS groups a participant's open commitments and failed trades for purposes of determining if a participant's open commitments and failed trades require original or additional MMD deposits. The proposal also would give a greater weight to whether settlement of a trade is over due and would disregard profits on that trade or commitment in computing a participant's required MMD deposit.

Under the current rules, MBS has two categories for determining a participant's MMD deposit requirement: "basic" and "exceptional." Under the basic category, the MMD for all trades in which the settlement date is two months or more beyond the current month ("future settling transactions") in each participant account is calculated by determining, with respect to each settlement class,¹⁴ the net amount by which the current market value of the participant's rights and obligations exceeds the original contract price ("profits and losses"), first by settlement class and then across settlement classes.¹⁵ Exceptional transactions are trades which have an impending scheduled settlement date within the next future month¹⁶ and trades for which the scheduled settlement date has passed ("expired settlement date").¹⁷ Under the current rule, profits on exceptional trades can offset losses on exceptional trades if they have the same settlement month, although MBS rules also authorize MBS to disregard profits on trades that did not settle on their scheduled settlement date.¹⁸

The proposal creates four categories of trades for determining a participant's MMD deposit requirement: "forward," "impending," "failed" and "aged failed" transactions. The proposal would eliminate any offsets across these categories.

Forward transactions are trades in which the scheduled settlement date is subsequent to the current month.¹⁹ Under the proposal, profits on a forward transaction would be netted against losses on another forward transaction by class and across classes.

Impending transactions are all trades that are scheduled to settle in the current month and have not yet reached their settlement date.²⁰ Under the proposal, profits on an impending transaction will be netted against losses on other impending transactions, first by settlement class and then across other impending transaction settlement classes.

Failed transactions are trades listed as open at MBS for which the scheduled settlement date has passed during the current month.²¹ Under the proposal, profit on a failed trade can offset a loss on another failed trade if both trades are within the same settlement class.

Aged failed transactions are trades listed as open transactions at MBS which should have settled before the current month.²² Under the proposal, profit on an aged failed transaction cannot offset a loss on another aged failed transaction, even if both trades involve the same settlement class.

5. Multiple Intra-day Batch Processing

Under the proposal, MBS will process trade input twice a day instead of once under the existing rules. The first processing pass will occur overnight and MBS will provide preliminary reports to participants at the opening of the next business day. Up to 10:30 a.m. (eastern time) the next morning, participants will have the opportunity to cancel trades that they may have reported in error and affirm or match unmatched transactions. In addition, participants will have the opportunity to submit DK notices of trades appearing on their Unmatched Margin Reports. After the 10:30 a.m. (eastern time) cut-off for inputting trade data, MBS will conduct a second processing pass and will produce and distribute final reports to participants.

6. Trade Input and Reports

The proposal makes a number of other changes that will affect MBS' data processing operations. The proposal will eliminate the physical delivery of trade input. Instead, all trade input from participants must be submitted electronically by file transmissions or inputted over a computer terminal.²³

The proposal eliminates the Uncomparing/Advisory List and creates a new Transaction Summary Report that will include transactions that have not compared. The proposal also eliminates the Audit Report and Broker Give-up Report. Instead, MBS will report to brokers and dealers their fully compared and partially compared transactions on the Purchase and Sale Report. The

¹⁵ For example, on October 23, 1992, a trade with an expired settlement date would be a trade with a scheduled settlement date prior to November 1, 1992.

¹⁷ For example, on October 23, 1992, a forward settling trade would be a trade scheduled to settle on or after November 1, 1992.

²³ In response to participant comments, MBS has determined not to eliminate distribution of written reports to its participants. Telephone conversation between Lynn Douglas, Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer, MBS and Ester Saverson, Jr., Branch Chief, Division of Market Regulation, Commission (October 23, 1992).

proposal amends MBS rules to establish agreement between the parties to a compared transaction that the Purchase and Sale Report will serve as the sole confirmation of, and evidences a binding and enforceable obligation of, the parties to the transaction.

Any transaction involving a broker which has not compared as to a particular dealer will be reflected in a new Unmatched Margin Report to be distributed to dealers. Until the dealer submits a DK of such transaction, the transaction will be subject to the same MMD Deposit requirements as if the transaction was an open commitment on the Dealer's Open Commitment Report.

B. Phase-in Approach

MBS has decided to implement the enhancements to its data processing operations in phase. On October 23, 1992, MBS will implement CCS, which is the first phase in a broader enhancement of MBS' operations. MBS represented to the Commission that it has conducted a seven week pilot of Phase I involving all of its participants.

MBS also has developed a fallback plan. If the new system develops operational problems that will interrupt MBS' normal operations, MBS has the capability to convert trade data from the new system to the old system and process that data in the old system. MBS has made oral representation to the Commission staff that its fallback procedures have been successfully tested during the pilot period. In addition, MBS is implementing the new system on a Friday. Should the system experience processing problems on Friday, MBS will have the weekend to resolve the problem, including falling back to its old system without significant interruption to its business.

II. Discussion

Section 17A of the Act directs the Commission to establish a safe and efficient national clearance and settlement system.²⁴ In enacting section 17A of the Act, Congress found that new data processing and communication techniques create the opportunity for more efficient, effective and safe procedures for clearance and settlement.²⁵ Specifically, sections 17A(b)(3)(A) and (F) of the Act require that a clearing agency be organized and its rules be designed to promote, among other things, the prompt and accurate clearance and settlement of securities transactions and the safeguarding of securities and funds within its custody or control for which it is responsible.²⁶ As discussed below, the Commission believes that MBS' proposal furthers these goals.

Currently only brokers submit broker give-up trades. Any comparison of trades between a broker and a dealer takes place outside of MBS. The enhancements will eliminate the need for brokers and dealers to compare transactions outside of MBS.

Under MBS' current account structure, participants must maintain separate accounts for trade-for-trade transactions, SBO-designated trades and option contracts. This requires participants to reconcile multiple accounts and settle the cash balance for each account separately, or to consolidate manually the cash balances for each account and produce a single cash settlement obligation for their accounts at MBS. The Commission believes that MBS' proposal to allow participants to consolidate their broker accounts and their dealer accounts and to aggregate account information, including cash balances, for those that maintain multiple broker or dealer accounts will provide participants greater flexibility to process securities in a more efficient, effective and safe manner.

The proposal also will eliminate the submission of written trade data to MBS and require participants to submit trade input by electronic file transmission or to enter it directly into a computer terminal linked to MBS. The proposal also will authorize MBS to process input data on a multiple intra-day batch basis. By improving automation in securities processing, the proposal will improve efficiency and reduce risks to market participants. Thus the proposal furthers the goal of perfecting the mechanics of a national system for prompt and accurate clearance and settlement of securities transactions and promotes the safeguarding of securities and funds within MBS' custody or control.

MBS believes that the extensive testing of its new system, the phase-in approach and the fallback procedures should minimize the potential for any interruption to the clearance and settlement of mortgage-back securities. The implementation date was chosen to avoid key processing dates. The date is after the last settlement date in October for forward settling trades and before the first settlement date in November for forward settling trades, November 9, 1992. Based upon MBS' representations to the Commission regarding its external testing of the functionality of the new system and its integration into existing systems, the Commission believes that MBS has acted responsibly in designing and planning for the implementation of the new systems, but believes that the current processing system should not be disabled until MBS has sufficient time to assess the performance of the new system and to determine whether the new system can continue to process securities transactions at MBS in an efficient, effective and safe manner. Accordingly, MBS has agreed to maintain its current processing system at least until the end of 1992 and will not disable the old system without giving the Commission staff prior notice. In addition, MBS has represented that within six weeks after the conversion process, MBS will report to the Commission concerning the conversion process and will discuss any processing delays or other problems during the conversion process or the first four weeks thereafter.²⁷ Moreover, during the first week after the conversion, MBS agreed to brief the staff of the Division of Market Regulation ("Division") every day and notify the Division immediately in the event of processing problems.²⁸

MBS believes that the proposed rule change is designed to comply with its obligation to have the capacity to promote prompt and accurate clearance and settlement of securities transactions. MBS has conducted capacity tests and, based on those tests, MBS represents that the new processing system's operating and computer capacity is at least 300% of peak capacity volume during MBS' anticipated hours of operation.²⁹ MBS will continue to conduct system capacity analysis, taking into account projected growth, new services and enhancements, and implement additional system upgrades as they are needed.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons stated above, the Commission finds that MBS' proposed rule change is consistent with section 17A of the Act.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to section (b)(2) of the Act, that the [Release No. 34-31369; File No. SR-NASD-92-32]

Self-Regulatory Organizations;
National Association of Securities
Dealers, Inc.; Order Granting Approval of Proposed Rule Change Relating to Pre-Filing of Advertisements Pertaining to Collateralized Mortgage Obligations

October 28, 1992.

On July 15, 1992, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. ("NASD" or "Association") submitted a proposed rule change to the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC" or "Commission") pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act")¹ and Rule 19b-4 thereunder.² The proposal amends article I, section 35 of the NASD's Rules of Fair Practice³ and section 8 of the NASD's Government Securities Rules⁴ to require members to file advertisements concerning collateralized mortgage obligations ("CMOs") issued by a corporation or by an agency of the United States government with the Association prior to use. The requirement is temporary, lasting for a period of one year. Prior to the end of the first year the Association has represented that it will evaluate the efficacy of the rule and determine whether to extend the rule, propose alternative requirements or eliminate it.⁵

Notice of the proposed rule change, together with its terms of substance was provided by the issuance of a Commission release (Securities Exchange Act Release No. 31166, September 9, 1992) and by publication in the Federal Register (57 FR 42791, September 16, 1992).⁶ The Commission received one comment letter on the proposal.⁷ This order approves the proposed rule change.

As the NASD stated in the original rule filing, the impetus for the rule change approved herein is the increasing popularity of CMOs as a substitute for the falling yields of other types of debt securities. The NASD believes that CMOs are extremely complex and require full and fair disclosure to assist the investor in understanding them. The NASD believes that the advertising employed by brokers and dealers promoting CMOs as investments has frequently been inaccurate or misleading. In light of these concerns, the NASD believes that CMO advertisements should be subject to pre-use filing to provide NASD staff an opportunity to comment on the fairness and reasonableness of such advertisements prior to sue and permit potentially misleading advertisements to be identified and withheld from publication. By requiring pre-use filing and review of CMO advertising, the NASD believes that investor protection will be enhanced by eliminating inaccurate and misleading advertising before it is used.

The NASD expects the current interest rate environment to continue to provide a strong incentive for brokers and dealers to promote CMOs through aggressive advertising programs. Given the speed with which the market for CMOs has developed and continues to develop, the NASD believes that swift implementation of the proposed rules is in the public interest to prevent further uncontrolled advertising of these products.

No. 1 was filed on September 1, 1992 and provided the results of the NASD member vote on the proposed rule change. Amendment No. 2 filed on September 2, 1992, amended the text of the rule change to codify the intention of the NASD that the rule be in effect for one year only. (Prior notice of these first two amendments was provided in the Notice of Proposed Rule Change.) Amendment No. 3 was filed with the Commission on October 5, 1992 and requests that the Commission find good cause to approve the rule change prior to the 30th day after notice thereof. The Commission has determined not to approve the rule filing on an accelerated basis because the NASD will not be able to provide notice to its members of the effectiveness of the rule change until November 16, 1992. By approving the filing today, the Commission has provided the NASD with sufficient time to give notice to its members. Amendment No. 4 to the proposal, filed on October 15, 1992, amends the language of the rule filing to delete the term "sales literature" from the proposed amendments and to specify that the proposed rule change will become effective on November 16, 1992. See infra for further discussion of Amendment No. 4.

⁷ Letter from Donald P. Rappaport, Senior Vice President, Lehman Brothers, Inc. ("Lehman Brothers"), to Jonathan G. Katz, Secretary, SEC, dated October 6, 1992.

The rule change approved herein amends article III, section 35 of the NASD's Rules of Fair Practice to consolidate the former filing requirements with respect to registered investment companies and public direct participation programs set forth in subsections (c)(1) and (2), respectively, into new subsection (c)(1). The requirements regarding registered investment companies and public direct participation programs have not been changed.

The new requirement with respect to advertising for corporate COS is set forth in subsection (c)(2) of section 35. The new provision requires that all advertisements concerning corporate CMOs be filed with the Association's Advertising Department at least 10 days prior to first use unless the Department permits a shorter period in particular circumstances. The advertisement must be approved prior to use and, if changed or expressly disapproved by the Association, shall be withheld from publication or circulation until any changes specified by the Association have been made. In the event of disapproval by the Association, the advertisement must be refiled for, and have received, Association approval prior to publication or circulation. The new provision is similar to that previously adopted with respect to options advertisements contained in subsection (c)(1) to article III, section 35A to the Rules of Fair Practice.⁸

In addition, the rule change approved herein adds a new subsection 8(c)(1)(B) to the NASD's Government Securities Rules with respect to collateralized mortgage obligations issued by an agency of the United States government. A technical amendment deletes current subsection 8(c)(2)(B) which applied to the filing of advertisements concerning government securities during the first year of the operation of the Government Securities Rules which were adopted by the NASD in 1989.

At present, advertisements concerning government securities must be filed with the NASD within 10 days of first use or publication. Additionally, advertisements and sales literature concerning registered investment companies and direct participation programs must be filed within 10 days of first use. Advertising pertaining to options must be approved in advance of its use or publication. While the NASD believes that a pre-use filing

⁵ Any changes, other than elimination of the rule, must be filed with the Commission pursuant to section 19(b) of the Act.

⁶ The NASD filed four amendments to the proposed rule change approved herein. Amendment requirement for CMO advertisements, similar to the requirement for options advertising, is appropriate, the NASD recognizes that the flexibility of member firm advertising programs is impaired. Accordingly, the amendment approved herein is effective on a temporary basis for one year only. During that year, the NASD states that its Fixed Income Committee will review the impact of the proposed rule and determine whether additional or alternative requirements should be put in place to ensure that CMO advertising is not misleading.

As stated above, the NASD submitted Amendment No. 4 to the proposed rule change in order to specify that the effective date of the rule filing will be November 16, 1992, and that the proposed rule change will remain in effect for one year from that date. In addition, Amendment No. 4 deletes the term "sales literature" from the proposed amendment to article III, section 35(c)(2) of the Rules of the Fair Practice and section 8(c)(1)(B) of the Government Securities Rules. The NASD states that the term was not intended to be included within the proposed rule change and was not contained in the rule language approved by the NASD membership in Notice to Members 92-36. Amendment No. 4, therefore, clarifies the original intent of the NASD that the proposed rule change require pre-filing of advertising for CMOs and not pre-filing of sales literature for CMOs.

The Commission received a comment letter from Lehman Brothers on the proposed rule change.⁹ The comment letter sought clarification on two points of the proposed rule change. First, Lehman Brothers sought clarification that the intent of the proposed rule change was to subject new CMO advertisements to NASD review and to develop a basis format for CMO advertising that would be pre-approved. Second, Lehman Brothers sought to clarify that the pre-filing requirement was applicable only to advertising and not to sales literature as well. In a letter¹⁰ responding to Lehman Brothers' concerns, the NASD stated that it expects to develop a format for CMO advertising that would be pre-approved. In other words, the NASD expects that advertisers for CMOs who follow set guidelines for each CMO advertisement will not have to pre-file with the NASD. Lehman Brothers' second concern, regarding the treatment of sales literature has been addressed by the NASD in Amendment No. 4, which deletes the inadvertent references to pre-filing of sales literature.

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to the NASD, including the requirements of section 15A(b)(6) of the Act.¹¹ Section 15A(b)(6) requires, in part, that the rules of the NASD be designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices and to protect investors and the public interest. The Commission believes that CMOs are often complex in nature and that investors are due full and fair disclosure in understanding the terms of CMOs in which they invest. The rule change herein approved strengthens the NASD's regulatory framework for reviewing advertisements relating to CMOs and enhances the industry's ability to police such communications, thereby aiding in the protection of investors.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the above-mentioned proposed rule change be, and hereby is, approved.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation pursuant to delegated authority.¹²

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Filing of Proposed Rule Change by National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. Relating to the Use of Negative Response Letters in Certain Bulk Exchanges of Money Market Funds

October 27, 1992.

Pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act"), 15 U.S.C. 78s(b)(1), notice is hereby given that on September 10, 1992, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. ("NASD" or "Association") filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC" or "Commission") the proposed rule change as amended,¹ ¹¹ 15 U.S.C. 78o-3(b)(6) (1988).

¹² 17 CFR 200.30-3(a)(12) (1992).

¹ This filing was originally submitted on April 30, 1992. The NASD filed an amendment ("Amendment No. 2") to the proposed rule change on September 10, 1992. Amendment No. 2 completely replaces the original rule filing. On August 5, 1992, the NASD filed Amendment No. 1 with the Commission. Amendment No. 1 reports the results of a member vote on the proposed rule change, which was published for member vote in NASD Notice to and as described in Items I, II, and III below, which Items have been prepared by the NASD. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change from interested persons.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

Below is the text of the proposed rule change to article III, section 15 of the NASD Rules of Fair Practice. Proposed new language is italicized.

Rules of Fair Practice

Article III

Sec. 15

Exceptions

(d)(1) This section shall not apply to discretion as to the price at which or the time when an order given by a customer for the purchase or sale of a definite amount of a specified security shall be executed.

(2) This section shall not apply to bulk exchanges at net asset value of money market mutual funds ("funds") utilizing negative response letters provided:

(i) The bulk exchange is limited to situations involving mergers and acquisitions of funds, changes of clearing members and exchanges of funds used in sweep accounts;

(ii) The negative response letter contains a tabular comparison of the nature and amount of the fees charged by each fund;

(iii) The negative response letter contains a comparative description of the investment objectives of each fund and a prospectus of the fund to be purchased; and

(iv) The negative response feature will not be activated until at least 30 days after the date on which the letter was mailed.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, the NASD included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. The ¹⁰ Letter from T. Grant Callery, Vice President and Deputy General Counsel, NASD to Selwyn Notelovitz, Branch Chief, Over-the-Counter Regulation, SEC, dated October 21, 1992.

NASD has prepared summaries, set forth in sections (A), (B), and (C) below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

Article III, section 15 of the NASD Rules of Fair Practice requires written authority from a customer before a member or a registered representative can exercise discretion in the customer's account. In Notice to Members 91-39 (June 1991), the NASD reminded members that the use of negative response letters, which permit the automatic execution of a recommendation in such letters to exchange mutual funds if a customer does not respond to the letter by a specific date, would violate the provisions of article III, section 15. Following the distribution of Notice to Members 91-39, the NASD received requests from members to consider amending article III, section 15 to exempt the use of negative response letters in connection with the bulk exchange of money market mutual funds in certain situations. The first situation involves the use of a negative response letter to effect the bulk exchange of money market mutual funds resulting from the merger or acquisition of a currently used money market fund. The second situation involves the use of a negative response letter to effect the bulk exchange of money market mutual funds necessitated by the member's change of its respective clearing member and the money market mutual fund which such clearing member utilizes. The third situation involves the use of negative response letter to effect the bulk exchange of money market mutual funds to enable a member to utilize a different fund from that which is being used currently as the investment vehicle for a sweep account. In such customer accounts, when securities transactions result in credit balances, the balances are automatically invested in money market funds for the benefit of the customer.

Upon review, the NASD has determined that the use of negative response letters in connection with the above described situations should be exempted from provisions of article III, section 15 because investment performance is not the primary reason for the fund exchange, and alternative administrative procedures can be extraordinarily burdensome. The NASD believes that the above-described situations for which it is proposing to provide an exemption are not usually related to the enhancement of the account's financial performance. Abuses of discretion and overreaching, which article III, section 15 addresses, are therefore unlikely to occur in the three above-described bulk fund exchanges. The NASD also recognizes that it is often necessary to notify hundreds and, sometimes, several thousand money market mutual fund shareowners of an impending money market fund exchange. It may be an extremely difficult, if not impossible, administrative task to contact each of the customers who have failed to respond, and to solicit their approval of the fund exchange. At best, such an individual contact and approval process results in considerable time delays and added cost in effecting the fund exchange. The NASD believes that eliminating an obstacle to the efficient and timely execution of such bulk exchanges, where there is little or no risk to customers, will benefit customers and members alike.

The NASD proposes, therefore, to amend article III, section 15 to create an exemption for the use of negative response letters in connection with the bulk exchanges of money market mutual funds provided the bulk exchanges are effected at net asset value² and are limited to mergers and acquisitions of funds, a change of clearing members, or an exchange of funds used in sweep accounts.

The NASD believes, however, that additional disclosure and timing requirements are appropriate in connection with the proposed exemptions to article III, section 15 for the protection of investors since such exchanges involve the redemption of one security and the purchase of another. The NASD, therefore, further proposes that, in connection with the proposed exemptive uses of negative response letters: (1) The negative response letter include a tabular comparison of the nature and amount of fees charged by each fund; (ii) the negative response letter include a comparative description of the investment objective of each fund; (iii) a prospectus of the fund to be purchased accompany the negative response letter; and, (iv) the negative response feature not be activated until at least 30 days after the date on which the letter was mailed.

The NASD believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of section 15A(b)(6) of the Act. Section 15A(b)(6) of the Act requires, inter alia, that the rules of a national securities association be designed to "promote just and equitable principles of trade, to foster cooperation and coordination with person engaged in regulating, clearing, settling, processing information with respect to, and facilitating transactions in securities, to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system, and in general, to protect investors and the public interest." Specifically, the NASD believes that the proposed exemption for the use of negative response letters in connection with certain bulk exchanges of money market mutual funds is consistent with the provisions of section 15A(b)(6) because it will eliminate an obstacle to the timely and efficient execution of such bulk exchanges where there is little or no risk to customers, and therefore, will benefit customers and members alike.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The NASD does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act, as amended.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received from Members, Participants, or Others

The proposed rule change was published for comment in Notice to Members 91-80 (December 1991). Eleven comments were received in response thereto. Of the eleven comment letters received, ten were in favor of the proposed rule change and one expressed neither support nor opposition. Eight of the commenters suggested various changes to the proposed amendments as follows:

One commenter believes that the requirement in the proposed rule change for a tabular comparison of the fees charged by each fund would produce inexact figures that would be difficult to obtain. This commenter suggests that: (1) The proposed tabular comparison of fees be replaced by a comparison of the yields of the two funds involved in the bulk exchange for the most recent practical date, computed in the manner provided in Item 22 of Form N-1A adopted pursuant to the Investment Company Act of 1940; and (ii) if desired by a member (and assuming that customers will have previously received a prospectus of the exiting fund and the negative consent will be accompanied by a prospectus of the new fund) the inclusion of an historical performance for each of the funds for comparable time periods as reported by a generally recognized mutual fund reporting service. The commenter's rationale is that comparative information on yields would reflect all charges and expenses. The NASD believes that comparative yield figures do not provide an adequate disclosure of fees. The NASD further notes that a tabular comparison reflecting the various fees disclosed in the front pages of every money market fund prospectus are exact and easily obtainable by the NASD member.

Three commenters questioned the application of the proposed rule change to mergers and acquisitions since such transactions are ordinarily subject, under applicable state law, to a vote of shareholders. One commenter suggested that it should be made clear that negative response letters may be used not only in situations involving mergers and acquisitions of funds (in which case, the commenter noted, such letters would generally be redundant because shareholders must be contacted for voting purposes) but also in situations where the ability to use a negative response letter would obviate the need for a merger or acquisition. One commenter inquired whether the proposed rule change would allow the funds of one money market fund to be combined with another money market fund via negative response letters provided that if there were any positive responses to the negative response letters that refused the transfer, then the fund distributors would provide for a shareholder meeting to liquidate the fund in question. In response to the above two commenters, the NASD believes that it is appropriate that the proposed rule be limited to mergers and acquisitions and not be expanded to other similar combinations that, unlike mergers and acquisitions, may not be regulated by applicable state and federal laws that may impose shareholder protection requirements. One commenter suggested that the proposed rule change might cause members to believe that a merger or an acquisition could be accomplished by using negative response letters rather than a shareholder vote. In response to this comment, the NASD believes the proposed rule change is clear that it applies to a broker-dealer and not to the obligations of the mutual fund to comply with applicable state and federal laws that may require a shareholder vote to accomplish the merger or acquisition. Once those laws are complied with an investor approval is obtained, a broker-dealer may use a negative response letter to accomplish the move of the mutual fund accounts that do not involve an investment decision. Therefore, the NASD believes that additional clarification is unnecessary.

One commenter suggests that a negative response letter should be permitted when a non-sweep money market fund account is changed to a sweep account. The NASD believes that such a fund exchange requires the authorization of the customer.

Two commenters suggested that the proposed rule change be expanded to include, within the definition of bulk exchanges, changes in investment advisers and changes in accounts where a member or its affiliates provide sub-transfer agent or other support services. The NASD does not believe that such an expansion of the proposed rule change is appropriate.

One commenter suggested that any legitimate exchange of a money market fund should permit the use of a negative response letter. The NASD believes that any discretionary activity by a member or a registered representative in a customer's account would normally require a customer's written authorization. The narrow exemption provided by the proposed rule change in certain limited situations involving bulk transfers of money market funds is the maximum relief from the rule that the NASD is prepared to recommend.

One commenter recommended that exchanges required by administrative or judicial order not be subject to the 30-day delay in execution after a negative response letter is mailed. The NASD believes that the nature of such an order will determine whether the 30-day requirement can be applied. Each such case, of which there will probably be few, will be considered on its merits, and there is no necessity to amend the proposed rule change.

One commenter suggested broadening the term "sweep account" to include those accounts where each "sweep" must be authorized by an employee of the member firm. Upon review, the NASD believes that where the customer has previously authorized credit balances to be swept periodically into a money market fund, the procedures adopted by a member to authorize each "sweep" would not cause such a sweep account to lose its "sweep" status. Therefore, the NASD believes further clarification to the proposed rule change on this issue is not necessary.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Within 35 days of the date of publication of this notice in the Federal Register or within such longer period (i) as the Commission may designate up to 90 days of such date if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding or (ii) as to which the self-regulatory organization consents, the Commission will:

A. By order approve such proposed rule change, or

B. Institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule change should be disapproved.

IV. Solicitation of Comments

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views, and arguments concerning the foregoing. Persons making written submissions should file six copies thereof with the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 450 Fifth Street, NW., Washington, DC 20549. Copies of the submission, all subsequent amendments, all written statements with respect to the proposed rule change that are filed with the Commission, and all written communications relating to the proposed rule change between the Commission and any person, other than those that may be withheld from the public in accordance with the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552, will be available for inspection and copying in the Commission's Public Reference Room. Copies of such filing will also be available for inspection and copying at the principal office of the NASD. All submissions should refer to the file number in the caption above and should be submitted by November 24, 1992.

Self-Regulatory Organizations; The New York Stock Exchange; Order Approving Proposed Rule Change Relating to the Adoption of Rule 410B Concerning Reporting to the Exchange of Transactions Effected in Exchange-Listed Securities

October 26, 1992.

I. Introduction

On December 17, 1991, the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE" or "Exchange") submitted to the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC" or "Commission"), pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act")¹ and rule 19b-4 thereunder,² a proposed rule change to adopt NYSE Rule 410B, which will require Exchange members and member organizations ("members") to report to the Exchange transactions effected for their accounts or the accounts of their customers in Exchange-listed securities that are not otherwise reported to the Consolidated Tape.³

Notice of the proposal appeared in the Federal Register on January 13, 1992.⁴ The Commission received seven comment letters regarding the proposed rule change.⁵ This order approves the proposal.

Petrillo, Vice-President, General Counsel and Corporate Secretary, the Toronto Stock Exchange, dated May 19, 1992 ("May 19 letter"). See infra for a discussion of the specific comments.

II. Description of Proposal

The NYSE believes that all transactions in NYSE-listed stocks that are not reported to the Consolidated Tape should be reported to the Exchange in order to provide an accurate record of overall trading activity in NYSE-listed stocks. Consequently, the Exchange is adopting NYSE Rule 410B, which will require NYSE members to report to the Exchange transactions effected for their accounts or the accounts of their customers in Exchange-listed stocks that are not otherwise reported to the Consolidated Tape.

NYSE Rule 410B will require Exchange members to report the following information to the NYSE:

- (1) The time and date of the transaction;
- (2) The stock symbol of the listed security;
- (3) The number of shares;
- (4) The price of the transaction;⁶
- (5) The marketplace where the transaction was executed;⁷
- (6) An indication whether the transaction was a buy (B), sell (S), or cross (C);⁸
- (7) An indication whether the transaction was executed for the member or its customer as principal or agent; and
- (8) The name of the contra-side broker-dealer to the trade.⁹

In addition, NYSE Rule 410B contains several exceptions. For purposes of Rule 410B, NYSE members will not have to report the following types of transactions:

- (1) Program trading information that is otherwise reported to the Exchange;¹⁰
- (2) Odd-lot transactions;¹¹
- (3) Transactions which are part of a primary distribution by an issuer or of a registered secondary distribution (other than "shelf distributions") or an ⁶ The price reported must exclude any commissions, mark-up mark-down or service charge. See NYSE Rule 410B(a).

⁷ Both the country and marketplace of execution must be designated, for example, "OTC-USA," "United Kingdom Exchange," or "Japan OTC." See NYSE Rule 410B(f).

⁸ Transactions involving two NYSE members must be reported by the seller. See NYSE Rule 410B(a).

⁹ Where there is no contra-side broker-dealer to the trade, for purposes of Rule 410B(b)(8), "none" should be reported. See NYSE Rule 410B, Supplementary Material .10.

¹⁰ The Exchange regularly obtains program trading information from its members pursuant to NYSE Rule 416.

¹¹ An odd-lot order is an order for less than a security's normal unit of trading (e.g., less than 100 shares for an equity order). See NYSE Rule 55.

unregistered secondary distribution effected off the floor of an exchange;¹²

(4) Transactions made in reliance on section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933;¹³

(5) Transactions where the buyer and seller have agreed to trade at a price substantially unrelated to the current market for the security, (e.g., to enable the seller to make a gift);

(6) The acquisition of securities by a member as principal in anticipation of making an immediate exchange distribution or exchange offering on an exchange;

(7) Purchases of securities off the floor of an exchange pursuant to a tender offer.

The information required to be reported by Rule 410B must be submitted by the close of the next business day via electronic systems designated by the Exchange.¹⁴

Currently, transactions in NYSE-listed stocks that are effected: (1) On the Exchange; (2) on another U.S. securities exchange; or (3) in the U.S. over-the-counter ("OTC") market during the hours of operation of the Consolidated Tape are reported to a self-regulatory organization ("SRO") for dissemination to the Consolidated Tape either immediately or within a short time frame (e.g., 90 seconds) after the transaction.¹⁵ Transactions that are effected at other times or places are not reported to the Consolidated Tape, and, with the exception of program trading information,¹⁶ are not reported to the Exchange. For example, transactions in NYSE-listed stocks executed overseas or after-hours in the OTC market are not reported to the Consolidated Tape or the Exchange.

The Exchange believes that the information it will receive as a result of this new reporting requirement will augment and enhance its ability to ¹⁴ See note 38, infra. Rule 410B information will be submitted directly to the Securities Industry Automation Corporation ("SIAC"). A member can elect to transmit the data either through its existing communications lines or through a software program which will be installed on the existing computer systems of NYSE member organizations by the Exchange and SIAC. surveil for and investigate, among other matters, insider trading, frontrunning, and manipulative activities, such as marking the close on the NYSE prior to effecting trades in another market. In addition, the Exchange believes that the information it will obtain through this new requirement should provide a clearer picture than currently exists as to the extent of off-hours trading in NYSE-listed stocks. Moreover, the Exchange states that new Rule 410B will facilitate the Exchange's planning of appropriate initiatives to meet the needs of its members in this area.

In its filing, the Exchange states that the information it will receive as a result of the new requirements of Rule 410B will be used only for regulatory purposes. Therefore, the Exchange will retain any information it receives and will not disclose specific transactions publicly. The Exchange may, however, determine the disseminate aggregate data as to the extent of off-hours trading in NYSE stocks.¹⁷

The NYSE submitted, along with its proposal, a copy of an Information Memorandum that would be sent out to members and member organizations describing Rule 410B and its scope. The Information Memorandum sets forth the following examples of the operation of Rule 410B, including situations where a transaction is negotiated in the U.S. and executed abroad by the NYSE member firm's foreign affiliate,¹⁸ and

¹⁷ The Exchange also stated that Rule 410B information will be available to Intermarket Surveillance Group ("ISG") participants through the Exchange's Intermarket Surveillance Information System ("ISIS"). See letter from James E. Buck, Senior Vice President and Secretary, NYSE, to Jonathan G. Katz, Secretary, SEC, dated April 22, 1992.

¹⁸ See NYSE Information Memorandum, filed on October 26, 1992, as part of the proposed rule change.

The question of whether a particular transaction negotiated in the U.S. but nominally executed abroad by a foreign affiliate is a domestic trade for U.S. regulatory purposes has been addressed in prior Commission releases. For example, in the Commission's order concerning Wunsch Auction Systems, Inc. ("WASI"), the Commission stated its belief that "trades negotiated in the U.S. on a U.S. exchange are domestic, not foreign trades. The fact that the trade may be time-stamped in London . . . does not in our view affect the obligation . . . to maintain a complete record of such trades and report them as U.S. trades to U.S. regulatory and self-regulatory authorities and, where applicable, to U.S. reporting systems." See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 28899 (February 20, 1991), 56 FR 8377. See also, Securities Exchange Act Release Nos. 29238 (May 28, 1991), 56 FR 25056, 29854 (October 24, 1991), 56 FR 55963, 30920 (July 14, 1992), 57 FR 32587.

In this regard, the Commission anticipates that the reporting of foreign trades in U.S. stocks will be explored in its Market 2000 Study. See U.S. Equity Market Structure Study, Securities Exchange Act Release No. 30920 (July 14, 1992), 57 FR 32587.

transactions effected for the account of such an affiliate or for the account of a customer of such an affiliate.

1. Assume that ABC, Broker-Dealer, Inc. ("ABC"), an NYSE member, wishes to execute a transaction, in London, for a proprietary account in XYZ security, a stock listed on the NYSE. ABC may send the order to its affiliate, ABC-London, P.L.C., for execution in London. This transaction would be reportable under Rule 410B because it was effected for the account of an NYSE member firm, ABC.

2. Assume the same facts as in example 1 above, except that the transaction is for the account of a customer of ABC. This transaction would also be reportable under Rule 410B because it was effected for the account of a customer of an NYSE member firm.

3. Assume that ABC-London, P.L.C. executes a transaction for its own proprietary account in London in XYZ security. Such a transaction is not reportable under Rule 410B because ABC-London, P.L.C. is not an NYSE member firm.

4. Assume that ABC-London, P.L.C. executes a transaction on behalf of one of its customers in London in XYZ security. Such a transaction is not reportable under Rule 410B because the customer is not a customer of an NYSE member firm.¹⁹

5. If, in example 4, the customer was also a customer of the NYSE member firm and the member firm had a part in arranging the transaction, such transaction would then be reportable under Rule 410B. Such transactions must be arranged in compliance with Rule 15a-6 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

6. Assume that ABC-London, P.L.C. sends a proprietary order to ABC for execution in the U.S. for YZX securities, an NYSE-listed stock. In this instance, ABC-London, P.L.C. would be deemed to be a customer of ABC. If a transaction is effected on this order in the U.S. and is not reported to the Consolidated Tape (e.g., an OTC transaction executed at 5:30 p.m.), it would be reportable under Rule 410B for two reasons. First, if ABC traded as principal on the other side of the order, the transaction would be reportable as a transaction for the account of an NYSE member firm. Second, if ABC represented the order solely as an agent, the transaction would be reportable as a transaction for the account of a customer of an NYSE member firm.

¹⁹ Examples 3 and 4 show that Rule 410B does not generally apply to transactions effected outside of the U.S. for the account of a foreign affiliate of an NYSE member firm or transactions effected by such an affiliate for the account of a customer in the foreign country. See examples 5 through 7, however for certain transactions involving a foreign affiliate that would be reportable under Rule 410B. In those examples, the transaction involving a foreign affiliate or its customer is reportable because the NYSE member firm has either arranged the transaction or executed the transaction in the U.S.

7. Assume the same facts as in example 6 above, but that the order transmitted by ABC-London, P.L.C. is for the account of one of its customers. ABC-London, P.L.C. would again be deemed to be a customer of ABC. A transaction effected in the U.S. upon such an order that was not reported to the Consolidated Tape would be reportable under Rule 410B for the same reasons stated in example 6 above.

III. Comments and NYSE Response

A. Comment Letters

The Commission received seven comment letters either opposing or suggesting substantial modifications to the NYSE proposal: One each from Morgan Stanley & Co. ("Morgan Stanley")²⁰ and the Securities Industry Association ("SIA");²¹ one from the Canadian Exchanges and a follow-up letter from the Toronto Stock Exchange only; and three from the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. ("NASD"). The NYSE responded to the concerns raised by these commentators in two letters dated April 22, and June 15, 1992.²²

In its comment letter, Morgan Stanley states that the NYSE proposed the new reporting requirements primarily to further its own competitive interests, and to discourage off-exchange trading, which adversely affects the Exchange's market share, rather than to serve a regulatory function. Morgan Stanley states that, to the extent there is a real surveillance need, the NYSE can receive the necessary information by less burdensome means than the imposition of Rule 410B reporting requirements. For example, Morgan Stanley asserts that, in order to enhance the Exchange's ability to surveil for insider trading, the Exchange could request member firms to report all overseas trades in stocks that are the subject of an announcement of a material corporate event (e.g., a merger), rather than impose a new, across-the-board reporting requirement. Similarly, Morgan Stanley suggests that only in cases where the NYSE is concerned about marking-the-close in a particular stock should overseas trading in that stock be required to be reported.²³

²² See letters from James E. Buck, Senior Vice President and Secretary, NYSE, to Jonathan G. Katz, Secretary, SEC, dated April 22, 1992 ("April 22 letter") and June 15, 1992 ("June 15 letter").

The Canadian Exchanges fear that Rule 410B may have anti-competitive effects, causing member firms to refuse to route orders to markets such as the Canadian Exchanges that do not report to the Consolidated Tape, due to the costs of complying with Rule 410B. The Canadian Exchanges request that the proposed rule be amended to provide an exemption for transactions reported to recognized exchanges that publicly report details of transactions, as do the Canadian Exchanges. The Canadian Exchanges urge other markets to recognize the existing public reporting methods in the interest of minimizing compliance costs.

The Canadian Exchanges criticize NYSE Rule 410B as creating overlapping reporting requirements and stress that reporting concerns should be addressed through information-sharing agreements. In this regard, the Canadian Exchanges point out that the Toronto, Montreal, and Vancouver stock exchanges are each affiliate members of the Intermarket Surveillance Group ("ISG")²⁴ and have information-sharing agreements in place with the NYSE as well as other U.S. stock exchanges for surveillance and investigative purposes. Finally, the Canadian Exchanges state that Rule 410B will not provide a better picture of overall trading in NYSE-listed stocks because only NYSE member trading will be reported.

In its May 19 letter, the Toronto Stock Exchange, reiterating its previous competitive concerns, urges the Commission specifically to solicit further comment on the effect of proposed Rule 410B on intermarket competition.

The NASD and SIA letters both express concern that the proposed rule is largely duplicative of the reporting requirements imposed by NASD Form T.²⁵ The SIA states that requiring the same information in different formats imposes unnecessary costs to, and duplicative regulatory burdens on, U.S. broker-dealers. Accordingly, the SIA requests that the Commission examine the duplicative aspects of NASD Form T and NYSE Rule 410B to alleviate this burden.

In its letter, the SIA recommends modifications to the NYSE proposal to address three additional concerns. First the SIA objects to the proposed requirement that the reporting be conducted on a next business day basis. Because many of the affected trades may be after-hours trades that are executed after many member firms' systems are closed for the day, the SIA urges that, instead, such reporting be done on the next business day after the trade ("T+1") or the day following processing, whichever is later, in order to accommodate such anticipated computer system cut-offs. Second, the SIA suggests that an appropriate phase-in period be provided to permit substantial and costly systems adjustments to meet the proposal format and time frames for reporting. Third, the SIA recommends that the identity of contra-side broker-dealers only be disclosed when circumstances warrant, as is done with the NASD's Form T.²⁶

As noted above, like the SIA, the NASD is primarily concerned about duplicate reporting requirements that will be imposed to dual NYSE and NASD members.²⁷ In the NASD's view, the duplicate reporting burdens and additional costs will adversely affect a major segment of the securities industry, including many NASD member firms. The NASD also notes its responsibility under the Act to surveil after-hours, OTC trading and its commitment as an SRO and participant in ISG to sharing information in listed securities with exchanges. In addition to the duplication concerns, the NASD cites concerns over the potential costs of Rule 410B without any clear or significant benefits.

In its February 21 and May 15 letters, the NASD states that it is preferable to capture off-hours trading through the NASD's Automated Confirmation Transaction ("ACT") service.²⁸ The NASD believes that ACT reporting is a cost-effective alternative to Rule 410B. Acknowledging that it is more efficient to compile transaction reports electronically than in hard copy form,²⁹ the NASD states that it intends to proposed enhancements to its ACT service to replace Form T. The NASD argues that its ACT service is the preferable system for collecting transaction information, because most NYSE member firms subject to NYSE Rule 410B currently subscribe to ACT to maintain a clearing arrangement with an ACT subscriber, and that ACT system changes would be less costly to implement than NYSE Rule 410B.³⁰

The NASD also noted in its February 21 letter that the NYSE, by failing to address any limitation in the NYSE's regulatory jurisdiction that impairs its ability to examine a member firm's records of equity trades effected in any other market, foreign or domestic, has not justified the costs and duplicative reporting burdens that Rule 410B would impose.

The NASD states that the cost of compliance with Rule 410B for a typical firm, including the cost of communication lines, should be weighed against the cost of reporting through ACT. In its May 15 letter, the NASD details some of the contemplated enhancements to ACT,³¹ stressing that, ²³ Morgan Stanley also expresses concern that the NYSE submitted the proposed rule for Commission approval without consulting its membership and either its Legal Advisory or Compliance Advisory Committees, and assumes the NYSE did not give notice of the proposed rule to these committees because the Exchange feared substantial opposition to the new rule. The Commission notes that the NYSE fulfilled all the legal requirements under the Act for filing its proposal with the Commission.

²⁴ The ISG was formed on July 14, 1983, to provide a mechanism for coordinating surveillance and market data for purposes of intermarket investigations and to maintain a facility for the routine exchange of such information. The ISG also serves as a forum for self-regulatory organizations ("SROs") to discuss joint surveillance concerns and to devise methods to improve intermarket surveillance.

²⁸ The ACT service was designed to facilitate comparison and clearing of inter-dealer OTC equity trades. Participation in ACT is mandatory for all NASD members that are either self-clearing firms or have clearing arrangements with such firms. NASD members are required to enter trade reports within specific time frames, this data is then compared and these matched "locked-in" trades are submitted electronically to the National Securities Clearing Corporation ("NSCC"). See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 27229 (September 7, 1989), 54 FR 38484.

³⁰ In its March 10 letter, the NASD stated that there are 136 ACT subscribers that are dual members of the NASD and the NYSE.

³¹ Specifically, ACT will automate Form T, capture nearly the same data elements, and can accommodate reports more often than the current weekly reporting. The NASD has stated that the system changes to implement the expansion of ACT should be ready by January, 1993.

in addition to the transaction reporting function, ACT also offers broker-dealers the benefits of trade comparison and risk management functions. The NASD proposes that the NYSE limit the application of Rule 410B to its members who are not NASD members.

B. NYSE Response

In its two response letters, the NYSE discusses the issues raised by the four commentators. In its April 22 letter, the NYSE first addresses the issue of cost and administrative burden by stating that member firms are currently required to collect the same data that proposed NYSE Rule 410B would require.³²

Second, regarding the issue of duplication in reporting, the NYSE states that, compared to Form T, Rule 410B is broader, because it would require next day, as opposed to weekly, reporting. In addition, Rule 410B captures the following information that Form T does not: marketplace of the transaction; buy, sell or cross; principal or agent; contra-side broker-dealer; and transactions executed on and reported to foreign securities exchanges.

Third, the NYSE challenges the cost effectiveness and feasibility of the proposed ACT enhancements, pointing out that the NASD has not yet proposed these enhancements, cost estimates have not been calculated, and details have not been finalized. For example, it is unclear whether the NASD will propose that enhanced ACT require weekly versus next day reporting of all transactions, including those in foreign markets, or all the data elements included in Rule 410B.³³

Fourth, the NYSE addresses the concerns raised by both the NASD and the Canadian Exchanges regarding information sharing by committing to submit all Rule 410B information received by the NYSE to the Exchange's Intermarket Surveillance Information System ("ISIS"), which is accessible to ISG participants. The NYSE also notes that Rule 410B information will be available to ISG participants on a timely basis and information sharing will not be hindered due to the lack of an information-sharing agreement with the country where the transaction was executed.

In response to the Canadian Exchanges' assertions that Rule 410B may have anti-competitive effects, the NYSE states that Rule 410B should not dissuade order entry into foreign markets, because the cost and administrative burden of reporting should be minimal. In addition, the NYSE states that the Canadian exchanges would not be at a competitive disadvantage compared to other foreign markets, because all transactions, wherever executed, must be reported. Lastly, in response to the SIA's concern that the identity of broker-dealer's customers would be revealed under the rule, the NYSE points out that the rule requires disclosure of the contra-side broker-dealer, not the broker-dealer's customer.

In its June 15 letter, the NYSE responds to the concerns raised by the NASD in its May 15 comment letter. First, regarding the cost of implementing Rule 410B, the NYSE explains that this information will be collected by the Rule 410B Data Entry System, a data entry program which will be installed by SIAC, at no cost to NYSE members. The NYSE states that the entire cost of software development as well as future upgrades and support by SIAC will be borne by the Exchange. Further, the Exchange explains that all NYSE members are currently equipped with communication links and equipment to electronically submit regulatory information to the Exchange and SIAC; thus additional systems costs are not likely to be incurred.

With respect to the NASD's suggestion that ACT should be considered as an alternative to Rule 410B, the NYSE notes that cost estimates of implementing enhanced ACT have not been provided. Respecting the issue of duplicate reporting, the NYSE reiterates that Rule 410B is broader than Form T and the proposed ACT enhancements. In response to the NASD's assertion that this information could be obtained from the foreign market through memoranda of understanding ("MOU"), the NYSE questions what would occur if no such MOU is in place and how the foreign market will be identified, because the identity of the market is currently not disclosed on Form T.

IV. Discussion

After careful consideration of the comments received as well as applicable statutory provisions, the Commission believes that the NYSE's proposal to require its members to report to the Exchange certain transactions in NYSE-listed securities not reported to the Consolidated Tape is reasonably designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade, prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, protect investors and the public interest, and remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system. For these reasons and for the additional reasons set forth below, the Commission finds that approval of the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to a national securities exchange, and, in particular, the requirements of sections 6(b) and 11A.³⁴

The Commission believes that Rule 410B should increase the scope of trading information available to the Exchange by requiring regular reporting of transactions not reported to the Consolidated Tape. This information is not routinely available under existing rules. Currently, under NYSE Rule 410A, the Exchange may request similar transaction information from NYSE members; however, Rule 410A only requires members to supply transaction information upon the NYSE's request.³⁵ In contrast, Rule 410B will provide regular, timely transaction reporting. The Commission believes that this information should be useful and beneficial for the NYSE as well as investors in several ways.

First, the Commission believes that the Exchange's ability to monitor member trading in NYSE-listed stocks should be substantially improved. Specifically, the Commission believes that the information received pursuant to this rule should enhance the Exchange's market surveillance efforts by providing additional information regarding overseas and after-hours trading that can be used in investigations of questionable trading activity. In addition, the Commission believes that the availability of this transaction data also should provide a more complete audit trail and depiction of total member trading in each NYSE-listed stock, which should facilitate surveillance by the Exchange in NYSE-listed stocks. For example, through trade information submitted pursuant to Rule 410B, the NYSE should be better able to detect possible manipulations of NYSE-

³³ The NASD stated that ACT will not require reports of trades reported on foreign securities exchanges. Instead, the NASD, as a matter of comity, relies on memoranda of understanding and surveillance sharing agreements with the foreign market. The NASD indicated, however, a willingness to discuss this issue further with the Commission.

³⁴ 15 U.S.C. §§ 78f(b) and 78k-1 (1988).

³⁵ NYSE Rule 410A requires NYSE members to submit this "blue sheet" information electronically to the Exchange in connection with market surveillance inquiries. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 25859 (June 27, 1988), 53 FR 25029.

listed stocks such as marking the close. The regular reporting should not only expedite detection of questionable trading activity, but should aid also in deterring such activity. This will ultimately benefit all investors in the securities markets.

As noted above, Morgan Stanley questioned the NYSE's purposes behind the rule, arguing that the rule could be fashioned more narrowly, while still providing the NYSE with useful overseas trade information for surveillance purposes. While the NYSE could have decided to draft a narrower reporting requirement and does have access, pursuant to Rule 410A, to some of the same information Rule 410B will provide, the Commission believes that it is reasonable for the NYSE to determine that regular reporting, as opposed to reporting on a more limited basis, would be more useful for its surveillance program. Although the NYSE admits that its proposal will also serve the additional purpose of providing it with information about the extent of off-hour trading, this factor does not reduce the regulatory usefulness of the information.³⁶ In summary, the Commission believes the development of a more complete audit trail in after-hours trading in NYSE-listed stocks will facilitate the NYSE in meeting its regulatory responsibilities under the Act to adequately surveil its markets and enforce its rules. The Commission believes that enhanced Exchange surveillance should, in turn, promote just and equitable principles of trade, and prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, consistent with the Act.

The Commission recognizes that proposed Rule 140B does not provide transparency, which contemplates real-time, publicly-disseminated reporting of quotations, transaction volume, or prices, for NYSE-listed stocks after the close of operation of the Consolidated Tape. Instead, the Commission notes that Rule 410B is much more limited, requiring electronic reporting of trade data to the NYSE on a next-day basis for regulatory purposes. The Commission, in conjunction with the NYSE and other market centers, is currently seeking ways to enhance transparency for securities transactions.³⁷ Although NYSE Rule 410B does not bring transparency to the after-hours and overseas marketplaces for NYSE-listed stocks, the Commission believes that the trade reporting required by NYSE Rule 410B is an important step in ensuring that SROs have adequate information to detect and deter violations of the securities laws. The Commission notes that the NYSE stated that it may disclose Rule 410B information on an aggregate basis, for example, to publicize the amount of volume in NYSE-listed stocks executed but not reported to the Consolidated Tape. Although the NYSE is not required to do so under its rule, the Commission nevertheless believes this information could prove useful to market participants.

The Commission has considered carefully the comments and responses received regarding NYSE Rule 410B. Several commentators raised the issues of cost and potential duplication in reporting. The Commission believes that the NYSE has shown that the cost and administrative burden of reporting should be minimal for NYSE member firms.³⁸ In particular, NYSE members and member firms will not be incurring costs as to the development or installation of the PC data entry program or for direct communication links to transmit the information directly to SIAC. Although the Commission recognizes that certain increased costs may result from personnel requirements to input the data, the Commission believes the benefits of the information far outweigh these minimal costs. Accordingly, the Commission does not agree with the NASD that joint NYSE and NASD members should be exempt from Rule 410B reporting. Further, the Commission does not believe that some duplication in reporting between Rule 410B and the NASD's proposed use of its ACT service is inconsistent with the Act.

As noted above, the NASD currently requires certain information on after-hours trades to be reported on a weekly basis on Form T. In its February 21 letter, the NASD acknowledges that "the capture of transactional data on a hard copy form is not the most efficient means to compile such information for regulatory purposes." Accordingly, the NASD argues that its ACT service could be enhanced to serve as a cost-effective alternative to Rule 410B. In response, the NYSE points out that the details of possible ACT enhancements are not sufficiently clear to permit consideration of ACT as an alternative to Rule 410B. Specifically, the data elements, format, and time frame for reporting are not definitively established nor has the Commission received a proposed rule change pursuant to Rule 19b-4 of the Act. Moreover, NYSE Rule 410B is currently broader than the NASD's proposed ACT enhancements in that it does not except out transactions reported on a foreign exchange. Although the NASD's ACT service could ultimately serve as an effective alternative or supplement to NYSE Rule 410B, the Commission believes that, given the preliminary stages of the NASD proposal, the informational reporting differences and the benefits to be achieved by providing more information on overall trading in NYSE-listed stocks, that the NYSE's proposed Rule 410B should be approved at this time.³⁹ In making this determination, the Commission notes that the NYSE, as the primary market in its listed securities, has a clear regulatory interest in ensuring that it has up to date information on trading activity in its listed securities by all its members. Although some duplicate reporting will exist for dual NYSE/NASD members as a result of Rule 410B and Form T requirements, the Commission believes the burden is minimal and, in any case, is justified for valid regulatory reasons under the Act.

Despite our determination to approve the NYSE proposal at this time, the Commission continues to believe that the development of a single reporting system, where each market would have immediate access to the reported information is important. Accordingly, the Commission encourages the NYSE and the NASD to integrate reporting systems for collecting after-hours transaction information in order to avoid unnecessary costs for both organizations as well as dual members.

³⁹ Despite approval of NYSE Rule 410B, the Commission continues to believe it is important for the NASD to proceed with plans to capture Form T information electronically through its ACT service, in addition to including reporting of transactions occurring on foreign exchanges.

³⁶ In this regard, we think it is extremely important that Rule 410B reporting information be made available to all ISG participants through ISIS, as the NYSE has represented. We note that any refusal of access, or delay in providing the information, to other SROs would raise serious competitive concerns.

³⁷ For example, the Commission recently approved a proposed rule change submitted by the NASD extending the requirement of real-time trade reporting within 90 seconds after execution of transactions in exchange-listed securities until 5:15 p.m. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 30437 (March 3, 1992), 57 FR 8370 (approving File No. SR-NASD-91-37).

³⁸ As noted above, the SIA indicated concern that certain firms may have difficulty reporting the Rule 410B information on the next business day because their systems may be closed when the trade takes place. In response, the NYSE has stated that it will require the information to be reported either on the next business day or the next trade processing cycle after the transaction takes place. This should alleviate any undue burden on firms due to systems cutoffs. Telephone conversation between Sharon Lawson, Assistant Director, SEC and Brian McNamara, Managing Director, Rule Development, NYSE, on October 23, 1992. See NYSE Information Memorandum, note 18, supra.

Other commentators expressed concern regarding information sharing and the purpose of Rule 410B. These concerns appear unfounded. The NYSE has stated that the Rule 410B information will be stored in the Exchange's ISIS and made available to all ISC participants. The Commission expects the NYSE to share the information with the other markets on a timely basis. Nevertheless, the NYSE has stated that the information obtained from Rule 410B will be used for regulatory purposes and therefore kept confidential, and that it will not publicly disclose specific transactions.

The Commission has considered carefully the intermarket competition concerns set forth by the Canadian Exchanges.⁴⁰ Under section 6(b)(8) of the Act, the Commission may not approve a proposed rule that imposes a burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act. Assuming section 6(b)(8) applies to foreign persons, the Commission disagrees that the rule will have the effect of causing member firms to refuse to route orders to the Canadian markets because of the costs of complying with Rule 410B. As the NYSE states, any transaction occurring in any foreign market would be treated the same under Rule 410B. Because firms will be incurring the same costs for reporting a transaction pursuant to NYSE Rule 410B, irrespective of where the transaction occurs, and as noted above those costs appear to be minimal, the Commission does not believe the rule will result in a disadvantage to the Canadian markets.

Moreover, participants trading in the Canadian markets in NYSE-listed stocks recognize that the NYSE currently can have access to their trading information. For example, the Exchange may request specific information pursuant to Rule 410A even if it is already reported to another foreign market. The NYSE may seek surveillance information through ISC or information-sharing agreements with other countries. The NYSE also may have direct access to the transaction information of foreign markets that publicly disseminate such information.

As discussed above, the principal purpose of Rule 410B is to obtain after-hours trading information about NYSE-listed securities on a next-day basis, electronically, directly from members, so that it can be integrated with transaction information that is reported to the Consolidated Tape to create a single, complete data base and audit trail of member trades in NYSE-listed securities. In this regard, the Commission recognizes the NYSE's objective of enhancing surveillance by increasing the data base of transaction information to include trades not reported to the Consolidated Tape. The Commission believes that Rule 410B should aid the NYSE's efforts to carry out its surveillance responsibility under the Act. Accordingly, the Commission finds that to the extent Rule 410B does impose any burden on competition, the burden results from an appropriate regulatory purpose under the Act, and therefore approval of Rule 410B is fully consistent with section 6(b)(8) under the Act.

Thus, after careful consideration of the issues raised in the comment letters, and for the reasons stated above, the Commission believes that the proposed rule is consistent with sections 6(b)(5), 6(b)(8), and 11A of the Act. Moreover, the Commission believes that Rule 410B should permit the NYSE to perform its surveillance functions more thoroughly.

V. Conclusion

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the Act.

It is therefore ordered, Pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act,⁴¹ that the proposed rule change (SR-NYSE-91-45) be, and is hereby approved.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.⁴²

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Bureau of Politico-Military Affairs; Suspension of Munitions Export Licenses to Sudan

[Public Notice 1711]

AGENCY: Department of State.

⁴¹ 15 U.S.C. 78s(b)(2) (1988).

⁴² 17 CFR 200.30-3(a)(12) (1992).

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: Notice is hereby given that all licenses and other approvals to export or otherwise transfer defense articles or defense services to Sudan are suspended until further notice pursuant to section 38 of the Arms Export Control Act.

EFFECTIVE DATE: October 8, 1992.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Clyde G. Bryant, Jr., Chief, Compliance Analysis Division, Office of Defense Trade Controls, Bureau of Politico-Military Affairs, Department of State (703-875-6650).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Effective immediately, it is the policy of the U.S. Government to deny all applications for licenses and other approvals to export or otherwise transfer defense articles and services to Sudan. In addition, U.S. manufacturers and exporters and any other affected parties are hereby notified that the Department of State has suspended all previously issued licenses and approvals authorizing the export or other transfer of defense articles or defense services to Sudan. Moreover, foreign assistance to Sudan, other than humanitarian assistance, was suspended pursuant to section 513 of the Foreign Operations Authorization Act, which mandates suspension of assistance following a military coup.

The licenses and approvals that have been suspended include manufacturing licenses, technical assistance agreements, technical data, and commercial military exports of any kind subject to the Arms Export Control Act involving Sudan. This action also precludes the use in connection with Sudan of any exemptions from licensing or other approval requirements included in the International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR) (22 CFR parts 120-130).

This action has been taken pursuant to sections 38 and 42 of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2778, 2791) and § 126.7 of the ITAR in furtherance of the foreign policy of the United States.

In accordance with §§ 126.3 and 126.7 of the ITAR, affected U.S. persons desiring review of this decision with regard to a particular export may petition the Director, Office of Defense Trade Controls. Exceptions to this policy, particularly for non-lethal items, will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

⁴⁰ The Commission finds that the statutory notice requirements under Section 19 of the Act have been met and, therefore, disagrees that the Commission should solicit comment specifically on the effects of Rule 410B on intermarket competition, as suggested by the Canadian Exchanges. The proposed rule change was published in the Federal Register for the full statutory period under the Act, which gave interested persons the opportunity to comment on any aspect of the proposal. As a result, the Commission received seven comment letters. The Commission believes that, in its two response letters, the NYSE has addressed the relevant questions raised in the comment letters.

Dated: October 23, 1992.

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration

[Docket No. 92-57; Notice 1]

Receipt of Petition for Determination That Nonconforming 1992 Mercedes Benz 600SEL Passenger Cars Are Eligible for Importation

AGENCY: National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, DOT.

ACTION: Notice of receipt of petition for determination that nonconforming 1992 Mercedes Benz 600SEL passenger cars are eligible for importation.

SUMMARY: This notice announces receipt by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) of a petition for a determination that a 1992 Mercedes Benz 600SEL that was not originally manufactured to comply with all applicable Federal motor vehicle safety standards is eligible for importation into the United States because (1) it is substantially similar to a vehicle that was originally manufactured for importation into and sale in the United States and that was certified by its manufacturer as complying with the safety standards, and (2) it is capable of being readily modified to conform to the standards.

DATE: The closing date for comments on the petition is December 3, 1992.

ADDRESS: Comments should refer to the docket number and notice number, and be submitted to: Docket Section, room 5109, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 400 Seventh Street SW, Washington, DC 20590. [Docket hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.]

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ted Bayler, Office of Vehicle Safety Compliance, NHTSA (202-366-5306).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Under section 108(c)(3)(A)(i) of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act (the Act), 15 U.S.C. 1397(c)(3)(A)(i), a motor vehicle that was not originally manufactured to conform to all applicable Federal motor vehicle safety standards shall be refused admission into the United States on and after January 31, 1990, unless NHTSA has determined that

(1) the motor vehicle is * * * substantially similar to a motor vehicle originally manufactured for importation into and sale in the United States, certified under section 114 [of the Act], and of the same model year * * * as the model of the motor vehicle to be compared, and is capable of being readily modified to conform to all applicable Federal motor vehicle safety standards * * *.

Petitions for eligibility determinations may be submitted by either manufacturers or importers who have registered with NHTSA pursuant to 49 CFR part 592. As specified in 49 CFR 593.7, NHTSA publishes notice in the Federal Register of each petition that it receives, and affords interested persons an opportunity to comment on the petition. At the close of the comment period, NHTSA determines, on the basis of the petition and any comments that it has received, whether the vehicle is eligible for importation. The agency then publishes this determination in the Federal Register.

Wallace Environmental Testing Laboratories, Inc. of Houston, Texas (Registered Importer No. R-90-005) has petitioned NHTSA to determine whether 1992 Mercedes Benz 600SEL (Model ID 140.057) passenger cars are eligible for importation into the United States. The vehicle which Wallace believes is substantially similar is the 1992 Mercedes Benz 600SEL that was manufactured for importation into and sale in the United States and that was certified by its manufacturer, Daimler Benz A.G., as complying with all applicable Federal motor vehicle safety standards.

The petitioner states that it performed a careful evaluation of the non-U.S. certified 1992 Mercedes Benz 600SEL, and determined that it is substantially similar to its U.S. certified counterpart. As described by the petitioner, this evaluation included an exhaustive review of the factory parts manual for both vehicles, as well as a visual inspection of individual parts. Based on this evaluation, the petitioner contends that the non-U.S. certified 1992 Mercedes Benz 600SEL, as originally manufactured, conforms to many Federal motor vehicle safety standards in the same manner as its U.S. certified counterpart, or is capable of being readily modified to conform to those standards.

Specifically, the petitioner claims that the two models are identical with respect to compliance with Standard Nos. 102 Transmission Shift Lever Sequence * * *, 103 Defrosting and Defogging Systems, 104 Windshield Wiping and Washing Systems, 105 Hydraulic Brake Systems, 106 Brake Hoses, 107 Reflecting Surfaces, 109 new Pneumatic Tires 113 Hood Latch Systems, 116 Brake Fluid, 124 Accelerator Control Systems, 201 Occupant Protection in Interior Impact, 202 Head Restraints, 203 Impact Protection for the Driver From the Steering Control System, 204 Steering Control Rearward Displacement, 205 Glazing Materials, 207 Seating Systems, 209 Seat Belt Assemblies, 210 Seat Belt Assembly Anchorages, 211 Wheel Nuts, Wheel Discs and Hubcaps, 212 Windshield Retention, 216 Roof Crush Resistance, 219 Windshield Zone Intrusion, 301 Fuel System Integrity, and 302 Flammability of Interior Materials.

Additionally, the petitioner claims that the 1992 model 600SEL complies with the Bumper Standard found in 49 CFR Part 581.

Petitioner also contends that the vehicle is capable of being readily modified to meet the following standards, in the manner indicated:

Standard No. 101 Controls and Displays: (a) Substitution of a lens marked "Brake" for a lens with an ECE symbol on the brake failure indicator lamp; (b) recalibration of the speedometer/odometer from kilometers to miles per hour, or replacement with one that is so calibrated.

Standard No. 108 Lamps, Reflective Devices and Associated Equipment: (a) installation of U.S.-model headlamp assemblies which incorporate amber parking lamp reflectors; (b) installation of U.S.-model taillamp assemblies; (c) installation of a high mounted stop lamp.

Standard No. 110 Tire Selection and Rims: installation of a tire information placard.

Standard No. 111 Rearview Mirrors: inscription of the required warning statement on the passenger's outside rearview mirror.

Standard No. 114 Theft Protection: installation of a buzzer microswitch in the steering lock assembly, and a warning buzzer.

Standard No. 115 Vehicle Identification Number: installation of a VIN plate that can be read from outside the left windshield pillar, and a VIN reference label on the edge of the door or latch post nearest the driver.

Standard No. 118 Power Window Systems: rewiring of the power window system so that the window transport is inoperative when the ignition is switched off.

Standard No. 206 Door Locks and Door Retention Components: modification or replacement of the near door locks with U.S.-model equipment.

Standard No. 208 Occupant Crash Protection: (a) installation of a seat belt warning system; (b) replacement of the seat belt latch with one that includes a microswitch to activate the seat belt warning system; (c) installation of a U.S.-model knee bolster for the passive restraint system. The petitioner contends that all other components of the non-U.S. certified model 600SEL's passive restraint system have identical part numbers to those found on its U.S. certified counterpart.

Standard No. 214 Side Door Strength: installation of reinforcing beams.

Interested persons are invited to submit comments on the petition described above. Comments should refer to the docket number and be submitted to: Docket Section, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, Room 5109, 400 Seventh Street SW, Washington, DC 20590. It is requested but not required that 10 copies be submitted.

All comments received before the close of business on the closing date indicated above will be considered, and will be available for examination in the docket at the above address both before and after that date. To the extent possible, comments filed after the closing date will also be considered. Notice of final action on the petition will be published in the Federal Register pursuant to the authority indicated below:

BILLING CODE 4810-25-M

DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS

Summary of Precedent Opinions of the General Counsel

AGENCY: Department of Veterans Affairs.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) is publishing a summary of legal interpretations issued by the Department's General Counsel involving veterans' benefits under laws administered by VA. These interpretations are considered precedential by VA and will be followed by VA officials and employees in future claim matters. It is being published to provide the public, and, in particular, veterans' benefit claimants and their representatives, with notice of VA's interpretation regarding the legal matter at issue.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Jane L. Lehman, Chief, Law Library, Department of Veterans Affairs, 810 Vermont Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20420, (202) 523-3826.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: VA regulations at 38 CFR 12.6(e)(9) and 14.507 authorize the Department's General Counsel to issue written legal opinions having precedential effect in adjudications and appeals involving veterans' benefits under laws administered by VA. The General Counsel's interpretations on legal matters, contained in such opinions, are conclusive as to all VA officials and employees not only in the matter at issue but also in future adjudications and appeals, in the absence of a change in controlling statute or regulation or a superseding written legal opinion of the General Counsel.

VA publishes summaries of such opinions in order to provide the public with notice of those interpretations of the General Counsel which must be followed in future benefit matters and to assist veterans' benefit claimants and their representatives in the prosecution of benefit claims. The full text of such opinions, with personal identifiers deleted, may be obtained by contacting the VA official named above.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 1-92

Questions Presented

Under 38 U.S.C. 5101(b) and 5105

(formerly Sections 3001(b) and 3005), should either an application for death benefits, filed by a veteran's surviving spouse on a VA Form 21-534, wherein the surviving spouse indicated that the veteran's death was not alleged to have resulted from military service, or an application for Social Security Administration (SSA) benefits on VA Form SSA-24, submitted simultaneously to the same VA regional office, be considered a claim for dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC)?

Held

The VA Form SSA-24, Application for Survivors Benefits under the Social Security Act, filed by the surviving spouse of a veteran at a VA regional office, constitutes a claim for dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) despite the fact that the claimant indicated on a simultaneously filed VA Form 21-534, Application for Dependency and Indemnity Compensation or Death Pension by a Widow/er or Child, that service connection of the veteran's death was not being alleged. Unless it is determined that this claim was finally denied prior to VA's later award of DIC benefits, it must be considered to have been pending on that date for purposes of determination of the effective date of DIC benefits.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 17, 1992.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 2-92

Question Presented

Does the Board of Veterans' Appeals (BVA) have the authority under 38 U.S.C. 7102 to issue decisions by a section of the Board composed of one regularly assigned member and one "acting member" when a regularly assigned member is absent, the third position on the section is vacant as the result of vacancy on the Board, or the third regularly assigned member is unable to serve on that section?

Held

Under 38 U.S.C. 7102, the Board of Veterans' Appeals has the authority to issue decisions made by sections of the Board composed of one regularly assigned member and one acting member when a regularly assigned member is absent, the third position in the panel is vacant due to a vacancy on the Board, or a regularly assigned member is unable to serve on that section.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 21, 1992.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 3-92

This opinion was superseded by the enactment of Public Law No. 102-371 and was subsequently withdrawn.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 4-92

Questions Presented

a. May a deceased veteran's child who is not in the custody of the veteran's surviving spouse and who has been awarded an apportioned share of the dependency and indemnity compensation payable to the surviving spouse elect to receive improved death pension benefits, if the child is otherwise eligible?

b. If such child may be awarded improved death pension benefits, should the amount of dependency and indemnity compensation payable to the surviving spouse be reduced to reflect the award to the child?

Held

(a). If a child of a deceased veteran under age 18 and not in the custody of the veteran's surviving spouse has been awarded an apportionment of the dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) otherwise payable to the surviving spouse, 38 U.S.C. 1317, which deals with the exclusivity of the DIC remedy, renders the child ineligible for payment of improved death pension by reason of the deceased veteran's death.

(b). Neither current statutes nor regulations governing concurrent benefits and elections prohibit an award of improved death pension authorized by 38 U.S.C. 1542 (formerly section 542) to a deceased veteran's child under the age of 18 who is not in the custody of the deceased veteran's surviving spouse and who is not eligible for an apportionment of the DIC payable to the surviving spouse. If such a child were found to be entitled to pension, there would be no legal authority to withhold the additional amount of DIC payable to the surviving spouse on account of such child.

EFFECTIVE DATE: February 20, 1992.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 5-92

Question Presented:

In appeals from decisions in which the agency of original jurisdiction reopened a claim for service connection after a finding of new and material evidence, but then proceeded to deny the reopened claim on its merits, does the Board of Veterans' Appeals (BVA or Board) have the authority to determine on a de novo basis whether the claim had been properly reopened?

Held

In appeals from decisions in which the originating agency denied a reopened claim for service connection after a finding of new and material evidence to reopen the claim, the Board of Veterans' Appeals has the authority to determine on a de novo basis whether the claim had been properly reopened.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 4, 1992

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 6-92

Questions Presented:

1. Under what circumstances, if any, may a Department of Veterans Affairs

Regional Office (VARO) rating decision reducing a total disability rating be upheld in the absence of a specific reference in the decision itself to 38 CFR 3.343(a)?

2. If § 3.343(a) need not be cited in the decision itself you requested our opinion with regard to the following:

(a) How closely must the language in the decision track the language in § 3.343(a) to reflect that the reduction is in accordance with the provisions of the regulation?

(b) May BVA look beyond the four corners of the rating decision itself to determine whether consideration was given to the provisions of § 3.343(a), such as to prior rating decisions which may have continued a 100% rating while noting that improvement was shown and providing for a future examination to establish the presence of sustained improvement?

(c) If BVA cannot determine from the rating decision itself or otherwise whether § 3.343(a) was considered, can this deficiency in the rating decision be cured by the letter notifying the veteran of the reduction, by a subsequently issued statement of the case, or by a BVA decision?

(d) If the VA Regional Office rating decision disregarded § 3.343(a) and is void ab initio, can such a defect be cured by any subsequent act? Does it necessarily follow that all subsequent rating decisions and BVA decisions which sustain a rating less than 100% are likewise void?

(e) If failure to cite § 3.343(a) in the rating decision renders the decision void ab initio, must all potentially applicable law and regulations be cited in VA Regional Office decisions and BVA decisions to avoid procedural due process violations? If all potentially applicable laws and regulations do not need to be cited, what criteria are to be used in deciding whether the omission of a potentially applicable law or regulation constitutes a violation of substantive due process which cannot be cured?

3. Does an opinion set forth by General Counsel in a memorandum or brief to COVA, such as the concession in the Swan case, have any binding effect on Agency officials in any case other than the case then subject to COVA jurisdiction?

4. If an opinion set forth by General Counsel in a memorandum or brief to COVA is acted upon by COVA without comment or deliberation, does the legal opinion thereby become binding as though COVA had rendered the opinion?

Held

1. A rating board decision may be upheld in the absence of specific reference in the decision to § 3.343(a) if all of the evidence of record, including the decision, allows a conclusion to be drawn that § 3.343(a) has been considered and applied to the case. If it cannot be determined that it was considered at the regional office level, then BVA must determine whether the claimant was prejudiced by this error. The Board may, under some circumstances, decide that issuing a decision addressing the issue without further action is appropriate. In other circumstances, the Board may conclude, based on all the evidence of record, that the failure to consider § 3.343(a) resulted in prejudicial error and reverse the rating decision reducing the veteran's rating.

2. (a) In the absence of a specific reference to § 3.343(a) in the rating decision, language closely tracking that of the regulation may be of assistance to the reviewing authority in determining whether it was considered. However, language closely tracking that of § 3.343(a) is not mandatory. If it is apparent from the findings, language of the rating and the evidence of record that § 3.343(a) has been correctly applied, the rating decision should be upheld.

(b) On appeal, BVA makes a de novo review which allows it to look beyond the four corners of the regional office rating decision to make its decision with regard to whether § 3.343(a) was applied. A previous rating showing improvement may be considered in determining the current condition of the veteran.

(c) If BVA cannot determine from the rating decision itself whether § 3.343(a) has been considered, BVA may use a letter notifying the veteran of the reduction or subsequent statement of the case as evidence that it was considered. If it is determined that the rating decision failed to include consideration of § 3.343(a) but the statement of the case demonstrates that such failure was nonprejudicial, the error is cured. Likewise, a subsequent BVA decision may cure a failure to consider § 3.343(a) in the rating decision or failure to include it in the statement of the case if it is determined that these errors did not cause substantial prejudice to the veteran's case.

(d) If it can be shown that a regional office rating board disregarded § 3.343(a), its decision reducing the veteran's rating would be voidable.

(e) Failure to cite § 3.343(a) in a rating board decision does not render the decision void ab initio. Rating decisions are not required to cite all applicable laws and regulations. BVA decisions are required to include all issues and laws material to the case. Where a veteran raises a well-grounded issue, all laws or regulations necessary to properly dispose of the claim must be cited by the BVA, and failure to do so would result in a voidable Board decision.

3. An opinion by General Counsel in a memorandum or brief to COVA sets forth the Department's position in the case in which it is filed. It has binding effect on Department officials only to the extent that the court specifically adopts the argument in its decision. In the Swan case, the court did adopt the legal interpretations made by the parties. These interpretations, however, did not include any consideration that the failure to take § 3.343(a) into account may constitute nonprejudicial error. Accordingly, there is room for clarification in this area and the Department is not bound to use the same argument regarding § 3.343(a) in appropriate cases in the future.

4. If an opinion or position set forth by General Counsel in argument before COVA is not expressly embraced by the court in its holding, the court's decision is not controlling precedent with respect to that position.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 6, 1992.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 7-92

Questions Presented

1. Do the provisions of VA Adjudication Procedure Manual M21-1 (M21-1), part I, paragraph 50.45 constitute approved instructions of the Secretary which are binding on the Board of Veterans' Appeals (BVA), pursuant to 38 U.S.C. 7104(c)?

2. Do any of the provisions of M21-1, part I, paragraph 50.45 constitute "substantive rules" which are the equivalent of Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) regulations?

3. If it is determined that the provisions of M21-1, part I, paragraph 50.45 are binding on BVA:

a. What evidence is considered satisfactory proof that a veteran "engaged in combat with the enemy?"

b. Does a veteran's receipt of a particular citation or his military occupational specialty sufficiently prove combat stressor exposure for purposes of establishing service connection for post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD)?

c. When the existence of combat service is established, or the veteran has provided a credible account of an in-service stressful event, and a mental health professional has diagnosed PTSD, under what circumstances, if any, may BVA and other VA adjudicators deny a claim for service connection for PTSD, notwithstanding a diagnosis of PTSD, on the grounds that the stressor as described by the veteran is of insufficient magnitude to support a diagnosis of PTSD?

d. Under what circumstances may BVA and other VA adjudicators challenge a medical opinion as to the relationship between an in-service stressor and current symptoms, in light of the Court of Veterans Appeals' (COVA) holding in Wood v. Derwinski, U.S. Vet. App. No. 89-50 (March 28, 1991)?

Held

The provisions of Adjudication Procedure Manual M21-1, part I, paragraph 50.45 do not constitute "instructions of the Secretary" within the meaning of 38 U.S.C. 7104(c). The second and fourth sentences of M21-1, part I, paragraph 50.45d and the change to paragraph 50.45e made by Veterans Benefits Administration (VBA) Interim Issue 21-91-1 regarding the development of evidence in cases involving post-traumatic stress disorder, constitute substantive rules which are invalid because they were not promulgated in accordance with the rulemaking procedures prescribed by 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(1), 553 and 38 CFR 1.12. Additionally, because these substantive rules were issued by the Chief Benefits Director in violation of the delegation of rulemaking power to the Secretary of Veterans Affairs pursuant to 38 U.S.C. 501, they are not binding on the Board of Veterans' Appeals or the Veterans Benefits Administration.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 17, 1992.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 8-92

Question Presented

Does a veteran who had service in Vietnam during the Vietnam-Era and who died of service-connected non-Hodgkins lymphoma that was first diagnosed after August 13, 1981, qualify as a member or former member of the Armed Forces under section 156(c) of Public Law No. 97-377, for purposes of the Restored Entitlement Program for Survivors?

Held

A veteran who had service in Vietnam during the Vietnam-Era and who died of service-connected non-Hodgkins lymphoma that was first diagnosed in 1990 may be considered a former member of the Armed Forces who died from a service-connected disability incurred prior to August 13, 1981, for purposes of determining the eligibility of the veteran's survivors pursuant to section 156(c) of Public Law 97-377, for benefits under the Restored Entitlement Program for Survivors.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 25, 1992.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 9-92

Questions Presented

1. Are the changed rating criteria for psychiatric disorders, effective February 3, 1988, a "liberalizing law, or a liberalizing VA issue" subject to the provisions of 38 CFR 3.114?

2. Do Fletcher and Sabol require a revision upward in ratings for neuropsychiatric disorders in the absence of evidence supporting a rating reduction? If so, at what percentage levels of disability (between 0 and 100 percent)? If so, must the BVA remand cases involving ratings of neuropsychiatric disorders for the regional office to revise the rating, or may the BVA adjust the rating itself?

3. When there is no evidence, or no evidence of a change in the level of disability, before and after February 3, 1988, must the BVA find error in rating decisions which continued disability ratings at the same level? If so, to which percentage ratings (between 0 and 100 percent) would error apply?

4. When there is evidence of a change in disability, but the evidence does not demonstrate sustained improvement, so as to justify a rating reduction under 38 CFR 3.344 for cases in which the rating has been continued for a long period at the same level, must the BVA find error in rating decisions which continued disability ratings at the same level? If so, to which percentage ratings (between 0 and 100 percent) would error apply?

5. Must the BVA make a specific finding that the evidence is sufficient to permit a reduced rating, including a reduced rating under 38 CFR 3.344, in order to conclude that a rating continuing a rating in effect prior to February 3, 1988, is supported by the evidence?

Held

1. Where an increased rating is occasioned only by the revision of criteria for rating psychoneurotic disorders which became effective February 3, 1988, the increased rating is to be considered based on a liberalizing VA issue per 38 U.S.C. 5110(g) and 38 CFR 3.114.

2. The Sabol and Fletcher decisions do not require automatic revisions upward in psychoneurotic disability ratings, even absent any change in the evidentiary record upon which they are based. However, where the same record which was the basis for a rating of 50% under the pre-1988 criteria supports current findings of severe impairment of the ability to establish or maintain effective or favorable relationships with people and in the ability to obtain or retain employment, a rating of 70% is now warranted.

3. Consistent with the above, the Board should not automatically find error in decisions which continued pre-February 3, 1988, ratings at the same level after that date on the basis of the same evidentiary records.

4. 38 CFR 3.344 does not apply to situations in which a prior disability rating is continued despite the adoption of liberalized rating criteria in the interim.

5. If it is to affirm a post-February 3, 1988, decision continuing a rating assigned prior to that date, the Board must make factual findings supporting the rating under the current rating criteria and, as with all its decisions, provide reasons or bases which adequately justify the findings.

Effective Date: March 25, 1992.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 10-92

Question Presented

May an individual who, due to reenlistment or extension, is not discharged upon completion of his or her initial obligated period of active duty, but remains on active duty and, thereafter, is discharged with other than an "honorable" discharge be eligible for chapter 30 Montgomery GI Bill benefits under section 3011(a) of that chapter where the Secretary of the military department concerned characterizes the individual's service during the initial obligated period as "honorable"?

Held

a. To establish entitlement to chapter 30 Montgomery GI Bill education benefits based on active-duty service pursuant to 38 U.S.C. 3011, an individual, following his or her completion of the requisite initial obligated period of active duty, must meet the pertinent service status criteria set forth in section 3011(a)(3) of that chapter. That is, the individual must either continue on active duty; be discharged therefrom with an honorable discharge; or be released from active duty characterized as honorable by the military department concerned under the specific circumstances described in subclause (C) or (D) of section 3011(a)(3).

b. The term "discharge or release," as defined for title 38 purposes by section 101(18) of that title, is not found in section 3011(a)(3). Consequently, VA's authority to administratively consider an individual to have been discharged from his or her obligated period of active-duty service and decide the character of that service, as derived from the circumstances described in section 101(18)(B), does not extend to chapter 30 determinations.

c. Section 3011(a)(3) sets forth categorical requirements that are plain and unambiguous on their face, providing no need nor basis for administrative interpretation. Such provisions exclusively govern determinations of an individual's service completion status for purposes of establishing entitlement to chapter 30 education benefits based on active-duty service under section 3011.

d. An individual who completes his or her initial obligated period of active duty but, due to extension of service or reenlistment, does not at that time receive a discharge from such period by the military department concerned and who, thereafter, is discharged with other than an "honorable" discharge does not meet the discharge requirement of section 3011(a)(3)(B) for entitlement to chapter 30 education benefits. This is so, notwithstanding extrinsic evidence that indicates the veteran completed, though without honorable discharge, his or her initial obligated active-duty period and that the individual's performance of that duty during such period was characterized by the military department concerned as "honorable."

Effective Date: April 1, 1992.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 11-92

Questions Presented

a. Does a veteran's service organization representative, agent, or attorney, by virtue of having a properly executed appointment form of record, have complete authority to bind the claimant, e.g., may the party holding the power of attorney sign an application for compensation or pension, VA Form 21-526, on behalf of the claimant? Are there any forms, such as the eligibility Verification Report, for which this authority does not exist?

b. If information relevant to eligibility or payment rates furnished on a form, signed on behalf of a claimant by a party holding a power of attorney is incorrect, is the claimant responsible for any resulting overpayment?

Held

a. A veteran's service organization representative, agent, or attorney is not authorized to sign an application for compensation or pension, VA Form 21-526, on behalf of the claimant despite being named in a properly executed appointment form of record. Further, the representative, agent, or attorney may not sign an Eligibility Verification Report, used to verify continued eligibility for benefits under income-based programs, on behalf of the claimant.

b. Where a claimant's or beneficiary's duly appointed representative submits erroneous information on behalf of the claimant or beneficiary pertaining to eligibility or benefit rates, the claimant is responsible for any overpayment occurring as a result of the information supplied.

Effective Date: May 14, 1992.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 12-92

Question Presented

Whether a claim for dependency and indemnity compensation and pension may be considered as a claim for chapter 35 benefits?

Held

In view of the mandates of 38 U.S.C. 5101 (a) and (b)(1), VA lacks administrative authority to promulgate a regulation or other administrative issue retroactively providing that a claim for dependency and indemnity compensation and pension shall also be considered a claim for chapter 35 benefits.

Effective Date: May 28 1992.

O.C.G. Precedent Opinion 13-92

Question Presented

Do the provisions of 38 U.S.C. 1159 (formerly section 359) prevent a service-connected rating for a new low back disability due to degenerative arthritis under diagnostic code 5003 which has been in place for over 10 years from being modified to reflect a low-back disability due to traumatic arthritis of the lumbar spine under diagnostic code 5010?

Held

The provisions of 38 U.S.C. 1159 (formerly section 359) do not prohibit modification of an existing service-connected rating for low-back disability due to degenerative arthritis pursuant to rating code 5003 that has been in place for over 10 years, to a rating for low-back disability due to traumatic arthritis under rating code 5010.

Effective Date: June 2, 1992.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 14-92

Questions Presented

a. Should VA disability compensation be offset to recoup the amount of special separation benefits received by a veteran under authority of 10 U.S.C. 1174a?

b. Should VA disability compensation be offset to recoup the amount of voluntary separation incentive payments received by a veteran under authority of 10 U.S.C. 1175, or is the Department of Defense (DoD) responsible for any recoupment of concurrent benefits?

Held

a. In accordance with the provisions of 10 U.S.C. 1174a and 38 CFR 3.700, VA disability compensation should be offset to recoup the amount of special separation benefits received by a former member of the armed forces.

b. VA disability compensation need not be offset when a veteran is in receipt of voluntary separation incentive payments under authority of 10 U.S.C. 1175, since any offset will be from the voluntary separation incentive.

Effective Date: June 22, 1992.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 15-92

Questions Presented

(a) Is the value of three properties in which the surviving spouse of a veteran holds a life estate countable in computing the net worth of the surviving spouse for purposes of determining eligibility for improved-pension benefits?

(b) If so, how should the value of three properties be determined?

Held

(a) Where a claimant transfers an interest in property to someone other than a relative residing in the claimant's household, retaining a life estate in the property, 38 CFR 3.276(b) requires that the transfer be disregarded in determining the claimant's net worth for improved-pension purposes because the life tenant retains an ownership interest in the property and retains exclusive possession and control over the property during his or her lifetime.

(b) The value of the property for improved-pension purposes will be computed based on the market value of the property, less mortgages and encumbrances, without regard to the purported transfer.

Effective Date: July 15, 1992.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 16-92Questions Presented

a. Is it permissible for the Board of Veterans' Appeals (BVA) to consider evidence which has not been considered by the agency of original jurisdiction (AOJ)?

b. Is it permissible for BVA to consider issues which have not been considered by the AOJ?

c. Is it permissible for BVA to consider argument or subissues concerning a claim, or statutes, regulations, or Court of Veterans Appeals (COVA) analyses, which have not been considered by the AOJ?

d. If BVA determines that the statement of the case furnished to an appellant does not meet the requirements of 38 U.S.C. 7105(d) (formerly section 4005(d)), must BVA remand the appeal to the AOJ to cure the deficiency in the statement of the case?

Held

a. Statutes and VA regulations prescribe the circumstances under which the Board of Veterans' Appeals may consider evidence which has not been considered by the agency of original jurisdiction. Section 20.1304(c) of title 38, Code of Federal Regulations, generally requires that the Board refer to the agency of original jurisdiction for review evidence received by the Board following certification of an appeal unless such review is waived by the claimant or the benefit claimed may be allowed without referral. Under 38 U.S.C. 7109 and 38 CFR 20.901, certain classes of evidence, i.e., independent medical opinions and opinions of the Chief Medical Director, the General Counsel, and the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology, need not be referred to the agency of original jurisdiction, but the appellant must be given an opportunity to review and respond to such evidence before a decision is rendered.

b. Generally, the Board of Veterans'

Appeals, as an appellate body, is not authorized to make final determination on issues which have not been considered by the agency of original jurisdiction.

c. Although statutes and regulations establish the Board of Veterans' Appeals as an appellate body, nonetheless, when an appeal is certified to the Board, the Board is required to conduct a de novo review of the agency of original jurisdiction's benefit decision. Hence, the Board may consider arguments, subissues, statutes, regulations, or Court of Veterans Appeals analyses which have not been considered by the agency of original jurisdiction, if the claimant will not be prejudiced by its actions.

d. The Board of Veterans' Appeals need not remand an appeal to the agency of original jurisdiction to cure a deficiency in the statement of the case if the Board determines the deficiency was not prejudicial to the interests of the appellant.

Effective Date: July 24, 1992

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 17-92Question Presented

In light of 38 U.S.C. 5303A and 38 CFR 3.12a, are individuals whose original service obligation was 24 months or more but who are separated from service for the convenience of the Government with less than 24 months of active service pursuant to a reduction-in-strength program eligible for the full range of "benefits" under title 38, United States Code?

Held

The minimum active-duty service requirements under 38 U.S.C. 5303A and 38 CFR 3.12a for purposes of general entitlement to benefits under title 38, United States Code, are generally not fulfilled by individuals who are separated from service with less than 24 months of active service pursuant to a reduction-in-strength program. However, statutory exceptions, such as that applicable to early discharge of enlisted personnel within three months before expiration of an enlistment under 10 U.S.C. 1171 and that applicable to entitlement to certain education benefits under chapter 30 of title 38, United States Code, may apply.

Effective Date: July 31, 1992.

O.G.C. Precedent Opinion 18-92Question Presented

Does a remand from the Board of Veterans' Appeals (BVA), prior to the issuance of a determination on an underlying claim, constitute a "final decision" under 38 U.S.C. 5904(c)(1) and 38 CFR 20.609(c)(1), following which an attorney may properly obtain a fee for representing a claimant before the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA)?

Held

An attorney may not solicit, contract for, charge, receive or attempt to receive or solicit, a fee in connection with representation of a claimant before the Department on a benefits issue until after the BVA first issues a final decision on that claim. A determination by the BVA to remand a case prior to making a determination on the underlying claim is, pursuant to 38 CFR 20.1100(b), in the nature of a "preliminary order" and does not constitute a "final decision" subsequent to which an attorney may pursue the collection of fees for representing a claimant before the Department.

Effective Date: September 11, 1992.

By Director of the Secretary:

James A. Endicott, Jr.,

General Counsel.

BILLING CODE 8320-01-M

Privacy Act of 1974; New System of Records

AGENCY: Department of Veterans Affairs.

ACTION: Notice.

The Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. 552a(e)(4)) requires that all agencies publish in the Federal Register a notice of the existence and character of their systems of records. Notice is hereby given that the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) is adding a new system of records entitled "VA Police Badge and Training Records System—VA" (83VA07).

38 U.S.C. 902 authorizes the Secretary of Veterans Affairs to prescribe regulations pertaining to the training of VA police officers. The Deputy Assistant Secretary for Security and Law Enforcement is responsible for carrying out the agency's prescribed scope and duration of training for VA police officers through a centralized training program conducted at the VA Law Enforcement Training Center in Little Rock, Arkansas. The operational and administrative management of the training program is a centralized effort where records retrievable by specific personal identifiers are stored at the Training Center in Little Rock, Arkansas. All VA police officers are required to attend and pass the basic training course in order to retain their positions. This training course emphasizes aspects of security and law enforcement in a health care environment and is designed to fulfill the guidelines and standards of the Attorney General for preventing the unauthorized use of Federal law enforcement power and to provide VA police officers with the knowledge and skills to deal successfully in situations involving patients. Specialized training courses for VA police officers are conducted as supplements to the basic training course.

The names, social security numbers and entry-on-duty dates of newly hired police officers are submitted to the Training Center by the medical facilities for course assignments. A VA police officer's failure to successfully complete the prescribed training course requires that the employing medical center withdraw statutory law enforcement and arrest authority vested in that officer. This system of records contains each VA police officer's name, social security number, badge number, date of birth, sex, examination scores and class standing, entry-on-duty date, and duty station.

A "Report of Intention to Publish a Federal Register Notice of New System of Records" and an advance copy of the new system notice have been provided to the Chairmen of the House Committee on Government Operations and the Senate Committee on Governmental Affairs, and the Director, Office of Management and Budget (OMB) as required by the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552a(r) (Privacy Act) and guidelines issued by OMB (50 FR 52730), December 24, 1985.

Release of information from these records will only be made in accordance with the provisions of the Privacy Act of 1974 for investigatory, judicial and administrative uses. VA has determined that release of information for these purposes is a necessary and proper use of information in this system of records and that specific routine uses for transfer of this information are appropriate.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed system of records to the Secretary of Veterans Affairs (07), Department of Veterans Affairs, 810 Vermont Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20420. All relevant material received before December 3, 1992, will be considered. All written comments received will be available for public consumption in Room 170 at the above address only between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday (except holidays) until December 14, 1992.

If no public comment is received during the 30-day review period allowed for public comment, or unless otherwise published in the Federal Register by VA, the routine use statements included herein are effective February 1, 1993.

Approved: October 8, 1992.

Anthony J. Principi,
Acting Secretary of Veterans Affairs.

83VA07

SYSTEM NAME:

VA Police Badge and Training Records System—VA.

SYSTEM LOCATION:

VA Law Enforcement Training Center, VA Medical Center, North Little Rock, Arkansas 72114. In addition, information from these records or copies of records may be maintained at the Department of Veterans Affairs, 810 Vermont Ave., NW., Washington, DC 20420.

CATEGORIES OF INDIVIDUALS COVERED BY THE SYSTEM:

VA police officers who have attended the basic VA police training course and supplemental professional training held at the VA Law Enforcement Training Center.

CATEGORIES OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

This system of records contains each VA police officer's name, social security number, badge number, date of birth, sex, examination scores and class standing, entry-on-duty date, and duty station.

AUTHORITY FOR MAINTENANCE OF THE SYSTEM:

38 U.S.C. 501(a) and 902(2)(b)(2).

ROUTINE USES OF RECORDS MAINTAINED IN THE SYSTEM, INCLUDING CATEGORIES OF USERS AND THE PURPOSES OF SUCH USES:

1. In the event that a record maintained by the VA to carry out its functions indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal, or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred as a routine use of the appropriate agency, whether Federal, State, local or foreign, charged with responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

2. Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

3. Disclosure may be made to NARA (National Archives and Records Administration) in records management inspections conducted under authority of 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906.

POLICIES AND PRACTICES FOR STORING, RETRIEVING, ACCESSING, RETAINING, AND DISPOSING OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

STORAGE:

Information is maintained on the mainframe Information Resource Management System which will subsequently be transferred to hard disk and floppy disk storage.

RETRIEVABILITY:

Information is retrieved by the VA police officer's name, badge number or class number.

SAFEGUARDS:

Information is under the control of the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Security and Law Enforcement and staff members who have a legitimate need to know the contents of the system of records in order to perform their duties. Computer records are stored on magnetic media in a computer network to which only these individuals have access. No personal identifiers are used in statistical and management reports.

RETENTION AND DISPOSAL:

Records will be maintained and disposed of in accordance with the records disposal authority approved by the archivist of the United States.

SYSTEM MANAGER(S) AND ADDRESS:

Deputy Assistant Secretary for Security and Law Enforcement (07), VA Central Office, 810 Vermont Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20420.

NOTIFICATION PROCEDURES:

Individuals desiring to know whether this system of records contains a record pertaining to him or her, how he or she may gain access to such a record, and how he or she may contest the content of such a record may write to the following address: Privacy Act Officer (07), Office of Security and Law Enforcement, 810 Vermont Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20420. The following information, or as much as is available, should be furnished in order to identify the record: Name of individual, class number, or badge number in order to identify the record.

RECORD ACCESS PROCEDURES:

Individuals seeking information regarding access to and contesting of information contained in this system of records may write to the Privacy Act Officer whose address is as follows: Privacy Act Officer (07), Office of Security and Law Enforcement, 810 Vermont Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20420.

CONTESTING RECORD PROCEDURES:

(See Record Access Procedures above).

Record source categories:

Personal information of name and social security numbers are furnished by medical center personnel submitting names of newly hired VA police officers for training and may be furnished or corrected subsequently by trainees themselves. The initial source of information submitted to the Department of Veterans Affairs is, through the Standard Form 171 submitted by each applicant. Assigned Badge numbers for police officers are assigned by the Inspector for Training Operations of the VA Law Enforcement Training Center and entered into the record.

AGENCY: Regulatory Information Service Center.

ACTION: Introduction to the Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations.

SUMMARY: The Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 602) requires that agencies publish semiannual regulatory agendas describing regulatory actions they are developing. Executive Order 12291 and OMB memoranda implementing section 5 of the Executive order establish minimum standards for executive agencies' agendas, including specific types of information for each entry and publication in a uniform format. In addition, the Office of Federal Procurement Policy Act Amendments of 1988 (41 U.S.C. 402) require the development and semiannual publication of a report on procurement regulations. The Unified Agenda helps fulfill the procurement requirement. All Federal regulatory agencies have chosen to publish their regulatory agendas as part of this Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations.

The following separate parts in this issue of the Federal Register are the agency agendas, which together comprise the October 1992 edition of the semiannual Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations.

INTRODUCTION TO THE UNIFIED AGENDA OF FEDERAL REGULATIONS*About the Unified Agenda

The Regulatory Information Service Center (the Center) compiles the Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations for the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs, Office of Management and Budget (OMB). The Center provides information about Federal regulatory activity to the President and his Executive Office, the Congress, agency managers, and the public.

The Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs is responsible for overseeing the Federal Government's regulatory, paperwork, and information-management activities and for implementing Executive Orders 12291 (Federal Regulation) (46 FR 13193; 3 CFR, 1981 Comp., p. 127) and 12498 (Regulatory Planning Process) (50 FR 1036; 3 CFR, 1985 Comp., p. 323). Under E.O. 12498, OMB publishes the Regulatory Program of the United States Government each year.

The Regulatory Program is a policy document and a management tool that sets forth the priorities of the agency head and of the President regarding the Significant Regulatory Actions (SRAs) that will be conducted during the program year to which it pertains.

The Regulatory Program and the Unified Agenda differ in several ways. The Unified Agenda includes more regulatory actions, because it covers all Federal agencies that issue regulations and includes virtually all the rulemakings they have under development. The Regulatory Program includes fewer than half of those agencies and contains only the most significant of the regulatory actions that each of those agencies plans to undertake. The Regulatory Program, however, describes each entry more thoroughly than the Unified Agenda.

The regulatory actions described in the Regulatory Program of the United States Government are included in this Agenda. In general, the Regulation Identifier Number (RIN) for the action is the same for both publications; however, occasionally, several Agenda entries are combined into one Program entry, and a new RIN is assigned to that entry in the Program.

The Unified Agenda provides uniform reporting of data on regulatory activities under development throughout the Federal Government. This edition of the Unified Agenda includes 60 regulatory agendas from all Federal departments, agencies, and commissions that publish agendas. Agencies of the United States Congress are not included. The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, the Institute of Museum Services, the National Capital Planning Commission, and the Office of the Federal Inspector, Alaska Natural Gas Transportation System, have published regulatory agendas in the past but have nothing to report for this edition.

The regulatory activities included in the agency agendas are those currently planned for the next 12 months. The agendas do not include regulations excluded from review under E.O. 12291, such as those concerning military or foreign affairs functions and regulations related to internal agency management.

The Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601) requires that agencies publish regulatory agendas identifying those rules that may have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Agencies meet that requirement by including the information in their submissions for the Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations.

In addition, Executive Order 12612 of October 26, 1987, entitled "Federalism" (3 CFR 1987 Comp., p. 252) directs executive departments and agencies to that have significant federalism implications. As part of this effort, agencies include in their submissions for the Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations information on whether their regulatory actions may have an effect on various levels of government.

The Agenda also helps fulfill the statutory requirement that the Office of Federal Procurement Policy (OFPP) publish a Procurement Regulatory Activity Report as required by the Office of Federal Procurement Policy Act Amendments of 1988 (102 Stat. 4055; 41 U.S.C. 402). In their agendas, agencies indicate which regulatory actions are procurement-related, as well as whether or not there is a statutory requirement or a paperwork burden associated with the procurement-related actions. This procurement information is used by OFPP to produce its report.

The Unified Agenda is produced through a computer system designed and maintained by the Center with the advice and assistance of the Government Printing Office. The system was designed to save agencies time and money by automating the preparation and printing of their agendas in a uniform format and to make the Agenda easier to use. In order to further facilitate producing the Agenda, many agencies currently use computer terminals at their offices to enter agenda information into the Center's computer system.

All agendas contain uniform data elements -- regulation title, significance, legal authority, CFR citation, legal deadline, abstract, timetable, small entities affected, government levels affected, procurement, agency contact, and a unique Regulation Identifier Number. Agencies also include any additional information they consider important. If any of the data elements is not included, the agency either did not report the information or may provide an explanation in its preamble. For further information, please contact the individual agency.

Congress generally authorizes a single Federal agency to implement, through regulation, a specific policy objective. Sometimes, however, a statute may require that several agencies issue regulations to accomplish the objective. In such cases, the agencies, working with a central coordinator, jointly publish the documents issued in the course of the rulemaking proceeding. These proceedings are referred to as Governmentwide common rules.

In this edition of the Unified Agenda, three Governmentwide common rules are reported by the agencies participating in their development. They are:

- Debarment and Suspension
 - New Restrictions on Lobbying
 - Uniform Administrative Requirements for Grants and Cooperative Agreements With State and Local Governments
- Agencies participating in the development of these common rules have reported them in their individual parts of the Unified Agenda.

The Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations is published in April and October of each year. We welcome comments on this edition and suggestions for improving future ones.

How To Use the Unified Agenda

Each agency agenda appears as a separate part in this edition of the Federal Register. The parts are organized alphabetically in four groups: Cabinet departments, other executive agencies, joint authorities, and independent agencies. Departments are divided into agencies, which may in turn be divided into subagencies.

Each agency begins its agenda with a preamble providing information specific to its agenda. Each agency lists its rules in four groups:

1. Prerule Stage -- actions agencies will undertake in the next 12 months to determine whether or how to initiate rulemaking. Such actions occur prior to a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking and may include Advance Notices of Proposed Rulemaking (ANPRMs) and reviews of existing regulations.

2. Proposed Rule Stage -- actions for which agencies plan to publish a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM) as the next step in their rulemaking process or for which the closing date of the NPRM Comment Period is the next step.

3. Final Rule Stage -- actions for which agencies plan to publish a final rule or an interim final rule or to take other final action as the next step in their rulemaking process.

4. Completed Actions -- actions or reviews the agency completed or withdrew since publishing its last agenda. This section also includes items that were begun and completed between issues of the Unified Agenda.

An agency may use a subheading to identify regulations that it has grouped according to a particular topic. When these subheadings are used, they appear above the title of the first regulation in the group.

A bullet (●) preceding an entry indicates that the entry appears in the Agenda for the first time.

All entries are numbered sequentially from the beginning to the end of the Agenda. The Agenda Sequence Number (Seq. No.) preceding the title of each entry identifies the location of the entry in this edition of the Agenda. The same number is used in the indexes to enable readers to find entries on specific subjects.

For each agency that requests it, the Center provides a computer-produced Table of Contents that appears after the preamble of the agency's agenda. The agency Tables of Contents help readers locate quickly those entries within an agency that may be of most interest to them. Sequence numbers also appear in agency Tables of Contents.

The Agenda contains three indexes. The first two indexes list the regulatory actions that agencies believe may have effects on small entities and/or levels of government. In addition, the Agenda contains a Subject Index based on the Federal Register Thesaurus of Indexing Terms to help readers locate entries from various agencies that may affect a particular area of interest. The index also contains cross references to assist the reader's search.

Entries describing regulations in the Agenda should contain, at a minimum, the following information:

- Title of the Regulation.
- Significance -- an indication of the significance of the entry that appears when:
 - a. The action is included in the Regulatory Program of the United States Government for the current program year, or
 - b. the agency otherwise considers the action a priority.

The Significance heading appears only if the entry is a significant action.

- Legal Authority -- the section(s) of the United States Code (U.S.C.) or Public Law (P.L.) or the Executive order (E.O.) that authorize(s) the regulatory action. Agencies may provide popular name references to laws in addition to these citations.
- CFR Citation -- the section(s) of the Code of Federal Regulations that affects or will be affected by the action.
- Legal Deadline -- an indication of whether the rule is subject to a statutory or judicial deadline, the date of that deadline, and whether the deadline pertains to an NPRM, a Final Action, or some "Other" action.
- Abstract -- a description of the problem the regulation will address;

the need for a Federal solution; to the extent available, the alternatives that the agency is considering to address the problem; and the potential costs and benefits of the action.

- Timetable -- the dates and citations (if available) for all past stages and at least the next future stage of rulemaking. If a date appears in this section as 00/00/00, it means the date of the action is presently undetermined. Similarly, 10/00/93 means the agency can predict the month and year the action will take place but not the day it will occur.
- Small Entities Affected -- indicates whether the rule is expected to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of "small entities" as defined by the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601) and, if so, whether the small entities are businesses, governmental jurisdictions, and/or organizations.
- Government Levels Affected -- indicates whether the rule is expected to affect levels of government and, if so, whether the governments are local, State, and/or Federal.
- Agency Contact -- the name, title, address, and phone number of a person in the agency who is knowledgeable about the regulation.
- Procurement -- a statement identifying procurement-related actions and indicating whether there is a statutory requirement for the action and whether or not there is a paperwork burden associated with the action. The Procurement heading appears only if the entry is a procurement-related action.

Some agencies have provided other optional information at their discretion.

Data Limitations

Agencies prepared entries for this edition of the Unified Agenda to give the public notice of their plans to review, propose, and issue regulations. They have tried to predict their activities over the next 12 months as accurately as possible, but dates and schedules are subject to change. Agencies may withdraw some of the regulations now under development, and they may issue or propose other regulations not included in their agendas. Agency actions in the rulemaking process may occur before or after the dates they have listed. The Agenda does not create a legal obligation on agencies to adhere to schedules within it or to confine their regulatory activities to those regulations that appear in it. The information in this edition is accurate as of August 21, 1992, in the judgment of the submitting agencies, except as otherwise noted in individual agency preambles. Where applicable, individual actions will be subject to review for compliance with E.O. 12291, the Regulatory Flexibility Act, the Office of Federal Procurement Policy Act Amendments of 1988, and the Paperwork Reduction Act at appropriate points in the regulatory process.

List of Abbreviations

The following abbreviations appear throughout this edition of the Agenda:

ANPRM -- An Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking is a preliminary notice that an agency is considering a regulatory action. The agency issues an ANPRM before it develops a detailed proposed rule. The ANPRM describes the general area that may be subject to regulation and usually asks for public comment on the issues and options being discussed. An ANPRM is issued only when an agency believes it needs to gather more information before proceeding to a notice of proposed rulemaking.

CFR -- The Code of Federal Regulations is an annual codification of the general and permanent regulations published in the Federal Register by the departments and agencies of the Federal Government. The Code is divided into 50 titles, and each title covers a broad area subject to Federal regulation. The CFR is keyed to and kept up-to-date by the daily issues of the Federal Register.

EO -- An Executive order is a directive from the President to an executive agency, issued under constitutional or statutory authority. Executive orders are published in the Federal Register and in title 3 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

FR -- The Federal Register is a daily Federal Government publication that provides a uniform system for publishing Presidential documents, all proposed and final regulations, notices of meetings, and other official documents issued by Federal departments and agencies.

FY -- The Federal fiscal year runs from October 1 to September 30.

NPRM -- A Notice of Proposed Rulemaking is the document an agency issues and publishes in the Federal Register that describes and solicits public comments on a proposed regulatory action. Under the Administrative Procedure Act, an NPRM must include, at a minimum:

- A statement of the time, place, and nature of the public rulemaking proceeding;

- A reference to the legal authority under which the rule is proposed; and
- Either the terms or substance of the proposed rule or a description of the subjects and issues involved.

PL -- A Public Law is a law passed by Congress and signed by the President or enacted over his veto. It has general applicability, as opposed to a private law that applies only to those persons or entities specifically designated. Public laws are numbered in sequence throughout the 2-year life of each Congress; for example, PL 102-5 is the fifth public law of the 102nd Congress.

RFA -- A Regulatory Flexibility Analysis describes the impact of a proposed rule on small entities as required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601). An RFA describes why the agency is considering the action; the objectives of and legal basis for the proposed rule; an estimate of the number of small entities that could be affected and the compliance requirements they would have to fulfill; any other duplicative, overlapping, or conflicting Federal rules; and alternatives to the proposed action.

When required, an initial RFA accompanies an NPRM, and a final RFA accompanies a final rule.

RIA -- A Regulatory Impact Analysis is required by E.O. 12291 for all major rules and other regulations designated by the Office of Management and Budget. An RIA is prepared to determine whether a proposed regulatory action meets the requirements of section 2 of E.O. 12291; namely, that it:

- Be based on adequate information concerning the need for and consequences of the action;
- Not be undertaken unless the potential benefits outweigh the potential costs to society;
- Maximize net benefits to society;
- Entail the least net cost to society of the alternatives considered; and
- Take into account the condition of particular affected industries, the national economy, and contemplated future regulatory actions.

RIN -- The Regulation Identifier Number is assigned by the Regulatory Information Service Center to identify each regulatory action listed in the Agenda. Many agencies include RIN numbers in the headings of their Rule and Proposed Rule documents when publishing them in the Federal Register.

Seq. No. -- An Agenda Sequence Number identifies entries in the Agenda's indexes.

USC -- The United States Code is a consolidation and codification of all general and permanent laws of the United States. The USC is divided into 50 titles, and each title covers a broad area of Federal law.

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda, October 1992

AGENCY: Office of the Secretary, USDA.

ACTION: Semiannual regulatory agenda.

SUMMARY: This agenda provides summary descriptions of major and nonmajor regulations being developed in agencies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in conformance with Executive Order 12291 "Federal Regulation." The agenda also describes regulations affecting small entities as required by section 602 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, Pub. L. 96-354.

USDA has attempted to list all regulations and regulatory reviews pending at the time of publication, except for minor and routine or repetitive actions, but some may have been inadvertently missed. There is no legal significance to the omission of an item from this listing. Also, the dates shown for the steps of each action are estimated and are not commitments to act on or by the date shown.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For further information on any specific entry shown in this agenda, please contact the person listed for that action.

Requests for copies of the agenda should include a self-addressed, stamped envelope and be directed to: Regulatory Agenda, OBPA, Office of the Secretary, Room 147-E, Administration Building, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, DC 20250, (202) 720-1272.

Dated: September 4, 1992.

1. NATIONAL LABORATORY
ACCREDITATION PROGRAM

Significance: Agency Priority
Legal Authority: PL 101-624, sec 1321 to 1330; 7 USC 138 to 138i
CFR Citation: Not applicable
Legal Deadline: None
Abstract: The 1990 Farm Bill authorized the creation of a National Laboratory Accreditation Program (NLAP) for laboratories that request accreditation and conduct residue testing of agricultural products or that make claims to the public or buyers of agricultural products concerning chemical residue levels on agricultural products. The program is designed to protect human health by ensuring that laboratories which make claims to the public concerning pesticide residue levels meet minimum quality and reliability standards. The standards for the NLAP will be provided by the Food and Drug Administration with the operation of the program under the Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA. The program costs will be offset by a fee schedule. The one-time appropriation will be used to provide for a fully equipped pesticide laboratory to verify the findings of those laboratories applying for accreditation.

OF 1990

Significance: Agency Priority
Legal Authority: PL 101-624, sec 2101 to 2123; 7 USC 6501 to 6522
CFR Citation: None
Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory, May 28, 1992. Final, Statutory, October 1, 1993. Other, Statutory, May 28, 1991. Act calls for the Secretary to appoint the National Organic Standards Board 180 days after enactment and convene it within 60 days thereafter.
Abstract: Public Law 101-624 calls for necessary regulations to implement the Organic Foods Production Act of 1990. The legislation calls for a national program to develop standards for certifying products as organic. Actions called for under this Act include: (a) notice for applicants to apply for membership on the National Organic Standards Board; (b) notice of nominations to the Board and announcement of meetings; (c) notice inviting States and other individuals to

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1621 et seq Agricultural Marketing Act 1946, as amended

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 54

Abstract: The purpose of the proposed regulation is to require applicants for Federal meat grading and certification services to launder or provide outer frocks to Federal meat graders. The agency has determined that applicants for service should bear the cost of laundering outer frocks which Federal meat graders are required to wear. Presently this expense is borne by individual graders. The expected cost to applicants is minimal as they currently launder their employee's outer wear.

REGULATIONS UNDER THE FEDERAL SEED ACT*Legal Authority: 7 USC 1551 to 1611 Federal Seed ActCFR Citation: 7 CFR 201 to 202Legal Deadline: NoneAbstract: Changes in the regulations of the Federal Seed Act (FSA) are to be proposed to eliminate differences between FSA and Association of Official Seed Analysts (AOSA) testing rules as well as differences between minimum seed certification standards of the FSA and those of the Association of Official Seed Certifying Agencies (AOSCA). The FSA regulates the interstate shipment of agricultural and vegetable seed, which is required to be labeled with certain information needed by the seed buyer. The Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) has cooperative agreements with each of the 50 states who inspect and test seed being sold in their state. Interstate shipments of seed found to be mislabeled can be submitted to AMS for action under the FSA. States test seed according to AOSA rules. AMS must test according to FSA rules. Any alternative to the changes, could in some cases cause seed labeled according to a test conducted by AOSA rules to be mislabeled when tested according to FSA rules, or cause seed certified by an AOSCA member agency to be not in compliance with the FSA. On balance these changes will likely result in no cost or a net savings to the seed industry.Timetable:

Abstract: The Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) of the Department of Agriculture consolidated and transferred functions related to analytical laboratory testing services performed on tobacco, seeds, dairy products, eggs, fruits, vegetables, meat, poultry and related agricultural products to its Science Division. This proposed rule would revise the regulations by establishing a new Subchapter E, Commodity Laboratory Testing Programs, in Title 7 of the Code of Federal Regulations by amending and transferring AMS regulations concerning laboratory services, and the regulations under the Plant Variety Protection Act. The regulations would also be revised by adding provisions for statistical science support services and residue monitoring operations to the new subchapter parts 90-101 and part 110. In addition, fees charged for testing services under the various Science Division programs would be amended to reflect additional costs associated with the services.

Statutory, May 27, 1991 (180 Days after enactment).

Abstract: The USDA, in consultation with EPA, will establish requirements for recordkeeping by all certified applicators of federally restricted use pesticides. Annual reports to Congress on agricultural/nonagricultural uses of federally restricted pesticides are mandated. The identity of individual producers in these reports and surveys will be protected. Currently no recordkeeping requirements exist at the Federal level for certified private applicators. Most State commercial applicator certification programs require some form of recordkeeping. States that do not have any type of recordkeeping regulations will fall under a Federal program. To implement, USDA will delegate operational responsibilities to States through cooperative agreements. AMS will oversee the Federal program.

Abstract: This revision would revise the classification of cotton to provide for the separation of grade into its chief components of color and leaf. Each component would then stand clearly on its own so that its effect on end use value or processing capability could be fully and separately evaluated.

The separation of grade into color and leaf will require no changes in the 15 physical standards for American Upland cotton as currently maintained by USDA. The proposal would enhance the Agency's ability to provide useful and cost-effective classification, standardization and market news services.

Abstract: The proposal would incorporate provisions for an expanded drug residue monitoring program. The proposal would provide State regulatory agencies and the dairy industry with guidance in carrying out sampling, testing and monitoring activities relating to drug residues in manufacturing grade milk. The proposal would establish a revision of the existing regulations to strengthen program integrity, to update the regulations to accurately reflect inspections and grading activities, and to clarify the meaning of the regulation provisions. The Proposal would incorporate provisions which specify the sampling, testing, and record keeping requirements relating to an expanded drug residue monitoring program in USDA-approved dairy plants.

Abstract: The objective is to increase the fees for voluntary inspection services at destination markets to replenish the reserve balance of the trust fund. The industry has repeatedly emphasized the program's need to provide faster response to requests for service. To meet this requirement, we have hired more graders. The additional costs have caused the market inspection segment of the Fresh Products Trust Fund reserve to fall to 1.3 months of operating reserve, well below the four months needed to ensure the program's financial viability and to satisfy requirements of AMS policy.

Abstract: The objective of this action is to encourage the continued domestic production of wool at prices fair to both producers and consumers, in a manner that will assure a viable domestic wool industry in the future, by supporting the prices of wool and mohair by means of loans, purchases, payments, or other operations. The primary determinations are 1) support mohair at a level not more than 15 percent above or below the comparable percentage of parity at which shorn wool is supported (the price support level for shorn wool is determined by statutory formula), and 2) support pulled wool through payments based on the liveweight of unshorn lambs marketed for slaughter. Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1312; The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, sec 312, as amended

CFR Citation: None

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Marketing quotas and acreage allotments are required by legislation for Fire-cured (type 21), Fire-cured (types 22-23), Dark Air-cured (types 35-36), Virginia Sun-cured (type 37), and Cigar Filler and Binder (types 42-44 and 53-55). The purpose of quotas and allotments for these five kinds of tobacco is to balance supply with demand at levels that assure stable supplies for domestic and export use at prices that are fair to producers. Marketing quota and acreage allotment determinations are based on 10-year average marketings adjusted for trends to yield the "reserve supply level" as defined by legislation. Marketing quotas are implemented if approved by producers in referenda. Producers approved quotas for the 1993 crop of Fire-cured and Dark Air-cured tobaccos. Referenda for the other types are scheduled for 3/92 and 3/93. Producers of these types have historically voted in favor of quotas. Gross loan outlays under the price support and quota program of $2 million are expected in FY 1994. These outlays will be offset by loan redemptions and no-net-cost assessments in FY 1994 and subsequent years, for a net cost of $0.

Abstract: The objective of this action is to set a standard for a more consistent "person" determination by using an attribution method for determining benefits that shall be denied persons who are associated with the actual violators of the highly erodible land (HEL) and wetland conservation provisions. The current affiliated person rule for HEL and wetlands is difficult to administer because a strict interpretation of the rules could result in a chain of affiliated persons, all of whom would be ineligible for USDA benefits, when in fact many of the affiliated persons did not play a part in the violation. This action will provide a more equitable and understandable method for imposing sanctions on conservation compliance violations. No costs are expected as a result of this action.

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1446g; The Agricultural Act of 1949, sec 206i, as amended

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 1435Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The objective of this action is to amend regulations governing the sugar market assessment as required by the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act Amendments of 1991. The regulations will be amended to 1) provide that assessments will be effective for FY's 1992-96, rather than FY's 1991-95, 2) provide that the assessments will be collected, on a monthly basis, for sugar that has been marketed during the fiscal year, 3) clarify the term "marketed" to mean shipments from the first processor that involves a title transfer, and 4) provide that sugar subject to the assessment includes that processed from domestically produced cane and beet molasses, as well as from domestically produced cane and beets. Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 16 USC 3822, sec 1222; The Food Sec. Act of 1985, as amended by sec 1422(PL101-624).

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 12.32Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed changes will allow persons who have lost benefits because of wetland conservation violations to have their benefits restored in exchange for making a significant commitment to conserve present and future wetland values. Additionally, the change will allow equitable treatment of tenants who acted in good faith but are unable to restore the converted wetland. The long-term benefit to society for the securing of these wetland values will more than compensate for the loss caused by the violation. The proposed changes will also expand the area considered to be prior converted to cropland to include areas that have a cropping history in 6 out of 10 years from 1981 to 1990 inclusively. Commodity program costs would increase by $50 - $60 million annually, total net farm income of grain producers would decrease $5 - $10 million annually, and environmental costs would be $15 - $20 million per year.

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1444f, 1445b-3a; The Agricultural Act of 1949, sec 105B(g), as amended.

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 1413Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This action is needed to implement the Pilot Voluntary Production Limitation Program (PVPLP) for wheat and feed grains, as required by legislation. This action will implement regulations to provide for 1) Implementation of the PVPLP in at least 15 states, 2) Limiting the amount of wheat or feed grains that can be disposed of in excess of the production limitation quantity for the marketing year, 3) A production limitation quantity calculation, 4) Terms and conditions for producers who elect to participate, 5) Provisions for excess production, 6) Subsequent year marketing of excess production, and 7) Measures to prevent circumvention of the program, including refunds or forfeitures of commodities. Only minor administrative and program costs are expected.

47. ● AMENDMENTS TO THE PAYMENT LIMITATION REGULATIONS—"ACTIVELY ENGAGED" DETERMINATIONS

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1308, 1308-1, and 1308-2; The Food Sec. Act of 1985, sec 1001, 1001A, 1001B, as amended.

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 1497

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This action is needed to amend the payment limitation regulations regarding "actively engaged in farming" determinations in response to OIG and GAO audits that have been critical of the effectiveness of present regulations in limiting payments. Determinations will be made to 1) provide that contributions of active personal labor or active personal management by an individual could only qualify one "person" as actively engaged in the same farming operation, and 2) provide a definition of a "shell" corporation, which would be ineligible for payments. Most producers will not be affected by these changes because they do not approach the $50,000 payment limitation. However, critical comments will be expected from individuals who are impacted by the limit and others concerned with payment limitations. No additional cost to the Government is expected. Some reduction in payments to entities who currently meet the payment limitation requirements but who will not after the changes is expected.

Abstract: The objective of this action is to amend the regulations governing the procurement of commodities as required by the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990 (the 1990 Act). The 1990 Act requires that CCC shall, without detriment to any port range, allocate, on the principle of lowest landed cost (LLC) without regard to the country of documentation of the vessel, 50 percent of the bagged, processed, or fortified commodities for Title II (PL 480) donations. In addition, the 1990 Act provides that CCC limit the Great Lakes port range to a percentage share under this procedure that is no greater than in 1984, and that cargo allocated to Great Lakes ports may not be shipped from other port ranges except to meet U.S. flag cargo preference requirements. This action will result in no more than a $5 million increase in annual Government outlays.

Abstract: Marketing quotas and acreage allotments are required by legislation for these five kinds of tobacco (Fire-cured (type 21), Fire-cured (types 22-23), Dark Air-cured (types 35-36), Virginia Sun-cured (type 37), and Cigar Filler and Binder (types 42-44 and 53-55)). The purpose of quotas and allotments is to balance supply with demand at levels that assure stable supplies for domestic and export use at prices that are fair to producers. Marketing quota and acreage allotment determinations are based on 10-year average marketings adjusted for trends to yield the "reserve supply level" as defined by legislation. Marketing quotas are implemented if approved by producers in referenda. Producers approved quotas for the 1992 crop for Type (42-44, 53-55). Referenda for the other types are scheduled for 3/91 and 3/92. Producers of these types have historically voted in favor of quotas. Gross loan outlays under the price support and quota program of $2 million are expected in FY 1993. These outlays will be offset by loan redemptions and no-net-cost assessments in FY 1993 and subsequent years, for a net cost of $0.

Abstract: Price support is required by legislation to stabilize prices for these six kinds of tobacco (Fire-cured (type 21), Fire-cured (types 22-23), Dark Air-cured (types 35-36), Virginia Sun-cured (type 37), Puerto Rican Cigar Fill (type 46), and Cigar Filler and Binder (types 42-44 and 53-55)) when marketing quotas are in effect. Marketing quotas are implemented, if approved by producers in referenda, to achieve a supply equal to the "reserve supply level" as defined by legislation. No quota will be in effect for type 46 because supplies are well above that level. Producers approved quotas for the 1992 crop for type (42-44, 53-55). Referenda for the other types are scheduled for 3/91 and 3/92. Producers of these types have historically voted in favor of quotas. The primary determination to be made is price support levels. Gross loan outlays under the price support and quota program of $2 million are expected in FY 1993. These outlays will be offset by loan redemptions and no-net-cost assessments in FY 1993 and subsequent years, for a net cost of $0.

stable income. This action is required by legislation, which provides a formula for computing the national quota. The quota must equal the amount estimated to be devoted to domestic food, seed, and related uses, and may not be less than 1.34 million tons. The primary determination is in regards to the national poundage quota. The quota is set by statutory formula, based on the Secretary's estimate of the amount of peanuts required for domestic food, seed, and related uses for the 1992 marketing year. The 1992 marketing year is from August 1, 1992, through July 31, 1993. The net cost is expected to be $3 million.

Abstract: The objective of this action is to formulate and administer a FOR program as required by legislation. The FOR program provides extended loans (at no less than the current loan rate) and storage payments to producers to enable them to store their crops when supplies are abundant, extend the time period for orderly marketing, and provide adequate carryover stocks to ensure a reliable supply. The primary determinations are 1) terms and conditions, and 2) maximum quantity of wheat to be stored in the FOR. Entry of wheat into the FOR is not expected to be allowed under the statutory conditions for entry, and thus no outlays will occur. If it were allowed (due to different market conditions) entry would be expected to reduce loan redemptions by about $400 million in FY 1992. Abstract: The objective of this action is to implement the Wheat, Feed Grain, Cotton, and Rice Programs as required by legislation. Primary determinations are 1) crops to be allowed to be planted on flexible acreage, 2) implementation of Targeted Option Payments, 3) planting of designated crops and conserving crops on Acreage Conservation Reserve (ACR) acreage, and 4) planting of oats on wheat and feed grain ACR. The net cost to the Government is expected to be $100 million to $200 million.

Abstract: The flue-cured tobacco marketing quota and price support programs are required by legislation. The purpose of quotas and price support is to balance supply with demand at levels assuring stable supplies for domestic and export use at prices that are fair to producers. The national quota is based on manufacturers' intentions, 3-year average exports, an adjustment to maintain loan stocks, and a discretionary adjustment of plus or minus 3 percent. The price support level is based on a formula that weights average market prices (2/3) and a cost index (1/3), with discretion to limit any increase to 65 percent of the formula increase. Gross loan outlays of $47 million are expected in FY 1993 and FY 1994. These outlays will be offset by loan redemptions and no-net-cost assessments in FY 1993 and subsequent years, for a net cost of $0.

Abstract: The burley tobacco marketing quota and price support programs are required by legislation. The purpose of the quota and price support is to balance supply with demand at levels assuring stable supplies for domestic and export use, at prices fair to producers. The national quota is based on manufacturers' intentions, 3-year average exports, an adjustment to maintain loan stocks, and a discretionary adjustment of plus or minus 3 percent. The price support level is based on a formula that weights average market prices (2/3) and a cost index (1/3), plus discretion to limit any increase to 65 percent of formula increase. Gross loan outlays of $80 million are expected in FY 1994. These outlays will be offset by loan redemptions and no-net-cost assessments in FY 1994 and subsequent years, for a net cost of $0.

Abstract: Price support levels for Fire-cured (type 21), Fire-cured (types 22-23), Dark Air-cured (types 35-36), Virginia Sun-cured (types 37), Puerto Rican Cigar Filler (type 46), and Cigar Filler and Binder (types 42-44 and 53-55) are set by statutory formula whenever a marketing quota is in effect. No quota will be in effect for type 46 because supplies are well above the reserve supply level, therefore no price support will be available for this type. Gross loan outlays under the price support and quota program of $2 million are expected in FY 1992. These outlays will be offset by loan redemptions and no-net-cost assessments in FY 1994 and subsequent years, for a net cost of $0.

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1358-1; The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, sec 358-1, as amended

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 729

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The objective of this action is to amend regulations governing peanut poundage quota undermarketings to reflect changes made by the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act Amendments of 1991 (P.L. 102-237). The primary determinations are 1) the definition of actual undermarketings, 2) the method for making required quota reductions, and 3) temporary transfer of effective undermarketings. No costs are expected as a result of this action.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 3801, 3821-23, sec 1201 and 1221-1224; The Food Sec.
Act of 1985, as amended by sec 1421-
24(PL101-624)

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 12

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This action is necessary to enhance the flexibility of wetland regulations for producers without imposing any significant cost to the Government or decreasing protection of wetlands. The determinations are 1) Allow any area used for production of any crop or for long term rotation to not be considered an "abandoned" wetland, and 2) Allow areas drained by a drainage district to be planted to forage crops and harvested by mechanical means. The "abandonment" determination will remove an incentive to keep land in intensive production. The drainage determination will allow production on a small number of acres that otherwise would not likely be farmed. The total acreage involved will likely be less than 50,000 acres, and no impacts on prices are expected. Producers' income could increase by up to $2.5 million per year by the end of ten years through increased efficiency. No cost to Government is expected.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 3830-36, sec
1230-1235A;; The Food Sec. Act of 1985, as amended by sec 1431-37(PL101-624)

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 704; 7 CFR 1410

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This action is necessary to enhance the flexibility of the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) regulations for producers. Since the advent of the Wetland Reserve Program (WRP), USDA has not allowed small farmed wetlands to be entered into the CRP. This has resulted in farmers not being able to enter very small tracts into the CRP while the land all around the small tract could be CRP if 1) no individual wetland in the bid is greater than 1 acre, 2) total wetlands in the bid are less than 5 acres, and 3) wetlands are no more than 10 percent of the bid. The primary impact of this action will be a reduction in unnecessary regulatory inflexibility. This action will likely affect less than 4,000 acres, and will not affect commodity prices. There will be no significant negative impact on either the CRP or WRP. Other impacts on farm income and efficiency will be negligible. No cost to Government is expected.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1446g; The Agricultural Act of 1949, sec 206, as amended.

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 1435

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The objective of this action is to support the price of domestically produced sugarcane and sugar beets at a level that assures growers and processors of these commodities sufficient income, as required by legislation. The primary determinations are 1) the loan rate for raw cane sugar, 2) the loan rate for refined beet sugar, 3) the minimum support price paid by processors for sugarcane, and 4) the minimum support price paid by processors for sugar beets. The Sugar Program is carried out at no net cost to the government. However, based on latest U.S. consumption and price data, the annual cost to U.S. consumers of sugar and corn sweeteners is around $2 billion.

Legal Authority: The Agricultural Act of 1949, sec 106, as amended

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 1464

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The objective of this action is to include the definition of "beneficial interest" in tobacco pledged as collateral for a price support loan. Presently, some producers are relinquishing their beneficial interest in the crop by accepting monetary advances from warehouse operators or dealers. These merchandisers will, in turn, pledge the tobacco for price support loans. This action will make Tobacco Program regulations comparable to other commodities in that the crop must remain under control of the producer to be eligible for price support. No Federal outlays are expected as a result of this action.

instead of the current time of 3:00 p.m. each Tuesday so that only one AWP is effective each workday, and 2) calculation of loan deficiency payment (LDP) rates and marketing loan gains based on national average milling yields instead of the yields of individual quantities for which the payment is requested. This change will reduce administrative burdens, speed program disbursements, and reduce gross loan outlays because it will encourage producers to take the LDP instead of pledging their rice as collateral for a price support loan. 95. ● 1990- AND 1991-CROP DISASTER PROGRAM

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1421; The Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990; PL 102-229; The Disaster Assistance Act of 1991

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 1477

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The objective of this action is to provide disaster assistance for either 1990 or 1991 crop losses for program and non-program crops including orchards, forest crops, ornamentals, roses, and turf, under the same provisions as the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990. The primary determinations are 1) basis for determining actual and expected production, 2) whether to make crop quality reduction payments, 3) payment yields, 4) whether to permit substitution of crop insurance yields in lieu of farm program payment yields for determining eligible losses and payments, 5) current and historical acreage, 6) offset for replacement crops and crop insurance indemnification, 7) calculation of the National Factor to be used to ensure that total payments do not exceed the appropriation, and 8) establishment of a reserve for errors and appeals. The expected cost of this action is $1,750 million.

96. ● TECHNICAL CORRECTIONS TO THE PRODUCTION ADJUSTMENT REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE WHEAT, FEED GRAIN, COTTON AND RICE PROGRAMS

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1421; The Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 1413

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The objective of this action is to revise regulations governing the Wheat, Feed Grain, Cotton, and Rice Programs. The primary amendments will 1) authorize planting of crambe and sesame on 0,50/92 acres for the 1992-95 crops, 2) add millet to the list of "industrial and other" crops (authority to plant these crops on 0,50/92 acreage will remain discretionary), 3) delete the clause "will not affect farm income adversely" from the conditions for allowing industrial and other crops on 0,50/92, 4) when minor oilseeds, sesame, or crambe are planted on 0,50/92, allow subsequent planting, within the same crop year, of crops allowed to be planted on flexible acres (except program crops); if the second crop is soybeans, producers must have planted soybeans in three of the five previous years; the second crop will not be eligible for loans, 5) combine permitted acres of corn and sorghum, and 6) delete "75 percent" factor for wheat, barley, and oats payments to be made in 12/94 and 12/95. Only minor administrative costs will be incurred as a result of this action.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 7 USC 150dd; 7 USC 150ee; 7 USC 150ff; 7 USC 151 to 167

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 319

Abstract: USDA is developing regulations to restrict the importation of certain types of manufactured wood, such as logs, lumber, wood chips, bark, and pulp wood. There are a variety of plant pests and diseases associated with these articles, and there has recently been increased interest in importing large quantities of these articles into the U.S. At this time we are considering prohibiting the importation of logs and unmanufactured wood from certain tree genera and species, unless they meet importation criteria contained in the regulations and are imported under a permit issued by APHIS. The trees we are considering regulating in this manner are: all coniferous species; Carya; Fagus; Juglans; Liquidambar; Liriodendron; Nyssa; Populus; Quercus; Salix; and Thuja. The importation criteria would address the genus or species of the tree; the nature of the wood article; the country or area of origin; and methods by which the trees were harvested, stored, and treated.

Abstract: Exotic Newcastle Disease (also known as viscerotropic velogenic Newcastle disease and as VVND) and psittacosis or ornithosis (now generally referred to as chlamydiosis) are communicable diseases of birds and poultry. The spread of these diseases in the United States could have serious consequences for the United States poultry industry. A review of the Department's regulations to prevent the interstate spread of these diseases indicates the need for a complete revision to make the regulations more effective and to increase compliance with them.

Abstract: The Department currently regulates the importation of certain animals and animal products to prevent the introduction of communicable animal diseases into the United States. With certain exceptions, most animals imported into the United States must be quarantined upon arrival at facilities operated by the Federal Government; only sheep, birds, and horses may be quarantined in privately operated facilities. Some importers have expressed interest, however, in importing ruminants and swine, other than sheep, in greater numbers per shipment than can be handled at existing Federal facilities. The Department is considering amending the regulations to allow other species of domesticated ruminants and swine, from countries free of certain serious diseases, to be quarantined upon arrival in the United States at privately operated facilities.

Significance: Agency Priority
Legal Authority: 7 USC 2131 to 2157
CFR Citation: 9 CFR 1; 9 CFR 2; 9 CFR 3
Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Department is authorized to regulate the treatment of certain horses and other farm animals under the Animal Welfare Act (the Act). Under the Act, the Department is authorized to regulate the treatment of horses used for research purposes, and is authorized to regulate the treatment of other farm animals, unless those animals are used or intended for use as food or fiber, for breeding management or production efficiency, or for improving the quality of food fiber. As a matter of policy, however, the Department has not been regulating such horses and other farm animals. However, because of the increasing use of these animals for research purposes, the Department has given notice of its intent to regulate such animals, and has requested comments on standards to be developed for the inclusion of these animals under the regulations. These actions will help ensure that the animals are treated humanely, in accord with the Act.

Abstract: The National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) (42 USC 4321, et seq.) and the regulations promulgated by the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) (40 CFR 1500 et seq.) require that every Federal agency establish procedures to implement NEPA. The proposed APHIS NEPA Implementing Procedures have been developed to ensure compliance with NEPA and are consistent with the Regulations of CEQ for Implementing the Procedural Provisions of NEPA (40 CFR 1500-1509) and the USDA Regulations for Implementing NEPA (7 CFR 1b). These Agency-specific procedures will enable APHIS decision makers to reach decisions in which environmental concerns are fully reviewed and will ensure timely public involvement in the NEPA process. The procedures will identify Agency actions, requirements, guidance, and references for completion of environmental assessments, and environmental reviews. The new APHIS NEPA Implementing Procedures will supersede the previous issues, APHIS Guidelines for Implementing NEPA Procedures (44 FR 50381-50384 and 44 FR 51272-51274), upon publication of the final rule.

Abstract: The Department is reviewing the regulations in 9 CFR part 92, which, among other things, govern the importation into the United States of certain animals and poultry, and certain animal and poultry products. This is in compliance with Executive Order 12291 and Departmental Regulation 1512-1, which requires agencies to periodically review regulations.

The Department is conducting this Cyclical Review in phases. Phase I, effective August 2, 1990, reorganized the regulations. The Department is now starting Phase II. Subpart F (Dogs) of 9 CFR Part 92 has been reviewed and a notice of proposed rulemaking will be published. Reviews of the other subparts will follow. If the Department determines those regulations should be changed, notices of proposed rulemaking will be published.

Abstract: The Department currently regulates the importation of poultry and poultry products, including eggs for hatching, to prevent the introduction of certain poultry diseases into the United States. We are considering revising these regulations to add restrictions to prevent the introduction of Salmonella enteritidis, serotype enteritidis, phage-type 4 (referred to below as S. enteritidis, phage-type 4), a virulent type of Salmonella that has not been detected in poultry flocks in the United States. Canada is the only country other than the United States in which poultry flocks are recognized as being free of S. enteritidis, phage-type 4. Safeguards under consideration include testing of individual poultry of the flock of origin in the country of origin, and testing and inspection during quarantine in the United States.

Abstract: Current regulations prohibit, with certain limited exceptions, the importation of ruminants and swine from countries where foot-and-mouth disease (FMD) exists. However, the regulations are unclear with respect to the application of this prohibition to animals that originate in an FMD-free country but are moved to a FMD-free country and are then offered for importation into the United States. Veterinary Services is developing regulations to clarify import restrictions for these situations.

Abstract: The Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990 (P.L. 101-508) and the Food, Agriculture, Conservation and Trade Act of 1990 (P.L. 101-624) authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to prescribe and collect fees to cover the cost of providing agricultural quarantine and inspection services in connection with the arrival at a port in the customs territory of the United States, or the preclearance or preinspection at a site outside the customs territory of the United States, of international passengers, commercial vessels, commercial aircraft, and commercial trucks or railroad cars. APHIS is already collecting fees for certain services, including agricultural quarantine and inspection services, export services, and animal import services. APHIS plans to collect fees for veterinary diagnostics and reagents, additional animal import services, and preclearance or preinspection services at sites outside the customs territory of the United States.

Legal Authority: 21 USC 111; 21 USC 134a; 21 USC 134f
CFR Citation: 9 CFR 82

Abstract: Disease caused by the bacterium known as Salmonella enteritidis serotype enteritidis (referred to below as SE) is a serious problem in egg-type chicken breeding flocks and egg production flocks, and is also a serious public health concern. The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) has established regulations to control the spread of SE in egg-type chicken breeding flocks and egg production flocks, and continues to work to reduce the impact of SE on the poultry industry and consumer health. Under the current APHIS regulatory program, study flocks are identified through traceback of eggs implicated in human outbreaks of SE, these study flocks are subjected to testing for SE, and if the flocks test positive for SE, interstate movement of articles from the flocks is restricted. We are currently working with other agencies including the Agricultural Marketing Service, the Food and Drug Administration, and the Centers for Disease Control to evaluate the success of this approach and determine whether to propose changes

Abstract: The Federal government has responsibility for preventing the introduction into the United States of various diseases of livestock, including foot-and-mouth disease, rinderpest, African swine fever, and swine vesicular disease. To fulfill this responsibility, it is necessary for the Federal government to revise and update its regulations concerning the importation of pork products, based upon the methods and procedures used to process pork products. APHIS is developing regulations that would allow certain dry-cured pork products to be imported into the United States. Only hams and loins derived from certain breeds of swine and processed in a specified manner would be allowed to be imported.

112. ● ADDITION OF CERVIDAE, CAMELIDAE, AND CERTAIN BOVIDAE OTHER THAN CATTLE AND BISON TO THE REGULATIONS CONCERNING TUBERCULOSIS IN LIVESTOCK

Legal Authority: 21 USC 111 to 113; 21 USC 114; 21 USC 114a; 21 USC 114a-1; 21 USC 115 to 117; 21 USC 120 to 126; 21 USC 134b; 21 USC 134f

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 50; 9 CFR 71; 9 CFR 77

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Bovine tuberculosis is a contagious, infectious, and communicable disease affecting cattle, bison, and other species, including humans. The spread of bovine tuberculosis in the United States could have serious consequences for the United States cattle and bison industries, as well as for human health. Currently, the regulations concerning control and eradication programs for bovine tuberculosis in livestock only regulate cattle, bison, and swine. Recent outbreaks in the United States of bovine tuberculosis in semi-domesticated herds of cervidae (such as deer and elk), camelidae (such as llamas and alpacas), and certain bovidae other than cattle or bison (such as antelope) have made apparent the need to also regulate these animals in order to prevent the spread of bovine tuberculosis.

Abstract: The Department is proposing to revise "Subpart--Imported Fire Ant," which contains quarantine and interstate movement regulations for the containment and control of this destructive plant pest. Executive Order 12291 and Department Regulation 1512-1 require that agencies initiate reviews of currently effective rules to bring about the goal of reduction of regulatory burdens and to minimize impacts on small entities. The proposed rule is part of the scheduled review of "Subpart--Imported Fire Ant" to meet regulatory review requirements. Revising the regulations would make them easier to understand, thereby increasing compliance and the effectiveness of the regulations in preventing the interstate spread of the imported fire ant.

Abstract: The regulations governing the importation into the United States of honeybees and honeybee semen contain the criteria used for determining which countries may import honeybees and honeybee semen and under what conditions. This change will allow the importation of honeybees and honeybee semen from New Zealand, for other than research purposes, if accompanied by a certificate of origin.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 7 USC 2131 to 2157

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 2

Legal Deadline: Other, Statutory, May 25, 1991.

Abstract: Section 2503 of the Farm Bill, entitled "Protection of Pets," instructs APHIS to amend the Animal Welfare regulations to require that dogs and cats be held for at least 5 days at pounds and shelters and at licensed research facilities. Additionally, the Farm Bill instructs APHIS to require that dealers provide a valid certification to anyone acquiring random source dogs and cats from those dealers. The certification would have to identify the dealer, the animal, and the source of the animal, and would have to accompany the shipment of the animal. The intent of these provisions is to prevent stolen animals from being entered into research channels and to provide owners with the opportunity to locate their animals.

Abstract: Some veterinarians are accredited by the Federal government to cooperate with APHIS in controlling and preventing the spread of animal diseases throughout the United States and the world. The Department is proposing to establish accreditation on a national, rather than a State, basis and revise the procedures for issuing, suspending, and revoking accredited veterinarian status. The proposed changes are intended to ensure that an adequate number of qualified accredited veterinarians are available in the United States to perform necessary animal health activities.

Abstract: There are a number of federal environmental statutes which govern the management of hazardous substances, materials and wastes. At the present time, FmHA does not have implementing regulations for these federal statutes.

The development of implementation procedures for managing hazardous substances is necessary to insure consistency in compliance with Federal, as well as State environmental statutes, and to develop appropriate "due diligence" policies to limit the Agency's liability with regard to environmental cleanups of hazardous waste in loan making/servicing and property management activities.

FmHA has approximately 10,000 inventory properties. FmHA cannot be certain how many of these inventory properties will require hazardous waste cleanup prior to sale, however, FmHA has submitted to the Departmental Hazardous Waste Management Program a projected budget for FYs 93-97 of $14.2 million.

Abstract: Provisions of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation and Trade Act of 1990, as they affect the Farmers Home Administration's Farmer Programs, plus relevant provisions of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990. Regulations must be developed to reduce paperwork burdens on the public and to encourage more meaningful public participation in the paperwork reduction process. Regulations are also needed to set forth the curriculum and process for the Agency's farmer loan applicant/borrower to obtain special training; and to assess the borrower's progress; and to implement a market placement program for qualified loans.

The projected cost of these programs is $3,747,565 for underwriting forms and standard; $289,396,800 for borrower training for a total cost of $293,144,365, excluding the cost of the Loan Assessment and Market Placement Program which will be available approximately June 1993. Regulations shall be issued as soon as practicable after enactment of PL 101-624 of the FACT ACT of 1990.

137. ● HOUSING FOR RURAL HOMELESS AND MIGRANT FARMWORKERS, POLICIES, PROCEDURES, AND AUTHORIZATIONS

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1486

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 1944-H (New)

Legal Deadline: Final, Statutory, March 28, 1991.

Abstract: This regulation provides for the eligibility of the rural homeless and migrant farmworkers under Section 516 Farm Labor Housing Program. Regulations are being drafted to implement this provision of the law which will provide short term occupancy housing for these individuals. The cost to society of promulgating such regulations will be minimal with substantial benefits filtering into society by providing housing for the rural homeless and migrant farmworkers.

Abstract: Incorporate requirements of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act, Section 708, into FmHA Instructions 1955-A, 1955-B, 1955-C, 1965-B, and 1965-C. This law prohibits the transfer or sale of FmHA's security interest in Indian Trust Land to anyone except an eligible tribal member, the tribe, or the Indian Housing Authority serving the tribes. These requirements will enhance the opportunity of these specific entities to become homeowners, thereby, serving a previously underserved area.

The expected effect is that it becomes knowledge, instruction and direction for the public, Agency staff and members of the Tribal Communities.

Abstract: The objective of this action is to extend County Committee eligibility for Farmer Programs loan applications (except emergency loan applications) up to two years. The current policy requires a County Committee determination for each loan application. The proposed action will decrease the paperwork required for loan applications, and reduce the amount of time needed by the County Committee to review loan applications. The proposed action is required by Public Law 101-624. No additional costs to the Government or to the public will be incurred as a result of this action. Government costs will be reduced because County Committee members will spend less time reviewing applications.

Abstract: Lenders participating in the Guaranteed Loan Program have cited the excessive amount of paperwork and time required to apply for and receive approval on guaranteed loans as a deterrent to participation in the program. The Agency assembled a Guaranteed Overview Task Force to identify specific forms and regulations that could be eliminated or revised without increasing the risk to the Government. We intend to immediately implement those recommendations which will meet these criteria and can be implemented by the next lending season. Fewer forms and a streamlined process will reduce operating costs for both FmHA and lenders. With the new Certified Lender Program, those lenders that FmHA has determined can properly process and service guaranteed loans will be given greater flexibility. The CLP program will encourage increased participation in the program, thereby reducing the demand for direct loan funds, which are more costly than guaranteed loans.

Abstract: Create a new subpart D to cover liquidation of Single Family Housing (SFH) loans, and management and sale of SFH inventory property; and revise existing subparts A, B, and C to have them apply to all programs other than SFH. Costs to create new subpart and revise and/or amend existing ones is minimal and would enhance all programs' ability to revise and/or amend the regulations with reduced clearances and provide personnel with clearer and simpler regulations to follow and implement. Will avoid "tie-up" of the regulations for one program subject to changes mandated by legislation or court order for another program, such as SFH changes being held up subject to Farmer Program changes being completed, as has frequently been the case.

Abstract: The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) proposes to revise the regulation for the recapture of subsidy granted on Section 502 Rural Housing Loans. This action is necessary because of an accounting system change resulting from the September 1987 congressionally mandated rural housing asset sale. The intended effect of this action is to adjust the formula to coincide with the revised method of applying monthly subsidy to interest credit accounts. In addition, this action will also shorten and simplify the recapture process.

Abstract: The Agency published an interim rule amending FmHA Instruction 1900-B to provide for multi-party appeals involving the sale of suitable farmland to eligible applicants and denials of leaseback/buyback and homestead protection rights. These changes were a result of Section 611 of the Agricultural Credit Act of 1987. Subsequently passage of the 1990 Farm Bill P.L. 101-624 required further changes to appeals involving the sale of inventory property classified as suitable farmland. These changes superseded those made in the interim rule. Those changes were published in the Federal Register as an interim rule on April 30, 1992, Vol 57 No. 84 page 18612. Therefore, this rule will remain in interim status and combined in final rule with the subsequent changes made in the April 30, 1982, Federal Register.

Abstract: The problem is the need to reduce the Government's cost of providing financial assistance to Farmer Programs Borrowers. Lenders and loan applicants prefer that applicants use the insured loan programs rather than the guaranteed programs due to the lower interest rates on insured loans. This regulation will provide for a government subsidy to lenders for interest rates for guaranteed Farmer Programs loans so the borrower will be paying interest rates for guaranteed loans that are similar to insured loans. This should provide an incentive for using the guaranteed loan program. The potential cost to the Government will be reduced as the Government will only pay a lender up to 90 percent of the losses on loans and only part of the interest rate rather than loaning a borrower the full amount of the loan and paying an investor the full cost of the Government borrowing the money for an insured loan. The benefit is that the borrower will be paying an interest rate for guaranteed loans that is comparable to that for insured loans, the lender will receive the subsidy for the lower interest rate, and the Government (cont)

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1789; 7 USC 4201; 42 USC 1980; 5 USC 301

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 223; 7 CFR 270

Legal Deadline: Final, Statutory, March 28, 1991. Other, Statutory, December 31, 1991.

Published as an interim rule February 4, 1992. Final rule to be published March 1993.

Abstract: A national farmland protection effort is needed to preserve our national farmland resources for future generations. The FACT Act, as amended, authorized a demonstration program to guarantee loans to assist States in financing such an effort. The program provides for Federal guarantees of timely payments of principal and interest due for 10 years and substantial interest assistance on loans made to States and instrumentalities of States. A number of States currently have programs in which the State purchases development rights from farmers so the farmland is not developed. The program was fashioned, to some extent, after several of these programs. States are required to share in this effort by contributing an amount equal to at least half the amount of the loan guaranteed by FmHA. Each eligible State may receive up to $10 million in guarantees per fiscal year. Loan funds may be invested by the borrower to increase the capital available for farmland preservation. The legislation authorized a pilot program for Vermont.

Abstract: The objective of revising the debt settlement regulation is to eliminate the administrative costs of maintaining accounts which have been charged off and authorize the Administrator to debt settle third party converters, nonprogram, economic emergency, and economic opportunity loans. Action is being recommended to remove chargeoffs because the funds collected from charged off accounts do not justify the administrative costs of maintaining and servicing these accounts. Action is being recommended to authorize the Administrator to debt settle accounts which were formerly settled under the Federal Claims Collection Act to conform with the revisions made in Section 331 (d) of the CONACT under the 1990 Farm Bill. The State Director is also being given the authority to approve debt settlements less than $1,000,000.

Abstract: The Cranston-Gonzales National Affordable Housing Act provided for revision to FmHA's site approval instructions, mandating that: "The Secretary may not refuse to make, insure, or guarantee a loan that otherwise meets the requirements under this section solely on the basis that the housing involved is located in an area that is excessively rural in character or excessively remote."

This revision removes language regarding random development of sites in open country, and includes language that allows approval of such sites.

The only cost related to this revision is publication and distribution of the Instruction.

186. ● UNITED STATES STANDARDS FOR RICE

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1622

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 68

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Federal Grain Inspection Service proposes to initiate a review of the United States Standards for Rice. Public comments will be requested regarding the adequacy of existing rice standards: (e.g., tolerances, classification system, language clarity, and other potential improvements). The review is being initiated to meet the requirements of Executive Order 12291 and Departmental Regulation 1521 to conduct periodic reviews of existing regulations. Alternatives to the existing standards will be considered as the review schedule progresses and public comments are evaluated.

Legal Authority: 7 USC 71 et seq

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 800; 7 CFR 800.88(d); 7 CFR 800.96(c)(2)

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Federal Grain Inspection Service (FGIS) is proposing to revise the regulations under the United States Grain Standards Act (USGSA) concerning the certification of additive-treated export grain at export port locations. The proposal would establish a requirement for showing a statement on official inspection and weight certificates whenever additives (except fumigants applied for the purpose of insect control) are applied to export grain at export port locations. FGIS is very concerned about potentially improper additive applications. This proposed action would ensure that buyers of export grain are properly informed when additives have been applied.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 7 USC 71 et seq

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 800; 7 CFR 800.84(c); 7 CFR 800.160(a)

Abstract: The Federal Grain Inspection Service (FGIS) is revising the regulations under the United States

USDA—FGIS

Final Rule Stage

Grain Standards Act (USGSA) regarding the required issuance by official inspection personnel of an official certificate for each single lot inspection of grain in a land carrier, container, or barge. Specifically, FGIS is revising the requirement by establishing an exception for such lots of grain inspection according to instructions that permit certification at the option of the applicant for inspection. FGIS has determined that official certificates are not always necessary to the trading of grain. This action will allow the implementation of instructions that provide for issuing certificates on an optional basis.

Deadline for interim final rule.

Abstract: This rule establishes procedures for State agencies to use to participate in the Systematic Alien Verification for Entitlements (SAVE) system. As required by IRCA, the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) implemented this system. IRCA requires the Food Stamp Program (FSP) and certain other entitlement programs to use SAVE to verify the immigration status of aliens applying for benefits. The rule also provides guidelines for Federal reimbursement of administrative costs. In addition the rule implements nondiscretionary provisions of IRCA requiring all household members to attest to their citizenship or alien status and certain requirements relating to documentation of alien status. Abstract: This regulatory action is required because the Hunger Prevention Act of 1988 (PL 100-435) revised the Food Stamp Act of 1977, as amended, specifying that Food Stamp Program quality control (QC) payment error rate (PER) liability appeals by State agencies be conducted by Administrative Law Judges. The use of Administrative Law Judges replaces the current appeal process which is conducted by the State Food Stamp Appeals Board. This regulation will delineate the procedures to be followed in these QC appeals. (88-011)

199. SPECIAL SUPPLEMENTAL FOOD PROGRAM FOR WOMEN, INFANTS, AND CHILDREN (WIC): FOOD DELIVERY SYSTEMS

Significance: Regulatory ProgramLegal Authority: 42 USC 1786CFR Citation: 7 CFR 246Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: A proposed rule addressing WIC Food Delivery Systems was published on December 28, 1990. The Department provided a 120-day comment period for the proposed rule, which closed on April 29, 1991. Nearly 1100 comments were received from a wide variety of sources. Despite the degree of preliminary input to the December 28, 1990 proposed rule, many of the commenters responding during the formal comment period suggested that the Department's food delivery regulations needed to be proposed again, rather than proceeding directly to a final rule. In addition, several members of Congress requested that the rule be re-proposed in light of its impact on State agency food delivery systems. Therefore, the Department intends to issue a second proposed rule addressing WIC food delivery systems and requirements. This second rule will address all of the provisions contained in the previous rulemaking, but will contain significant modifications to some of the proposed provisions, as well as clarifications to several provisions, which may not have been clearly understood in the earlier rule.

204. SPECIAL SUPPLEMENTAL FOOD PROGRAM FOR WOMEN, INFANTS, AND CHILDREN (WIC): PART 246.10, FOOD PACKAGE III CHILDREN/WOMEN WITH SPECIAL DIETARY NEEDS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1786

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 246

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Food Package III will be revised to increase the maximum quantity of special formula authorized per month; clarify what formula is; add additional authorized WIC foods to the package; and address tailoring.

Need for Action:

This special dietary package currently provides special formula, juice, and cereal. It was designed specifically to assist low-income women and children who require special formulas due to medical conditions. Without WIC these individuals would have difficulty in obtaining special formulas, which tend to be quite expensive. Program administrators, participants and the National Advisory Council on Maternal, Infant and Fetal Nutrition recognize that current monthly maximum quantity of formula allowed is sometimes not sufficient and recommend that it be increased. They also recognized that there is a nutritional need for additional WIC foods to be made available to participants receiving this package. This is a very infrequently used package and the proposed rule will in no way affect the other WIC food packages.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1786

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 246

Abstract: This proposed rule responds to a variety of program concerns, most of which have been expressed by WIC State agencies. The proposal strengthens the provision of services to participants in the areas of eligibility determination and nutrition education and increases State agency flexibility regarding the age of medical data and the sharing of participant information with other programs. Several minor clarifications and technical corrections are also made. Principal provisions include: (1) mandatory minimum content requirements for nutrition education participant contacts; (2) State agency discretion to accept medical data over 60 days old under certain Abstract: This rulemaking proposes to amend the Nutrition Education and Training (NET) Program regulations to incorporate changes to the Program brought about by the enactment of P.L. 101-147 on November 10, 1989. These changes include the required utilization by State and local NET programs of materials and services developed by the National Food Service Management Institute to be established under the National School Lunch Act, the inclusion of Summer Food Service Program participants as NET beneficiaries, the replacement of an annual State Plan requirement with an annual Plan update, changes in the formula for allocating Program funds to States, and several technical amendments intended to bring Program regulations into conformance with non-Program changes which resulted from P.L. 101-147.

210. CONFIDENTIALITY OF INFORMATION PROVIDED ON APPLICATIONS FOR FREE AND REDUCED PRICE MEALS

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1758

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 245

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Current policy prohibits the use of information provided on applications for free and reduced price meals for any purpose other than determining eligibility for these benefits. However, there is considerable interest in making this information available for other purposes, such as vocational education, free textbooks or, in one State, Medicare benefits. We recognize the value of sharing information from the standpoint of paperwork reduction; nevertheless, we have a number of concerns about potential misuse of the information. Because the subject is highly sensitive, we are considering a notice of intent to publish a proposed rule. Depending on the response to this notice, we will decide if further rulemaking is justified.

Statutory deadline in P.L. 101-624 for funding provisions only was 10/01/90; all other provisions to be implemented by regulation by 10/01/91.

Abstract: This rule is being proposed in response to changes brought about by Pub. L. 101-624 and to strengthen other program areas. This proposed rule will implement those provisions of Pub. L. 101-624 which affect the Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP) and which do not require Department discretion. The following list includes those provisions addressed in this rulemaking: (1) authorizes State agencies to operate elderly-only sites; (2) provides administrative funding to agencies not to exceed 20 percent of the annual appropriation; and (3) mandates that State agencies serving women, infants and children: (a) distribute written information on Food Stamps, AFDC, and Child Support Enforcement Programs; (b) provide each local agency with materials showing the income limits according to family size, applicable to pregnant women, infants, and children in the Medicaid Program; and (c) distribute written information on and referrals to the Medicaid Program, when appropriate. State agencies serving elderly persons shall ensure that written information is provided on Food Stamps, Supplemental Security Income benefits, and Medicaid. (cont)

Proposed Rule Stage

Government Levels Affected: Local, State

Additional Information: ABSTRACT

CONT: This rulemaking is also responsive to a variety of program concerns. The proposal strengthens the provision of services to participant in the area of nutrition education. In addition the rule: revises and simplifies the caseload allocation and priority system processes; increases State agency flexibility in determining the share of administrative funding to be retained at the State level; revises the State Plan requirements; and incorporates an administrative appeals procedure. Several minor clarifications and technical corrections are also made, such as updating the Financial Management requirements. The Department also proposes a reorganization of Program regulations for ease of use.

218. ● FOOD STAMP PROGRAM: QUALITY CONTROL TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS

Legal Authority: 7 USC 2013; 7 USC 2025

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 275

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Food and Nutrition Service is proposing six technical changes to the Food Stamp Program's Quality Control System. These changes would reduce the workload on State agencies and improve the efficiency of the quality control system. The six proposed changes would: (1) permit State agencies to reduce their sample sizes; (2) clarify sampling procedures; (3) change the way Federal subsample sizes are calculated; (4) change the way FNS avoids double-billing for non-compliance; (5) change the way State agencies request arbitration; and (6) change the way Federal findings are treated once FNS sends them to the State agencies.

Abstract: This rule addresses two provisions of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1991. Pursuant to Section 910 of that Act, in cases subject to Monthly Reporting and Retrospective Budgeting (MRRB), the rule prohibits proration during the certification period when a new member is added to the household except for the initial month. Pursuant to Section 908 postpones until April 1993, a provision contained in final rules published on 12/04/91 (56 FR 63597) which mandates exclusion of households residing on Indian reservations from monthly reporting effective 02/02/91. This rule addresses a provision of Public Law 101-508 which provides that Earned Income Tax Credits are excluded from consideration as a countable resource. This provision was implemented on 01/01/91 by Agency directive. This rulemaking formally incorporates the provision into the Code of Federal Regulations.

Legal Authority: 7 USC 2011 to 2032; PL 101-624; PL 102-237

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 273.8

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rule was published, proposed on August 13, 1991. After full consideration of comments, the Department has decided that a new proposed rulemaking is warranted to take into consideration comments received and recent legislative changes to the provision as a result of PL 102-237.

The new proposed rule will exempt from consideration as a resource, resources which meet three tests. The tests are: (1) it would need to be jointly owned by the household and other parties; (2) the household could not have access to its share without agreement of the other owners, i.e., the resource is not readily divisible; and (3) the sale of the resource would not yield a significant return or would not yield a significant amount of funds for the support of the household. "Significant amount of funds" is defined as an amount greater than half the applicable resource limit for the household, in accordance with 7 CFR 273.8, after any expenses of the sale are deducted. "A significant return"

Legal Authority: 7 USC 2011 to 2032; PL 102-237

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 273.9

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rulemaking addresses sections 901 and 903 of Pub. L. 102-237. Section 901 expands eligibility to receive food stamps and to use them to purchase meals prepared by certain group living arrangements to all individuals who meet the definition of disabled in the Food Stamp Act and reside in certain group homes. This rulemaking resolves an inequity under which persons receiving disability or blindness payments under certain sections of the Social Security Act were eligible to use food stamps to purchase meals prepared and served by these homes while other persons considered disabled under the Food Stamp Act but not receiving disability or blindness payments under the Social Security Act were not eligible to use food stamp to purchase such meals. Section 903 adds an additional income exclusion. Certain recipients of Supplemental Security Income can have a Plan for Achieving Self-Support (PASS). Amounts held in PASS accounts to fulfill this Plan are currently excluded as a resource. Under this rulemaking, PASS amounts will also be excluded from income for food stamp purposes.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1786

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 246

Legal Deadline: Final, Statutory, October 1, 1989.

The law made these provisions effective October 1, 1989.

Abstract: This regulation would set forth the major revisions to the funds allocation process brought about by Public Law 101-147. The objective of this action is to provide guidelines for the allocation of funds, including changes in the administrative funding structure, breastfeeding targets, and conversion of food funds to administrative funds.

The revised funding structure eliminates the 20 percent limit on administrative and program services funds. Instead, administrative and program services funding will be determined based on a national administrative grant per person. In addition, State agencies must spend their proportionate shares of at least $8 million for breastfeeding promotion in addition to the current 1/6 nutrition education requirement. For those State agencies that achieve participation increases above the federal projected level through acceptable measures such as cost containment, curtailment of vendor abuse, and breastfeeding promotion activities, conversion of food funds to cover administrative expenses is authorized. Abstract: This rule will implement four provisions from Public Law 101-624 that affect the Food Stamp Employment and Training (E&T) Program. These provisions will (1) amend the current rules regarding the "head of household" designation; (2) change the current formula for distributing the non-performance based ($60 million) portion of the $75 million Federal E&T grant; (3) expand the E&T program to include literacy and self-employment training as E&T components; and (4) allow two State agencies that have received prior approval of an application to provide priority service to volunteers. The costs of these provisions are expected to be minimal. The benefit of the above provisions is an overall improvement in the E&T Program.

231. MISCELLANEOUS FARM BILL PROVISIONS RELATING TO THE AUTHORIZATION OF RETAIL FIRMS AND WHOLESALE FOOD CONCERNS

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 7 USC 2011 to 2031; PL 101-624

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 271; 7 CFR 272; 7 CFR 274; 7 CFR 278

Legal Deadline: Final, Statutory, October 1, 1991.

Effective 120 days from publication of implementing rules.

Abstract: This rule would implement three provisions of the 1990 Farm Bill (PL 101-624, 104 stat 3359) which revise the Food Stamp Act of 1977, as amended (7 USC 2011 et seq.). The first provision would amend the definition of "food" to include meals sold to the homeless program participants by restaurants approved by State agencies for this purpose. Such restaurants must contract with the State and must be authorized by the Food and Nutrition Service to provide meals at concessional prices to homeless participants. The second provision would allow a periodic reauthorization of retail food stores and wholesale food concerns to participate in the Food Stamp Program. The third provision prohibits a firm which is primarily in the business of selling food at wholesale from being authorized as a retail food store unless failure to authorize such a firm as a retail food store would cause hardship to food stamp households.

Final Rule Stage

Legal Authority: 7 USC 2011 to 2031

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 271; 7 CFR 276; 7 CFR 278; 7 CFR 279

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The proposed rule clarifies the Department of Agriculture's policy on authorizing and educating retail grocers who take part in the Food Stamp Program. In addition, the rule sets forth changes in assigning penalties to retailers who violate program rules. The regulations clarify and emphasize the full and ongoing responsibility of retailers for their actions and the actions of their employees. Under the proposed regulations, the severity of the penalty would not be affected by any warning received by the retailer prior to an investigation. The penalty would be based on the seriousness of the violations committed during the investigation and the level of responsibility for store operations of persons who committed the violations.

233. RECIPIENT CLAIMS AND AUTOMATED DATA PROCESSING (ADP) FUNDING REQUIREMENTS FROM THE MICKEY LELAND MEMORIAL DOMESTIC HUNGER RELIEF ACT

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 7 USC 2011 to 2032; PL 101-624; PL 102-237

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 272; 7 CFR 273; 7 CFR 276; 7 CFR 277

Legal Deadline: Final, Statutory, October 1, 1991. Other, Statutory, October 1, 1990. See Abstract.

Abstract: This rule implements three provisions from PL 101-624 that affect Food Stamp recipient claims and ADP funding. For recipient claims, effective October 1, 1990, the timeframe for household election of a repayment method for intentional Program violation (IPV) claims was reduced from 30 to zero days. Also, effective October 1, 1990 for a five-year period, retention rates for collections of recipient claims for State agencies were reduced from 50 to 25 percent for IPV claims and from 25 to 10 percent for inadvertent household errors. Finally, effective October 1, 1991, the enhanced funding rate for costs of planning, designing, developing or installing ADP and information retrieval systems was reduced from 75 to 63 percent. These provisions will increase amounts of recipient claims collected and returned to the Federal Government and decrease Federal Government administrative costs. This rule will also implement a provision of PL 102-237 which concerns the timeframe for timely electing a repayment method for inadvertent household error (IHE) claims, effective December 13, 1991.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 1786

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 246

Legal Deadline: Final, Statutory, March 10, 1991.

Abstract: This regulation implements the mandates of Pub. L. 101-147, enacted November 10, 1989, relative to food cost containment in WIC. In order to achieve further savings in the cost of WIC Program foods, principally the cost of infant formula, this rule implements two major legislative provisions. First, it restates and extends into future years the provisions of P.L. 100-460, which mandated that in order to receive its grant allocation a State agency must examine the feasibility of cost containment systems by 8/30/89 and implement a cost containment system where feasible. Second, the rule requires all WIC State agencies using a retail food delivery system, except certain Indian State agencies, to employ one of two infant formula rebate procurement methods. These two methods are the competitive method (single-supplier contract) and the comparative method, where the State agency fairly compares the cost savings of any alternative form of infant formula cost containment it may wish to implement. The rebate system generating the greatest savings of those compared must then be implemented. This rule establishes specific factors to be considered in the analysis of the systems after (cont)

If the State agency can justify to FNS that the cost containment method resulting in the greatest total savings would cause demonstrable harm to the efficient and effective operation of the WIC Program, a waiver will be granted. Legal Authority: 42 USC 1786

Legal Deadline: Final, Statutory, July 1, 1990.

Abstract: This rule amends regulations governing the WIC Program to comply with mandates of Sections 123 and 213 of the Child Nutrition and WIC Reauthorization Act of 1989 (P.L. 101-147) which are not related to the allocation and use of program funds. The following major areas of WIC Program Operation are addressed in this rulemaking: adjunct income eligibility, program access, dissemination of program information, and breastfeeding promotion activities. This rule also expands State agencies discretion to mail food instruments to participants, allow certain States to implement WIC income Eligibility guidelines at the same time as Medicaid guidelines (but not later than July 1) and reduces the frequency in which all States must review their local agencies from annual to biennial. A number of minor mandates of P.L. 101-147 are also addressed in this rulemaking.

Finally, this rule incorporates into the WIC Program regulations by reference the following departmentwide rules: Uniform Administrative Requirements for Grants and Cooperative Agreements to State and Local Governments, 7 CFR 3016; and governmentwide Department and (cont)

Abstract: This action is taken to implement the mandates of P.L. 100-690, the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988.

This rule will define "drug abuse education" for the purpose of the WIC Program; require integration of drug abuse education into the nutrition education component of WIC; emphasize WIC's role in making referrals to drug abuse clinics, treatment programs, counselors, or other drug abuse professionals; and emphasize WIC's obligation to coordinate with alcohol and drug counseling programs as well as drug abuse education programs.

Abstract: This rulemaking would propose implementing regulations for the establishment of the WIC Farmers' Market Nutrition Program (FMNP) as mandated by Public Law 102-314. The FMNP is designed to provide fresh nutritious unprepared foods (such as fruits and vegetables) to WIC participants. The foods would be provided by farmers' markets and would also serve to expand the awareness and use of farmers' markets and to increase sales at such markets. The proposed rule would establish criteria for allocating grants to State agencies and for their operation of the FMNP.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: PL 101-147

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 210; 7 CFR 215; 7 CFR 220

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This regulation will modify the existing Coordinated Review Effort (CRE) to give State Agencies larger measure of flexibility when they conduct reviews, take fiscal action, and withhold payments under CRE. The final CRE, published on July 17, 1991, was perceived by some to be unnecessarily rigid in its methodology. Its requirements for overclaims based on incorrectly determined applications and/or improper counting of meals were also seen to be potentially harmful to local programs, as was the requirement that, if a school does not take effective corrective action, all program payments must be withheld until the school does take corrective action. This new regulation would limit the scope of review in those situations where preliminary findings indicate no problems. Fiscal action would be limited to the review period in most instances. States would have the authority to withhold only a portion of program payments when it is considered to be in the best interests of the program to do so. Finally, this regulation initiates an appeal procedure for schools.

255. AMENABILITY OF SPECIFIC POULTRY SPECIES UNDER THE POULTRY PRODUCTS INSPECTION ACT
Significance: Agency PriorityLegal Authority: 21 USC 451 et seq; 21 USC 601 et seqCFR Citation: 9 CFR 362; 9 CFR 381Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This advance notice of proposed rulemaking would solicit comments and recommendations regarding certain criteria FSIS is considering to determine the amenability of various species of poultry to Federal inspection. In addition, the advance notice of proposed rulemaking would solicit comments and recommendations on certain procedures FSIS is considering for requesting voluntary inspection of nonamenable poultry and certain information needed from procedures before a voluntary inspection program could be initiated. Because of increasing use of formerly wild species as animals raised for food purposes (e.g., wild turkeys), and use of biotechnology techniques to create genetic variations of traditional species, the Agency is increasingly in need of a framework for deciding when a specific food animal is subject to inspection laws. As a result of recent petitions concerning a variety of bird species, FSIS would amend the regulations to provide criteria and procedures for determining in a consistent and equitable manner the amenability of specific birds to the PPIA.

Significance: Agency PriorityLegal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seqCFR Citation: 9 CFR 309; 9 CFR 310Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the Federal meat inspection regulations by revising the current testing program for detecting violative levels of sulfonamide and antibiotic residues in bob veal calves (calves up to 3 weeks in age or 150 pounds in weight). FSIS has determined that residues in bob veal calves have reached stable occurrence. As a result, FSIS is proposing to adjust the current testing program, which involves testing levels based on an establishment's history of calf condemnations, to make it more compatible with programs for other slaughter classes which have comparable violation rates.

Legal Authority: 21 USC 451 et seq; 21 USC 601 et seqCFR Citation: 9 CFR 318; 9 CFR 381Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the Federal meat and poultry products inspection regulations to permit the use of sodium lactate and potassium lactate as means of reducing certain pathogenic microorganisms in cooked meat and poultry products, and would provide for additional protection against the growth and toxin development of Clostridia botulinum in these products. FSIS has received a petition from Oscar Mayer Foods Corporation, Madison, Wisconsin, to use these substances in various cooked meat and poultry products at levels not to exceed 4.8 percent of the formulation.

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 309; 9 CFR 320

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the Federal meat inspection regulations to permit an alternate method of ante-mortem inspection of disabled animals. This method would allow a transport vehicle to be an extension of an official establishment's premises for purposes of ante-mortem inspection of disabled animal(s) that are within the vehicle. FSIS received a request from the Western States Meat Association, Oakland, California, to allow ante-mortem inspection of disabled animals to be performed on a transport vehicle. This proposed rule would (1) specify establishment responsibilities for maintaining control over the transport vehicle, for providing proper ante-mortem inspection facilities, for complying with the veterinary disposition, and for providing assistance to the veterinary Medical Officer when performing the ante-mortem inspection; (2) prescribe the facility requirements needed for safe ante-mortem inspection of disabled animals; and (3) provide the requirements for the written request for this inspection.

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the Federal meat and poultry products inspection regulations to provide export certification of all meat and poultry products exported to foreign countries. Domestic inspectors certify that the product is USDA inspected and passed, and that all foreign requirements have been met. In 1988, the Agency conducted a pilot test to determine the feasibility of streamlining export certification procedures by centralizing controls; utilizing contemporary communications technology; establishing plant review criteria; and modifying stamping requirements. The export certification project, of which the pilot was a part,

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the poultry products inspection regulations to permit the use of tricalcium phosphate in mechanically deboned chicken during the dehydration process to preserve the color of such products. Use of tricalcium phosphate at a proposed level not to exceed 2 percent would sequester the iron present in the blood of mechanically deboned chicken during the dehydration process, thus preventing discoloration (browning) of the product. The proposed regulation is in response to a petition submitted by Henningsen Foods, Inc., Omaha, NE.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq; 21 USC 451 et seq

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend the Federal meat and poultry products inspection regulations to streamline the labeling process by eliminating the need for manufacturers to submit final label applications, provided sketch applications of such labels have been approved by the Agency. This would result in significant savings for manufacturers, as well as FSIS, while continuing to provide consumers with useful and truthful information on product labels. FSIS is reassessing its current labeling policies and the prior label approval process, and plans to initiate rulemaking on label reform as may be appropriate.

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 327; 9 CFR 381

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rule will respond to amendments to the Federal Meat Inspection Act by the Food Security Act of 1985. The amendments require that FSIS periodically certify residue control programs submitted by foreign countries desiring to export meat and poultry products to the United States and provide the Secretary with the authority to issue an order prohibiting the importation of livestock for immediate slaughter that have been administered a drug or antibiotic banned for use in the United States.

279. USE OF SODIUM LACTATE AND POTASSIUM LACTATE AS FLAVOR ENHANCERS IN MEAT AND POULTRY PRODUCTS

Legal Authority: 21 USC 451 et seq; 21 USC 601 et seq

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 318; 9 CFR 381

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rule will amend the Federal meat and poultry products inspection regulations to permit the use of sodium lactate and potassium lactate as flavoring agents and flavor enhancers in various meat and poultry products. FSIS has been petitioned by Oscar Mayer Foods Corporation, Madison, Wisconsin, and Shenandoah Products, Inc., Bridgewater, Virginia, to allow the use of these substances at a 2.0 percent level for use in preparation of meat and poultry products.

280. INCREASE IN USE LEVELS OF SODIUM CITRATE AS AN ANTICOAGULANT

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 318

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rule will amend the Federal meat inspection regulations to increase the level of sodium citrate allowed to be used as an anticoagulant in blood from 0.2 percent to 0.5 percent. FSIS has been petitioned by American Meat Protein Corporation, Ames, Iowa, to approve an increased use level of this substance as an anticoagulant in blood to 0.5 percent to facilitate the cleaning of equipment and the separation of red blood cells from plasma, as well as to improve sanitation.

Legal Authority: 21 USC 451 et seq; 21 USC 601 et seq

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 318; 9 CFR 381

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rule will provide processors of fully and partially cooked, and char-marked, uncured meat patties with specific manufacturing, handling, and labeling requirements for these products to reduce the potential for incidents of food-borne, pathogen-caused illness from consumption of inadequately cooked, uncured meat patties. This rule will also establish (1) holding temperature and time requirements for raw meat used for cooked, uncured meat patties; (2) internal temperature and time combination processing requirements for fully and partially-cooked, uncured meat patties which are char-marked with heat but remain raw; (3) a requirement that a cooking instruction be placed on the label of partially-cooked and char-marked, uncured patties, instructing the final preparer to cook the patties to a well done state (a minimum internal meat temperature of 160 degrees Fahrenheit); and (4) requirements to assure that fully-cooked, uncured meat patties are not contaminated after cooking. This action will prevent instances of illness from the consumption of such patties.

282. PFF FOR TURKEY HAM

Legal Authority: 21 USC 451 et seq

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 381

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rule will amend the poultry products inspection regulations to permit the use of added water in turkey ham. The new standard provides for several categories of products that are delineated according to the protein content on a fat-free basis. FSIS was petitioned by the National Turkey Federation, Reston, Virginia, to establish protein fat-free values for turkey ham to promote product standardization and permit producers of turkey ham to compete more equitably with pork producers. This rule will replace the current provision which limits the amount of added water and other substances contained in turkey ham products by requiring the weight of the finished product to be no more than the original weight of the turkey thigh meat used prior to curing.

Abstract: This rule amended the Federal meat and poultry products inspection regulations to provide "streamlined" inspection procedures for the reinspection of Canadian meat and poultry products and to exempt Canadian meat and poultry products offered for importation from the requirement that such product and/or containers of product be marked with the official mark of inspection once they are passed for entry into the United States. These actions stemmed from the Canada-United States Free Trade Agreement Implementation Act of 1988, Pub. L. 100-449. These actions specifically responded to one goal of the Agreement whereby both countries are charged with liberalizing agriculture trade practices by seeking ways to eliminate technical or procedural requirements which now may serve to impede trade in agricultural products.

Abstract: This rule will amend the Federal meat inspection regulations to define the term "calf" for inspection purposes, as a young bovine animal whose weight does not exceed 750 pounds live, or whose dressed carcass weight does not exceed 450 pounds. In addition, the rule will provide that certain indicators of maturity, such as teeth and bone formation, be used in conjunction with weight to determine if the animal is a "calf."

319. ● RESTORATION OF NICARAGUA TO THE LIST OF COUNTRIES ELIGIBLE TO IMPORT MEAT PRODUCTS INTO THE UNITED STATES

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq

CFR Citation: 09 CFR 327

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rule amends the Federal meat inspection regulations by listing Nicaragua as a country eligible to export its meat products from cattle, sheep, swine, and goats to the United States. On September 17, 1988, FSIS published a final rule withdrawing the country of Nicaragua from the list of countries eligible to export meat to the United States because it did not meet the requirements for exporting meat products into the United States. In April 1990, Nicaragua requested relistment as a country eligible to export meat to the United States by providing FSIS with current information on how its meat inspection system meets the provisions of the Federal Meat Inspection Act and regulations issued thereunder. Nicaragua has now demonstrated, through FSIS's eligibility process, that its meat inspection system imposes requirements at least equal to those of the United States. This action is to restore Nicaragua to the list of countries eligible to import meat products into the United States.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 21 USC 601 et seq

CFR Citation: 9 CFR 327

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rule confirms the interim rule which amended the Federal meat inspection regulations to reflect the newly recognized States of Croatia and Slovenia as continuing to be eligible to import meat products into the United States. FSIS had determined that these newly recognized States continue to be eligible to import meat products into the United States in accordance with the requirements of Part 327 of the Federal meat inspection regulations. This action clarifies that the newly recognized States of Croatia and Slovenia continue to be eligible to import meat products into the United States.

Abstract: The emphasis will be changed in 36 CFR 223.60 away from the Residual Value Appraisal method of appraising National Forest timber to the Transaction Evidence Appraisal method. The basic procedure will be the Transaction Evidence Appraisal system, except in Region 10 where Residual Value appraising will continue to be used in light of the two long-term contracts that are currently in place. Other uses of the Residual Value and other appraisal systems may be used subject to approval from the Chief of the Forest Service.

The present 36 CFR 223.60 leans heavily to the Residual Value Appraisal System. National direction has been given to convert to the Transaction Evidence Appraisal system by October 1, 1992; thus the emphasis in the CFR needs to be changed.

Abstract: Except where specifically provided for, the Wilderness Act (16 USC 1133) prohibits both motorized equipment and mechanical transport. Mechanical transport includes devices such as bicycles, hang gliders, wheeled carts, and other items designed to carry people or supplies and powered by either "nonliving" or "living" power sources. The objective of this action is to clarify the definition of mechanical transport in 36 CFR 293.6(a) and to make corollary revisions in the prohibitions applicable to wilderness use, including prohibiting competitive events and expanding the definition of aircraft to include hang gliders, parachutes and parasails. Legal Authority: 16 USC 551; 43 USC 1761

Abstract: A revision of Agency procedures is needed to reduce confusion regarding the role of the Forest Service in permitting hydroelectric uses on National Forest System lands. The goal of the directives will be to establish procedures, compatible with the procedures of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) for obtaining various approvals and involvement of the Forest Service in a timely manner.

In addition, the directives will establish a fee system for hydroelectric uses as required by Title V, Section 501 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976. A Notice of Proposed Policy was published 6/8/84 and comments were received. The proposed policy will take those comments into account.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 16 USC 478; 16 USC 551; 43 USC 1701 et seq

Abstract: Since the regulations were promulgated in 1974, certain legal requirements have changed due to the provisions of the Wilderness Act and recent court decisions; some sections of the regulations no longer apply and revisions and updating are necessary. Major changes proposed will specifically address the requirements for wilderness operations and, secondly, will clarify the mechanism for administering locatable mineral activities not conducted on mining claims but which are nevertheless authorized by the 1872 mining law.

Abstract: The rules at 36 CFR part 261 declare the range of unacceptable public behavior when visiting or using National Forest System lands. Among topics covered are prohibitions on setting campfires in certain areas, unlawful cutting of trees, and other unlawful uses of resources and property of the National Forest System. Violations of these prohibitions carry legal penalties. The rules at 36 CFR part 262 address impoundment of property and rewards for information leading to arrest.

Review has examined the adequacy of the rules for administration of the National Forest System and whether changes in conditions, laws, or other factors require revision. The Agency has completed its review and is now preparing a proposed rule to revise the prohibitions.

341. REVISE SMALL TRACTS ACT REGULATIONS

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 16 USC 521(c) to 521(i)

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 254, subpart C

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Implementation of the Agency's Small Tracts regulations has revealed an inadvertent inconsistency between the regulations at 36 CFR 254.35(f) and 254.41(a) and the legislative history of the Small Tracts Act of January 12, 1983. The regulations imply that the disposal of mineral fractions by sale can only be made in response to an application from an abutting landowner, thus discouraging the conveyance by sale to the public. The Act clearly authorizes sale of mineral fractions to the public through public sale, as well as individual applications, provided that certain conditions are met. The revisions will clarify the application of the Act to ensure that both individual applications and public sale are permissible means of disposing of qualifying tracts.

342. REVISE RULES GOVERNING SPECIAL USES OF NATIONAL FOREST SYSTEM LANDS AND RESOURCES AT 36 CFR 251 TO REMOVE AMBIGUITIES REGARDING FIRST AMENDMENT RIGHTS

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 16 USC 472; 16 USC 551; 18 USC 1134; 16 USC 3210; 30 USC 185; 43 USC 1740; 43 USC 1761 to 1771

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 251, subpart A; 36 CFR 251, subpart B; 36 CFR 251, subpart E (New); 36 CFR 251, subpart F (New)

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: A Federal District Court has ruled that existing regulations discriminate against groups who wish to gather on National Forests to exercise their first amendment rights of assembly and free speech. The proposed rule will seek to remove ambiguities regarding these first amendment rights.

The Agency is reviewing the rules of other Federal land managing agencies for possible approaches and is considering establishing separate rules for authorizing short-term, noncommercial uses of National Forests.

There will be no additional costs as a result of the proposed rule change. The benefit will be that the Forest Service will be able to adequately regulate large group use on the National Forests in a manner that ensures protection of the public health and safety and National Forest resources.

Abstract: This rule has been reviewed as required by USDA Departmental Regulation 1512-1. The review indicates a need to revise the rule to clarify the roles of Federal and State officials in the enforcement of laws and regulations for the protection of wildlife, to add legal authorities and to revise terminology pertaining to wildlife and enforcement of wildlife laws and regulations. 344. HELLS CANYON NATIONAL RECREATION AREA—PRIVATE LANDS

Legal Authority: PL 94-199, Sec 10(a)

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 292, subpart E (New)

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Forest Service proposes to issue regulations concerning use of private lands in the Hells Canyon National Recreation Area (HCNRA) on the Oregon-Idaho border, as required in Pub. L. 94-199. The intended effect of this action is to establish standards for use and development of privately owned lands within the HCNRA.

The standards are intended to achieve the following management objectives for the Recreation Area: (1) conservation and continuance of forest land for forest uses and farm land for farm uses; (2) maintenance and protection of the free flowing nature of rivers within the HCNRA; (3) conservation of scenic, wilderness, cultural, scientific, and other values contributing to the public benefit; (4) preservation, especially in the area generally known as Hells Canyon, of all features and peculiarities believed to be biologically unique; (5) protection and maintenance of fish and wildlife habitat; (6) protection of archaeological and paleontological sites; (7) preservation of historic sites associated with and typifying the economic and social history of the region (cont)

Abstract: In a 1987 court decision, a letter of credit issued in lieu of surety bond was found to be unenforceable because the person who signed the letter of credit did not have authority to do so and because the bank had violated State law in regard to limits of liability. Others were invalid because they exceeded the expiration date. To remedy this problem, the Forest Service is proposing to issue a requirement that the bank president certify as to the authority of the person signing the letter of credit and the conformance with

State and Federal statutes. An automatic extension of the expiration date would also be required.

Legal Authority: PL 100-446, Sec 323; 30 USC 601; 30 USC 603

Abstract: This regulation is a direct response to the direction in Section 323 of Public Law 100-446 which classified quartz mineral on the Ouachita National Forest in Arkansas as no longer subject to location under the General Mining Law of 1872. These materials are now to be managed in the same manner as common varieties of mineral materials under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Agriculture. Publication of this proposal is being delayed until publication of the final rule defining common variety mineral materials (RIN 0596-AA44).

347. PRE-AWARD INFORMATION REQUIREMENTS

Legal Authority: 16 USC 472(a); 16 USC 618

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 223.101

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Recently, as the number of timber sale defaults has increased, the number of debarred purchasers has increased, and the Government has initiated a policy of only doing business with responsible parties, it is becoming commonplace for bidders to form new affiliates in order to continue to be awarded Forest Service timber sale contracts. Unless the bidder voluntarily identifies affiliates, the Agency must make the determination through a time consuming process prior to award, prior to determining if double downpayment rules apply, and prior to taking debarment action. This rule would require bidders to disclose, prior to award of sales, all affiliates, and to certify that none are suspended or debarred. Filing false claims would be cause for contract cancellation and debarment action.

348. EXPANDED USE OF PROSPECTING PERMITS AND PREFERENCE RIGHT SALES FOR MINERAL MATERIALS

Legal Authority: 30 USC 601 et seq

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 228, subpart C

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Currently rules pertaining to prospecting permits and preference right negotiated sales apply only to minerals on acquired National Forest lands. This limitation is felt to encourage parties to locate mining claims on other National Forest lands under the mining laws of 1872, when it would be more appropriate to apply for a sale of mineral materials. This proposed rule would expand the use of prospecting permits to other National Forest System lands and responds to a recent change in the definition of mineral materials and clarification of those minerals that are subject to mining claims and those that are subject to sale.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 472; 16 USC 551

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 251, subpart C

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The current rules at 36 CFR part 251 subpart C provide appeal procedures for holders of or certain applicants for land use and occupancy authorizations. Experience under this rule indicates a need to revise the rule as to purpose and scope and appealable decision. Questions have arisen on whether terms and conditions of the permit and routine administration of the permit by the Forest Service are appealable. In addition, the rule is silent on administrative review of decisions regarding recomputation of timber volume shares for small timber purchasers and decisions related to determination for the need for structural changes in a market area under the Small Business Timber Set Aside program. This rulemaking will seek to address the problems.

352. SPECIES SURPLUS TO DOMESTIC MANUFACTURING NEEDS

Legal Authority: 16 USC 620 et seq

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 223.200

Abstract: This proposed rule would amend subpart F, part 223 of title 36 of the Code of Federal Regulations, section 223.200, to list species proposed to be surplus to domestic manufacturing needs.

This proposed rule would implement a portion of section 489(b) of the Forest Resources Conservation and Shortage Relief Act of 1990 (16 USC 620 et seq). Section 489(a) of the Act provides that no person who acquires unprocessed timber originating from Federal lands west of the 100th meridian in the contiguous 48 States may export such timber from the United States, or sell, trade, exchange or otherwise convey such timber from the United States, unless such timber has been determined under subsection (b) to be surplus to the needs of timber manufacturing facilities in the United States. Section 489(b) of the Act provides that the prohibition contained in subsection (a) shall not apply to specific quantities of grades and species of unprocessed timber originating in Federal lands which the Secretary concerned determines to be surplus to domestic manufacturing needs, issued in accordance with section 553 of title 5, USC.

Abstract: The proposed manual policy would incorporate all direction for land and resource management planning into one Forest Service Manual chapter (FSM 1920). The proposed policy would clarify how the revised land and resource management planning regulations at 36 CFR 219 will be implemented. The proposal will focus on implementation of forest plans; monitoring, evaluation, amendment, and revision of forest plans; and clarifying the relationship between forest planning and project decisionmaking. Abstract: The sport of rock climbing is often accomplished by using fixed, rather than removable, metal bolts and anchors. These bolts are considered permanent improvements when installed. These improvements may detract from the wilderness experience and are not always compatible with management of the wilderness resource. The Forest Service proposes to reduce impacts on the wilderness resource by regulating use of fixed anchors for rock climbing in wilderness administered by the agency so that rock climbing occurs in a manner compatible with wilderness management. Alternatives to the proposed action are to prohibit all use of fixed anchors in wilderness, or permit unrestricted use of fixed anchors.

Abstract: The Forest Service proposes to amend the regulations governing the use and occupancy of National Forest System lands to minimize application expenses, streamline and make more efficient environmental analysis of special use proposals, provide the ability to use one-time payments for easements as presently used in the market place, limit certain liability requirements to amounts determined by a risk assessment, make certain definitions more explicit, and clarify direction on renewal of existing special use regulations. The intended effect is to reduce costs to proponents and the agency, expedite decisionmaking, and administer authorizations in a more "user friendly" manner by removing certain requirements deemed unnecessary and/or outdated.

Abstract: The Forest Service proposes to strengthen the Government's contract financial position by: the elimination of the $500,000 performance bond ceiling; increasing the bid guarantee to 10 percent of the advertised value; assessing damages for contract repudiation based on resale value; and conditions. In addition, the Forest Service is proposing to increase the amount of contract security to deter speculative bidding, decrease the potential for contract defaulting, and provide additional guarantee for payment in the event of default damage claims. Abstract: Objectives are to set forth Forest Service procedures and role in the regulation of Indian allotments on National Forest System land. The Indian Allotment Act, as amended, authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to make allotments of National Forest System lands to Indians for homesteading and agricultural and grazing purposes. The Forest Service has relied upon USDI rules and procedures at 43 CFR 2533 to govern its involvement in Indian allotment cases. Litigation and a decision by the Interior Board of Land Appeals indicate the need for the Forest Service to set forth its own regulations when the Forest Service determines that lands are not chiefly valuable for agricultural and grazing purposes.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 31 USC 9301 to 9309; 31 USC 223 to 225

CFR Citation: None

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Following a period of high-priced timber sales bid prior to 1982, the Forest Service experienced a number of contract defaults on these sales. Subsequently, the Forest Service has had difficulty collecting from some sureties on the bonds guaranteeing performance on these sales. As part of a financial security initiative affecting future sales, the Forest Service is proposing to revise the payment and performance bonds to clarify surety's obligation in regard to what is being guaranteed, when payment is due in case of default, what additional charges will be assessed if payment is not made when due and when collection action may be suspended. Other alternatives include eliminating surety bonds as a form of security, reducing surety guarantee to mid-point and periodic payment and retention of current bond forms. Upon adoption the final revised bond forms will be issued for use by Forest Service Contracting and Fiscal Officers for future timber sale contracts.

Abstract: The policy for administering recreation residences on National Forest lands was adopted August 16, 1988 (53 FR 30924) and subsequently appealed under the administrative appeal process (36 CFR 211.18). In rendering his decision on the appeal the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture for Natural Resources and Environment suspended certain provisions related to tenure and the offering of in-lieu sites; designated the remaining features interim policy; and directed the Chief of the Forest Service to review and reconsider the entire policy (54 FR 23499; June 1, 1989). The policy is being reformulated and consideration given to public comments received. The purpose of the policy is to improve the administration of recreation residence permits and implement a revised fee schedule that obtains fair market value for the use. The policy affects about 15,800 permittees.

RIN: 0596-AB06364. HELLS CANYON NATIONAL RECREATION AREA—USE OF NATIONAL FOREST LANDS*Significance: Agency PriorityLegal Authority: 16 USC 460(gg) Hells Canyon National Recreation AreaCFR Citation: 36 CFR 292, subpart F (New)Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In Oregon Natural Resource Council v Lyng, the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the Secretary must promulgate regulations as required by the Hells Canyon National Recreation Act (HCNRA) governing federal and private land uses in the HCNRA. The Department had argued that such rules were discretionary and the Agency's comprehensive management plan for the NRA, which was prepared as required by the Act, was sufficient to guide management of the area. As a result of the court's ruling, the risk of litigation to halt ongoing activities, particularly timber sales, is high. Accordingly, there is an urgent need to promulgate an interim rule governing management of the federal lands in the HCNRA. While many existing regulations governing National Forest System lands remain applicable to the Hells Canyon NRA, pending projects and plans are vulnerable to continued litigation until final rules are effective. An interim rule is the most expeditious way to effect rules. Public comment will be invited on the interim rule and will be considered in development of the final rule. (cont)

Additional Information: ABSTRACT CONT: The only alternative to the court ruling to promulgate rules is to publish a proposed rule rather than interim rules. This is unacceptable because of the potential for disruption to management of the area and the regulatory void that would be created by the longer timeframes involved in going through a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 43 USC 1764

CFR Citation: None

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Forest Service is proposing a policy and implementing guidelines to address below-cost timber sale programs on individual National Forests. The policy would be issued to Forest Service field employees, would address the costs and revenues associated with the management of National Forest timber sale programs, and would require use of the Timber Sale Program Information Reporting System to assess each National Forest timber sale program.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 16 USC 551; 16 USC 472

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 217

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This final rule establishes procedures to require notice and opportunity to comment on certain proposed Forest Service actions for which an environmental assessment and finding of no significant impact are prepared. In addition, the rule revises the Agency's administrative appeal process at 36 CFR part 217 to limit appeals to only final decisions approving, revising, or significantly amending a national forest land and resource management plan. The intended effect is to expand opportunities for predecisional involvement of the public in Forest Service decisionmaking, achieve administrative efficiencies in Agency decisionmaking, reduce the uncertainty for communities and workers dependent upon Forest Service goods and services by minimizing delay in providing a stable supply of resources, remove impediments to economic growth arising from the current appeals process, and provide a reasonable assurance that the Forest Service has the ability to carry out programs authorized and funded by Congress.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 16 USC 2101 et seq

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 230

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This final rule would incorporate any changes resulting from public comments on the interim rule published December 4, 1991. The interim rule established the interim procedures for administration of the Stewardship Incentive Program. The Program is intended to encourage private landowners, through cost-share assistance, to manage their forest lands for economic, environmental, and social benefits. Only two alternatives were considered in detail: (1) to implement the Program in accordance with 16 USC 2101, et seq, and (2) not to implement the Program, in which case there would be no accelerated program for multiple resource management on nonindustrial private forest lands. The overall effects of the Program over time will be environmentally beneficial by enhancing wetlands, wildlife habitat, forest health, forest productivity, and recreation. The Program will help meet future demand for commodity and noncommodity forest resources. There are no potential negative impacts anticipated for the Program.

369. ● VIABILITY OF SPECIES IN FOREST PLANNING

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1600 et seq

CFR Citation: 36 CFR 219.19

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rulemaking would make explicit the Department's longstanding interpretation of its National Forest Management Act (NFMA) regulation that, for species listed under the Endangered Species Act (ESA), the requirements of the ESA supersede the requirement in the NFMA regulations that fish and wildlife habitat on National Forests be managed "to maintain viable populations of native and desired non-native vertebrate species." A recent court ruling contradicted this interpretation and stated that the Forest Service must develop viability standards under the NFMA regulation for threatened and endangered species. The alternative to issuing this proposed rule is to take no action. The result of no action is likely to be further court rulings requiring the Forest Service to manage listed species under two separate standards, a viability standard developed under the NFMA regulation and the requirements of the ESA.

418. FARMLAND PROTECTION POLICY ACT

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 7 USC 4201

CFR Citation: 7 CFR 658

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This proposed rule amends part 658 of title 7 of the Code of Federal Regulations, which implements the Farmland Protection Policy Act (FPPA), 7 USC 4201-4209. Congress amended the FPPA through section 1255 of the Food Security Act of 1985, Pub. L. 99-198. The proposed amendments contained in this proposed rule will: (1) Remove definitions from the existing rule that restated the act; (2) remove the applicability and exemption section that restated the Act; (3) remove the "Technical Assistance" section that restated the requirements of the Act; (4) require Federal agencies to return a copy of the "Farmland Impact Rating Form AD-1006," to USDA once the final decision is made on a proposed conversion, and inform USDA of progress in reviewing and revising their policy and procedures to protect farmland. This information will be used to make the annual report to Congress as required in the 1985 amendments to FPPA. Since the elimination of these sections of the existing rule was not included in the 1987 proposed rule, and the fact that almost 4 years have passed since the proposed rule, this proposed rule is being published for additional public comments.

Semiannual Agenda of Regulations

AGENCY: Office of the Secretary, Commerce.

ACTION: October 1992 regulatory agenda.

SUMMARY: In compliance with Executive Order (E.O.) 12291 entitled "Federal Regulation" and the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96-354), the Department of Commerce, in April and October of each year, publishes in the Federal Register an agenda of the rulemaking actions covered by section 1 of E.O. 12291 that the Department plans to conduct or review over the next 12 months. Rulemaking actions are grouped according to prerulemaking, proposed rules, final rules, and rulemaking actions completed since the April 1992 agenda. The purpose of the agenda is to provide information to the public on regulations currently under review, being proposed, or issued by the Department. The agenda is intended to facilitate comments and views by interested members of the public.

The Department's October 1992 regulatory agenda includes regulatory activities that are expected to be conducted during the period October 1, 1992, through September 30, 1993.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Specific: For additional information about specific regulatory actions listed in the agenda, contact the individual identified as the contact person.

General: Comments or inquiries of a general nature about the agenda should be directed to Michael A. Levitt, Assistant General Counsel for Legislation and Regulation, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, DC 20230; telephone: 202-482-0846.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: E.O.

12291 requires all executive agencies to publish semiannually an agenda of those regulations that are under consideration pursuant to this order. By memorandum of June 11, 1992, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) issued guidelines and procedures for the preparation and publication of the October 1992 Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations. E.O. 12291 and the OMB guidelines require that each agency's agenda report the following information on nonexempt regulatory activities being conducted or planned to be conducted by the agency during the 12-month period succeeding publication: The title of the regulation; the name, title, address, and phone number of an agency person who is knowledgeable about the regulation; whether the action is expected to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities and whether it will affect levels of government; the section(s) of the Code of Federal Regulations which will affect or be affected by the action; the section of the United States Code, Public Law, or Executive order that authorizes the action; an indication of whether or not the entry is a significant regulatory action included in the Administration's Regulatory Program and if the agency considers it a priority action; an abstract describing the problem the regulation addresses, alternatives to the regulation being considered, and potential costs and benefits of the action; legal deadline, if any; and a timetable of dates and, if available, Federal Register citations for past stages of the action. In addition, OMB requires that procurement-related regulatory actions include additional information on all actions that are covered by section 22 of the Office of Federal Procurement Policy Act Amendments of 1988. This information will be used by the Office of Federal Procurement Policy in preparing the "Procurement Regulatory Activity Report."

The Regulatory Flexibility Act requires agencies to prepare a regulatory flexibility analysis where there is a positive finding that a rule will have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. E.O. 12291 requires agencies to prepare a regulatory impact analysis for any regulation considered to be a "major rule" as defined in the order.

Explanation of Information Contained in the Agenda

Within the Department, the Office of the Secretary and various operating units may issue regulations. Operating units, such as the Economic Development Administration, the Bureau of Export Administration, the International Trade Administration, the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST), the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), and the Patent and Trademark Office, issue the greatest share of the Department's regulations.

A large number of regulatory actions reported in the agenda are proposed or final Federal Information Processing Standards (FIPS) issued by NIST under Public Law 100-235. FIPS consist of standards and guidelines to improve Federal Government use and management of computers and information technology. The standards, while often of great use to industry and the public, apply only to the Federal Government. In developing the standards and guidelines and in providing technical guidance and coordination to Federal agencies, NIST works closely with private industry standard-setting organizations.

Another large number of regulatory actions reported in the agenda deal with fishery management programs of NOAA's National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS). To avoid repetition of programs and definitions, as well as to provide some understanding of the technical and institutional elements of the NMFS programs, a section on "Explanation of Information Contained in NMFS Regulatory Entries" is provided below.

Explanation of Information Contained in NMFS Regulatory Entries

The Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act of 1976 (16 U.S.C. 1801 et seq.) (Act) governs the management of fisheries within the Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ). The EEZ refers to those waters from the outer edge of the State boundaries, generally 3 nautical miles, to a distance of 200 nautical miles. Fishery Management Plans (FMPs) are to be prepared for fisheries which require conservation and management measures. Regulations implementing these FMPs regulate domestic fishing and foreign fishing where permitted.

DOC

Foreign fishing can be conducted in a fishery for which there is no FMP only if a preliminary fishery management plan has been issued to govern that foreign fishing. Under the Act, eight Regional Fishery Management Councils (Councils) prepare FMPs or amendments to FMPs for fisheries within their respective areas. In the development of such plans or amendments and their implementing regulations, the Councils are required by law to conduct public hearings on the draft plans and to consider the use of alternative means of regulating.

The Council process for developing FMPs and amendments makes it difficult for NMFS to determine the significance of some regulatory actions under consideration at the time the semiannual regulatory agenda is published. Frequently, NMFS does not have specific plan objectives or alternatives for management, since the Councils may not have approved or submitted plans to the Secretary of Commerce for review, adoption, and implementation.

The DOC October 1992 regulatory agenda follows.

423. CONTRACT CLAUSES AND SOLICITATION PROVISIONS FOR THE COMMERCE AUTOMATED SOLICITATION SYSTEMLegal Authority: 41 USC 251 et seq; PL 98-369; PL 98-577CFR Citation: 48 CFR 1301 to 1353Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Department of Commerce is currently reviewing standardized contract clauses and solicitation provisions for inclusion in a planned departmentwide automated solicitation system. A proposed amendment to the Commerce Acquisition Regulation (CAR) would illustrate and incorporate these standardized clauses and provisions. This should ultimately be less burdensome to Department contractors and potential contractors, since the clauses and provisions would be used uniformly throughout the Department.

Abstract: The proposed amendment will revise the CAR to incorporate references to the Department's Acquisition Manual chapter on formal source selection procedures and will also add agency procedures in those areas of the CAR where the FAR specifies that agency procedures are required. In addition, the proposed amendment will update the CAR to conform with the latest policies and procedures of the FAR.

425. MODIFY REQUIREMENT IN THE COMMERCE ACQUISITION REGULATION TO PUBLISH PRESOLICITATION NOTICES IN THE COMMERCE BUSINESS DAILY FOR DOC PROCUREMENTS WHICH WILL BE PERFORMED IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES

Legal Authority: 41 USC 251 et seq

CFR Citation: 48 CFR 1305

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Revise the Commerce Acquisition Regulation, part 5 to reflect class deviation that presolicitation Commerce Business Daily notices are not required for foreign procurements. The current procedures are burdensome and delay the procurements needlessly. Most of the potential sources are foreign firms and publishing the presolicitation notices does not achieve government goals of increasing competition among U.S. firms. The revised regulation will require notices to be provided if there are a significant number of U.S. firms doing business in the location and these firms are able to provide the required supplies or services.

426. MODIFY THE COMMERCE ACQUISITION REGULATION TO USE A DEVIATION VERSION OF A FEDERAL ACQUISITION REGULATION CLAUSE ON THE BUY AMERICAN TRADE AGREEMENT ACTS

Legal Authority: 41 USC 251 et seq

CFR Citation: 48 CFR 1325; 48 CFR 1352

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Revise the Commerce Acquisition Regulation to authorize the use of a contract clause which deviates from the FAR Clause at 52.225-9 "Buy American Act-Trade Agreements Act-Balance of Payments Program" and the provision at 52.225-7 "Buy American Act-Trade Agreement Act-Balance of Payment Program Certificate." The revision will permit the case of a provision and clause which does not give U.S. firms a disadvantage against foreign firms. Recently the FAR provision and clause were found to be in violation of the Trade Agreement Act. The proposed CAR Regulation will remain in effect only until the FAR is revised to correct this problem. The rule is in accord with the governmentwide policies established by the Office of Federal Procurement Policy.

427. BENCHMARK SURVEY OF FOREIGN DIRECT INVESTMENT IN THE UNITED STATES—1992

Legal Authority: 22 USC 3101 to 3108 Int'l Investment & Trade in Svcs Survey Act

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 806

Legal Deadline: Other, Statutory, January 1993.

It is a statutory requirement that a benchmark survey covering 1992 be conducted. Efficient conduct of that survey requires final rules be effective in January 1993.

Abstract: This action will amend existing rule 15 CFR 806.17 to provide for the conduct of the BE-12, Benchmark Survey of Foreign Direct Investment in the United States -- 1992, as required in the International Investment and Trade in Services Survey Act, 22 USC 3101 to 3108 (see especially section 4(b) of the Act). The existing rule covers a similar survey for 1987 which has been completed and which the new survey will update. The proposed rule raises the exemption level for reporting on the long form to $50 million, from $20 million in the 1987 survey. Also, a separate report form for foreign-owned U.S. banks is added, to clarify reporting requirements and reduce the need for follow-up contact.

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Review of 15 CFR 30 for changes to conform to the harmonized system for imports and exports as mandated by The Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1988. This review will combine elements of housekeeping changes, updating obsolete information, clarification, conforming to the harmonized system (including metric measurements) and bringing the system in line with current reporting practices. There should be no added burden or costs to the public because there are no additional information or reporting requirements.

The benefits of these changes will be to allow direct comparisons between U.S. imports and exports and to allow comparisons between trade balances of the United States and its major trading partners.

Additionally, section 30.54 will be revised to raise the exemption from Shipper's Export Declaration filing requirements for exports by mail from $500 to $2500. This will reduce the reporting burden on the public, particularly small shippers.

Legal Authority: 13 USC 301 to 307

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 30.20 to 30.24

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Census Bureau proposes to change the Foreign Trade Statistics Regulations to require the collection of SEDs for shipments from the United States to Puerto Rico in Puerto Rico. In addition, the U.S. Customs Service will revise their regulations in order to implement this change. In order to ensure compliance with the new regulations, the Puerto Rico Planning Board will fund positions in the Census Bureau Office and the U.S. Customs Service Office in Puerto Rico.

Data users will benefit through improved quality and completeness of the data for shipments from the United States to Puerto Rico. The Census Bureau does not anticipate any change in reporting burden from these revisions or any significant cost impact on the exporting community.

433. ● CHANGE IN THE DEFINITION OF "GENERAL USE" SOFTWARE FROM TECHNICAL DATA TO COMMODITY

Legal Authority: 13 USC 301 to 307

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 30.1

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Census Bureau proposes to change the definition of "General Use" software from technical data to commodity. This will involve changes to the Foreign Trade Statistics Regulations. "General Use" Software as a commodity will be valued on the transaction value and will be included in the merchandise trade statistics.

This will complement data collected in surveys by the Bureau of Economic Analysis on software as a service transaction. There will be some increase in reporting burden on exporters.

445. UNIFORM ADMINISTRATIVE REQUIREMENTS FOR GRANTS AND COOPERATIVE AGREEMENTS TO STATE AND LOCAL GOVERNMENTS

Legal Authority: 5 USC 301

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 24

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: On June 9, 1987, a notice of a proposed rule establishing governmentwide administrative requirements for grants and cooperative agreements to States and local governments was published in the Federal Register (52 FR 21820-21862). On March 11, 1988, a final rule was published in the Federal Register (53 FR 8033-8103) and was made effective October 1, 1988. Subsequently, a November 4, 1988 NPRM was published in the Federal Register (53 FR 44715-44819) that proposed to amend the common rule to incorporate requirements for grantees that are universities or nonprofit organizations. Based on comments received in response to the NPRM, however, OMB published a notice (55 FR 45289-45290) cancelling plans for such changes. Currently, an interagency task force is now in the process of updating and revising the requirements for States and local governments, and Commerce regulations published at 15 CFR 24 will be amended to accommodate these modifications.

Abstract: On July 12, 1985, the Export Administration Amendments Act of 1985 (PL 99-64) extended and amended the Export Administration Act of 1979 (50 USC app 2401, et seq.)(EAA). Certain changes were made to the Short Supply provisions of section 7 of the EAA. Accordingly, revision of the Short Supply provisions (15 CFR 777) and related licensing requirements (15 CFR 771 and 799) of the Export Administration Regulations (15 CFR 730-799) is necessary. An interim final rule was issued which included (1) elimination of the validated licensing requirement for exports of refined petroleum products so as to permit their export with certain restrictions under a general license; (2) a new definition of "crude oil" for purposes of the regulation; and (3) certain technical and housekeeping changes. There are no costs associated with this action which would promote the export of decontrolled products.

Abstract: The Defense Priorities and Allocations System (DPAS) implements the priorities and allocations authority of Title I of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and the priorities authority of section 18 of the Selective Service Act of 1948. The DPAS was published as a final rule on July 30, 1984. Based on the findings and recommendations of an interagency sponsored study concerning the controlled materials program, and comments from both defense agency and industry users, this proposed rule would amend the DPAS to remove the controlled materials provisions and make certain revisions to its procedural requirements. These amendments will have no costs associated with them, would reduce the regulatory and information reporting burden on industry and make the DPAS more effective and efficient, and would result in cost savings for defense contractors.

Abstract: In accordance with section 5(a)(A) of the EAA, as amended by the 1988 Trade Act, this rule revises section 776.12 of the EAR to reduce export and reexport controls on U.S.-origin parts and components incorporated in foreign-made products. Under section 776.12 prior authorization is not required when U.S.-origin content comprises 25 percent or less and the foreign-made product is exported to a country listed in Supplements 2 and 3 to Part 773, i.e., countries cooperating in nuclear non-proliferation policy. This interim rule revises section 776.12 to apply the 25 percent exemption to all destinations, except the embargoed countries. The 10 percent exemption, but not the dollar value limitation, is continued for these proscribed destinations. The rule also exempts from control foreign-made products incorporating U.S.-origin content consisting of low level technology specifically designated on the Commodity Control List.

Abstract: Section 5(b)(3)(A) of the Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1988 (OTCA) requires the removal of national security based licensing requirements on all exports to Free World countries. Commodities that are covered by this provision are those described in the Advisory Notes in the Commodity Control List that indicate likelihood of approval for Country Groups QWY.

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 769Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Department proposes to revise the foreign boycott provisions of the Export Administration Regulations. The revisions would clarify the application of: (1) the intent provision to the reporting requirement; (2) the jurisdictional requirements relating to the implementation of letters of credit; (3) the furnishing information prohibitions to information about the nationality of directors and about blacklisted persons; (4) the shipping requirement exception to refusals to use blacklisted vessels; and (5) the import and shipping document exception to information about the nationality of carriers and residence of manufacturers or suppliers. The revisions are intended to clarify areas of confusion. In addition, the proposal would remove many references and provisions dealing with effective dates and grace periods that are no longer applicable.

Abstract: The interim rule created a new general license GCT that permitted license-free shipment to COCOM member countries, with certain conditions and exceptions. Two subsequent rules removed almost all restrictions, creating a true license-free zone, and allowed most national security-based reexports from COCOM member countries without prior U.S. authorizations.

Abstract: Section 786.3(h) of the Export Administration Regulations contains certain requirements for listing commodities on the Shipper's Export Declaration (SED). Previously, section 786.3(h)(1) contained a general prohibition against combining general license commodities with validated license commodities on the same SED. This interim rule will amend section 786.3(h) to permit general license commodities and validated license commodities to be listed on the SED. The rule also will revise section 786.3(h) to clarify that the commodities that may be listed on the same SED must be included in one shipment on board a single carrier and must be from the same exporter to the same consignee.

Abstract: The Bureau of Export Administration is revising section 771.18 of the Export Administration Regulations (15 CFR parts 768-799), which contains provisions on the applicability of General License GIFT for exports from the United States. General License GIFT authorizes export of parcels from U.S. individuals or charitable organizations overseas. General License GIFT is modified to allow no more than one gift parcel from the same donor to the same donee in any one month. Currently, one parcel may be shipped each week. This change is intended to assure that the license is utilized in conformity with its intended purpose, namely the donative provision of gifts between individuals. Specific authorization to exceed this limit may be granted on a case-by-case basis to meet compelling humanitarian concerns (e.g., gifts of medicine to relatives). The Bureau of Export Administration will grant case-by-case exemptions through issuance of a validated license. For clarity, new text is added on appropriateness of items as gifts.

Abstract: The Bureau of Export Administration is amending the Export Administration Regulations to convert units of weight and measure to the metric system. This brings BXA into compliance with the 1988 Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act, which amends the Metric Conversion Act of 1975 to authorize the conversion of the weights and measures of "all U.S. trade and commerce" and all Federal agencies to the metric system. It also reflects the current situation of international trade, which is conducted almost exclusively in the metric system. Much of this was accomplished by the publications of the Core list in the fall of 1991.

nations of the Coordinating Committee (COCOM). COCOM has agreed to replace the Industrial List with a totally new "Core List." The Core List will be arranged and numbered differently. Since the CCL is now based on the Industrial List Numbering System, the entire CCL will have to be reformatted to adapt to the new system. The new list incorporates format changes to make it easier to use. While exporters will have to make major changes in their systems to adjust to a totally new control list, they should also benefit from a tighter, more specific list and an improved format that will simplify the process of determining export controls on their products.

Abstract: The COCOM Industrial List (IL) controls so-called dual-use items, which have both civil and military uses. There is not a direct correspondence between the IL and BXA's Commodity Control List (CCL) because some IL items are controlled by the State Department in the U.S. munitions list.

In his November 15, 1990 memorandum of disapproval of H.R. 4653 the President determined that, "By June 1, 1991 the United States will remove from the U.S. munitions list all items contained on the COCOM dual-use list unless significant U.S. national security interests would be jeopardized." This rule will implement BXA controls through the CCL on those items removed from the U.S. munitions list as a result of the President's decision.

Abstract: In support of U.S. policies opposing the proliferation and use of chemical weapons the Department expanded foreign policy controls on exports of certain chemical weapons precursors (i.e., chemicals that can be used in the manufacture of chemical weapons). This rule expands the number of countries for which a validated license is required for 39 precursor chemicals. These chemicals will require a validated license for export to all destinations except NATO member countries, Australia, Austria, Ireland, Japan, New Zealand, and Switzerland.

Abstract: The Department is amending the EAR in support of U.S. nonproliferation policies. This interim rule imposes foreign policy controls on certain exports by providing authority to deny most items already requiring a validated license where the export could be destined for the design, development, production, or use of missiles or chemical or biological weapons, or for a facility engaged in such activities. The rule also imposes foreign policy controls on exports to specified destinations, where the exporter knows the item may be related to such purposes or be destined to such sites. The rule also restricts related activities of U.S. persons or their activities at certain sites and groups regulations relating to weapons proliferation in newly designated part 778.

Abstract: The Distribution License is a Special License issued to about 150 exporters, allowing exports of pre-approved goods to pre-approved consignees without regard for quantity or value. This procedure allows firms that are willing to adopt rigorous control regimes to supply their regular customers without the burden of repetitively applying for export licenses. The Distribution License places limits on the levels of computers (one of the main products shipped under the Distribution License), which vary with the destination. With advances in computer technology, the levels allowed had begun to restrict use of the Distribution License and hamper the competitiveness of license holders. BXA consulted other concerned agencies to determine the appropriate levels of computer performance, consistent with advances in technology and concerns for national security and nonproliferation. On May 1, 1992, BXA published a rule that expanded substantially the ability of Distribution License holders to export computers, to the extent that supercomputers are now eligible for 12 countries.

Abstract: The United States maintains foreign policy-based embargoes on exports to a few countries. In recent years, these embargoes, imposed under the Trading With the Enemy Act, have applied to Cuba, Vietnam, North Korea, and Cambodia. In the case of Cambodia, the embargo was due to the military occupation of that country by Vietnam and the unrest among various factions in Cambodia. With the comprehensive political settlement of the Cambodian conflict, the President directed lifting of the trade embargo. BXA consulted with the Department of State to determine the effect on export controls of lifting the embargo. As a result, the country was placed in a control grouping that allows most goods to be exported without the need to apply for a license, but requires potentially sensitive goods to be screened through the licensing process to prevent unauthorized diversions. This ends the embargo and restores normal commerce.

Abstract: As required by section 5(k) of the Export Administration Act of 1979, as amended, certain export licensing benefits are made available to countries that adopt COCOM-like export control programs. These benefits encourage countries to develop such controls and reward them for maintaining effective programs. In the past few years, this special status has been granted to five countries - Austria, Finland, Ireland, Sweden, and Switzerland. The Administration has been working closely with several other governments to bring them on board. Negotiations with the governments of Hong Kong and New Zealand established that they had established effective control systems. On May 5, 1992, BXA published final rules granting 5(k) status to Hong Kong and New Zealand. The result is that virtually all exports to those two destinations may be made without need for validated export licenses. They also qualify for special reexport privileges and other similar benefits.

478. FASTENER QUALITY

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: PL 101-592

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 280

Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory, May 15, 1991.

Abstract: This rule will implement the Fastener Quality Act. In 1990, Congress enacted the Fastener Quality Act (the Act) to protect public safety, deter introduction of nonconforming fasteners into commerce, improve traceability of fasteners used in critical applications, and provide customers with greater assurance that fasteners meet stated specifications. The Act requires that certain fasteners sold in commerce conform to the specifications to which they are represented to be manufactured; provides for accreditation of laboratories engaged in fastener testing; and requires the inspection, testing, and certification (in accordance with standardized methods) of fasteners used in critical applications.

Legal Authority: PL 100-235

CFR Citation: None

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This standard adopts ANSI X9.17, a voluntary industry standard for Financial Institution Key Management (Wholesale), and specifies a set of options for using the protocols of ANSI X9.17 in the automated distribution of keying materials needed for data encryption, decryption, and authentication. ANSI X9.17 is a voluntary industry standard that defines procedures for the manual and automated management of the data (e.g., keys and initialization vectors) necessary to establish and maintain cryptographic keying relationships.

Legal Authority: PL 100-235

CFR Citation: None

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: These FIPS adopt industry standards for cost-effective planning and installation of generic, functional telecommunications wiring systems in a variety of office structures and complexes. The wiring systems developed under these standards will facilitate the interoperability and transportability of telecommunications products and services from different suppliers. These standards were developed by the National Communications System under a delegation of authority from the General Services Administration and proposals were announced in the Federal Register (56 FR 20627, May 6, 1991, 56 FR 451, January 4, 1991, and 56 FR 20628, May 6, 1991).

507. USE OF INFORMATION COLLECTED BY VOLUNTARY FISHERY DATA COLLECTORS IN ENFORCEMENT PROCEEDINGS

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1853(f)

CFR Citation: 15 CFR 904; 50 CFR 11; 50 CFR 12

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Problem: The National Marine Fisheries Service requires scientific data about the state of various fisheries in order to provide better management. In the past, much of this data has been collected by voluntary fishery data collectors placed aboard private vessels by NMFS. Owners and operators of these vessels have expressed concern that information collected by these voluntary fishery data collectors might be used against them in a subsequent enforcement proceeding, thereby affecting their willingness to take on these collectors. Solution: The newly enacted statute "restricts" the use of data obtained by voluntary fishery data collectors in subsequent enforcement proceedings brought pursuant to the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act, 16 USC 1801, the Marine Mammal Protection Act, 16 USC 1361, and the Endangered Species Act, 16 USC 1531.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1361 et seq, Marine Mammal Protection Act
CFR Citation: 50 CFR 216

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The National Marine Fisheries Service is conducting the first comprehensive examination of its permit program for scientific research and public display since the passage of the Marine Mammal Protection Act in 1972 and issuance of permit regulations in 1974 (15 CFR 216). The review encompasses all aspects of permit program policy, procedures, and management concerning marine mammals under the authority of the Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972, 16 USC 1361 et seq., and the Endangered Species Act, 16 USC 1531 et seq. At the conclusion of this permit program review, the National Marine Fisheries Service will issue proposed revised regulations governing permits for the taking and importing of marine mammals for scientific research and public display.

Abstract: This rule will establish a minimum distance for approaches to marine mammals by humans, vessels, aircraft, and thrillcraft. These regulations are considered necessary because of the increasing popularity of whale watching and similar activities. Guidelines have not been effective in protecting marine mammals from this growing industry and from individuals wishing to view these animals too closely. An interim regulation regarding approaching humpback whales in Hawaii is working far better than previously used guidelines.

528. AMENDMENT 11 TO THE FMP FOR COMMERCIAL AND RECREATIONAL SALMON FISHERIES OFF THE COAST OF WASHINGTON, OREGON, AND CALIFORNIA

Significance: Regulatory Program
Legal Authority: 16 USC 1801 et seq, Magnuson Fishery Conservation & Mgmt. Act
CFR Citation: 50 CFR 661
Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory. Final, Statutory.
NPRM 15 days and final action 110 days after receipt from the fishery management council.

Abstract: Amendment 11 will: (1) establish a permanent recreational subarea and allocation between Cape Alava and the Queets River, Washington; (2) provide flexibility in preseason recreational coho harvest distributions north of Cape Falcon, Oregon (primarily between the Westport and Columbia River subareas); and (3) establish independent management of the Columbia River subarea.

530. SECRETARIAL AMENDMENT TO THE FMP FOR ATLANTIC SWORDFISH

Significance: Regulatory Program
Legal Authority: 16 USC 1801 et seq, Magnuson Fishery Conservation & Mgmt. Act
CFR Citation: 50 CFR 630
Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory. Final, Statutory.
NPRM 15 days and final action 110 days after beginning of review.

Abstract: PL 101-627 (signed into law November 7, 1990) transferred full responsibility for the management of swordfish, including preparation of fishery management plans and amendments, from the regional fishery management councils to the Secretary of Commerce. The Secretary will prepare an amendment to the FMP for Atlantic swordfish that will reduce fishing mortality, prevent overfishing, rebuild an overexploited resource, and be consistent with conservation measures recommended by the International Commission for the Conservation of Atlantic Tunas. The existing FMP management measures remain in effect until superseded by Secretarial actions.

Abstract: This regulatory amendment would prohibit the landing of surf clams and ocean quahogs on the same trip under the Mid-Atlantic Surf Clam and Ocean Quahog FMP. For individuals holding individual transferable quotas (ITQs) for both surf clams and ocean quahogs, mixing of the harvest of these species on the same trip may lead to misreporting of the catch and overrun of individual quotas. The Regional Director would be authorized to require vessel operators to specify whether they intended to fish for surf clams or ocean quahogs on a specified trip. This amendment would also mandate certain trip notifications.

RIN: 0648-AE35535. GENERAL PROVISIONS FOR DOMESTIC FISHERIES*Legal Authority: 16 USC 1801-81 Magnuson ActCFR Citation: 50 CFR 620Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The amendments to the Magnuson Act of November 14, 1990, added several new prohibitions such as the ban on large-scale driftnet fishing and the prohibition on assaulting observers. The regulations at 50 CFR 620 contain the prohibitions that apply generally to domestic fishing regulated under the Magnuson Act. The regulations must be amended to reflect the recent amendments to the Magnuson Act and to update and improve current language generally. The alternative would be to leave the regulatory language as it is now. This would be unacceptable because it would leave the regulation out of date and inconsistent with the current statutory language. The benefits would be to improve the current regulations and to clarify the scope of the new statutory language. There are no potential costs identified.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1531 et seq

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 217; 50 CFR 227

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: NMFS proposes to protect sea turtles through the implementation of sea turtle conservation measures on the summer flounder fishery. Between November 26, 1990, and December 7, 1990, 54 sea turtles were stranded on North Carolina beaches. The North Carolina Division of Marine Fisheries closed State waters to summer flounder bottom trawling, which was implicated in the strandings from Cape Hatteras
Light to Ocracoke Inlet on December 7, 1990. On December 26, 1990, waters were opened to trawlers pulling experimental turtle excluder devices (TEDs) until early January, at which time turtles were no longer encountered in North Carolina waters and fishing without TEDs was allowed. Because of new information collected during the 1990 stranding events, a section 7 consultation was reinitiated and resulted in a finding that the unrestricted operation of the fishery jeopardizes the continued existence of the endangered sea turtles. Currently, sea turtles are protected by an emergency interim regulation which will expire after the 1991-1992 season of the summer flounder fishery.

The shrimp industry in the southeast region of the United States is by far the leading cause of human-induced mortality to sea turtles in the water. A recent study by the National Academy of Sciences concluded that nonshrimp fisheries constitute the second largest source of mortality of juvenile to adult sea turtles. NMFS is soliciting public comment and information on nonshrimp fisheries for which sea turtle conservation measures are needed and on appropriate monitoring and conservation measures that shall be imposed to protect sea turtles.Timetable:

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1801 et seq

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 672; 50 CFR 675

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This action would provide an analysis of the Sitka Block proposal concerning individual transferable quotas (IFQs) and the 1,000-pound "floor." The intent is to prevent excessive consolidation under the IFQ system and to establish a 1,000-pound minimum quota holding to allow more potential quota shares for smaller fishing operations.

578. ● AMENDMENT 22 TO THE FMP FOR GROUND FISH OF THE BSAI AND AMENDMENT 27 TO THE FMP FOR GROUND FISH OF THE GOA

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1801 et seq

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 672; 50 CFR 675

Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory. Final, Statutory.

NPRM 15 days and final action 110 days after receipt from the fishery management council.

Abstract: These amendments would establish areas that may be used to test trawl gear when the season is otherwise closed to trawling. This would allow fishermen the time and opportunity to ensure that newly acquired gear is functioning properly prior to the opening of a fishery.

579. ● REGULATORY AMENDMENT TO THE FMP FOR GROUND FISH OF THE GOA AND THE FMP FOR GROUND FISH OF THE BSAI TO REDUCE HALIBUT BYCATCH MORTALITY IN THE HOOK-AND-LINE FISHERIES

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1801 et seq

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 672; 50 CFR 675

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: These amendments would establish requirements for cutting gangions for Pacific halibut to reduce bycatch mortality in the hook-and-line fisheries. This could result in a reduced mortality rate, which would allow the fishing season for Pacific cod to be extended. Mortality rates as low as 8 percent could be established on vessels with observers.

Abstract: This amendment would delay the opening date for the pollock non-roe ("B") season in the Bering Sea and Aleutian Islands Area. The delay would be from June 1 to a later date due to shortened fishing seasons to allow fish to mature or recover from the spawning season. The result will be a better quality surimi product.

OFFICE OF THE ADMINISTRATOR597. NATURAL RESOURCE DAMAGE ASSESSMENT AND RESTORATION REGULATIONS

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 33 USC 2706

CFR Citation: Not yet determined

Legal Deadline: Final, Statutory, August 18, 1992. Other, Statutory. Congress required the regulations to be promulgated no later than two years following the enactment of the Oil Pollution Act.

Abstract: In section 1006(e) of the Oil Pollution Act, Congress specified that the Federal Government, through NOAA, take the lead in developing natural resource damage assessment regulations. A Federal approach will provide a consistent, uniform set of procedures specifically for use in oil spills. These procedures will be available to State, Indian, and foreign natural resource trustees. A single Federal solution will be more cost effective than having the individual States develop separate methodologies. It is expected that trustees will use the procedures contained in the regulations because any determination or assessment of damages made in accordance with the regulations shall have the force and effect of a rebuttable presumption on behalf of the trustee in an administrative or judicial proceeding under the Oil Pollution Act.

Legal Authority: 7 USC 1621 to 1630 Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 265A

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The final rule will establish general quality grading standards for all non-breaded forms of fresh or frozen shrimp. These grading standards will provide for the systematic differentiation of the quality of shrimp into categories -- U.S. Grades A, B, and Substandard. The proposed standards will be applied to all commercial species of fresh or frozen shrimp in raw or cooked states in all non-breaded market forms. The adoption of grading standards is expected to facilitate trade in shrimp of all commercial species, as consumers will be able to select shrimp on the basis of identified quality. Industry has shown great interest in and support for the standards.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1382(a); 16 USC 1540(f)

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 222.31

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rule will establish as regulation a previously published Notice of Interpretation regarding minimum distances that should be maintained in the presence of humpback whales in Hawaii. Establishing a 100-yard perimeter around any of the whales while in the Hawaiian Exclusive Zone as a regulation is considered necessary given a large increase in vessel traffic and other water use activities in areas where this species historically occurs. In response to comments received in the public record, NOAA is defining two specific sites as cow/calf areas in which an approach closer than 300 yards is prohibited. This addition creates a new subsection to the rule.

Abstract: Reinstating regulations inadvertently dropped when the Fishermen's Guaranty Fund Program was transferred to the State Department. Revisions to program procedures deriving from an Internal Control Review scheduled for completion in May 1992, will be incorporated in the regulations. These revised procedures will reduce the risk that fraudulent claims will be paid.

605. DEPLETION OF THE COASTAL-MIGRATORY STOCK OF BOTTLENOSE DOLPHINS IN THE U.S. MID-ATLANTICSignificance: Agency PriorityLegal Authority: 16 USC 1361 et seq Marine Mammal Protection Act; 16 USC 1383bCFR Citation: 50 CFR 216.15Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Based on a review of the best available information on the status of the coastal-migratory stock of bottlenose dolphins in the U.S. Mid-Atlantic, the National Marine Fisheries Service (NOAA Fisheries) is considering the publication of a proposed rule designating this population stock as depleted under the Marine Mammal Protection Act (MMPA). This action is required by the MMPA when a species or population stock falls below its optimum sustainable population (OSP). If this population stock is designated as depleted, the MMPA requires the application of certain additional restrictions on taking and importation, and the preparation and implementation of a conservation plan to restore the stock to OSP. NOAA Fisheries is also requesting any additional scientific information on this action that may be available from interested parties, as required by the MMPA Amendments of 1988.

Abstract: In 1988, Congress amended the Marine Mammal Protection Act to prohibit the use of explosive devices in tuna purse seine operations that involve marine mammals. An exception from this prohibition was that Class C explosive pest control devices, approved by the Department of Transportation, could continue to be used when marine mammals are present. An interim final rule in this regard was published in the Federal Register (54 FR 411) and became effective January 1, 1989. Continued unrestricted use of the Class C explosive pest control devices was made contingent upon the outcome of a study mandated by Congress and undertaken by NMFS. The MMPA requires the Secretary to prescribe regulations to prohibit or restrict the use of Class C explosives by April 1, 1990, unless the Secretary, based upon the study, determines "...that the use of such devices does not result in physical impairment or increased mortality of marine mammals." Such a study was conducted by NMFS and the results were reviewed by experts in a workshop. The workshop participants determined that physical injuries to dolphins were caused by Class C explosives (cont)

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 678

Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory. NPRM 15 days after the beginning of a 60-day period for fishery management council's consideration and comment on the Secretarial Plan.

Abstract: The Secretarial Fishery Management Plan establishes a new management program intended to: (1) prevent overfishing of Atlantic Ocean sharks; (2) encourage management of sharks throughout their range; (3) establish a data collection, research and fishery monitoring program; (4) prohibit the practice of "finning"; and (5) optimize benefits and minimize wastes of shark resources. Proposed measures include: (1) annual commercial quotas; (2) recreational bag limits; (3) prohibition on "finning"; (4) commercial fishing permits; (5) prohibition on sale of recreational catch; (6) reporting of catch and effort information by commercial vessels and by those operating recreational fishing tournaments; (7) an annual fishing year beginning July 1 of each year; (8) a requirement for all fishermen to cut the fishing line for all sharks not taken as part of the quota or bag limit; and (9) commercial fishery closures after attainment of annual quotas.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1801 et seq

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 611; 50 CFR 663

Legal Deadline: NPRM, Statutory. Final, Statutory.

NPRM 15 days and final action 110 days after receipt from the Pacific Fishery Management Council.

Abstract: Amendment 6 would institute a license limitation program ("limited entry") for the Pacific Coast groundfish fishery. Only vessels with groundfish trawl gear, longlines, or traps (or pots) would be required to have limited entry permits to use the gear. Permits would be endorsed for specific gear and would be transferable. Control dates for participation were previously established as July 11, 1984, through August 1, 1988. The license limitation program would limit or reduce harvest capacity. While final regulations to implement Amendment 6 are expected in 1992, full implementation of the license limitation program is not expected until 1994.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1361 et seq

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 216.24(e)(5)(i)

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In 1988, Congress amended the Marine Mammal Protection Act to require that a harvesting nation must meet a two-part test to determine whether its marine mammal program is comparable to that of the United States before its yellowfin tuna and yellowfin tuna products are allowed to enter this country. These regulations provide specific criteria for issuing initial and subsequent findings to a harvesting nation which implements a prohibition against intentional purse seine sets on marine mammals by its vessels.

617. SEA TURTLE CONSERVATION; SHRIMP TRAWLING REQUIREMENTS

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1531 et seq

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 217; 50 CFR 227

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) has determined that there is a need to enhance enforcement and compliance of the 1987 Sea Turtle Conservation Regulations (50 CFR parts 217, 222, and 227) to provide adequate protection to endangered and threatened sea turtles. In addition, NMFS has determined that there is a need to strengthen the conservation measures of these regulations. This is necessary because a significant number of shrimp fishermen are failing to properly use and operate qualified turtle excluder devices (TEDs) as specified in the 1987 regulations. Some commercial shrimp fishermen are altering, or otherwise modifying, the turtle escape openings of TEDs making them nonfunctional for turtle release. In addition, while implementation of the regulations has resulted in a reduction in the number of turtles killed, significant mortality continues during the months of the year when the conservation requirements are not in effect. The intended effect of these revisions is to reduce the mortality of endangered and threatened sea turtles that may be killed incidental to shrimp trawling, and to enhance compliance with the regulations.

Abstract: NMFS is testing an alternative set of U.S. standards for grades of fish fillets for use in NMFS's National Seafood Inspection Program. The test standards recognize advances made by industry in process controls. The test standards allow for evaluation of flavor, odor, and texture in the pre-processing state, evaluation of physical defects in the thawed/fresh state, and evaluation for dehydration in the frozen state. Products graded using the test standards will be allowed to make reference to applicable grades on the label of the product.

625. ● PROCESS FOR THE MANAGEMENT OF ATLANTIC OCEAN HIGHLY MIGRATORY SPECIES

Legal Authority: PL 101-627; 16 USC 1811; 16 USC 1854(f)(3)

CFR Citation: None

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: An agency process for implementing provisions of the Fishery Conservation Amendments of 1990 (Pub. L. 101-627) concerning the management of highly migratory species in the Atlantic Ocean, Gulf of Mexico, and Caribbean Sea. NOAA will follow this process in preparing, amending, and implementing fishery management plans for Atlantic highly migratory species, including swordfish, billfishes, tunas, and oceanic sharks. The process identifies opportunities for involvement by the public, Regional Fishery Management Councils, and U.S. commissioners (and their advisers) to the International Commission for the Conservation of Atlantic Tunas.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1361 et seq

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 216; 50 CFR 247

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rule will finalize the interim final rule implementing the Dolphin Protection Consumer Information Act. The interim final rule: (1) identified fish and fish products subject to importation requirements mandated by the Marine Mammal

Protection Act, as amended by the DPC14; (2) specified the use and contents of a new NOAA form required to import into the United States certain fish and fish products potentially harvested with methods injurious to marine mammals; (3) required importers of certain fish and fish products harvested by nations that engage in high seas large scale driftnet fishing to provide certification by a responsible government official of the harvesting nation that the items to be imported were not harvested with large-scale driftnets in certain areas of the high seas; and (4) regulated the use of labels suggesting that tuna products are "dolphin safe."

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1531 et seq

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 222

Legal Deadline: Final, Statutory, November 22, 1992.

ESA requires a final action within 1 year of proposal for petitional actions.

Abstract: NMFS has issued a proposed rule to upgrade the status of the eastern North Pacific stock of gray whales from endangered to fully recovered. NMFS is taking this action on the basis of a required status review which determined that the stock is not in danger of becoming extinct and is not threatened with becoming endangered in the near future. Alternatives identified include taking no action or upgrading the status to threatened.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1801 et seq. Magnuson Fishery Conservation & Mgmt. Act

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 663

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This regulatory amendment would modify restrictions on fishing for black rockfish off the coast of Washington because declining abundance of black rockfish in traditional coastal sportfishing areas is forcing the charterboat fishery to operate near their economic and geographic margins. It would: (1) reduce the recreational daily bag limit for all rockfish from 15 to 12 fish; (2) impose a non-Indian commercial trip limit on hook-and-line fisheries of 100 pounds or 30 percent of the total catch of all species, whichever is greater, between 47 degrees 40 minutes and 48 degrees 9 minutes, 30 seconds; and (3) establish coastal treaty Indian commercial harvest guidelines for rockfish.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1151 to 1175; 16 USC 1361 to 1384

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 215

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This proposed rule would eliminate completely the current option of extending the subsistence harvest of northern fur seals on the Pribilof Islands beyond August 8 of each year. The purpose behind this proposed change is to safeguard the reproductive potential of the species by ensuring no harvesting of seals will take place when there is any chance of females being in harvest areas. Experience and studies show that the risk of accidentally taking a female seal during harvest activities is almost nonexistent before August 8, but increases dramatically thereafter.

Abstract: This action will end the conditional fishery status of surf clams. Such designation, made pursuant to 50 CFR 251, restricts the normal availability of NOAA's financial aid programs based on fisheries management, conservation, and protection considerations. Management of the surf clam fishery has progressed to the point at which this restriction is unnecessary. The programs involved provide financial assistance to fishermen for fishing vessel construction, acquisition, and reconstruction. No alternatives are being considered. There is no potential change in cost due to this action. The benefits are that normal availability of the Fisheries Obligation Guarantee and the Fishing Vessel Capital Construction Fund programs will contribute to the financial stability and industrial safety and efficiency of the surf clam fishing industry.

Legal Authority: 16 USC 1801 et seq

CFR Citation: 50 CFR 663

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: An emergency interim rule allocated the 1992 harvest guideline of 208,000 metric tons of Pacific whiting as follows: 98,000 mt for processing at sea; 80,000 mt for processing on shore; and 30,000 mt for a reserve for apportionment later in the year for either shoreside or at-sea processing. If shoreside processors have not processed 48,000 mt (60 percent of their initial allocation) by September 1, the reserve will be released to at-sea processors. Any portion of the shoreside allocation not needed by

Abstract: NOAA is pursuing a phased rulemaking to implement the Coastal Zone Act Reauthorization Amendments of 1990, which amended the CZMA and reauthorized it through Fiscal Year 1995. The phased rulemaking will allow us to meet statutory deadlines while at the same time developing necessary information and agreements that should precede some parts of the rulemaking. Phase I will include the Coastal Zone Enhancement Grants (section 309), on which regulations are required within one year of enactment, and the new provisions on program evaluation (section 312), including interim and final sanctions. Phase II would include program approval requirements for the new coastal nonpoint pollution control programs (section 6217). These requirements should be based on final guidance which is required from EPA within 18 months of enactment, and on agreements between NOAA and EPA over their respective responsibilities for program review and approval.

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Most papers filed in the Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) requiring a signature have to be submitted with an original signature. The modified regulations would permit, in most cases, the filing of photocopies or facsimile transmitted papers. Furthermore, the certificate of mailing procedures currently in effect would be extended to papers sent by facsimile transmission. These changes would reduce the burden currently faced by those submitting papers to the PTO and would make it easier to meet PTO deadlines.

Abstract: The proposed modification would require the filing of a terminal disclaimer in patent applications abandoned for a period in excess of six months in both unavoidably and unintentionally abandoned applications. The current policy of granting exceptions, in certain limited circumstances, to the one-year limit for reviving unintentionally abandoned applications is also incorporated into the proposed rules. 675. VARIETY DENOMINATION REQUIREMENTS FOR PLANT PATENT APPLICATIONS

CFR Citation: 37 CFR 1.17; 37 CFR 1.72;
37 CFR 1.168

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: PTO will amend its rules of practice in patent cases to implement the International Convention for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants.
The International Convention requires registration of a plant variety name at the time a patent on a plant variety is issued. Compliance with the registration requirements of the Convention would be determined in the process of examining plant patent applications.

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE (DOD)DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE*32 CFR Chs. I, V, VI, and VII*33 CFR Ch. II*36 CFR Ch. III*Improving Government Regulations;
Semiannual Agenda of Regulations*AGENCY: Department of Defense (DoD).ACTION: Publication of the consolidated semiannual agenda of DoD regulatory documents.

SUMMARY: The Department of Defense is publishing this consolidated semiannual agenda of regulatory documents, including those that are procurement-related, for public information and comments under E.O. 12291 "Federal Regulation" and the Office of Federal Procurement Policy Act of 1988 (41 U.S.C. 402). This agenda incorporates the objective and criteria, when applicable, of the regulatory reform program under E.O. 12291, the Federal Procurement Policy Act, and other regulatory programs. It contains DoD issuances initiated by DoD components that may have economic and environmental impact on State, local, public, or private interests under the criteria of E.O. 12291. Although most DoD issuances listed in the agenda are of negligible public impact, their nature may be of public interest and, therefore, are published to provide notice of rulemaking and an opportunity for public participation in the internal DoD rulemaking process.

This agenda updates the report published on April 27, 1992, and includes regulations expected to be issued and under review over the next 12 months. The procurement-related agenda items included in this publication will also be used by the Office of Federal Procurement Policy to publish a "Procurement Regulatory Activity Report" as required by the Office of Federal Procurement Policy Act Amendments of 1988.

The next agenda is scheduled to be published in April 1993. In addition to this agenda, DoD components also publish rulemaking notices pertaining to their specific statutory administration requirements as required.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:
For information concerning the overall

DoD regulatory improvement program and for general semiannual agenda information, contact Mr. William P. Pearce, telephone 703-746-0933, or write to Directorate for Information Operations and Reports, Washington Headquarters Services, 1215 Jefferson Davis Highway, Suite 1204, Arlington, Virginia 22202-4302.

For questions of a legal nature concerning the agenda and its statutory requirements or obligations, contact the Office of the General Counsel, DoD, Washington, DC 20301, or call 703-697-2714.

For general information on Office of the Secretary regulations, contact Mrs. Patricia H. Means, Directives Division, Directorate for Correspondence and Directives, Washington Headquarters Services; telephone 703-697-4111. For general information on the procurement-related agenda items, contact Mr. Owen L. Green III, telephone 703-697-7288, or write to the Defense Acquisition Regulatory System, Pentagon, Room 3D139, Washington, DC 20301-3062.

For general information on Department of the Army regulations, contact Mr. Kenneth L. Denton, telephone 703-325-8277, or write to Commander, U.S. Army Publications and Printing Command, ATTN: ASQZ-PD-SS, Room 1050, Hoffman I, Alexandria, Virginia 22331-0302.

For general information on Department of the Navy regulations, contact Ms. Alcinda P. Wenberg, telephone 703-602-2542, or write to Department of the Navy, Commander, Naval Information Systems Management Center, 2211 Jefferson Davis Highway, CP5, Room 334, Arlington, Virginia 22202.

For general information on Department of the Air Force regulations, contact Ms. Patsy J. Conner, telephone 703-614-3527, or write to Department of the Air Force, SAF/AAIA, Pentagon, Washington, DC 20330-1000.

For specific agenda items, contact the appropriate individual indicated in each DoD component report.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This consolidated agenda is composed of the regulatory status reports, including procurement-related regulatory status reports from the Office of the Secretary of Defense and the Departments of the Army, Navy, and Air Force. Included also in this agenda is the regulatory report from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, whose civil works functions fall under the reporting requirements of E.O. 12291. Their agenda will reflect these requirements with follow-on reporting actions taken as necessary.

DoD issuances range from DoD Directives (reflecting departmental policy) to implementing instructions and regulations (largely internal and used to implement Directives). The OSD agenda section contains the primary Directives under which DoD components promulgate their implementing regulations.

To ease identification and to clarify the differences among the variety of issuances reported, they are identified by their DoD internal numbering system, which denotes component level of authority and type of issuance, in addition to the required CFR number.

In addition, this agenda, although published under the reporting requirements of E.O. 12291, will continue to be the DoD single-source reporting vehicle, which will identify issuances that are currently applicable under the various regulatory reform programs in progress. Therefore, when applicable, DoD components will identify those rules which come under the criteria of the:

- a. Regulatory Flexibility Act;
- b. Paperwork Reduction Act;
- c. GATT International Trade Agreement; and
- d. Office of Federal Procurement Policy Act Amendments of 1988.

These DoD issuances, which are directly applicable under these statutes, will be identified in the agenda and their action status indicated. Generally, the reports in this agenda will contain four sections: (1) Prerule stage; (2) proposed rule stage; (3) final rule stage; and (4) completed actions.

Although not a regulatory agency, the Department of Defense will continue to participate in regulatory initiatives designed to reduce the economic costs and unnecessary environmental burdens upon the public. Comments and recommendations are invited on the rules reported and should be addressed to the DoD component representatives identified in each section.

Although sensitive to the needs of the public and regulatory reform, the

DOD

Department of Defense reserves the right to exercise the exemptions and flexibility permitted in its rulemaking process in order to proceed with its overall defense-oriented mission.

Note: The publishing of this agenda does not waive the applicability of the military affairs exemption in section 553 of title 5 and section 1 of E.O. 12291.

Dated: August 20, 1992.

J. R. Sungenis,
Director, Information Operations and Reports.

Legal Authority: 33 USC 401; 33 USC 403; 33 USC 1344; 33 USC 1413
CFR Citation: 33 CFR 325, app D
Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Procedures for the protection of endangered species in the regulatory program of the Corps of Engineers. Because of the increased emphasis being placed on endangered species by the Federal and State resource agencies, the Corps identified a need to provide more definitive guidance on implementing the Endangered Species Act (ESA) in its regulatory program. The Corps is now developing counterpart regulations with the Department of Interior. The regulations will basically bring together various guidance used in the past by both the Corps and DOI. The regulations will include guidance on how the ESA Amendments impact applicants for Federal permits.

CFR Citation: 33 CFR 320 to 330

Abstract: The Corps of Engineers intends to make numerous clarifications to its existing regulations at 33 CFR 320-330, to consolidate all permit regulations into one document, and to reorganize 33 CFR 325 for clarity. Since the Corps Regulatory Program final regulations were published in the Federal Register on November 13, 1986 (51 CFR 41206), there has been need to clarify several of those provisions. Since 1986, we have adopted 2 new appendices at 33 CFR 325, appendices B and C. We have proposed several changes that include Nationwide Permit Program (33 CFR 330) and Class II Administrative Civil Penalties. For clarity, we intend to consolidate all these changes into one document.

Abstract: The Corps will propose new nationwide permits based on a review of activities being authorized by individual permit. The Corps regulatory program needs additional streamlining. The authorization of activities by nationwide permits is the most efficient and effective way to regulate minor activities with minimal impacts and

CFR Citation: 33 CFR 330

Abstract: The Corps will propose a new nationwide permit for low-value wetlands in an effort to reduce unnecessary regulation while maintaining needed environmental protection. Activities that occur in low-value wetlands are those that have the least impact on the aquatic environment. The low-value wetland category would be based on the efforts of an interagency technical committee on wetlands categorization and mitigation banking.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 33 USC 403 et seq; 33 USC 1344

CFR Citation: 33 CFR 325

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The Corps of Engineers would add an administrative permit process to its regulatory program regulations to provide that, except when necessary to comply with laws and regulations, a permit would be automatically granted if the Corps failed to make a final decision on a complete application within 180 days. This is part of the President's Wetlands Protection Plan for streamlining the regulatory process while increasing protection of wetlands.

Legal Authority: 10 USC 2405

CFR Citation: 48 CFR 52

Abstract: The interim rule prescribes policies and procedures to restrict contract price adjustments under shipbuilding contracts, thus implementing by regulation the requirements of 10 USC 2405. The interim rule also defines the terminology of 10 USC 2405 and promulgates a solicitation provision and contract clause on price adjustments to shipbuilding contracts. This action is intended to clarify the meaning and ensure the consistent interpretation, implementation, and administration of the statute.

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION (ED)

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Office of the Secretary

34 CFR Subtitles A and B

Unified Agenda of Federal Regulations

AGENCY: Office of the Secretary, Education.

ACTION: Publication of the semiannual agenda of Federal regulations.

SUMMARY: The Secretary of Education publishes a semiannual agenda of Federal regulations issued under the authority of section 6(b) of Executive Order 12291 "Federal Regulation." The purpose of the agenda is to encourage more effective public participation in the regulatory process by providing the public with early information about pending regulatory activities.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Questions or comments related to specific regulations listed in this agenda should be directed to Kenneth C. Depew, Division of Regulations Management, Office of the General Counsel, Department of Education, Room 5125, FOB-6, 400 Maryland Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20202-2241; telephone: (202) 401-2884. Deaf and hearing impaired individuals may call the Federal Dual Party Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339 (in Washington, DC, 202 area code, telephone 708-9300) between 8 a.m. and 7 p.m., eastern time.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Section 5 of Executive Order 12291, dated February 17, 1981, and the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 602(a), require the Department of Education to publish, in October and April of each year, (1) an agenda of proposed regulations that the Agency has issued or expects to issue and currently effective rules that are under Agency review and (2) a brief description of the subject area of any rule that the Agency expects to propose or promulgate that is likely to have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities. The agenda includes both notices of proposed rulemaking (NPRMs) currently being drafted and pending final regulations.

The Secretary expects that a number of regulatory documents will be necessary to implement the Higher Education Amendments of 1992, enacted on July 23, 1992. These regulatory actions will be included in the April edition of the Unified Agenda.

For each set of regulations listed, the agenda provides the title of the document, the type of document, a citation of any rulemaking or other action taken since publication of the most recent agenda, and planned dates of future rulemaking. In addition, the agenda provides the following information:

- An abstract, which includes a description of the problem to be addressed, any principal alternatives being considered, and potential costs and benefits of the action.
- An indication of whether the planned action is likely to have significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities as defined by the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601(b)).
- A reference to where a reader can find the current regulations in the Code of Federal Regulations.
- A citation of legal authority.
- The name, address, and telephone number of the contact person at the Department from whom a reader can obtain additional information regarding the planned action.
- An indication if the action is priority and the criteria used in determining the priority status.

If the "Abstract" section of an entry refers readers to the preamble, it means that amendments to those particular regulations would be designed (1) to effect regulatory relief, including reducing paperwork and compliance burdens, improving cost effectiveness, and to the extent possible, vesting greater discretion in State and local agencies and (2), if necessary, to clarify and simplify requirements governing that program.

The Department also will review all regulations that will be published to ensure that, where appropriate, those regulations support the National Education Goals. These goals call for:

- All children starting school ready to learn;
- Increasing the high school graduation rate to at least 90 percent;
- U.S. students demonstrating competency in challenging subject matter, including English, mathematics, science, history, and geography;
- U.S. students becoming first in the world in science and mathematics achievement;
- Adult Americans becoming literate and possessing the knowledge and skills necessary to compete in a global economy and exercise the rights and responsibilities of citizenship; and
- Freeing every school of drugs and violence so as to offer a disciplined environment conducive to learning.

This publication in the Federal Register does not impose any binding obligation on the Department with regard to any specific item on the agenda. Regulatory action in addition to the items listed is not precluded. Dates of future regulatory actions are subject to revision in subsequent agendas.

Dated: August 19, 1992.
Jeffrey C. Martin,
General Counsel.

plans to merge OMB Circulars A-102 and A-110. 812. TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS TO PROGRAM REGULATIONS

Legal Authority: 20 USC 1221e-3(a)(1)

CFR Citation: 34 CFR 074; 34 CFR 080

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: On November 4, 1988, the Department published an NPRM proposing to establish certain governmentwide administrative requirements for grants and cooperative agreements to State and local governments, institutions of higher education, hospitals, and nonprofit and commercial organizations. The regulations would appear in a revised 34 CFR part 74. On October 29, 1990, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) published a notice in the Federal Register (55 FR 45289) that cancelled plans to merge OMB Circulars A-102 and A-110. Therefore, the Department does not intend to combine administrative requirements for grants and cooperative agreements for all types of recipients into 34 CFR part 74. However, the Department intends to revise program regulations to cite the applicable administrative requirements found in either 34 CFR part 74 or 34 CFR part 80. A notice amending certain program regulations will be published in the Federal Register after final action is taken in the current efforts to amend the common regulations codified by the Department in 34 CFR part 80.

815. ● FAMILY EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS AND PRIVACY

Legal Authority: 20 USC 1232g; 20 USC 1234

CFR Citation: 34 CFR 099

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The regulations are needed to implement section 203 of the Crime Awareness and Campus Security Act of 1990. The provision amends the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) to allow institutions of postsecondary education to disclose to an alleged victim of a crime of violence, without prior written consent, the results of a disciplinary proceeding conducted by the institution against an alleged perpetrator of a crime of violence. Since the current regulations do not permit such a disclosure, the regulations must be amended to conform to section 203 of P.L. 101-542. Several additional technical amendments are made: 1) to reflect a change in the enforcement provisions; 2) to clarify a portion of the consent provisions; and 3) to define a "timely complaint".

861. THE STATE VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION SERVICES PROGRAM - DEREGULATION

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 29 USC 701 to 731

CFR Citation: 34 CFR 361

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: These regulations reduce regulatory burden on State agencies and place greater administrative discretion at the State and local levels. The regulations remove or reduce some State plan, paperwork, and reporting requirements not mandated by statute, clarify program eligibility standards and the nature and scope of certain vocational rehabilitation services through more precise definitions, and generally simplify and condense program regulations.

Semiannual Regulatory Agenda

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY (DOE)

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

10 CFR Chs. II, III, and X

48 CFR Ch. 9

Regulatory Agenda

AGENCY: Department of Energy.

ACTION: October 1992 regulatory agenda.

SUMMARY: In order to make Government more responsive to the citizens of the United States and to assist in fulfilling the President's commitment to lessen regulatory burdens, the Department of Energy (DOE) is publishing this regulatory agenda of: (i) Rulemakings currently in progress and rulemakings which currently are expected to begin during the coming year; (ii) any existing rules which are being reviewed within DOE to determine whether modifications should be proposed based upon experience; and (iii) rulemakings and rule reviews which have been completed since publication of the last regulatory agenda in April 1992. This regulatory agenda also contains information on any rulemakings which are likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities, and it contains additional data on procurement-related actions.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

For further information about any particular item on the regulatory agenda, please contact the individual listed under that item. For further information on the regulatory agenda in general, please contact: Theodore ("Ted") Wilson, DOE, Room 6B-256, Forrestal Building, 1000 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20585, (202) 586-9507.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Covered agencies publish regulatory agendas under Executive Order 12291 in April and October of each year. Under the Executive order, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) sets standards and procedures for the preparation of these agendas.

Regulatory agendas are important to efforts to reduce the burdens of existing and future regulations, increase agency accountability for regulatory actions, provide for Presidential oversight of the regulatory process, minimize duplication and conflict of regulations, and insure well-reasoned regulations. DOE has made considerable progress in attaining these objectives.

Presidential Regulatory Review Program

On January 28, 1992, the President issued a Memorandum for Certain Department and Agency Heads on "Reducing the Burden of Government Regulation," which initiated the President's regulatory review program (Phase I). The President's memorandum required a review of existing regulations and programs with the objectives of identifying and removing unnecessary burdens on the private sector and of fostering economic growth. The President's memorandum also directed that, to the maximum extent permitted by law and subject to certain exceptions, the affected agencies refrain from issuing any proposed or final rules for the duration of the regulatory review program. Such agencies could request exceptions for the publication of rulemaking notices in those instances where a request is believed to be warranted based on one or more criteria set forth in the Phase I memorandum.

On April 29, 1992, in a second Memorandum for Certain Department and Agency Heads entitled "Implementing Regulatory Reforms," the President extended the regulatory review program for 120 days (Phase II) and called for implementation of reforms to promote economic growth that had been identified during Phase I.

On August 20, 1992, the President stated that:

I will extend for 1 year the freeze on paperwork and unnecessary Federal regulation that I imposed last winter

Following subsequent discussions with OMB and pending further written direction, DOE is proceeding as before under the first two phases of the President's regulatory review program.

Phase I Actions

On April 27, 1992, DOE transmitted to the President a report describing measures undertaken by DOE to implement Phase I (January 28 to April 27, 1992) of the regulatory review program. That report discussed DOE's actions during Phase I and its anticipated future activities regarding regulatory review. In addition, the report also highlighted critical regulatory reform initiatives and legislative initiatives relating to regulatory reform, which DOE has recommended and advocated during the past 2 years, in connection with development of the Administration's National Energy Strategy.

As noted in the Phase I report, DOE's review identified 18 then-existing regulations as potential candidates for revision or elimination. In addition, DOE internally implemented a moratorium on issuing any new proposed or final regulations except those believed to satisfy one or more of the "exceptions" criteria set forth in the President's memorandum.

Based on suggestions received during the public comment period provided by DOE and on DOE's own further analysis, DOE determined to publish in the Federal Register notices designed to rescind 13 DOE regulations and to revise 3 other DOE regulations.

Phase II Actions

During Phase II, DOE implemented these 16 revisions and eliminations in timely compliance with the President's schedule, with the exception of 1 revision which involves interagency coordination and is still in progress. The regulations so eliminated or revised are as follows:

ELIMINATIONS

Office of Conservation and Renewable Energy
10 CFR Part 417--Wind Energy Technology Application Program
10 CFR Part 445--Industrial Energy Conservation Program
10 CFR Part 456--Energy Conservation Service Program
10 CFR Part 490--Emergency Building

10 CFR Part 1001—Separation of Regulatory and Enforcement Functions Within the Economic Regulatory Administration
10 CFR Subpart G, sections 205.90-98—Other Proceedings
10 CFR Subpart O, section 205.191—Notice of Probable Violation
10 CFR Subpart O, section 199D—Interim Remedial Order for Immediate Compliance
10 CFR Subpart O, section 199E—Notice of Proposed Disallowance, Proposed Order of Disallowance, and Order of Disallowance (57 FR 23929, June 5, 1992)
REVISIONS
Office of Energy Research
10 CFR Part 605—Office of Energy Research Financial Assistance Program (named the Special Research Grants Program before the Phase II amendment of part 605) (57 FR 40582, September 3, 1992)
Office of Procurement, Assistance, and Program Management
10 CFR Part 600—Financial Assistance Rules (continuation funding) (57 FR 40083, September 2, 1992)

DOE also intends to revise 10 CFR part 810 Assistance to Foreign Atomic Energy Activities as a result of its regulatory review. The particular changes in this instance necessarily entail interagency coordination and agreement. DOE has initiated the requisite contacts and will continue its efforts to undertake appropriate regulatory improvements in this area as well.

On September 4, 1992, DOE transmitted to the President a report which discussed DOE's actions in implementation of Phase II (April 29 to August 27, 1992) of the President's regulatory review program.

Contents and Format of Regulatory Agenda

Executive Order 12291 provides that the regulatory agenda may be incorporated with the "regulatory flexibility agenda" required under the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 602 et seq. The regulatory flexibility agenda must cover any rule which the agency expects to propose or promulgate which is "likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities." Its information requirements are similar to those of the Executive order. The regulatory flexibility agenda required under 5 U.S.C. 602(a) is incorporated in today's notice. The Office of Federal Procurement Policy Act Amendments of 1988, 41 U.S.C. 402, require publication, twice a year, of a "Procurement Regulatory Activity Report." As determined by OMB, agency information is now in the regulatory agenda for use by the Office of Federal Procurement Policy (OFPP) in producing these reports.

Entries appended to this notice reflect the status of activities as of approximately August 15, 1992. They are divided into categories, first by subagencies and then according to their stage of rulemaking action: Prerule, proposed rulemaking, final rulemaking, or completed action.

Appended entries contain the following information: (1) The organizational unit responsible for the regulation; (2) the Regulation Identifier Number (RIN) assigned by OMB/OIRA; (3) title; (4) significance (that is, whether the regulation appears in the Regulatory Program prepared annually under Executive Order 12498 and, if it does not, whether it is nevertheless a DOE priority); (5) the name, title, address, and telephone number of a person who is knowledgeable about the regulation; (6) effects on small business (that is, whether the action is likely to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of "small entities" as defined by the Regulatory Flexibility Act) and effects on Federal, State, and local governments; (7) CFR citation (that is, the affected portion of the Code of Federal Regulations); (8) legal authority (that is, a citation to the section of the United States Code (USC), Public Law (PL), or Executive order (EO) that authorizes the regulatory action); (9) abstract (that is, a description of the problem the regulation will address, the regulatory approach under consideration, the alternatives being considered for addressing the problem, and the potential costs and benefits of the action); (10) legal deadline (that is, the statutory or judicial deadline, if any); and (11) timetable (that is, the dates and citations, if applicable, for all past stages and the date for at least the next stage of the rulemaking). The timetable for completed actions (that is, regulations completed or withdrawn and reviews completed since the preceding regulatory agenda) gives the completion date and any related citation.

For each procurement-related regulatory action, additional information is provided on whether there is a statutory requirement for the action and whether there is a paperwork burden associated with the action.

For those DOE estimated rulemaking dates falling within the moratorium on issuance of rulemaking notices, each relevant entry in this regulatory agenda states that DOE either will obtain an exception pursuant to the President's direction or will defer any action until expiration of the moratorium.

A draft of this regulatory agenda has been transmitted to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy of the U.S. Small Business Administration for comment, if any, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 602(b).

DOE's next regulatory agenda will be published in April 1993.

Issued in Washington, DC, on October 2, 1992.

Eric J. Fygi,

Acting General Counsel.

Abstract: The Energy Policy and Conservation Act (EPCA), as amended, establishes initial energy-efficiency standards levels for most types of major appliances and generally requires DOE to undergo two subsequent rulemakings, at specified times, to determine whether the extant standard for a covered product should be amended. These products are:

refrigerators, refrigerator-freezers, and freezers; room air conditioners; central air conditioners and central air conditioning heat pumps; water heaters;
pool heaters; direct heating equipment;
furnaces; dishwashers; clothes washers;
clothes dryers; kitchen ranges and ovens; and fluorescent lamp ballasts.
Other appliances, including television sets, may be regulated by the Department. This rulemaking will review the statutory standards for central air conditioners and furnaces to determine whether those levels need to be amended. This is the second reanalysis of the standard levels for refrigerators, refrigerator-freezers and freezers.

Abstract: Title III of the Energy Conservation and Production Act, as amended, requires the development and promulgation of voluntary energy performance standards for new buildings. In order to comply with this requirement, DOE currently is developing Subpart B, interim voluntary standards for new non-Federal residential buildings. DOE is required to conduct demonstrations of interim standards and report its findings to Congress, prior to the development and promulgation of final standards.

EPCA requires DOE determinations on need to amend Federal appliance standards in a period from 7/1/89 to 1/1/94. The statute requires completion of a second reanalysis of all (cont)

Abstract: The Energy Policy and Conservation Act (EPCA), as amended, establishes initial energy-efficiency standard levels for most types of major appliances and generally requires DOE to undergo two subsequent rulemakings, at specified times, to determine whether the extant standard for a covered product should be amended. These products are: refrigerators, refrigerator-freezers, and freezers; room air conditioners; central air conditioners and central air conditioning heat pumps; water heaters; pool heaters; direct heating equipment; furnaces; dishwashers; clothes washers; clothes dryers; kitchen ranges and ovens; and fluorescent lamp ballasts. Other appliances, including television sets, may be regulated by the Department. This rulemaking will review the statutory standards for water heaters; pool heaters; kitchen ranges and ovens; room air conditioners; direct heating equipment; mobile home furnaces; and fluorescent lamp ballasts to determine whether those levels need to be amended. In addition, television sets will be examined to determine whether conservation standards are justified.

Abstract: The final rule on the inclusion of electric vehicles in the Corporate Average Fuel Economy (CAFE) program was issued by DOE on April 15, 1981. It established a methodology for determining the equivalent petroleum-based fuel economy of electric vehicles so that they could be included in a manufacturer's overall CAFE program. This methodology was based on several factors including the energy efficiency of the vehicle, the efficiency of electricity generation and transmission, the fuels used to generate electricity, and the driving patterns of electric vehicles. At this time, DOE is proposing updating the factors in this methodology that are necessary for calculating the CAFE credits for electric vehicles.

Abstract: The President's FY 1993 budget request for the State Energy Conservation Program (SECP) would fund new competitive grants for cooperative projects with States and industry (partnership grants) as well as the traditional formula grants to support ongoing State programs, including the Energy Extension Service (EES). The President's budget request contains $20 million for partnership grants. The SECP program regulations need to be amended to permit the award of competitive, partnership grants. Funding for the partnership grants would be provided, on a competitive basis, to States to launch cooperative projects with industry and other organizations to support focused and highly leveraged activities that accelerate commercial deployment of emerging transportation and electricity supply technologies or innovative technologies that maximize industrial and building energy efficiency. State-industry cost-sharing targets for SECP partnership grants would be at least two to one. This action is being taken primarily in response to a recommendation of the National Energy Strategy which encourages the Administration and Congress to provide adequate funding for technology (cont)

Abstract: The Department of Energy (DOE) conducts a Personnel Assurance Program (PAP) under DOE 5610.11 "Program to Prevent Accidental or Unauthorized Nuclear Explosive Detonation." The PAP was created in order to assure the reliability and safety of individuals in certain critical positions and is a part of the DOE nuclear weapons and explosives safety program. To further minimize the potential risks to personnel, public health and safety, and national security, the Department now proposes this rule which describes the PAP and provides for testing for alcohol under certain circumstances and for possible use of illegal drugs by DOE Federal and contractor employees requiring PAP certification or recertification. The DOE employees under the PAP are part of the DOE Drug-Free Workplace Program (DOE 3792.3). This is a court-ordered action.

Abstract: On February 9, 1988, DOE Order 5632.7 "Protective Forces" was issued which updated the requirements for firearms qualifications for security inspectors at DOE facilities. In an order and judgment entered March 19, 1990, the U.S. District Court of Nevada granted summary judgment and invalidated DOE's order as it applied to contractor personnel, due to the agency's failure to conduct an Administrative Procedure Act notice and comment rulemaking. The regulations would, inter alia, require that each contractor protective force officer have an appropriate access authorization and successfully complete formal basic and annual training in security skills and knowledge. The regulations also would require security inspectors to pass a firearms qualification test. Each security inspector would be required to demonstrate firearms proficiency at least semiannually, as indicated in the DOE requirements of the Standard DOE Qualification Courses, with all weapons reasonably expected to be used by the employee.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2165, Atomic Energy Act of 1954, sec 145

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: In response to a pressing need for more expeditious processing of access authorization (personnel security clearance) requests, the Department of Energy (DOE) established a pilot project for an Accelerated Access Authorization (AAA) program at its Rocky Flats Office and is establishing such a program at other DOE sites including Albuquerque. DOE has determined that the AAA program was necessary because of the need to secure, on a timely basis, staff expertise to be applied to a variety of urgent environmental and defense issues. The AAA program does not take the place of the current access authorization clearance process, but allows workers to perform their jobs while the full background investigation is being conducted. The AAA program will be offered to DOE contractor and Federal employees as an option.

Abstract: These regulations will streamline the existing procedures for applying to the DOE for Presidential

These regulations will establish the fact that DOE's decisional criterion is only electric reliability and not the economic or commercial viability of projects.

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2011 et seq, The Atomic Energy Act of 1954

CFR Citation: Not applicable

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This action addresses the problem of the Department's management and operating contractors not being uniformly qualified to perform environmental restoration (ER) work, and involves contract initiatives. The Department has published a notice of intent to develop an environmental restoration alternate business strategy (55 FR 45843, October 31, 1990). This strategy calls for an Environmental Restoration Management Contractor (ERMC) to assist DOE in managing all the environmental restoration work at each DOE Field Office. A pilot phase program is planned starting with the

Fernald Environmental Management Project and followed by the Hanford Site/Richland Field Office. An ERMC at each site will have responsibility for managing ER work. The benefits of such a contract initiative include promoting specialized expertise in cleanup rather than national defense activities; reducing cleanup costs and expediting environmental restoration; and promoting the application of innovative technologies in cleanup work. The Department selected an ERMC for the Fernald site on August 5, 1992. The Fernald ERMC will start initial work at the site during a transition period that began (cont)

Abstract: Section 5(f) of the Pacific Northwest Electric Power Planning and Conservation Act (Northwest Power Act), Pub. L. 96-501, provides that the Bonneville Power Administration (BPA) may sell or otherwise dispose of power which is surplus to the obligations of the Administrator under sections 5(b), (c), and (d) in accordance with that Act and other applicable provisions of the statute. Section 9(c) of the Northwest Power Act and the Act of August 31, 1964, Pub. L. 88-552 (the Northwest Preference Act), provide that the BPA may only sell power outside the Pacific Northwest that is surplus energy or capacity as defined in those Acts. Surplus energy or capacity is defined as energy or capacity for which there is no market or demand in the Pacific Northwest at rates established for the disposition of such energy or capacity. In February 1990, BPA published for comment a proposal for adoption of policy and procedures for sales of surplus power. To complete its effort to establish a formal policy on the disposal of this power, BPA intends to issue in the Federal Register a Notice of Response to Comments on Issues to be Addressed in establishing a Preference Policy, as well as a Notice of Draft Policy (cont)

Abstract: The Department of Energy (DOE) proposes the addition of a new part to its regulations establishing a body of rules for DOE contractor and subcontractor activities that will form the basic requirements for ensuring radiation protection of the public and environment at DOE facilities. These requirements stem from the Department's ongoing effort to strengthen the protection of health, safety, and the environment from the nuclear, radiological, and chemical hazards posed by these DOE facilities. The new part provides radiation protection requirements for the public and environment for DOE and DOE contractor operations. Major elements of the regulation include a dose limitation system for protection of the public; requirements for liquid discharges; reporting and monitoring

Abstract: The Price-Anderson Amendments Act (PAAA) of 1988 contains provisions subjecting DOE contractors (and subcontractors and suppliers thereto) who are indemnified under the PAAA, to penalties for violations of nuclear safety rules, regulations, or orders issued by the Department. The Secretary has authority to compromise, modify, or remit penalties and to prescribe regulations as necessary. The Secretary is required to determine by rule whether nonprofit educational institutions should receive automatic remission of civil penalties. The penalty provisions of the PAAA are directed toward assuring compliance with DOE nuclear safety requirements through the use of monetary penalties. These regulations implement the penalty provisions of the Act and will include, as an appendix, a General Statement of Enforcement Policy.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7101 et seq Department of Energy Organization Act; 15 USC 751 et seq Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act of 1973

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 1001; 10 CFR 205.90 to 205.98; 10 CFR 205.191; 10 CFR 205.199D; 10 CFR 205.199E

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: These regulations related primarily to procedures for the issuance of Notices of Probable Violations, Interim Remedial Orders for Immediate Compliance, Notice of Proposed Disallowance, Proposed Orders of Disallowance, and Orders of Disallowance, and with other proceedings relating to applications and petitions, pursuant to the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act of 1973.

These regulations were eliminated because the statutory predicate for each regulation had previously expired by its terms or been expressly or effectively rescinded or superseded by subsequent legislation. For essentially the same reasons, DOE determined that these rule eliminations did not require prior public comment. The final rule was issued and effective on June 5, 1992.

This action was DOE initiative in implementing the President's regulatory review program.

Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7112(3); 42 USC 7112(8); 42 USC 7191(e); 42 USC 7254

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 595

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: On June 1, 1992, DOE transmitted to the Federal Register for publication a final rule by means of which it eliminated 10 CFR part 595, "Certification of Use of Natural Gas to Displace Fuel Oil," because the program which required the use of the part 595 procedures was itself eliminated in 1983. The part 595 regulations, however, inadvertently were not removed from the Code of Federal Regulations at that time. This correction was one action in implementing the President's regulatory review program.

Additional Information: TIMETABLE CONT: DOE determined that this rule elimination did not require prior public comment because the part 595 regulations became unused in 1983 but inadvertently were not removed from the Code of Federal Regulations at that time. Significance: Agency Priority

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7112(3); 42 USC 7112(8); 42 USC 7191(e); 42 USC 7254

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 220; 10 CFR 300; 10 CFR 320

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: On August 17, 1992, DOE published final rules to: eliminate 10 CFR part 220, entitled "Strategic Petroleum Reserve Crude Oil Allocation"; eliminate 10 CFR part 300, entitled "Coal Loan Guarantee Program"; and eliminate 10 CFR part 320, entitled "University Coal Research Laboratories Program." DOE had proposed these eliminations because it no longer perceived a need for the regulations. DOE received no comments on the proposed rescissions. 935. DEAR: CONTRACTOR EMPLOYEE PROTECTION PROGRAM

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2012 et seq, Atomic Energy Act of 1954; 42 USC 5801 et seq, Energy Reorganization Act of 1974; 42 USC 7101 et seq, DOE Organization Act

CFR Citation: 48 CFR 922; 48 CFR 952; 48 CFR 970

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This rule will conform the DOE Acquisition Regulation (DEAR) to 10 CFR part 708. Employees of contractors at DOE nuclear energy facilities should be able to provide information to DOE, the Congress, and certain contractors concerning violations of law, health, and safety, or matters involving gross mismanagement, waste, fraud or abuse without fear of reprisal. Part 708 establishes a procedure for investigation, hearing, and review of allegations of reprisal for such disclosures. The final rule for part 708 was published in the Federal Register on April 2, 1992.

938. AMENDMENT TO WORKPLACE
SUBSTANCE ABUSE PROGRAMS AT DOE SITES

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2012 et seq
Atomic Energy Act of 1954

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 707

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This action will amend the Department's rule governing the use of illegal drugs at DOE sites to ensure that substance abuse programs include provisions that also address misuse and abuse of alcohol. DOE expects to mitigate the potential for harm to the environment and to the public health and safety at DOE sites by contractor employees and other individuals performing health or safety sensitive functions. Cost incurred will affect primarily cost reimbursement type contracts for managing, operating, constructing, and servicing DOE facilities and certain other on-site contractors and subcontractors.

RELATING TO CONTRACTOR EMPLOYEES

Significance: Regulatory Program

Legal Authority: 42 USC 2012 et seq,
Atomic Energy Act of 1954

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 707

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: Will establish comprehensive substance abuse prevention policy and program at DOE-owned or -leased operations consistent with DOE responsibility to protect public health and safety and national security. Regulation will address drug testing requirements, educational and training programs, drug counseling and rehabilitation, confidentiality and protection of privacy of employees. Costs incurred will affect cost reimbursement type contracts for managing, operating, constructing, and servicing DOE facilities and certain other contractors and subcontractors. Benefits will be in establishing reasonable level of consistency among contractor programs and resultant cost to the Government and in reducing risk of unacceptable damage to security, environment, health and safety of employees and the public.

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7254; 42 USC 7256; 31 USC 6301 to 6308
CFR Citation: 10 CFR 600.31
Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: This action amends DOE's Financial Assistance Rules to permit recipients of research awards, in certain cases, to submit requests for continuation funding without detailed budgetary information on how funds are to be spent in the upcoming period. This will be permitted in those situations in which a new or renewal application contains detailed future year budgets which permit the DOE to evaluate the future years at the time the initial award is made. Should there be a significant change in the direction of the project or the budget, a detailed budget could still be required for a continuation award. This rulemaking was a DOE initiative in implementing the President's regulatory review program.

Abstract: The regulation provides procedures and standards for obtaining a waiver of the Government's rights in inventions made under DOE research and development contracts with entities that are not small businesses or nonprofit institutions, and terms and conditions of such waivers. Currently, DOE waiver policy is provided in DOE Procurement Regulations (41 CFR 9-9.109-6). The proposed regulation places DOE patent waiver policy in a separate regulation, and also provides updates, revisions and clarifications to waiver policy as contained in 41 CFR 9-9.109-6.

Abstract: The DOE regulations need to be amended to reflect the increase in the dollar amount of "minimal value," as determined by General Services Administration (GSA) regulation. Accordingly, the DOE regulations will reference the GSA regulation. Whether a gift is of "minimal value" is a factor in whether the regulations apply.

947. PRODUCTION OR DISCLOSURE OF MATERIAL OR INFORMATION AND PROVISION OF AGENCY WITNESSES IN FEDERAL AND STATE PROCEEDINGS

Legal Authority: 42 USC 7254; 5 USC 301; 28 CFR 1621

CFR Citation: 10 CFR 202

Legal Deadline: None

Abstract: The intent of this regulation is to establish an agencywide procedure for processing and responding to subpoenas or requests for Department of Energy records or testimony by Department of Energy officers and employees. A regulation intended to fulfill this purpose currently exists.

However, relocating its position in the Code of Federal Regulations and some minor language changes would clarify its applicability. In addition, efficient application of the regulation will be promoted by more closely modeling it on the comparable Department of Justice regulation, since the Department of Justice is usually responsible for representing the Department of Energy in such matters. The cost of this action is expected to be de minimis and could effect a savings, since clarification and recodification of the existing regulation may avoid needless litigation.
